DICKINSON SEM. WAS OVERWHELMED

In a rather listless game on Warner Field last Saturday, Susquehanna defeated Dickinson Seminary by 68 to 14. The Varsity showed much improvement, in form over their first appearance at home a fortnight ago, but because of the ease with which she advanced the ball in the early part of the game became careless later and thus paved the way for two touchdowns by the Williamsport team in the third quarter.

With the score standing 47 to 0 at the end of the first half, Coach Ketchner decided to try a number of his second-string men under fire. Though these men showed lack of experience in breaking up their opponents' plays, yet the final score shows that they succeeded in outclassing the Seminary team almost at will.

During the first half the Varsity scored almost at will. Peters succeeded in crossing the goal line on the second down of the game, and Middleworth raced over for the second touchdown a few minutes later when he caught Swoope's forward pass on their fifteen-yard line. Clever and runs by Nelson and Peters together with substantial gains made by Lester and Swoope through the line broke down the Seminary's defense and permitted the Varsity to secure seven touchdowns before the whistle blew at the end of the first half.

Features of the game were Swoope's sixty yard run in the second quarter, Peters' run from mid-field for a touchdown in the final period, and Hill's spectacular tackle on our fifteen yard line after Foresman had intercepted a forward pass and broken through for what seemed like a certain touchdown.

Though the Varsity advanced the oval for successive first downs repeatedly, yet on the defense they were often driven back, the Williamsport boys breaking through the line a number of times for gains. However, the excellent work of the secondary defense held the Methodists to four first downs.

This week the team journeys to Lewisburg, where they meet the Orange and Blue. Let every man come out to daily practices, so that the squad may leave next Saturday feeling that every weak point has been strengthened.

FACULTY MEMBERS WILL OPEN RECITAL SEASON THURSDAY

Professors in Conservatory of Music and School of Expression to Give Program

Among the events of interest to the students as well as the nearby townspeople during the opening term of college is the annual Faculty Recital. The affair this year promises to be one of unusual interest as two of the professors in the Conservatory of Music will appear on the local stage for the first time.

Prof. G. A. Brower, the new director of the Conservatory of Music, comes to us as a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art, and with an enviable reputation of ten years' experience as a teacher. In his debut here as a performer he will play a number of selections, which will give his auditors some idea of his ability as a musician.

Prof. Ferdinand Million, the new head of the violin department, is likewise a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art in New York City, and in the few weeks which he has been with us has proven his skill as a master violinist.

In addition to the music furnished by these two men, the program includes performances by various instructors whose ability is well known by all who are acquainted with Susquehanna. Especially are we glad to announce that Miss Ethel Irene Brown, head of the voice department of the Conservatory of Music, and Prof. N. N. Keener, instructor in Elocution, will both be with us on that evening. No comment as to their ability in their special lines of work is needed. They always come prepared to give us a treat.

To everyone is extended an invitation to attend this recital which will be held in Seibert Hall next Thursday evening, Oct. 22.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR SWOOPE ON RETURN TO SUSQUEHANNA

Early Morning Parade, Bonfire and Speeches Evidence Enthusiasm of Fellow Students

Seldom before in the history of Susquehanna has any student received a more hearty welcome than that given "Red" Swoope upon his return from Gettysburg College on Tuesday, Oct. 6th.

Seduced by flattering offers and a substantial scholarship, Swoope registered at Gettysburg (this Fall, and while there made a spectacular showing in football. His game against Penn was remarkable, and he so far outclassed his team mates that the daily newspapers of Philadelphia were loud in their praises of this speedy half back and rated him as the star of the Gettysburg squad.

Love for the Orange and Maroon and a desire to see his old friends played such a strong part with Swoope that despite the prestige he had gained in athletics and a number of offers, he left the battle field college and returned to Susquehanna, where he rightly belongs.

About 2 o'clock that Tuesday morning, when the news reached the campus that "Red" was returning, every fellow was routed out and all formed into a line, headed by the college band. After parading through the streets of the town, the body marched down the state road for a distance of two miles, where they met the "prodigal son" and party coming from Harrisburg by automobile. A rousing ANNA was given for Swoope and with that a heavy rope was attached to the car, and the latter pulled to the college campus, where a ripping, big bonfire was ablaze. Speeches by Coach Jay Ketchner, "Jack" Schoch, "Bump" Alkous and Swoope followed. The cords also figured in the latter part of this demonstration, when they appeared on their "roof garden," decked in silk wrappers and smiles, and gave a hefty Oski-Wow-Wow for Swoope.

It is impossible to express in words the enthusiasm and excitement that was shown on that night, but every fellow was on his toes, keyed up to the highest pitch, and the vim with which the yells were given showed that every man was in earnest. Susquehanna can feel justly proud of this red-haired son, and by the gingery reception given, Swoope can feel that he is doubly welcome on Snyder county soil.

Watch "The Susquehanna" each week.

STUDENT WORKERS LEAD DEVOTIONS

Several of the Y.M.C.A. men hiked down to the little Middlecreek church last Sunday evening; some on account of previous engagement; others through interest in the mission. It was a delightful evening and pleasant walk, so none complained of over exertion.

We received a hearty welcome, and were made to feel very much at home. The church was artistically decorated with various fruits for the season, which recalled bygone farm days.

The meeting opened at 8 o'clock with a goodly number present. After the opening song and prayer, Frey took charge of the meeting. Bangson gave the address of the evening on the subject "True Wealth," proving that more than those looking forward to the ministry could inspire a congregation in christian spirit. One of the special features of the evening was the violin solo by Grossman, accompanied by Dolbeer. Grossman displayed his talent wonderfully and awakened within many a feeling akin to that which we shall experience when we come to the "End of a Perfect Day." The meeting was then thrown open for eight minutes, during which time several who were not scheduled for "talks" made a few forceful remarks.

It was not a dull and heavy road that we found on our return, but every fellow was so inspired that we could not refrain from singing the old familiar songs, such as "The Church in Wildwood," "Forward Christian Soldiers," and numerous others—marching thus onward toward Susquehanna. Through the kindness of one of the farmers we were refreshed on our journey by a hearty feast on apples, for which we are truly grateful.

"TEDDY" AT SUNBURY OCT. 26

The Itinerary of Colonel Roosevelt in his four day's campaign throughout the State includes a short stop in Sunbury, Monday afternoon, Oct. 26th.

Starting at Easton, Pa., early on Monday morning, the special train by which he travels is scheduled to arrive at the Philadelphia and Reading station in Sunbury at 5:32 P. M., and the speechmaking will be begun immediately.

He will also speak at Lewisburg and Milton on his way to Williamsport, at which place a night meeting will be held.

The Susquehanna always contains items of interest to all friends of the Orange and Maroon.

THE NEW SUSQUEHANNA

The opening of the Fall term always brings with it special manifestations of "pep" and enthusiasm, but unhappily these outbursts oftentimes have a tendency to wane as the college year progresses. This exuberance of spirit was plainly evident around our college during the past week. Seldom has such spirit been shown as was witnessed at our mass meeting last week, in the preparation for the bonfire celebrating Swoope's return to Susquehanna, and the wonderful send-off given the team as they left for Muhlenburg. Any one of these events was sufficiently notable to cause comment, but when three such manifestations come within the space of one week we begin to think that old Susquehanna has been imbued with a new spirit.

But follows we are glad to see it. Let such work continue. The spirit and enthusiasm manifested by the student body is the foundation from which the members of the team must depend to draw their "pep" for the games. With the men and women disinterested in the college sports, with a "dead" student body on the side lines during the games, real athletics would be a thing of the past. The athlete marching forth to the fray would resemble in every respect the laborer going forth to work. Indeed the reward of victory would have less glitter in it for him than the laborer sees in the gold due him for his services at the end of the day.

It is for the college, for the student body, that the athlete sacrifices his time and his energy. Why not therefore help him all you can by continuing your manifestations throughout the year? You have made a good start, let us not grow luke warm in our interest.

THE PROPER SPIRIT

As the huge grizzly, the denizen of the forest, awakens from his winter's hibernation complizant of the need of a change in his surroundings; so have we, after this summer's interim of rest and quiet, awakened to the need of a change in our college publication.

For the last twenty years we have continued in the footsteps of our predecessors, not daring to change the form or manner of the publication of our college news, notwithstanding the fact that our college has been steadily growing since the origin of this Journal. True the "Susquehanna" continually advanced its standards and rapidly grew in thoroughness to meet the increasing demands of a growing college, but with all this improvement there were still some deficiencies which could not be overcome. Chief among these obstacles to perfection was the fact that the subscribers invariably learned the various happenings around the college several weeks after they had occurred.

The publishing association has lately realized this weakness and in their effort to remedy it will issue "The Susquehanna" weekly beginning with this issue.

This step forward in "The Susquehanna's" march of progress means much additional work to all who are connected with the publication of our Journal, and in order that we may feel assured of the success of this venture, we seek the advice and cooperation of all our alumni and friends.

EX-PUGILIST TO VISIT SUSQUE.

It has been the good fortune of our college Y. M. C. A. to secure the services of Richard Branstion, of Berwick, Pa., for Tuesday evening, Oct. 27. Mr. Branstion, formerly known to the sporting world as "Dick the Pugilist," is one of Mr. Stough's converts in his campaign in Berwick last year. He is at present arranging for a trial-hitting tour to Billy Sunday and will speak in many of the churches in Philadelphia. In the story of his life he will bring a message interesting to every one of us. He will give his address in Seibert Hall at 7:00 P. M. The Y. M. C. A. cordially invites hte entire student body as well as the people of Selingsgrove to be present.

MR. AND MRS. KAUFFMAN HERE

"Dick" Kaufman, first baseman for the St. Louis Americans and a former Susquehanna athlete, accompanied by Mrs. Kauffman expects to spend the winter with the latter's parents, Registrar and Mrs. William T. Horton, at their home on the campus.

SHEMORY BROS.

Our Motto "Propr's"

The new school year with all its opportunities and possibilities is passing swiftly by, and with few unpreventable exceptions the work of Clio has been excellent. It is to be regretted that outside functions should be allowed to detract from our literary work even to such an extent as to cause the complete postponement of a meeting. Our work in the society halls is one of the rare opportunities of our college days and its subordination is to a great extent, the cause of inefficient work. Interest diminishes, when programs are omitted or postponed. However, there are occasions when unavoidable circumstances arise, which necessitate the postponement of our society meetings, and these occurrences should then be made the object of their attention.

CLIO

The meeting held October 9 was not up to the standard owing to the small attendance. But this was due to the fact that many of the students were compelled to be away from college and is altogether excusable. Owing to the Christian Endeavor convention in the college church, the meeting for October 16 was postponed to the following Friday evening, at which time a special program will be rendered by the ladies, which events always add spice and vim to the programs of Clio.

A new coterie of officers have been installed and with the welfare of Clio at heart they give promise of setting a new standard for Clonian efficiency. Since the publication of the last Clonian notes Miss Helen Webb has been admitted to membership.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Men of Susquehanna! Where are you spending your evenings? Why are you coming to college; to get the best it has for you, or is it your sad fate to be satisfied with the ways of the world? Fall in line! We need you and you can not afford to miss the training the Y.M.C.A. offers.

Tuesday evening, October 6th, Rev. Aundand gave us an excellent address on the elevating theme "True Christian Service." He pointed out various ways in which college men can be of Christian service in their own little sphere, thus preparing for greater things.

Mr. Ehlers, the state student secretary of the Y.M.C.A., spent several days with us last week; speaking to an excellent audience Tuesday evening when he introduced a new study into our Y.M.C.A. We were well pleased with the response from collegemen. We hope the interest will continue to increase.

Next Tuesday evening Mr. Strohn, of Sunbury, will be with us. Mr. Strohn always brings us a message not to be forgotten in a day. We want every man out.

The ladies of Zion church, New Berlin, of which Rev. J. A. M. Zeigler is pastor, are conducting monthly bazaar sales, which are being well patronized and are consequently a success.

Rev. Jeremiah Zimmerman, D. D., L. L. D., delivered a most excellent and appropriate address in the First English Lutheran church, Syracuse, N. Y. Rev. Zimmerman was in Europe when war was declared and was enabled to speak at first hand concerning the conflict now being waged.

Rev. J. Earnest Zimmerman '99, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church at Mansfield, Pa., is reported to be doing excellent work. Reports show a fine financial standing of the church and the people are united in their efforts to extend the kingdom of Christ in that portion of Mansfield.

S. B. Hare '03 and wife, of Altoona, Pa., paid a visit to Susquehanna on Saturday last and witnessed the football game with Dickinson Seminary here.

WITH THE MINISTERIALS

The Ministerial Association of the Theological Department at its last meeting decided to conduct nightly prayer meetings, throughout the year. Members of the Seminary are invited to attend these prayer periods.

Dale, '15, supplied the New Berlin charge October 4th., and also preached for Rev. Reish, '14, at Loganton on Oct. 11th.

Stahl, '15, supplied the pulpit in Trinity Lutheran Sunday, Oct., 4th and 11th.

Shipe, '15, supplied the pulpit of the Oriole charge Oct. 4th., and was with Dr. Manhart at the re-dedication of the Collomsville church of the same charge Oct. 11th.

Kniseley, '16, filled the pulpit of the church U. S. of S. at Newport News, Va., Oct. 11th.

Kinports, '17, supplied the Mount Wolf pulpit Oct. 4th., and preached for Rev. Fitzgerald at Wilkes-Barre on Oct. 11th.

MASS MEETING WELL ATTENDED

College spirit at Susquehanna took on a new impetus on Wednesday a week when a rousing mass meeting was held in the chapel.

Practically every fellow was out to show that they too were "good fellows." The co-eds also were present and proved to be a great aid in giving the necessary encouragement to the football squad.

John Schoch, '00, gave a snappy talk in which he showed the need of having every able bodied fellow out to the daily drills and thus develop a fighting scrub team that can hold the 'Varsity to a standstill.

A hearty A-N-A welcomed the next speaker—Coach Kelchner. In his forceful manner Kelchner impressed upon the students that every person who didn't play should be on the side lines at every work out and in this way give life to the team. "More enthusiasm is needed and although one player is better than another do not fail to give the proper credit to every man, for without eleven co-operating fellows a team can never be successful.

For the ensuing college year Danowsky and Keammerer were elected as cheer leaders and Lutton and Frey as song leaders.

At this point 'Varsity S's were awarded to the following men:

Baseball—Captain Peters, Harpster, Goble Phillips, Shannon, Harkins, Follmer, Swoope, Middlesworth, Smith, Groninger, Manager Miller. Tennis—Manager Danowsky.

Members of the faculty and local alumni were present and all spoke encouragingly of the prospects for a strong team and were especially pleased to notice that so much good, peppy Susquehanna spirit was shown by every student.

MUHLBERG-SUSQUEHANNA

Susquehanna opened its collegiate football season on Muhlenberg's gridiron, Saturday Oct. 10. Intense interest and enthusiasm was manifested as to the outcome of the game. Last year the two institutions split even in athletics, Susquehanna winning both basket ball games, while Muhlenberg succeeded in "hagging" both base ball games. The fates seemingly declared a victory for the Allentown men in football.

The fray with Muhlenberg was the first college game in which the Susquehannas participated this season. Lack of experience on the part of the Susquehanna players and the superior weight of the Muhlenberg team were the chief causes for the General Councilites' victory. Susquehanna's line showed many weak points, which the opponents were not long in observing. Muhlenberg's tactics were in the main straight football.

The absence of our reliable tackle Harkins was a vital loss to the team. In addition to this Captain Swoope, the star fullback, was in the first stage of illness when he entered the game. After a very commendable fight, he had to be removed from the field at the opening of the second half. After the contest had ended "Red" was compelled to return to his home in Altoona where he was confined to his bed for a week. The students are glad to hear of his recovery, and to learn that he will be back with us the early part of this week, ready to prepare for the approaching Bucknell game.

Captain Swoope received the first kick-off for Susquehanna, under the goal posts. Susquehanna rushed the ball to the twenty-five yard line, where after four unsuccessful attempts to advance it the ball was lost to Muhlenberg. Our opponents had the ball in their possession most of the first quarter and succeeded in scoring one touchdown in that period. Their gains were nearly all made by line plunges through Susquehanna's guards and tackles.

The second quarter was a fateful period for the Orange and Maroon. A gain by successive rushes Muhlenberg scored three touchdowns. The dust and extreme heat were very exhausting to both teams.

Susquehanna came back with her old fighting spirit in the second half. After a few minutes of play our star end was knocked unconscious by receiving a severe bump on the head. Thus deprived of our two best men, we were greatly weakened, yet continued to put up a stubborn defense. Nedson intercepted one of our opponent's forward passes and broke through for a thirty yard run. The third quarter ended with neither side having scored, and Susquehanna being in possession of the ball in the middle of the field. In fact Susquehanna retained possession of the ball throughout the greater part of that period.

In the fourth period the Susquehans forced the ball to Muhlenberg's fifteen yard line twice, but lost it on downs. Muhlenberg's last score of the game was made by Casey's long run around right end. Susquehanna penetrated her opponent's line repeatedly for first downs in this quarter. Muhlenberg changed her tactics in this period using end runs and forward passes, but these proved in the main to be unsuccessful.

Coach Kelmner is well pleased with the showing of the team and with hard work expects to turn out a winning eleven. Susquehanna made few fumbles, which speaks well for her backfield. With a few changes in the line and improvements in interference, we will have a strong team to meet Bucknell Saturday.

The line-up follows:

Muhlenberg	Positions	Susquehanna
Schwank	center	Brown
Roderick	right guard	Miller
Brennan	right tackle	Kratzer

Bedank	quarter back	Peters
Gaston	left half back	Nedson

Officials: Referee Edwards, Lafayette; Umpire Dr. Smith, U. of P., Field Judge, Smith, Bucknell. Time of quarters 10, 12, 10, 12 minutes.

DR. FISHER DECLINED GETTYSBURG'S OFFER

Beloved Professor Will Remain at Head of Natural Sciences Department

Through all the changing scenes of our college life, we sometimes fail to give honor where honor is due. Unhappily this is our condition now, and to set ourselves right before the alumni and friends, the student body records herewith its honest appreciation of the loyalty of Dr. George E. Fisher to Susquehanna.

Having been offered a sum of money almost twice as much as he receives here, to take charge of the Department of Science in Gettysburg College, Dr. Fisher at once declined the proffer, expressing his firm conviction that he believed himself duty bound to remain at Susquehanna.

This is just another evidence that our college professors have higher ideals than the mere accumulation of filthy lucre. Such noble examples help to remove the stigma that is so often placed upon professional men by materialists.

It is the desire of every alumnus and student of our institution that Dr. Fisher be made to realize the high appreciation which they feel for his unselfish devotion to the cause of Susquehanna. This modest instructor has endeared himself to everyone of the students by his helpful sympathy, his noble character and his masterful intellect.

TO ANSWER TO COLORS

Chas. Schreiner, of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, a city of half a million inhabitants, is now enrolled as a M. D. in the Theological Seminary. Mr. Schreiner received his early education in the schools of Germany, and came to America two years ago. He spent a year in the German Theological Seminary at Lincoln, Neb., coming to Susquehanna this Fall to assume charge of the Department of German in addition to his Seminary studies. This instructor is a loyal patriot, as are so many other German professors in the American universities. He is a thorough student of international affairs, and has an unlimited supply of information on the present conflict in which the countries of Europe are engaged.

Not only does he use his knowledge in defense of Germany's position in the war, but, to show his affection for the poor orphans of his native land, he recently sent to New York City a valuable gold ring, to have it melted and the gold sent to Germany. This is but one of the ways in which Prof. Schreiner has already aided his country substantially. An iron ring was returned to him bearing this very unique inscription: "Dem alten Vaterland die treue zu beweißen ich in schwerer zeit ihm Gold für Eisen," which being translated means, "To prove fidelity to the old country, I give in hard times gold for iron."

Having been recently drafted into the Landsturm by the German government, he longs to be across the waters fighting for Germany. Being asked if he did not fear the bullets of the allies, he replied: "It is sweet to die for the Fatherland." With such a spirit animating the German people, Germany can not die until her brave sons have sacrificed themselves in the fond hope that their nation may live.

Prof. Schreiner is anxiously awaiting the first opportunity to take passage to Germany and join his countrymen in battle.

GEOLOGY CLASS TAKES HIKE

Under the direction of Dr. George E. Fisher the Senior class in geology made a trip to the famous Bake Oven Hill two miles below Selingrove on Thursday. Two hours were devoted to an explanation of this peculiar geological formation and the surrounding topography. A number of students in addition to the class took advantage of the opportunity to see under the

PRESIDENT AIKENS AFFIRMS

Ten Years of Intimate Associations Prove Candidate to be Conscientious and Reliable

It is a very great pleasure to me to testify to the excellent worth of Dr. John I. Woodruff, who is soliciting the support of the voters of Snyder county on Nov. 3rd. As President of Susquehanna University, in which Dr. Woodruff has been teaching so acceptably for many years, I am glad for the privilege to say that we all appreciate him as a neighbor, College Professor, Citizen and Christian Gentleman.

I have enjoyed almost ten years of very intimate association with Dr. Woodruff and knew him to be conscientious and reliable in all his transactions and associations. He stands for all that is good and clean in social life and would make a splendid representative for us in our State Legislature.

Personally, I stand for the fundamental principles and policy of the Republican party, but, regardless of any party affiliations, I feel perfectly warranted in commending Dr. John I. Woodruff to the courtesy and confidence of the voters of Snyder county on Nov. 3rd, as I know he will represent us honestly and creditably at Harrisburg.

Thus I speak in the most candid manner, in behalf of my colleague in educational work and assure my friends of Snyder county that they will not make a mistake in electing Dr. Woodruff on Nov. 3rd.

STUDENTS GIVE APPRECIATIONS

Tell of Dr. Woodruff's Efficiency as Their Professor and His Firm Stand Against Evil

Students of Susquehanna University take this occasion to speak in behalf of Dr. John I. Woodruff, a candidate for the General Assembly. His long tenure of efficiency as an instructor at Susquehanna has caused the students, alumni and friends to be impressed with the capability, integrity and sincerity of Dr. Woodruff. As an educator in the college he has always labored for the welfare of the students and whenever the opportunity arises he is willing to proffer his unbiased advice.

Dr. Woodruff is indefatigable in his efforts for the advancement of the good as well as for the obliteration of the evil. As a student of the economic and social conditions pervading this nation he has placed himself squarely against the domination of our social and economic status by interests which are detrimental to such.

His campaign is unquestionably, the campaign of the people. His purposes and issues are clear to all, and the people of Snyder county now have the opportunity to send a man to the General Assembly at Harrisburg who possesses lofty and unbiased ideals, an unimpeachable character and extraordinary capabilities.

These are the facts which we have gleaned through our relations with Dr. Woodruff and which we present to you for your consideration.

BLACK AND BLUE FROM THE ORANGE AND BLUE

Bucknell Won From Susquehanna by 43-0 in Hospital List Game Saturday

Susquehanna journeyed to Lewisburg last Saturday and was defeated by the Orange and Blue team by the score of 43-0. Although the 'Varsity was outclassed in many departments of the game they played a better game than the score would indicate, and even after several of the strongest men had been removed on account of injuries the team continued to put up a stern defense.

Though outplayed from the start of the game, it was not until the third quarter, which seemed to be unusually long, that the Bucknell men broke through our defense for any long gains. Up to this time the line, which during former games showed signs of weakness, held well, succeeding once in holding their opponents on the 1-yard line for downs. However, Bucknell was even stronger on defense, allowing the 'Varsity but two first downs during the game, one of these on a forward pass to Nedson, who caught the Orange and Blue backs napping, making a gain of about 25 yards. The other was on line plunges by Swoope and Peters.

Captain Swoope chose to receive on every kick-off, but through inability to advance the ball he was often compelled to punt. However, with excellent interference and on account of lack of experience in the Susquehanna line in tackling, Topham succeeded in running a number of these punts back for slight losses. This kept the 'Varsity always on the defensive and at no time during the contest did they threaten the opponent's goal.

Straight football was used almost entirely by both teams. Several times Bucknell made a number of successive attempts to work their old stand-by, the forward pass, but through clever work by Susquehanna's back field men but two of these were successful.

Bucknell made her greatest gains by long end runs by Topham, who was easily the star of the game. The Orange and Blue's halves ran splendid interference for this speed king and only because of the deadly tackling by Nedson, Swoope and Peters was he prevented from more scoring.

Weakened from the very start by the loss of Lester in the back-field the team pluckily held the "hill boys" to 18 points in the first half. But misfortune struck the Orange and Maroon men thick and fast during the third quarter. Hill, Peters, Nedson and Brown were all replaced on account of injuries in this period. Topham, the Orange and Blue stockinged full-back, was also injured in this quarter and Chalmers, who took his place, was credited with the only score in the final period when he kicked a goal from field from the 25-yard line.

The 'Varsity was well supported by a large following of students as well as people from Selingrove at the game. While they all desired a closer score, the Orange and Maroon enthusiasts were pleased with the game struggle which the handicapped 'Varsity put up against this team which for years has had the reputation of being one of the strongest in the State.

Susquehanna is highly appreciative of the kind treatment given the injured men of the team. With the entire backfield suffering from injuries and several strong linemen out of the game the student body is not very optimistic concerning game with Albright.

However, Coach Fowler hopes that many of these injured men may have recovered before the end of the week, and expects to give his brother a battle royal when he arrives at Myerstown next Saturday.

The line-up:

LOVE FOR SUSQUEHANNA

Susquehanna has ever had a reputation for holding a position deep in the affections of her undergraduates and alumni. Yearly men go forth deeply regretting that they must separate themselves from the institution which has fostered them for years. Athletics have put forth almost superhuman efforts in the past in order that our college might win honor and distinction; professors have labored diligently for the advancement of her standards.

True there is not a college in the land that cannot boast of its loyal men. Every institution has its supporters who are willing to undergo sacrifices in order that that institution may prosper. Conditions have always existed thus and doubtless they will continue in this way no matter how selfish the world may grow.

But admitting that other colleges have their faithful men, Susquehanna justly feels that her many graduates and friends, who recently demonstrated their love for the college in so many ways. One of these friends, whose sacrifices for the welfare of the institution are known to many, is our present professor of Natural Sciences. Although Dr. Fisher received flattering offers of a large salary and the position as head of the Science Department in Pennsylvania College during the past Summer, he gratefully refused them, and said he preferred to remain at Susquehanna. This man, whose untiring efforts in behalf of the welfare of Susquehanna, have been shown so often since he became a member of our faculty in 1896, and whose late manifestation of love for the college has been so modestly concealed up to this time, is not unappreciated by the student body of the institution.

As Susquehanna men we feel justly proud of this faculty member, who has signified his preference to remain with us.

—Is the Y. M. C. A. doing you any good? If not, for whose benefit are they having it?

—If you like the new Susquehanna, boost it along by lending a helping hand. The manager will enjoy seeing a dollar in it, when you unclasp the eagle.

—The weather during the past week has been fine. However, a large flock of wild geese which were seen making their way southward along the river on Sunday is a harbinger of coming winter.

—If you can't loost, don't knock. The men on the gridiron may make mistakes, but they are doing more for the college than the man with a permanent position on the sidelines, who is always looking for something at which to scoff.

RIFLE SHOOTING AS

A COLLEGE SPORT

National Rifle Association of America Urges Formation of Club

Over five thousand college marksmen is the record for the college year ending June 20th, 1914. Through the combined efforts of the National Rifle Association of America and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, rapid strides are being made looking to the introduction of rifle shooting as one of the recognized sports in the colleges throughout the country and the movement has been still further stimulated by a recent act of Congress authorizing the free use of rifles and ammunition to college and university rifle clubs.

This work was begun several years ago by the National Rifle Association backed by the War Department with the result that at the present time there are 42 colleges and universities having well organized and active rifle clubs. National championships are now being carried on annually both indoor and outdoor. The annual competition for college teams is now being organized for the indoor season. These matches are shot on indoor ranges with 22-calibre rifles. The championship for 1914 was won by the Michigan "Aggies," and the outdoor championship was won by the Massachusetts "Aggies."

As an evidence of the fact that the athletic authorities of a great many colleges and universities are recognizing marksmanship as a part of their athletic curriculum many of them are giving the college letter to those students who make the rifle teams.

A feature of this work which is worthy of mention is the fact that there have been no serious accidents of any kind on rifle ranges since the work was introduced, a claim that could hardly hold good in connection with other prominent school sports such as football and baseball. Furthermore, only a small percentage of students can take part in baseball and football matches, while the number of students who can enter the shooting competitions is only limited to the capacity of the range.

In addition to competing against each other in rifle matches, college clubs are given annually a medal for a member's competition by the National Rifle Association. Directions are also presented to club members by the War Department for qualifying as expert, sharpshooter and as marksman. The college which made the best showing in the number of students qualified for the fiscal year ending June 20th, 1914, was Cornell University. The rifle club which made the best showing in the number of qualifications was the Minnesota University Rifle Club which qualified 96 marksmen, 11 sharpshooters and 19 experts.

At the camps of instruction for college students held during the summer, rifle shooting was one of the courses of military training laid down. At these camps 31 students qualified as experts, 114 as sharpshooters and 219 as marksmen. The National Rifle Association of America presented a cup for an intercollegiate team competition and also a medal for the student making the highest score in each camp. The cup was won by Cornell University whose four men scored 854. The University of California was second with 809 and the University of Pennsylvania third with 782.

Should the students desire to take up this sport, information concerning the organization of a rifle club may be secured from the Secretary of the National Rifle Association of America, 1105-9-10 Woodward Building, Washington, D. C.

Managers of the 1916 Lanthorn this week signed up with the Grit Company, of Williamsport, for the publication of the college annual.

Rine, '16, motored to his home at McKees Half Falls on Saturday.

A large number of the students showed their interest in the football team by accompanying them to Lewisburg on Saturday.

Persing, '18, spent the week-end at her home at Allenvood.

Miss Reareck, '18, after witnessing the football game at Lewisburg on Saturday, journeyed to her home at Millburg for a two days' visit.

Leon Lazarus, of York, spent some time on Friday with Frey, '16.

John Mark Walkinshaw, a former student in the Academy, and now enrolled in Conway Hall, spent last Sunday with Vance Goble and other friends about the school.

Within the near future the photographer for the 1916 "Lanthorn" will have established headquarters on the campus and those who desire his services should let the staff know early so arrangements can be made for sittings.

CONSERVATORY ITEMS

The Conservatory is sorry to lose from their number Miss Mary Cole, who has returned to her home expecting to attend Peabody Institute in the near future, there to continue the study of music. The students wish her all success in her work.

Mrs. Halston, after several days' illness, has again taken up her duties as preceptress.

Elizabeth Hall entertained Miss Miriam Perry, of Altoona, sister of Perry, '18, several days last week.

Anna Cole enjoyed a visit from her sister, Miss Edith Cole, assistant principal of the Burnham High Schools, during the past week.

The students of the Conservatory were glad to welcome Miss Florence Stumpf back to their midst, and to enjoy the pleasant companionship of one of the most talented members of this department last year, for several days. Miss Stumpf is now a student at Peabody Institute, where we are sure she is gaining as much credit for good work as she did at Susquehanna.

Eva Grove received a visit from her aunt the early part of last week.

The faculty recital was greatly enjoyed by all present, and gave proof of the talent of this department's faculty members who performed with so great success.

ACADEMY NOTES

Kratzer is missed from some of our classes, owing to a broken collar bone sustained in the Susquehanna-Dickinson Seminary game Saturday a week ago. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Prof. Faust was at DuBois attending the Stumpf-McCreight wedding. Goal-ast week. Messrs. Gross, Shannon filled Halston substituted for him during his absence.

Y. W. C. A.

By the vote of the Association, at a special meeting it was decided to change the meeting night from Wednesday to Tuesday evening.

On Oct. 13, Misses Harter and C. Weaver had charge of the regular meeting. The subject was "Why and how to improve the Mind," in which all had a chance to express their views. Many of the girls responded. It is certain that all received much benefit from the discussion.

At the monthly meeting, held on Oct. 20, the subject selected by Misses Cressman and McCormick was one certainly worth considering: "Medical Work as an Evangelistic Agency," and was handled with great success. It showed the earnest activity of our members in choosing and discussing such an interesting and instructive topic, and one vital to missionary work.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The delegation of young men who went to Middlebrook Sunday evening a week ago to assist in organizing a Christian Endeavor, met with a very hearty response from the many interested in Christian Endeavor work.

Frey's past experience enabled him to conduct the meeting systematically and in good order. Brown, Mohney and Crossland, by way of short talks, brought out the importance of a real, living Christian Endeavor Association and the benefits derived therefrom. The meeting was a success in every way.

We had an inspirational and helpful meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday evening. The quartette rendered "More Love to Thee O Christ," earnestly yet tenderly. Mr. Stroh, of Sunbury, spoke on the subject, Good Citizenship, or rather Christian Citizenship. He said: "We must try to put Christianity into practical use. We are not all perfect, yet the Word says 'Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest'." He continued: "A nation depends upon its citizens. We are the citizens of our great nation; as we suffer individually so the nation suffers through our crookedness. Again we glean from the rich harvest, to be a good citizen we ought to be a Christian. There is no necessity of sacrificing manhood for the world. For years I have been Chief of the Sunbury Fire Company and have never drunk a drop of liquor at their banquets. I am an humble blacksmith but I don't hesitate to try to do my duty. Let us try to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

HAPPY CULMINATION OF THIS COLLEGE ROMANCE

Miss Catherine McCreight and Rev. Raymond Stumpf Wedded at DuBois

A wedding of great interest to the students and friends of Susquehanna took place at DuBois Tuesday morning, October 20, at 11 o'clock in the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. McCreight, when their daughter, Miss Catherine McCreight, was united in marriage with Rev. Raymond N. Stumpf, of Selinsgrove.

The decoration scheme was ideal for a Fall wedding, and the weather all that could be desired. The marriage was one of the greatest brilliancy, and was attended by approximately one hundred and fifty guests from DuBois and surrounding country.

Being artistically decorated for the occasion, the home presented a very fine appearance with its southern sumac and pink chrysanthemums. Pink and white were the color scheme.

Just previous to the appearance of the bridal couple, Mrs. Donald McCreight, nee Miss Grace Pfizer, a graduate of Susquehanna Conservatory, sang with rare sweetness, "Oh, Promise Me."

Then to the notes of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal party proceeded to the large reception room, and took their places under an artistic canopy, where the two contracting parties plighted the vows of wedlock as pronounced by Rev. Adam Stumpf, father of the bridegroom.

Miss Florence Stumpf, a sister of the bridegroom and former student of Susquehanna Conservatory, was maid of honor, while the bridegroom was attended by P. M. Kinports, now pursuing a course in theology at Susquehanna University.

Mrs. Stumpf, while attending the University, made a large number of close friends by her charming personality and amiable disposition. While here she also developed into a soloist of much ability, and her work has been heard by DuBois people with sincere appreciation.

Rev. Stumpf is a Lutheran minister of exceptionally fine qualities and abilities, having been graduated from the Theological Department of Susquehanna with the class of 1914.

Rev. and Mrs. Stumpf will reside in Selinsgrove, where the former is pastor of the Lutheran church. Susquehanna faculty, students and friends wish them much happiness.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

In order to have all students become familiar with the college songs at Bucknell, the Orange and Blue suggests that at one chapel service a week these songs be substituted for the ones regularly used.

We are delighted to notice that "The Midland" has been changed from a monthly to a weekly publication. These people have also assumed the progressive spirit.

Franklin and Marshall's Junior winning Oratorical oration of last year is published in October's edition of "The College Student," and it is gratifying to observe that the author was a member of the class of '11 of Susquehanna Academy.

Pennsylvania State College has an enrollment of 2700 students this year. Of this number 600 are Freshmen.

A number of the members of the U. of P. faculty are serving in several of the warring nations' armies.

The degree of Ph. D. has been conferred upon Prof. Rapp, of Ursinus, by the University of Chicago. His thesis was on the "Kinetic Theory of Gases."

At last the Army and the Navy have agreed upon a date and a place for the annual football contest. It will be November 28 on Franklin Field.

GLEE CLUB REORGANIZES

A meeting of the University Glee Club was called last Wednesday evening and after reorganizing the following officers were elected: President, Peters; Secretary, Keller; Treasurer, Harmon; Manager, Middleworth.

All the old members of last year's club have returned with the exception of a few who were lost through graduation. Opportunity will be given all students to try out for these vacancies in a few days.

AUDITORS CHARMED BY ABLE FACULTY CONCERT

Teaching Corps of Conservatory of Music and School of Expression Attraction

Faculty recitals at Susquehanna for the past few years have been stellar attractions in the line of college entertainments, but it must be truthfully stated that the concert given in Selbert Hall on Thursday evening was one of the best ever held in this locality. Eight o'clock was the beginning time, but by seven fifteen the large room was filled and at eight o'clock every portion of available space was taken, even the parlor, practice rooms, and porch were utilized as standing room.

Prof. Brower acquitted himself in an excellent manner and conclusively proved that he is a thorough musician as well as an able director. To Prof. Fillion more than ordinary credit is due for his masterful performances on the violin, piano and pipe organ. Miss Brown and Prof. Keener, both well known to local audiences, proved themselves to be the artists which they are, by exceptional work along their respective lines.

Prof. Brower opened the program by a wonderful rendition on the piano of Mezzowick's Ballade In G Minor. Following this Miss Brown sang Prelude and Sunbeams both by Ronald in an exceptionally pleasing voice. Zeegeerweisen by Sarsate and the Impromptu in F minor by Faure as played on the violin by Mr. Fillion captivated the audience and he was the recipient of hearty applause, especially on the former which is a very difficult production.

Prof. Keener was given his usual vociferous ovation when he appeared on the stage and held his hearers in suspense while he recited McCarthy's "If I were King." His pleasing personality with his ability has placed Mr. Keener among the foremost Readers in this State.

Miss Brown followed by rendering "Still as the Night" and "Decease" from Jocelyn with violin obligato by Mr. Fillion. The latter was a headliner in every respect and the audience manifested their hearty appreciation of the effort.

The closing numbers of the program were especially notable in view of the fact that the first was both written and played by Prof. Fillion and the second was composed by Prof. Brower and translated by himself on the piano with the assistance of Mr. Fillion on the organ.

MASS MEETINGS

The readers of The Susquehanna will doubtless be interested to know of some of the methods employed by Dr. Woodruff in his campaign for the legislature which is now drawing rapidly to what promises to be a successful conclusion unless all signs fail.

Dr. Woodruff has not only interviewed personally almost all the voters of the county, during vacations and as opportunity offered but he has felt that it was due the voters that he should so far as possible, give them an opportunity to hear from him, a frank statement of his purposes and what he means to stand for if elected. Accordingly a series of meetings was arranged for over the county, to discuss the issues of the campaign particularly as they pertained to his candidacy. Prof's. Keener and Allison accompanied him to many of these meetings and materially aided him in making them a success. Meetings have been held at the following places, thus far: McClure, Middlecreek, Benfer, Troxleville, Paxtonville, Port Trevorton, Kratzerville and Beaver town.

Although not held with the usual accompaniments of brass bands and torch light procession, still the meetings were all well attended. At some of these places a political meeting was somewhat of a novelty the average candidate being content merely to ask the citizens personally for their votes and let it go at that. It speaks well for the intelligence and public spirit of these communities that a goodly number did in every case turn out to hear the issues of the hour discussed. The close attention given to all the speakers during the meetings showed very clearly that the people did not go away disappointed.

"DICK" BRANSTON TO SPEAK

Let every student and friend of Susquehanna be out on Tuesday evening to hear "Dick" Branstion, a former pugilist and a convert of Dr. Stough, speak on his life's experiences. The town people are especially invited to attend this meeting in Selbert Hall under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

"Won't you please help a poor crippled man?"

You look healthy enough; how are you crippled?"

"Financially, kind sir."

LANTHORN CONTRACT LET

Representative of the Grit Publishing Co. interviewed the managers of the "1916 Lanthorn" the early part of last week and succeeded in securing the work, both of printing and engraving. The Grit Publishing Co. has printed Susquehanna's Year Book for a number of years and their work has always proven satisfactory. The book is always put out by the Junior class of the College and the officers this year are: Grossman, Editor-in-chief; Nichols, Assistant Editor; Mary Wagner and Harman, Associate Editors; Lutton, Business Manager; Brown, Assistant Business Manager; Swoope, Artist; Himes, Photographer.

With this competent coterie of officers we can look forward to a yearbook of high standard. The book will be issued near the end of the school year.

ORCHESTRA TO BE ORGANIZED

Prof. Fillion, head of the Violin department, of the Conservatory of Music, has consented to assume the leadership of the College orchestra this year. With a number of musicians experienced in orchestral work and with the student body desirous of being represented by such an organization, this step of Prof. Fillion's will undoubtedly prove a success. Prof. Fillion has had several years of experience in music leadership during his career as a teacher in Western Massachusetts. Those students who join the organization will not only be aiding the institution but will be in a position to receive valuable information in the study of music.

Susquehanna has been represented by a college orchestra for many years, but unfortunately through lack of capable leadership last year, the organization was not a success. Being without such a band of musicians for a year, the student-body is highly enthusiastic over the organization of this

ALBRIGHT ADMINISTERED CALCIMINE

SUSQUEHANNA'S RED CROSS AGGREGATION DEFEATED BY 32-0 AT MYERTOWN SATURDAY

Albright outplayed Susquehanna at Myertown last Saturday, and won by the score of 32-0. Susquehanna's badly crippled team was no match for Captain Benfer and his teammates, the 'Varsity being completely swept off its feet in the first period. The team still felt the effects of the Bucknell game, as Keller, Shannon and Peters were unable to take their places in the back field. With substitutes unaccustomed to back field work, Captain Swoope was unable to stop the rapid advance of Albright's men in the initial period.

Benfer was plainly the bulwark of the Albright team. His end runs and line plunges featured throughout the game. He used his straight arm to good advantage, and blocked the attack of Susquehanna's players repeatedly. His injury, sustained during the second quarter, was regretted by the entire Susquehanna team, since his clean, manly playing is recognized as the secret of his fame in the athletic world.

Having chosen to receive the first kick-off, Captain Benfer caught the ball on the five yard line and advanced it to Susquehanna's ten yard line. From there Benfer succeeded in rounding Susquehanna's end for the first touchdown of the game, in the first two minutes of play. Albright was able to cross the 'Varsity's goal line twice before the whistle blew to end that quarter.

As has been noticed in many of the former games, Susquehanna's fighting spirit was not aroused until her opponents had rolled up a considerable score. From this time on, however, the Orange and Maroon team braced, the line holding in old time form and the back field apparently working together more smoothly. One touchdown and two field goals was the amount of Albright's scoring in the last three periods.

Parker, who was Albright's strong man after Benfer left the game, displayed rare form in his drop-kicking, both his field goals being from difficult angles, on the thirty-five and forty yard lines respectively in the second and fourth quarters.

For Susquehanna Swoope, Perry and Nichols played the strongest game. Susquehanna's greatest gains were made by open field work, but two of her seven first downs were made by line plunges. A forward pass from Swoope to Perry advanced the Orange and Maroon team forty yards in the final period. Shortly after this Parker succeeded in breaking through the 'Varsity's defense for a fifty yard run, making the final touchdown of the game.

The Orange and Maroon team received very few injuries in this game. The rivalry, which exists between Albright and Susquehanna, is of the most friendly nature. Both teams play hard and with a desire to win, but only by fair means. This is the wholesome sort of rivalry, which should animate all sports. The only ambition of the rival coaches is to outplay his brother with a better trained and more efficient team.

Susquehanna will enjoy a much needed rest this week, the manager having cancelled the fray for this Saturday with Lebanon Valley College.

The line-up Saturday:
 Albright Positions Susquehanna
 G. Shambaugh left guard Harmon
 Yost center Brown
 Patschke right guard Miller
 Brillheart right tackle Faust
 Hartzler right end Perry
 Trimble quarter back Swoope
 Zinn right half back Lubold
 Benfer full back Nichols
 Touchdowns—Benfer 3 and Parker;
 Goals from touchdowns Benfer 2; from field Parker 2. Substitutions, Albright Patschke for Yost, A. Shambaugh for Parker, Kaufman for Dunkle-

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Gettysburg's football squad has been invaded by typhoid fever.
 At Penn's track meet last Monday "fast times were made." Ted Meredith, the Olympic champion, was defeated in 880 yard dash by Brookes, a Freshman, who hails from Central High School. This was the surprise of the day.

Prof. James Palm Stober, of Albright College has had the degree of Ph. D. conferred upon him by the University of Chicago. He took his work in Natural Science.

On Oct. 29 the student body of Ursinus voted upon the honor system approved by the Student Senate.

"The students of Bucknell have installed a series of Saturday night dances in order to fill the need of some form of entertainment at the end of the week."

The eighty-second anniversary of the founding of Lafayette College was commemorated on Wednesday. At eleven o'clock exercises were held in the auditorium of Pardee Hall.

New Stadia seem to be getting quite popular among colleges. Susquehanna would be gratified to have one come her way.

Muhlenberg has organized a Democratic Club which at the present writing has a membership of ninety-six.

The Trustees of Juniata College have erected a new commodious grand stand on the athletic field. It has an approximate seating capacity of fifteen hundred.

The first page of the visitor's book of the Princeton graduate college which was lost has been recovered. It was stolen last Thursday of Friday, and contained the names of many prominent guests among which ex-President Taft's was included.

On account of the short days both State and Albright are using white foot balls during the latter part of each day's practice.

Penn State celebrated her Saturday's tie with Harvard Monday night with an immense bonfire. Telegraph poles, wagons, small buildings, boardwalks and fences had been piled together all day long by more than a thousand students, members of the freshmen and sophomore classes. "By night fall their wood pile was larger than any three-story building and an elaborate celebration had been arranged for that evening. In the midst of all the excitement five barrels of gasoline that had been poured over the gigantic pile exploded. Hundreds of spectators, who circled the bonfire fifty feet away, were knocked down. Many suffered injuries from flying debris and the stampede that followed. Among the injured were Tobin, captain of the football team, and Saurhoff, president of the Sophomore class. These men were taken to the hospital at Bellefonte.

AN INTERESTED ALUMNUS

I wish to congratulate the staff on the advancement you have made in changing from a monthly to a weekly. It should be especially pleasing to all alumni because they are able to get the news of Susquehanna right up to the minute. Enclosed find $1 for my subscription.

I am glad to notice the plucky fight the football team is putting up against much heavier and more seasoned teams. It was hard luck that so many were disabled last Saturday but I look forward to a better closing of the season as the players get to playing together better.

UP FROM THE MITS VIA SAWDOUST TRAIL

"DICK" BRANSTON TELLS OF HIS RISE FROM PUGILIST TO AN EVANGELIST

The whole college was held spell bound last Tuesday evening by "Dick" Branston, of Berwick, formerly a pugilist but now a real live active Christian. "Big Dick" took his position before the fine audience of young men and women and from that moment until the end of his address there was perfect silence in the hall. His grand physique left no doubt that he at one time was a master in the ring.

All through his discourse he drew illustrations from his own life to drive his point and effectively sent home every sentence. "Big Dick" came from a good home, that is, he had a good father and mother. But neither were Christians, thus his religious training at home was scant although he went to Sunday School just as many boys do now, careless and indifferent. He was educated at an Episcopal Church school.

Early in his life "Big Dick" got in with a "bad gang" and we have his story as he himself puts it—"I traveled with companions that led me astray; I had no one to check me; in the beginning my intentions were all well and good; I began one thing at a time and went on and on and God alone stopped me. I played my first card in a harmless game at home, I landed in the gambling den with the race track gamblers—and by the way, the horse race is the worst curse a nation can have. Every year England's races send countless numbers of men and women to hell."

"While yet a young man I married a good, Christian girl—but she didn't know me. I was a 'sport,' always had lots of money, and she was fooled in me just as lots of men fool young girls now. After we were married it was a different song. Girls, never marry a man to reform him."

"I came to America, resolved to live better, and did for a few weeks but was in with the gang again in a short time. Do you know that resolutions are but workshops of the devil? I started a training club, promoted prize fighting and still continued to be a good fellow, a foolish act for any man. When the Stough campaign was going on in Berwick I was one of the biggest knockers on the list. . . . I hit the trail and gave my life to Jesus Christ and shall serve Him faithfully 'till the end."

"Dick" gave us some things to talk about, things that will go with us all through life. He says he earnestly believes a man can't be a Christian and smoke cigarettes. We hope that some of our fellows will take this to heart, and especially those who are studying for the ministry. He says that he knows, from his own experience, that cigarettes, booze and women will lead to hell. The average young man and woman of today think only of dances, shows and a good time never about Jesus. Some day we will be called to give an account and how many of us will be found wanting?

Let us take Dick's advice and play the game straight. "It is easy to flow with the course of the river, but it takes a man to struggle against the tide." Be a man. If you are a cigarette fiend and a gambler in your room come out on the surface and straighten up. Make every day Sunday and at the end hear the welcome plaudits "Well done."

STILL THE SAME TEDDY

Many of the students went to Sunbury last Monday evening to hear Theodore Roosevelt speak on the political issues of the coming election.

A crowd of five thousand people or more were at the station to greet Mr. Roosevelt. On both sides of the railroad the streets were crowded for almost a square, while situated at various vantage points throughout this vast throng were numerous automobiles filled with some of the most notable personages of Central Pennsylvania.

The "Teddy" special was three-quarters of an hour late due to the immense crowds which greeted ex-President Roosevelt all along the way from Easton. Arriving at the station at 6.20 P. M. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Pinchot with other well known politicians addressed the crowd from the rear platform of the last car. Mr. Roosevelt immediately spoke on politics. After the preliminary greetings he put his hand on Mr. Pinchot's shoulder and said, "Here is a man whom I want you to support for the United States Senate at this election. He stands for the best interests of the people while Penrose is opposed to the best interests of the people." He further said that Penrose was the ally of crooked business and that he is opposed to a workman's compensation act while Pinchot stands for it.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke only about four minutes and was still speaking when the train pulled out. When he finished he was heartily applauded. As the party then bade good-by to the large crowd Mrs. Pinchot threw some buttons and books among the people.

This ex-President and explorer has his old-time snap and action. He looks healthy and vigorous and none the worse for his thrilling experiences in the forests of South America.

Many people have had their first glimpse of the man who is the friend of kings and queens, of presidents and emperors; the man who explored the wilds of Africa and of North and South America; whose name is a household word in almost every land of the world; the man who guided the helm of the Ship of State for seven years, made possible the building of the Panama Canal, and helped to end the Russo-Japanese war. He typifies the American spirit, and has done many noble achievements for his country. May he live many years to serve his country with his practical and extended knowledge of his native land and its peoples.

ALLISON MEETS ROOSEVELT

Professor Allison on Monday of last week went to Shamokin and boarded the special train which was conveying Teddy Roosevelt and his party across the State. He had an interview with Gifford Pinchot and Draper Lewis, and met Mr. Roosevelt. He speaks highly of the character and personality of these noted men. He said that every provision was made for the comfort of Mr. Roosevelt, he having made nineteen speeches on Monday. While Professor was on the train Mr. Roosevelt was reading the news paper, and seemed unconscious of those about him. This is a characteristic of great men, to be able at all times to have absolute concentration of mind.

Professor Allison is a staunch Progressive and is actively engaged in campaign work in behalf of that party.

Announcement has been made by the Pennsylvania Railroad that the company will carry free to New York all Christmas gifts for Belgian orphans and refugees of the European War.

This free service will be performed for all such freight shipped by organized committees between now and November 30. Shipments should be consigned to Belgian Relief Committee, 25 Madison ave., New York.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

COLLEGE TOPICS OF MEN AND THINGS INTERESTINGLY DISCUSSED BY KEEN OBSERVER

Dr. George E. Fisher delivered one of his forceful lectures before a meeting of the Lancaster County Sabbath School Association held at Lititz Thursday.

Coach Kelnher very ably took charge of the Senior class in Geology on Thursday in the absence of Dr. Fisher, who was attending a Sabbath School Association meeting at Lititz.

Penn-State's monster bonfire could be very easily seen from the college campus on Monday evening. Large portions of the northern sky were illuminated by this huge, and what proved to be disastrous conflagration.

Mr. Chrisman, a former student at Susquehanna, visited friends among the students last week. He played center on the football team while attending college here, and is very much interested in the welfare of his Alma Mater.

Registrar Horton gave the students their annual treat of apple cider Wednesday evening. Every person appreciated this kindness but some were apparently disappointed in that the juice did not have the proper "tang" that only age can give.

At a meeting held in the Science Hall Wednesday evening it was decided to appoint a committee of upper classmen to act as a Student Council and to have charge of all phases of student government. Members of the newly formed "Death League" will be named this week.

Two members of the Theological department were last week caught in the act of "gathering" chestnuts on forbidden ground and had it not been for the timely arrival of several of their brothers in Divinity the iniquitous "preachers" would have been arraigned before a Justice and heavily fined.

Business Manager Lutton left the contract Friday for the Lanthorn photographic work to the firm of Gougher Brothers, Harrisburg, Pa. This company holds the reputation of doing high class work and any person desiring sittings should make arrangements with Lutton so that appointments can be made during the week that the photographer will be located at college.

Under the direction of Cheer leaders Danowsky and Keammerer the Sophomores, Freshmen and Preps are being drilled along the line of college yells and songs every evening on Warner Field. This is the manner by which the new students can become familiar with the yells and songs. Let every lower classman remember that it is compulsory that he be out to these daily practices and in this way keen, snappy cheering can be accomplished at every game.

Why not a college band? For several years past Susquehanna has been represented by a very creditable Orchestra, but has never had a regular college band. There is nothing that adds more spice to athletic events than the cheering strains of martial music and with the number of students who are capable of playing there is no reason why Susquehanna should not have a good sized band. A meeting will be called in a short time and then let every fellow capable of playing any kind of a musical instrument turn out and a rousing, good band can be organized and probably the orchestra enlarged.

"Are you fond of Bach, Mr. Dubs?"

THE CHRISTMAS SHIP

While the swift shuttle of war is weaving its thread of racial hate and discord, of sorrow and death over the bloody fields of Europe, the generous heart of the American people is going out in sympathy to their orphans and widows. If the people of this country never before showed their love for the unfortunate they do so now.
Europe is bleeding and dying. Thousands of her noble sons sleep beneath the silent turf. Her industries are destroyed, her fertile valleys are laid waste, her children are homeless and her widows are without bread.

It is therefore noteworthy to observe that there is being fitted out in this country a Christmas ship to be loaded with toys and clothing and food for the orphans and widows of Europe. One of the principal receiving stations is located at the City Hall, Philadelphia. Thousands of packages are pouring in every day, some of which are to go to the orphans of France, England and the other allied nations; others to the destitute of Germany and Austria. This ship will sail from Brooklyn on November 10.
The vessel selected for this mission of mercy is the United States collier Jason.

A significant thing about these Christmas gifts is the fact that so many contributions come from little children. Surely the heart of young America was touched by the sufferings of their cousins across the sea.
Thousands of sewing circles and bar-of young people have been working weeks making, collecting and buying articles of usefulness for the little sufferers of Europe.

When Christmas comes there will be many surprises for the weeping and starving millions of these warring nations. A little dress, a pair of shoes, a pair of stockings, a coat, a new suit, etc., will make some one forget his sorrows and rejoice over the kind hearts across the waters, and when they find from whom these gifts came they will thank the generous and warm hearted people of America for their help in time of need, and a new spirit of love and affection will bind together the people of America and Europe which will hasten the day when war shall cease and the grand federation of Human Brotherhood shall be ushered in to stay. America is preparing the way for this by giving of her substance in love to her

MEETING OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Snyder County Historical Society will hold its quarterly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 5th, in Seibert Hall at 8 P. M. Both the student body and people of Selinsgrove are invited to attend this meeting, which promises to be of unusual interest from the program arranged.

The program will consist of a "History of Susquehanna University" by Dr. Charles T. Aikens, president of the institution; "Missionary Institute in the Civil War" by Dr. Frank P.
Manhart, president of the Historical Society; and an address on "Snyder County in the Civil War" by Hon.
Joseph A. Lumbard, Corporal Co. G,
147th Regiment, P. V. I.

Much interesting information concerning this institution from the time it was founded down to the present time will be given and for this reason the meeting should be of unusual interest to Susquehanna students and friends. Admission will be free.

JUDGE HINKLEY SPEAKER

The Washington party mass meeting in Selinsgrove last Friday evening was very ably addressed by Judge Hinkley, of Danville. Using as his theme Penrose and Penroseism he depicted very vividly Penrose the man as unfit for office and the system most worthy of destruction.

He gave four reasons why Penrose should not be returned to the United States Senate. First, because he is allied with the liquor interests of the State. Second because he opposed legislation for the proper regulation of monopolies. Third, because he assisted to debauch the women and youth of the land. Fourth, because he dis-represented the Republican party.

Judge Hinkley is a forceful speaker, clearly setting forth arguments against Penrose, and by his ability as an orator held well the attention of his audience.

INJURED PLAYERS IN ACCIDENT

What might have been a more serious accident happened Sunday afternoon down near the Aqueduct, when the car upset in which Knorr '17, Bangson, Shannon, Harkins and Ard,
'15, were driving. Knorr decided to take several of his friends for a short joy ride and so loaded Harkins and Shannon, each walking on crutches as a result of football injuries, and the two other fellows into his machine and started toward Harrisburg. When near the aqueduct the car skidded in the mud and veered to the side of the road where it struck an obtruding stone, which impact immediately toppled the machine over on its side pinning the occupants beneath it. Bang-son, the only one who was not pinned beneath the wreckage, went after some nearby farmers, with whose help the car was righted and the occupants released.

Despite the fact that both Harkins and Shannon were suffering from football injuries not one of the party was hurt and the only damage to the machine was a broken top and a bent fender.

ALBRIGHT VS. BUCKNELL

When Albright and Bucknell clash on the gridiron at Lewisburg Saturday of this week, a live game will have been staged.

Ordinarily an easy victory for Bucknell would be expected, but this year Albright is unusually strong and is sure to give Bucknell a battle for victory. Benfer plays full back for Albright and is one of the best in the East. Coach Glenn Warner, of the Carlisle Indians, said, after his team ad played Albright, that Benfer is ood for an all American position.

Benfer is a giant in stature, being 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighing 220 pounds; he is very fast, being equally good in the open field and line plunges. It will be interesting to compare the work of Capt. Benfer and Capt.
Topham, of Bucknell, as latter also plays full back and is considered to have few peers.

FOOT BALL SCHEDULE CHANGE

Brown, '15, manager of foot ball, wishes to announce an error in the printed foot ball schedule. The game with the Carlisle Reserves, which was scheduled for Nov. 14th, will be played here Nov. 21st.

He—Well, how do you like baseball?
She (at her first game)—It's perfectly lovely. But why do they have those policemen about? Oh, I know, it's to prevent the men from stealing bases.

Frank S. Noetling, ex-'12 and '07 S. of B., a teacher of sciences in the High School at Colina, Ohio, is visiting at the home of his grandparents, Prof. and Mrs. William Noetling, in Selingsgrove. Having passed through a severe attack of typhoid fever Prof. Noetling has come Selingsgrove to recuperate.

Prof. E. M. Brungart, principal of the Academy, was visited by Harry H. Hubler and wife, of Rebersburg, during the past week. Mrs. Hubler is a niece of Prof. Brungart and was a student in the Conservatory of Music here two years ago. Mr. Hubler is also known to many Susquehanna men as he was a student in the School of Business at the same time. Both parties were welcome visitors on the campus during their Selingsgrove stay.

In its true and original sense the name Alma Mater expresses the endearing relation a university bears to those who study or have studied with in her walls, to distinguish her from other institutions of learning.

Today the term is used in a broader sense, and expresses the relation between the higher institutions of learning, including the college and seminary, and their alumni and students.

Every institution of higher education ought to be a real Alma Mater, exercising a motherly influence over all her intellectual sons and daughters. She ought to bear to them the closest vital relations, giving them the proper care and protection, teaching each one self-reliance, mastery of self and a knowledge of his own powers and responsibilities.

Since the true Alma Mater bears such a close relation to those of her own offspring and has done so much for them, they in turn owe something to her.

Now the something we owe to our Alma Mater can be summed up in a few words.

1. Every Alumnus ought to maintain a lively interest in her welfare. Every Alumnus ought to keep in touch with his Alma Mater, keep well informed with regard to all her important interests by visiting her occasionally, being a regular subscriber to her publications, and remaining in communication with some one connected with the institution.

2. Every Alumnus ought to honor and respect her. Our success in after life, our elevation to high and useful positions ought not to cause us to speak disrespectfully of her. It is the duty of every Alumnus to respect her just as he ought his own mother.

3. Every Alumnus ought to support her. This may be considered his duties. Every Alumnus ought to support her. This may be considered his MUSIC

Music's magic power has been recognized from the history of early man, down to the present time. It is the one universal language known to the world today. It is difficult to understand the mysterious thralldom which this element of sound throws over the savage of the forest as well as the most cultured listener. The harmony which fills the souls appears to exclude all else. King Saul when troubled with fits of passionate anger would be lulled to sleep by the lyric strains of David, the shepherd lad's harp. Even the wildest beasts, a-thirst for blood and with their prey unprotected before them, have been known to lose their ferocity when music exercises its magic power upon them. Truly "Music hath power to soothe the savage breast."

Good music has an uplifting effect upon its listeners. It raises one from his every day life into a higher realm of thought and feeling. Certainly the opportunity to acquire such a power is one which should not be passed lightly. In addition to the course in music which is offered to all students, opportunity to develop musical ability is offered everyone in the various organizations both of vocal and instrumental nature, which our college fosters.

The girl's glee club, the men's glee club, and the college orchestra are now being organized. Every student is invited to endeavor to secure a position in one of these musical clubs. Tours through this state as well as through adjoining states are being arranged for both glee clubs.

Besides this attraction every member will have the realization that he or she is engaged actively in working for the welfare of the institution. Every successful musical tour is an advertisement for Susquehanna. Then, too, you are receiving training that cannot be acquired in any other way; you will be developing that power, which though innate in many of us still remains dormant throughout life. Acquire this power which will cause listeners to be enraptured by a simple song from the lips of a real musician just as easily as by the majestic swell of some vast symphony.

SHEAFFER-EVES

Dr. Joseph Sheaffer, of Elizabethtown, was married to Miss Eunice Eves, of Millville, on the evening of October twenty-eighth at the bride's home, with Rev. Dr. Frank P. Manhart, dean of the Susquehanna University School of Theology, as the officiating minister.

The bridegroom is remembered as one of Susquehanna's leading athletes of seven years ago, having been graduated from Susquehanna in 1907, after which he continued his course at Medico-Chi, Philadelphia, and is at present practicing medicine at Elizabethtown. Susquehanna alumni and friends wish them much happiness.

Meyer, '17, and wife spent Friday evening at the home of Watts, '16.

President Aikens very acceptably filled the pulpit in the Lutheran church at Milton last Sunday. Rev. Reimsnyder, the pastor, was unable to perform his regular duties because of severe injuries recently suffered when he fell off a ladder while picking apples. President Aikens also delivered

HAGERSTOWN MARYLAND

Philo has just passed one of the most successful months in her history. The meetings have been very well attended and a marked interest has been manifested in the programs both by auditors and performers. Many very talented and promising members have been initiated who will add greatly to the literary talent of our society and the glory of our Alma Mater.

Following are the names which have been already added to Philo's roll and from whom great things are expected in the future: Misses Reack, Kautz, Marian Weaver, Lulu and Helen Fetterolf, Holshue, Alma and Bessie Long, and Messrs. Faust, Haiston, Hinkleman, Ginter, Zimmerman, Ulrich, Portzline, Hoover and Custer.

The program for Friday, Oct. 23, was well rendered to a large and appreciative audience among which was our genial Registrar, Mr. William T. Horton, who made a very spirited and encouraging address. Mr. Paul Harman read an essay entitled "The Colorado Labor War," which brought out in a very elucidative manner the industrial and economic situation of that great state. Miss Dorothy Allison rendered a declamation in a very pleasing and affable manner, and was followed by Miss Gertrude Weaver in an original oration entitled "What Christianity Has Done for Woman," which traced the evolution of woman from the condition of slavery to her present position of honor and esteem in our modern civilization. Miss Mary Neidig then rendered an exquisite vocal selection with violin obligato by Miss Irene Bauder. The current news were read by Mr. Alvin Teischart in which the reader placed special emphasis upon the eminent success of the Rev. Ira Samsam as football coach of the Turtle Creek high school squad. Mr. Bay Bulick then gave a very humorous select reading which was followed by the debate on Resolved, That the production of luxuries is a waste of social energy. The affirmative was upheld by Smith and Grossman and the negative by Danowsky and Miller. The Judges Messrs. Haiston, Dale and Bergstresser agreed in favor of the negative. An excellent "Philo" by Miss Miriam Grossman concluded the meeting.

On Friday, Oct. 30th, the regular election was held and a short program consisting of the following numbers was rendered. Mr. Kline read an essay entitled "America's First Foreign War," which showed considerable preparation and research work. This was followed by a humorous declamation, "A Man in the House," rendered by Cyril Spigelmeyer. Then Mr. Frey delivered an oration on "Christianity in the Twentieth Century," and was followed by the Senior Quartette composed of Misses Alice and Gertrude Weaver and Messrs. Follmer and Kline, who rendered "Good Night, Beloved, Good Night," in such a pleasing and talented manner that the rendition occasioned several encores. Messrs. Phillips and Fetterolf, who were unavoidably absent, procured substitutes who ably filled their part of the program.

The following persons, Misses Charlotte Weaver and Laura Schoch, and Messrs. Decker, Dunmire and Grove were elected as members and their talents will prove a valuable asset to our society. Rev. Arthur C. Harris, of Hartleton, Pa., then made a stirring address and exhorted all members to participate in all manner of literary work and thus raise the standard of dear old Susquehanna.

The following are the new officers for the ensuing term:—Pres. Danosky; Vice-Pres., Miss Catherine Weaver; Sec. Miss Miriam Grossman; Sec. to Treas. Huntington; Treas. Frey; Pianist Miss Estella McCormick; Critics Bergstresser and Miss Alice Weaver; Editor Kline; Asst. Editor Spigelmeyer; Acceder Harman; Monitor Woodruff.

PENN TWP. TEACHERS MEET
Teachers in the public schools of Penn township met in the school house at Kantz Friday evening of last week, and organized for the purpose of holding mutual benefit meetings throughout the year.

Scholars of the school rendered a small program of thirty recitations, songs and other offerings, after which Dr. John I. Woodruff delivered a very interesting, uplifting and beneficial talk along the line of education.

On motion it was resolved to meet at Salem every two weeks to discuss various subjects pertaining to school work.

HALLOWE'EN SPIRIT IN SOCIETIES' FROLICS

CLIONIANS HIKE TO FISHER FARM AND PHILOS GATHER IN ALUMNI GYMNASIUM

Clio

Monday evening of last week saw the culmination of a year's anticipation, Clio's annual Halloween hike. The spirit of any organization is not what it should be when its routine is not interrupted by some social events. With all other functions, Halloween is the object of our greatest anticipation and leaves with us the sweetest recollections.

The evening, as foretold by the day, was superb. The moon dispensing its golden rays upon the broad Susquehanna in copious brilliancy and being reflected from the sparkling waters it illuminated the adjacent country with its lustre. This view of exquisite beauty stretched along the entire way from Selinsgrove to our destination—the Fisher home on the Isle of Que. The historic nature of the surrounding country permeated the spirit of the occasion with weird hallucinations.

On arriving there the hiking party found a large home tastefully decorated for the occasion. Huge corn shocks filled the nooks and corners, symbolizing the season with its crisp and frosted foliage. Leaves, painted by the inevitable hand of nature, bedecked the floor and thus restored nature's effect. Pumpkins, large and mellow beamed forth their candle light through artificial perforations. Some adorned the entrance bespeaking Clio's welcome, while others, from the window sills and stairways, from the mantles and ancient fire-place radiated their meagre light through weird apertures. Over all stretched wailing streamers of the Olden Gold and Blue, filling the room with the amiable Clionian spirit.

Numerous games were played affording amusement for all, serving in the end to eliminate any strangeness present. All felt like one big family as we truly were. Undoubtedly the evening was spent with supreme joy.

However, the program committee was finally put to flight by the invasion of the refreshment committee, and all hands were taxed to the limit in the frantic effort to exhaust the supply. Luscious pumpkin pies, made thick and yellow with the farm's best productions, were had in abundance. Sandwiches, cakes and apples, better than ever before, disappeared with marvelous rapidity. And then the cider, good and sweet, completed the program of Clio's best Halloween social.

The hike home was not without its amusing incidents. Pranks were played which will long be remembered, and the homeward walk was replete with exultations of an evening well spent. The moon, chagrined to illuminate the way with its brightest light, diffused its rays through a mackerel sky however not entirely obliterating its glowing effect upon the jaded waters.

Surely this event surpassed any former one and it will undoubtedly leave an indelible stamp of its splendor upon all those present. To those whose participation in this event shall be their last, it surely should leave with them the satisfaction that Clio is progressing. Then again, it should be a direct incentive for a better and greater Clio. Let us all then endeavor to make next year's event surpass this by as much as the one just gone by has surpassed former ones.

In conclusion a word is necessary relative to the work of Clio within her halls. The program, October 23, rendered by the ladies deserves special mention. Beyond a doubt they have demonstrated that preparation is essential to good programs. The music was especially commendable, while Miss Cressman deserves much credit for the production of an excellent Herald. The program, October 30, was cut short on account of the mass meeting in the Masonic Temple. However, the numbers were well rendered. The program, November 6, was very creditable. The debate was well prepared and full of life and the other numbers were above the standard.

Philo

The Alumni Gymnasium on Monday evening was the scene of a delightful Halloween Social given by Philo to about seventy-five students and guests. The "Gym" was beautifully decorated, many busy hands working Saturday and Monday to give it a real Halloween appearance. Corn fodder was spread along the four sides of the large floor and a large shock occupied the middle. Pumpkins were scattered profusely everywhere among the corn, while from every available nook and corner lighted "Pumpkin Spooks" peeped out at the assembled company. In one corner a "fire" under a large kettle gave an artistic atmosphere, while from the other end of the room a large moon shed its mellow rays over the floor. The moonlight streaming from the outside through the lower windows helped to produce a gorgeous effect. Benches and cozy-corners arranged among the shocked corn accommodated the company, and a barrel of sweet cider supported in the corner of an old rail fence served to keep up their spirits. Leaves covered the floor to the depth of a foot and added to the Out-of-doors appearance.

Part of the evening was spent in playing games and giving yells and songs, after which all gathered around the "fire" and enjoyed a short informal program. Mr. Nichols gave two readings whose weird characters were set in the mysterious Northland. After several selections by the Mandolin Club, Prof. Keener favored the Circle with his timely and excellent readings "When the Frost is On the Pumpkin" and "When I Was a Boy." After a few more games Miss Brown chaperoned the party on a "hike" up the State road and around by Book's Bank.

The time was very pleasantly spent throughout. The old Philo spirit of sociability was manifest everywhere, and those who will never spend another such evening with us, will remember the many pleasant experiences which they enjoyed last Monday.

CHURCH SOCIAL

A church social, given by the Ladies' Aid Society of Trinity Lutheran Church, will be held in the church next Tuesday evening at 7.30. This event is intended to bring about closer social relationship among the members of the church, as well as to create a more homelike feeling between the students of the college and the Lutheran townspeople. For this reason all students, especially the new ones, are urged to be present. A good social time is promised you and nothing asked in return.

Among other things, the Girls' Glee Club and a portion of the Men's Glee Club of the college will furnish entertainment.

Let the students show their appreciation of this Society's kind thoughtfulness by attending in goodly number.

HISTORIANS TELL OF WAR RECORD OF ALMA MATER

QUARTERLY MEETING OF SNYDER COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY PROVES INTERESTING

Quarterly meeting of the Snyder County Historical Society was held in Seibert Hall last Thursday evening before a small but enthusiastic audience, which despite the threatening weather braved the chances of a snow squall which did not materialize.

At 8 P. M. the Society was called to order by its president, Dr. F. P. Manhart, Dean of the Theological School of the University and an earnest helper in the preservation of local history.

The audience was then favored with a piano solo by Prof. G. A. Brower.

The Rev. Leroy F. Baker, rector of the local All Saints Episcopal Church, led in prayer, in which he gave thanks for the opportunity given to us by history of profiting by the good deeds of the past and avoiding the dark things and mistakes of our forefathers. A prayer for the nations at war and peace among all nations was also uttered.

The reading of the minutes by the secretary, Wm. M. Schure, was then dispensed with on motion to adopt the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in August at Salem Church, two miles west of Selinsgrove, which had been printed in the official publications.

The business of the meeting having been disposed of, the literary program was taken up.

The first paper was given by Dr. Aikens, entitled "A History of Susquehanna University" and was presented in his usual pleasing style. All who heard our President was pleased by the address, as it brought out some interesting facts about our institution which few knew and which we should all know. "A Child of the Church," it received its birth in the Maryland Synod in 1856 when Dr. Benjamin F. Kurtz read a paper before that body in session at Frederick City. A committee was then appointed and after two years work Selinsgrove was chosen as the site of this new institution, known as "Missionary Institute." The Doctor gave several vital points which led the committee to decision on the site given by the citizens of Selinsgrove, which today we are all so proud of. The advancement of the school into a university was clearly brought out, with other facts, all of which tended to make this paper of much interest, and which the audience listened to with more than usual interest.

The second paper by Dr. Manhart, entitled "Missionary Institute in the Civil War," although short, was a revelation to his hearers, as he read name after name of students of the old Missionary Institute, and even Professors, who shouldered the musket or strapped on the sword and went to the front, some even into the Confederate Army. He read the names of students and their Professors, Wm. Noelling, who is still living, that went out in the Emergency Troops of 1862 and 1863, when the Confederate Army was threatening Pennsylvania. The company of '62 reached the outskirts of Anietam, having been stationed on a hill southwest of the town of Hagers-town, during the last day of that fight.

The students in the Emergency Company of '63 were at Carlisle when the Confederates were shelling that town and burning the Barracks, now the Indian School, prior to their retreat to Gettysburg, by the recall of General Lee.

Many students are found in Co. G, 147th Regiment, Penna. Infantry, which was enlisted in and about Selinsgrove and vicinity.

The last paper "Snyder County in the Civil War," by Hon. Joseph A. Lumbard, himself a veteran, having served as Corporal of Company G 147th Pennsylvania Infantry, was of exceptional interest and value as it gave in a brief manner a synopsis of every organization in which Snyder County was represented.

The paper was received with close attention and the audience felt well repaid for their coming.

Miss Ethel Irene Brown then favored the meeting with a vocal solo, in her pleasing manner which all enjoyed. Prof. Brower ably assisted at the piano.

After the close of the literary program, the following members were elected:

The following names were proposed for membership and elected:—Active members: Mrs. Frank P. Manhart, and Rev. C. M. Aurand, both of Selinsgrove, Pa.

Associate members: Mrs. H. M. Thompson, Pueblo, Colo.; Mr. Harry T. Domer, Washington, D. C.; Mr. E. L. Swartzlander, Horsham, Pa.; Mr. Harry P. Alleman, Philadelphia, Pa.

The society then gave a vote of thanks to the University for the use of Seibert Hall, to Miss Brown and Prof. Brower, for the assistance with the musical program and to the three papers read before the Society.

"The Star Spangled Banner" then filled the hall as the audience sang our national hymn, standing, after which Dr. J. R. Dimm pronounced the Benediction, and the Historical Society adjourned till the next quarterly meeting which will be held in January, time and place to be announced later. Many students availed themselves of this meeting by being present and learning some of the local lore. It shows a healthy interest along lines historical which should bring forth good fruit when they return to their homes. It also gave them an opportunity to know more of the school and the community in which they are living for a good part of their school days.

We understand the Historical Society is contemplating giving a lantern slide exhibition of local historical views sometime in the winter term which should be of exceptional interest.

JOINT MEETING

A joint session of the literary societies of Susquehanna will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 20th. Breaking away from ancient custom last year the societies agreed to meet in joint session once every term. Such action is very commendable as it aids greatly in destroying that bitter rivalry which prior to the advent of this common meeting was too prone to exist. The harmonious feeling which at present is prevalent between the societies is to a great extent traceable to the first of these joint meetings held last year.

Realizing that last year's meetings were entirely successful everyone has been eager for some time that arrangements be made for this term's program. Accordingly the joint committee appointed for this purpose met last week and arranged what promises to be a very interesting program.

All friends of Susquehanna are invited to attend this meeting which will be held in Seibert Hall at 7 o'clock.

MR. AND MRS. HORTON TENDERED RECEPTION

FACULTY AND LOCAL MINISTERS ENTERTAINED IN SEIBERT HALL FRIDAY EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Horton tendered an informal reception to the Susquehanna Faculty and Ministers of Selinsgrove Friday evening in the parlors of Seibert Hall.

As entertainment, Prof. Fillion played several violin solos in his usual artistic manner, while Miss Brown followed with a very pleasing vocal selection. Prof. Keener gave some readings, and Prof. Brower closed with several numbers on the piano.

After a dainty luncheon had been tastefully served, President Aikens, as toastmaster, made a few remarks, in which he pointed out how valuable Mr. and Mrs. Horton have been to the institution during the past eight years. Mr. Horton, especially, having devoted his entire time and energy to the business of the college is no despising the fruits of his labor and his dearest aim is being reached, that of a greater Susquehanna. Prof. Follmer, in a few well chosen words, showed the high esteem in which the Hortons are held both by the faculty and students. Dr. Dimm, Rev. S. Baker, Drummell and Leonard showed their appreciation of Mr. Horton both as a business man and as a thorough Christian gentleman.

In behalf of those present, Dr. Aikens presented to the host and hostess a magnificent silk umbrella with engraved gold handle.

Mr. Horton responded to this mark of appreciation and stated that, since taking up the duties of Registrar, his relations with both the faculty and students have been a source of pleasure to himself, and although offered positions with a better pecuniary remuneration he has refused them in order that he may remain at Old Susquehanna where his heart is in his work.

Being entertained in the excellent manner for which the Hortons are noted, it was quite late when the guests took their departure with pangs of regret that an evening well spent had come to a close.

Y. W. C. A.

At the regular meeting on Tuesday night, the leaders, Misses Moyer and Webb, took as their topic "The Morning Watch." They impressed us with the fact that in order to start the day right and to greet our fellowmen in the proper attitude it is necessary to set apart a certain time in the early morning for prayer and Bible study. Even if it is necessary to sacrifice a half-hour or an hour's sleep in the morning or perhaps to tear one's self away from the family circle a little before the usual time, we would be repaid many fold. And our reward would be received in the guidance and protection we need for the duties and cares of our individual, daily lives.

On Wednesday evening a song service was held in the parlor and the new hymnal was given a rigid and thorough examination. The Association has taken another step forward in purchasing these new books, and wishes to extend its hearty thanks to the members who made it possible to procure them.

A sketch is in the hands of the committee and will be ready for production before many days. "The Old Maid's Convention" promises to be a great attraction.

AN HONEST CAMPAIGN

Beyond a doubt the recent election disclosed one of the closest campaigns in Snyder county. For the Legislature, Dr. Woodruff, a man of excellent character and ability, entered the contest for the sake of the cause. He stood for the elevating principles of local option and better government and against him were pitted the most damnable forces of evil, rum and its almost inseparable associates, prevarication and bribery.

While Dr. Woodruff lost by only two votes nevertheless the narrow margin indicates the early renovation of Snyder county. To his credit it can be said that he never used any unfair means of securing votes, also never besmirching his opponents with infamous language even hesitating to expose them in the true light of their candidacy.

That Dr. Woodruff was the choice of the people cannot be questioned. His defeat was only accomplished through the malignant trickery of the old regime. Even in his home town, where his fitness for office is best known, he met with severe and unwarranted denunciation from the voice of the old machine. A contemporaneous newspaper, boasting its loyalty to the town and its great educational institution from which it eagerly solicits patronage, disregarded the principles of right and supported the old party with all its pernicious affiliations.

Fearing the election of Dr. Woodruff the unjust law depriving resident students of the right to vote was uncovered and the desired result effected. However the margin was close and ere long we can look for the triumph of the right and the rejection of corrupt politics and its associates into utter oblivion.

INDIAN SUMMER

September and early October with their chilly nights have turned the foliage of the trees from green to maroon. Indeed, many stately trees have already laid bare their mighty arms, and the cold wintry winds sing merrily through their thin boughs. The flowers of summer have all withered, and the grass is losing its verdant color. The farmer who rises before the King of Day has yet appeared puts on his heavy clothes, and makes fire to warm his house. Everything is preparing for winter.

Birds are going to the sunny southland, the land of flowers and sunshine. Already the robins have gone to make merry with their songs those lands of perpetual summer. Wild geese are following the streams and rivers toward the south, alighting just long enough to feed their hungry mouths.

With the apples picked and cider made, the corn cut and the husking well under way, the farmer feels ready to face the approaching winter. October rains have softened the hard ground, and a few blasts of snow have already set in to warn us of approaching winter. Surely winter has begun. But not yet. A southern wind sweeps over the valley bringing with it the perfumed air of blooming flowers. The pansies peep from beneath the dried leaves, and the forget-me-nots once more bring cheer to the lover of flowers. No longer are we greeted in the early morning by biting frosts, and the grass has again taken on a verdant hue. Behold! Indian summer is here.

Before the student of Susquehanna lies a beautiful scene viewing as he does the gentle cattle grazing over the distant hills, the countless shocks of corn as they rustle in the quiet breezes, and the majestic Susquehanna as it calmly flows on toward the sea.

This fine weather brings the boys out of their rooms, and the campus rings with their melodious songs and college yells. Let us take advantage of these few remaining days of sunshine and warm weather. Take long walks and breathe in the fresh air of the perfumed fields. Winter will soon be here and with it will come the snows and blasts and furious storms.

COEDUCATION

To many men coeducation seems a failure. Many of the larger institutions of learning give no encouragement to the education of women, and consequently, to give them opportunities for development many large and flourishing girls' colleges have been established all over the land.

Certainly coeducation is a success at Susquehanna. Whatever minor defects this system may have, the benefits derived from it far outweigh them. Not only are the girls of this college a valuable asset to its moral standards but they advance its intellectual standards as well. It is an established fact that for years most of the honors and prizes for intellectual brilliancy have been won by women. This is not due to any superior mental endowments but to their determined tenacity. Invariably the college girl will remain at her books until she has mastered her lessons, while too frequently the young man becomes indifferent when his efforts are not at once rewarded. Their success in grasping facts brings about a healthy rivalry in classroom work and this gives many students a desire to excel. Such rivalry is undoubtedly wholesome if not overdone.

Another department of college work in which woman displays her ability to increase interest is in the literary society. Seldom is she absent when her time comes to perform on the program and very often she adds much to the spirit of literary work.

Many of the girls of this institution come from the best Lutheran homes. They aid in keeping the moral standards of the college high and one cannot overestimate their effect on the character building of the remainder of the students. Many courtesies are extended to them which help to refine the rugged dispositions of the American youth. In the dining room, in chapel, on the campus or the athletic field they are given preference, and their presence disarms much of the vile and vulgar language which is so prevalent in most college communities. There is very little tobacco used among the male portion of our student body, and drunkenness is almost unheard of, which fact is largely due to the elevating influence of coeducation.

With few exceptions Susquehanna's female graduates have succeeded in life's battles whether in the school room, the office, or the home. More Lutherans should send their daughters to their own church colleges where they are surrounded by healthy Christian influences. Susquehanna, because

ATHLETICS

Had Susquehanna's football manager followed the schedule which had been arranged last year you would doubtless now be reading about Saturday's contest between Lebanon Valley College and the 'Varsity at Anville. There were various reasons for Manager Brown's cancelling this game, chief among which was the unfit condition of the 'Varsity team. As soon as it was evident that it would be impossible for us to play the game, word was sent to the Orange and Maroon's would-be opponents thus giving them time to arrange for another game if they desired to play on that date.

When one remembers that Coach Kelchner has developed a squad of experienced men this year into an eleven capable of making worthy showing for Susquehanna against colleges that rank among the highest of second-class division teams in the country, too much credit cannot be given him. However, in playing these games Susquehanna was forced to pay the penalty, so that the middle of the season finds us with almost half of the first-string men on the injured list. Indeed, in the last game so many men were playing out of their regular positions that it was difficult for Susquehanna students to recognize their team of the beginning of the season.

Crippled in this way, the college felt justified in declining to play a game which would, without a doubt have resulted in her being compelled to cancel the remainder of the schedule.

Despite the fact that no game was played on Saturday, an interesting practice was kept up throughout the week. This week special attention is being given to the reserve team as a game is being arranged for them for the coming Saturday. The 'Varsity plays their final game on November 21st, when the Indian Reserves come here.

CONSERVATORY NOTES

Mrs. Barron spent several days in Harrisburg last week.

Susquehanna Girls' Glee Club has reorganized with a membership of seventeen and the prospects for the coming year are very encouraging. Several extensive trips have been arranged for the club this year.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

It has been reported that at State's mammoth bonfire the other week a student was burned to death.

Last week foundations were laid for a beautiful limestone entrance to be placed before Lebanon Valley's administration building. This is a gift of the class of '14.

On account of the exceptionally large Freshmen class the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh has been increased.

The Orange and Blue's editor, in an editorial, has tried to arouse enough sentiment about Bucknell to have a press club appointed. It is rather surprising to observe that a college of Bucknell's size and standing doesn't already have one.

Several changes were made in the faculty of Gustavus Adolphus this year. An alumnus of Susquehanna, Prof. S. Luther Reed, Ph. D., '08, was elected to the chair of Psychology and Education.

Prof. Charles F. Sanders, who is professor of Philosophy at Gettysburg, received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Lafayette College.

Thiel College elected a new president recently, Dr. Franklin B. Sawvel.

The stadium at Yale, which is at present in the process of construction, will be completed before the end of the year.

Gettysburg's upperclassmen have passed the ruling that "All underclassmen who have not registered as regular Sophomores and all men who have not spent a freshman year at this or another college of equal standing must comply with the Freshmen rules of this institution during the first year of academic residence here."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Y. M. C. A. meetings should have the proper place on your schedule, and that place is every Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. The last meeting was poorly attended but the faithful few came for business and we went away, glad to have been there. We are now appealing to every man individually to waken up and get on the job! If the Y. M. C. A. is to do any good you must give it a chance. Is it the man who sits and waits for things to come to him that succeeds? No, it is the one who proves by his actions that he is a man in a man's place. Not one phrase of Y. M. C. A. work should be neglected—that is the very thing you need.

Next Tuesday evening the meeting will be led by the "football men." The program is well arranged and every number will be helpful. Come out and get an athletic idea of Y. M. C. A. work.

We feel that our Y. M. C. A. is hovering over a large territory, and as soon as the work is a little more definitely outlined and our men a little better acquainted with deputation work many teams will nestle down among the villages and do active service for the Master. Follows, we are getting ready for that work now, and if you wish to be considered in the future you must get in line now.

And just a suggestion to the older members—Is the Y. M. C. A. any better for your being a member? If not you know how to redeem yourself. There is no excuse for your standing back. Do not be so narrow as to expect the new men to lead you. Someone has you for his ideal—are you measuring up to his expectations? Are you going to be a man? Then be one.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

COLLEGE TOPICS OF MEN AND THINGS INTERESTINGLY DIS-CUSSED BY KEEN OBSERVER

Actuated by the Hallowe'en spirit some person or persons fired up the laundry engine and tied down the whistle, so that for about thirty minutes the siren continued its shrill blast.

While Dr. Woodruff was attending to his campaign for the legislature Rev. Leonard very capably filled the chairs of Latin and English.

Coach Ketchner remained in Myers-town after the Albright game for a few days' visit with friends.

William Seesholtz has the contract for the installation of a new hot water heating system in the home of President Aikens.

It may be noted with interest that the Susquehanna campus contains 32 different varieties of trees, among which are some rare and uncommon species.

Dr. George E. Fisher headed the senior class in Geology on a trip to the Middle Creek Dam Thursday. Much was gained by the study and explanation of the mountain and surrounding country, while the keen, snappy weather made the hike an enjoyable feature.

Although defeated by the final count in his contest for the legislature, Dr. Woodruff put up a strong fight and the close margin of two votes shows the high esteem in which the people of Snyder county, who desire clean government, hold this man of sterling character and enviable reputation.

Harry Lowe, of DuBois, has been tuning and putting into first class shape the pianos and organ in the Conservatory.

Blaine McNitt, a former student at Susquehanna, Mr. and Mrs. J. C.
Horton, and Miss Ethel Horton, relatives of Registrar and Mrs. Horton, on their way from Reedsville to Harrisburg, spent Wednesday at the latter's home on the campus.

Why not a fifty minute class period in place of an hour? Under the present system if one professor holds the class a little over time this delay causes the student to enter his next class room after the recitation has started. This obstruction is very disturbating to both instructor and hearer.
If fifty minutes were given for the regular work and ten minutes to pass from one building to another, and then when the ten minute period is up the class room door locked, the student would soon learn to be at class on time and in this manner tardiness and commotion would be eliminated.

Charles Minick, of Burnham, has been secured as assistant to Superintendent of Grounds John Knights.

George Hoover, a student in the Business department, last week shot at and crippled a large black bear at his home on Hoover's Island. One of the farmer's calves had been mysteriously carried away, so Hoover decided to keep on the look-out for the thief, and on Thursday night he saw the animal prowling around the barn. Quickly securing his gun he fired at the bear but succeeded in only wounding it, and as a result old Bruin made a hasty swim across the river and retreated to the mountains on the other side.

Coach Ketchner, Swoope, Foust and Nichols, attended the Bucknell-Albright game at Lewisburg Saturday.

Mrs. Richard Kauffman, after a two weeks' visit with friends in Williamsport, returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Horton, Tuesday.

ART TEACHER TELLS OF HER SUMMER'S TRAVELS

MISS GUSS RECOUNTS EVENTS IN HER JOURNEY TO INTERESTING POINTS IN MIDDLE WEST

About two years ago, Miss Margaret Guss took up some historical work, left unfinished by the death of her mother; which work was done at the request of some western cousins, and was in the nature of a Genealogical Record. Several typists at Susquehanna and in town will remember copying records, letters, etc. In the summer of 1913 Miss Guss received an urgent and cordial invitation to spend the whole of the next summer, (1914) with those cousins; which she did, spending two months in Wisconsin, at Marinette, Oakwood Beach, and Goodman; and nearly a month with other relatives in Chicago, Tippecanoe City, O., and Williamsburg, Pa.

The town of Marinette (named after an Indian Queen of the Menominee tribe), Wis., is situated where the Menominee river flows into Green Bay. This river is the dividing line between Upper Michigan and Wisconsin. The river flows swiftly and originally had a falls about a mile above the mouth. The falls is turned into a dam, with a large paper mill on each side of the river. Two smaller dams help to furnish power for beet sugar, Excelsior, and piano factories, sawmill machinery works and various factories that produce a larger volume of hard wood products than do the towns in any other part of Wisconsin or Michigan. At one time there were twenty-seven huge sawmills in operation there and the commerce of the harbor went to all parts of the Great Lakes, and many immense fortunes were made. But now it is more of a manufacturing town, and but two companies have sawmills there—the Sawyer-Goodman Company, which has holdings that will keep them busy for twenty-five years yet, and the Wells Company. As the land is cleared of timber it is sold for farms that prove fertile and are tilled by advanced methods, and the people would as soon think of doing without a High School, as to do without a Township Agricultural School.

Miss Guss was entertained quite royally, with daily auto rides, sails on Green Bay in the Goodman Launch, "Kingsfisher," and the yacht "Bonita," luncheons, concerts, etc., at the Club House of Oakwood Beach where C. A. Goodman has a summer home, as well as one in Marinette. She spent an interesting ten days at Goodman, the town of one thousand people built five years ago in the heart of the Goodman Lumber Company's tract of hardwood maple and pine lands. Manager R. B. Goodman lives on a wooded hill, overlooking the town, and a small lake said to be bottomless,—the water rising from several springs in it, and never freezing over entirely.

In Goodman are located two churches, one a Catholic and an undenominational Protestant; a fine large High School building, one hotel that seats two hundred and fifty in its dining room, one store, a large Club House which is the social center of the town, (there being no saloons to lounge in) with an auditorium 40 by 90 feet equipped for basketball, moving pictures, a stage with properties for theatricals and lectures, separate rooms for games, gymnasium, bath and lockers. An ice cream, candy and fruit room is an-

WOMAN'S REAL PLACE IN WORLD HER THEME

MRS. BARNEY CAPTIVATED LARGE AUDIENCE BY DISCOURSE IN TRINITY LUTHERAN

Many students enjoyed the instructive and interesting lecture given by Mrs. Mecca Marie Barney, a noted lecturer of the Ridpath Lyceum, on "The Silent Partner" on Sunday evening, Nov. 8th, in Trinity Lutheran Church. By her pleasing personality, her persuasive voice, and touching message she kept her audience spell-bound for one and one-half hours.

Her message was on woman's real place in the world and her discontent to remain any longer the "Silent Partner" of man. She spoke in substance as follows: During the past 75 years women have begun to assert their lawful rights in society. Before that time, woman from the dawn of history was the slave subject and servant of man. She did all the drudgery, performed the household duties, tilled the fields, planted the crops, reaped the harvest, and prepared all the food, while her husband followed the chase and did the fighting. But woman has become educated at last, and now she is pleading with man to give her equal suffrage, and open to her the various avenues to distinction and honor.

Woman has always borne the agonies of the race. It was a woman who stood beneath the cross of Calvary and in her tears saw her beloved son killed by a cruel world. Mary was the greatest silent partner that ever lived. Women demand suffrage so that they can better their own conditions and the condition of their children. She asks the privilege to pass judgment upon social systems and institutions which endanger the moral and physical health of her children.

Social welfare work seeks to place good environment about the child so that it may become healthy, strong and noble. The suppression of the saloon and dens of vice and crime is absolutely necessary to safeguard the boy. Social welfare work also seeks to take the eight million women out of the factories where their health and hopes are shattered, and provide such conditions that will enable them to become home builders.

Women are asking for a child labor law so that the three million child laborers may be placed in school. Under our factory system millions of children grow up in ignorance and neglect. In order to right these wrongs which have been glaring forth with such intensity for centuries woman must be given the right to vote and thus a universal democracy will be formed and this and this only can solve the problem.

WEEK OF PRAYER

OBSERVED BY Y. M. C. A.

This week has been a scene of many interesting gatherings in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. It has proven that the men at Susquehanna are taking time to be holy, and the oftener they get together in a few words of prayer the more they feel refreshed to go on their way.

It has been customary for the Y. M. C. A. to observe the week of prayer at this time of the year.

ANTI-BOOZE WORKERS REVIVE THEIR LEAGUE

CRANMER OF INTER-COLLEGIATE PROHIBITION ASSOCIATION ASSISTED IN TASK WEDNESDAY

Wednesday morning in chapel Mr. Cranmer gave a short outline of the work now in progress under the direction of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. The Association is now taking up the work of nationwide prohibition, and institutions such as we have in Susquehanna University will be important factors in bringing about the result sought.

We, as students of a Christian institution, feel that it is our duty, as well as a privilege, to take a firm stand against the saloon and everything that is connected with it, as well as against every other evil that is dragging down the manhood and womanhood of our nation. The meeting in Selbert Hall on Wednesday evening was addressed by Mr. Cranmer, and he succeeded in arousing much interest and enthusiasm. As a result of the meeting the membership of the Prohibition League was boosted to fifty-five, and we still have favorable prospects for raising it to seventy-five, thus taking the lead among the colleges of our circuit.

Officers were elected as follows: Miller '15, President; Bangson '15, Vice-President; Hinkelman, Academy '15, Secretary; Huntington '17, Treasurer; Mohney '17, Correspondent.

The regular meetings will be held monthly, at which times various phases of the liquor problem will be discussed and speakers will be trained for campaign work. We shall have in Prof. Allison a very able and instructive leader, who has the work at heart.

In the past Susquehanna has been very prominent in this line of work, but never before in her history has such an interest been manifested as we now have. It seems as though the students have been filled with a new impetus and are expressing themselves in this splendid manner.

It is our aim to be exceptionally instrumental in crushing the liquor traffic, which seems to have a death grip on our nation. And by Divine guidance we hope to accomplish our end and thus put the saloon out of existence for ever.

PROF. FILLION'S RECITAL

An event of unusual interest will occur Friday evening when Prof. Fillion will give a violin and piano recital at the Zion Lutheran Church in Sunbury. Prof. Fillion has already shown something of his ability, at our recent Faculty Recital, and by the manner in which he has taken up the work as instructor at the Conservatory of Susquehanna University. On this occasion he is to play a most comprehensive program on both the violin and piano, which promises to be more than interesting. The assisting artists are to be Mrs. M. W. Trimble, soprano, and Mr. Walter Evans, tenor, both of Sunbury, and represent local talent at its best. Such recitals as this tend to bring more into prominence our Conservatory and lead to a bigger and better college, by letting our friends know what we have here. Prof. Fillion comes to us with a reputation as a successful soloist and instructor, and in giving this recital is materially continuing the advance of our musical standards. A large audience is expected from Sunbury and vicinity and, also that the student body and friends of the University.

RESERVES WON HARD-FOUGHT FRAY 6-0

MONTGOMERY HIGH BLANKED HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON BY SUPERIOR PLAYING

Susquehanna's second team demonstrated their ability to play football, as well as their fighting spirit, by defeating the strong Montgomery High School team on Saturday 6 to 0. They made a hard and plucky fight against the High School boys, neither team being able to score until the final period.

Capt. Swaine of the Varsity had entire charge of the team on the field and displayed excellent coaching ability. His work was light as few substitutions were needed. The game was so closely contested that the withdrawal of any player in any part of the game might have proved fatal. Every man played his best and deserves part of the honor of winning.

During the first three periods the ball zigzagged back and forth in the center of the field. At no time was the oval within either team's 20-yard line. Susquehanna used straight football during the first half of the game and in that time succeeded in making six first downs. Coach Ketchner's second-string men tried several forward passes in the latter half but were unsuccessful in every attempt.

It was in the final quarter that the only score of the game was made. The Montgomery boys had brought the ball up to their opponents' 20-yard line by a succession of line plunges when they lost it on downs. Here the Reserves took a final spurt in offensive work and gradually worked the ball back into their opponents' territory. Through Bullick's line plunging and Goble's and Lauver's open field running the ball was carried to within a foot of the High School team's goal line. Lauver then plunged through center for the only touchdown of the game. Goble failed to kick the goal.

Lauver excellently for the Orange and Maroon team. His openfield running and deadly tackling featured throughout the game. Goble and Bullick also played a good game in the backfield while Cassler and Perry showed up well in the end positions.

The lineup:

Reserves	Positions	Montgomery
Lubold	left tackle	Harman
H. Miller	left guard	E. Brant
Fry	center	Mottter
Faust	right guard	T. Brant
Thomas	right tackle	Hall
Cassler	right end	Metzger
Lauver	quarter-back	DeWalt
Bullick	right half-back	Zeck
Goble	full-back	Cysnar

Substitutions—Danowsky for Thomas, Ricker for Perry, Homan for Lauver, Lauver for Homan; Blain for Hall, Touchdown—Lauver, Referee—Alkens, Yale, Umpire—Follmer, Head linesman—Nichols. Time of periods—15, 10, 15, 10.

COLLEGIANS ACTIVE IN CHURCH SOCIAL

PROFESSORS AND STUDENTS ASSIST IN SUCCESSFUL CHURCH AFFAIR FRIDAY

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity Lutheran Church a social was tendered to the congregation and the students of the University last Thursday evening. After everyone was welcomed in the most cordial way and all were comfortably seated Rev. Leonard, who was the able leader during the evening, read the Scripture lesson, after which Dr. Dinum led in prayer.

An arranged program given almost entirely by professors and students of the college then followed. Prof. Brower opened the affair with a piano solo and was followed by a selection on the violin by Prof. Fillion. Both of these members of the Conservatory faculty performed very creditably. Scoopie, who has before proven his ability as a reader, convulsed the audience with laughter when he recited the humorous selection, "The German Senator's Speech." Mrs. Schroyer, an accomplished soloist of the town, received hearty applause for the manner in which she sang. Miss McCormick, another favorite among Susquehanna's education students, entertained the audience with two interesting readings, after which the Girls' Glee Club made their first appearance of the season when they gave several well-prepared selections. President Aikens then spoke at length of the friendly social relations existing between the people of the town and the students, and emphasized the fact that it was through such gatherings as this that friendliness would be continued. As a conclusion to the program a double quartette from the Men's Glee Club rendered several selections.

Although the audience thoroughly enjoyed this program everyone appeared pleased to see the dispersion of the entertainment committee as they made way for those in charge of the refreshments. All took part in this concluding feature of the entertainment as those in charge continued to serve ice cream and cake from some apparently inexhaustible storehouse.

A fine spirit of sociability prevailed throughout the entire evening and the students are very grateful for the pleasant time experienced. It is the desire of the student body that the fraternal spirit exemplified at this social may continue to grow as the years go by.

GIRLS WILL GIVE COMEDY

What promises to be an extremely interesting and unique performance will be given in Selbert Hall next Thursday evening when the members of the Y. W. C. A. render the amusing comedy, "An Old Maid's Convention." Under the direction of Prof. Keener the girls have prepared this humorous play and promise to render a program brimful of humor.

Students as well as townspeople are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy several hours of laughter and merriment.

The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission, 15 cents.

JOINT MEETING POSTPONED

On account of Prof. Fillion's Recital at Sunbury Friday evening the joint meeting of Philo and Clio Literary Societies has been postponed indefinitely.

WHY GYM WORK?

Last Monday evening the men's and the girls' classes in gymnasium work were organized by L. D. Grossman, instructor in physical culture. Both classes had large enrollments at their initial sessions and under the capable and efficient leadership of this director bid fair to introduce a new era in this form of work at Susquehanna. Mr. Grossman, who is a Junior in college, has had much experience in Y. M. C. A. work along the line of physical training, and in order to fit himself for his present position received special preparation during the summer at Silver Bay training school in New York.

Every year there is a disposition on the part of some students to shirk this important part of their college course. They look upon gym work as useful only to those weak physically and unnecessary to a man of strong body. A erroneous idea. No matter how able-bodied a person may be, daily exercise is necessary to maintain that bodily strength. Athletics, which is open only to the few, does not benefit many students physically; and the average student considering gymnastic exercises as intended only for the "little tot" will allow his body to grow to maturity weak and thin and flabby. A sedentary life such as the college student experiences demands some form of exercise. Every man and woman who does not take part in some form of athletics should feel it a privilege to be permitted to engage in gymnasium exercises. Never allow it to be said of you that attendance at gym classes was compulsory.

Every year many students are compelled to leave college on account of broken health. This can be but the blasting of their brightest hopes in life, and will send them into the cold world unfit for any great undertakings. The proverb, "A strong mind in a strong body," is just as true to-day as it was when first spoken by that great philosopher of Greece.

Physical Culture produces many lasting effects. It promotes health by aiding the vital organs of the body in their regular action. Circulation of the blood is stimulated, the skin attains a healthy color, and the whole body is animated and invigorated with a renewed buoyancy.

Daily exercises strengthen the muscles, remove the stiffness from the joints, increase the appetite, and produce a restful sleep. They develop the lungs, brighten the intellect, quicken the step, and aid materially in warding off disease. Indeed if the proper amount of exercise was taken every one could feel assured of a happy, contented, cheerful life in the future.

Then, too, exercise is not without its moral benefits. It brings the mind into its relation to moral and physical laws that must be observed if health is to be had. If the surplus energy which is latent in every youth is not expended in some form of physical exercise it is liable to lead to some form of dissipation, which spell for him disease and early death.

The gymnasium will assist you in becoming noble, strong and courageous. No student, no matter what his classification in college, no matter what excuses he may offer himself, can afford to miss this vital preparation for life and its struggles. The Alumni Gymnasium, with all its fine equipment, was built for you. Will you not take advantage of these opportunities which former graduates have laid in your way? You owe it to yourself and those who are interested in you to attend classes regularly.

PHILO NEWS

There is still a large number of students in our midst who have not as yet affiliated themselves with either Literary Society. Upon them we would impress the importance and advantages of taking an active part in literary work, and extend to them, as a member or visitor of Philo, the hearty hand of welcome.

But our mission were incompletely performed, should we not add a word regarding the work of Philo on the rostrum. On November 13th, the program was opened by Miss Bessie Long, who read an instructive essay on "Ice-land." This was followed by a humorous declamation by Miss Laura Schoch, which side of some natures. Mr. Witmer then delivered an oration on "Environment" in which he very skillfully sketched the effect of our surroundings upon our moral nature. A piano solo was well rendered by Miss Spigelmyre, and appreciated by all. Mr. Ginter next read a humorous selection dealing with the commercial side of life. In the debate Resolved: That railroads should receive an increase in freight rates." Messrs. Faust and Portzline, for the affirmative, were defeated by Messrs. Haistson and Hoover for the negative. The "Philo" read by Mr. Spigelmyre, was well written and contained many and appropriate jokes. Mr. Follmer, speaking extemporaneously, gave a concise but instructive sketch on the history of this vicinity during the Colonial days.

Many of the performers on this program were on our rostrum for the first time, and we are glad to note the interest with which they enter upon their literary work, and the ability with which they fill their parts. We predict for these younger members a brilliant future in literary work if they continue as they have started.

FOOTBALL MEN LEAD

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Tuesday evening witnessed a well conducted and elevating program at the Y. M. C. A. meeting. Following out the usual custom, the Varsity Squad had the meeting in charge and carried it through with increasing interest from beginning to end.

Brown, '16, led the services and very ably filled the official seat. Miller, '15, gave a well rounded talk, comparing the work of the Y. M. C. A. with a football game. He made very emphatic the statement that in our work, just as in a game, we must put ourselves into it and play hard and clean if we wish to be crowned with success. La-hold, '16, followed with a solid discussion on the theme, Athletics as a builder of the body, mind and spirit. These three things which the Y. M. C. A. stands for no one can afford to neglect; to take part in athletics is to develop them. Coach Ketchner came in on the home stretch with a good rousing, inspirational talk on Keeping clean athletics at Susquehanna.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Coach Warner, the veteran master of football at Carlisle, has been secured to coach athletics at the University of Pittsburgh.

On account of the present war conditions in Europe many of the great Universities are suffering from a lack of students, for a large number are enlisted in military service.

Jas. Isaminger says that "It is understood Penn will offer a vice pro-vest, two professors of chemistry and a valuable fossil of the Mesozoic age for Halfback Mautsch, of the Michigan eleven."

Because a Knight of the Green Cap constantly refused to do work on the Upsilon football field he was required to "pick stones on the athletic field for five hours during a week and place all the stones in a pile."

The Carlisle Indian School formally honored its founder, General Richard H. Pratt, last evening by a meeting, at which a peace and temperance program was given by the students. General Pratt addressed the student body in advocacy of the objects of the meeting.

Capt. Tolbin, of Penn State, who was seriously injured at his immense bonfire some weeks ago, has sufficiently recovered from his burns to don his football togs and attend the afternoon practice each day. It has been stated that Tolbin's absence from the backfield impaired its strength fifty per cent.

Dr. W. Max Mueller, Egyptologist and research scholar of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, after being war bound in Europe since May, returned to Philadelphia a short time ago. While in Boehrmerwald he continued compilation of a large volume on African languages, to be printed by the Viena Academy.

ALUMNI NOTES

Dr. F. P. Maehert, '75, last week attended a meeting of the United Synod of the Lutheran Church of the South, held at Columbus, S. C. Because of many responsible and high positions held by Dr. Maehert in the Lutheran Church of the North, he is one of the most prominent clergymen in that representative body of the South.

Althea Rosler, '14, now teacher in the Renova High School, was a visitor at the University during the week. While here she was the guest of the Misses Weaver.

D. W. Klose, '74, spent Friday at the University. Mr. Klose, who graduated just forty years ago, remarked about the wonderful changes which were evident around the institution. He was also pleased to meet again one of his former teachers, Mrs. F. P. Maehert.

Floyd L. Walters, C. of M., '11, at present manager of a concert company, is booking a tour through the western part of the State. We are pleased to hear of the success of one of Susquehanna's fine musicians.

John A. S. Schoch, '00, and Claude G. Aikens, '11, last week made a hunting trip in the Allegheny mountains near Driftwood. They were successful in bagging a number of squirrels, one of which was a black one. There are hundreds of red and gray squirrels killed each season, but a black squirrel is very seldom seen in this part of the state.

Rev. Dr. J. R. Dimm was in Bloomsburg the latter part of the week attending a banquet of the Caldwell Consistory of the Scottish Rite, Knights of Templar. Dr. Dimm is the oldest charter member of that Consistory.

Rev. Wm. Hilbish, D. D., '89-'92, has entered upon his duties as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Sunbury. Upon his arrival there he was tendered a large reception by the members of the congregation.

Mrs. Frank Kemble, '10, wife of Lieutenant Kemble, U. S. A., coast artillery, now located at Boston, is visiting her parents, Prof. and Mrs. S. N. Snyder, of Selinsgrove.

Rev. H. D. Hoover, '99 and '02, now president of the Carthage College, Ill., was one of the speakers at the meeting of the Northern Illinois Synod. His subject was "Education."

"The Susquehanna" acknowledges the receipt of a program of the Reformation Festival and Reunion of all the Evangelical Lutheran Congregations in Johnstown from Rev. S. N. Carpenter. This reunion which celebrated the 431st anniversary of the birth of Dr. Martin Luther was held in Trinity Lutheran Church of which Rev. Carpenter is pastor. The Lutheran Church is numerically the largest Protestant Church in Johnstown with eight different congregations, among which the Trinity Lutheran ranks third in point of numbers. We also acknowledge a clipping from the Daily Tribune of Johnstown, in which Rev. Carpenter's sermon of Sunday evening on liquor and politics and liquor politics was given in full. The Tribune states that this church never held a more deeply stirred audience than the one which heard this sermon.

Edgar R. Wingard, a former Susquehanna student, and now Athletic Director at the University of Maine, was accorded a recognition as a football authority when he was selected as referee for the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia the Saturday following Thanksgiving. Susquehanna feels justly proud of this son who has attained such high standing in the world of college athletics.

THEOLOGICAL NOTES

Stahl, '15, supplied the pulpit of the Beavertown charge, Sunday, November 8th.

Shipe, '15, preached at Danville Sunday, November 8th., for Rev. Musselman.

Dele, '15, supplied the Oriole charge, which is at present without a regular pastor.

Irvin, '15, occupied the pulpit of the Lutheran church at Pottsville.

Watts, '16, supplied the New Berlin charge last week.

Peters, '17, visited friends at McKee's Hall Falls during the week-end. Kinsley, '16, motored to Richfield, where he spent a few days with acquaintances.

Under the chieftship of Schreiner, '16, a real German Weiner feed was held in Irvin's room Wednesday night.

COLLEGE NOTES

Miller '15, left on Thursday for his home in Somerset county, where he will stay until after Thanksgiving, helping his parents in preparation for their moving to Mercer county.

Kemmerer '16, was visited by his wife and young son the early part of the week.

Mohney '17, visited friends in Richfield Saturday and Sunday.

Hostetter '16, entertained his mother the latter part of last week.

Miss Harriet Vought, of Mt. Carmel, visited her cousin, Miss Persing '18, for several days last week.

Hilbish '17, received what at first seemed a very serious injury in football practice last Wednesday but is now gradually recovering.

Miss Rynearson '15, Miss Geise '15, Miss Wagner '16 and Peters, Sem. '17, were motored to McKee's Hall Falls by Rine '16, where they were entertained by Miss Sara Rine '14.

Melvin Drumm, of Sunbury, a former member of the 1917 class, visited friends at Susquehanna Saturday.

Miss McCoy, of Lewistown, spent the week-end with Miss Cressman '17.

Saturday will mark the close of Susquehanna's football season when the Varsity will meet the Carlisle Indian Reserves on Warner field at 2:30 P. M.

ACADEMY NOTES

Harkins, '15, substituted for Prof. Faust on Tuesday afternoon, Prof. Faust having accompanied the Senior class on a Geological hike.

A picture of the whole Academy was taken Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the Lantern. Immediately afterward the Sub-Freshman class picture was taken.

Kratzer, who had his collar bone broken in the football game here on the seventeenth of October, is now much improved and expects to resume his work in the Academy in a few days.

An athletic association was formed in this department when the male members convened last Wednesday and organized for the basketball season next term. Hinkleman, '16, was elected chairman of the association and Meese '16, manager of the basketball team.

COMMERCIAL NOTES

Ralph Homan was visiting his parents over Sunday.

Goble says "I am relieved now I have found her at last."

Prof. Woodruff called at our department on business Wednesday.

We are glad to note that many of our boys are taking an interest in basket ball.

George Hoover, our brave bookkeeper, was practicing shooting at a bear one day last week.

Myron Dreese, of the class of '12, drove his auto in from Beaver Springs Saturday of last week.

E. S. Firster, a former student of this department, who is employed in a mercantile establishment in Richfield, Pa., was seen in town recently.

We are glad to not that "Dick," our great pugilist, who has taken a few lessons in shorthand, has received a call (?) as stenographer from a large firm in the West.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

COLLEGE TOPICS OF MEN AND
THINGS INTERESTINGLY DIS-
CUSSED BY KEEN OBSERVER

Dr. Aikens made a business trip to Salem College Saturday.

Mrs. H. R. Kauffman, nee Horton, is visiting friends in Millinburg.

Prof. Aikens was visited last week by his father, Samuel Aikens, of Gettysburg.

Dr. Fisher and family motored in Spiegelmeier's car to McClure Sunday,
November 8th.

Preparations are being made for the annual observance of Founder's Day
November 24th.

Prof. Follmer spent Saturday in the woods gunning and returned with several rabbits to his credit.

Although ideal autumn weather has been prevailing a snow fall Sunday evening, November 8th acted as a criterion of the oncoming winter.

S. N. Brown, representing E. K.
Gaugler, of Harrisburg, has been at college the past week doing the photographic work for the 1916 Lanthorn.

President Aikens filled the pulpit
Sunday, for Rev. C. M. Nicholas, of Pottsville, who was called to Mechanicsburg on account of the death of his mother.

Physical Director Grossman started the Gymnasium classes last week and has had quite a large number of girls under his instruction, but the men's classes have not been so well attended. Every student not taking an active part in athletics is required to take the regular calisthenic drills.

Prof. Fillon, of the Conservatory of Music, assisted by Mrs. M. W. Trimble and Walter Evans, both of Sunbury, will give a piano, organ and violin recital in Zion Lutheran Church at Sunbury, Friday, evening, November 20th. No admission will be charged as Prof. Fillon merely wishes to become acquainted with the music loving people of this vicinity.

Why should it be necessary for President Aikens to make his "poverty plea" in chapel so frequently? Do you, as individual students, come to college with the intention of getting through without paying, or are you negligent in the matter of meeting your bills? Just because the institution is lenient at times do not think that the obligations must not be met, but when the bills are due at the beginning and the middle of the term settle your account and do not make it necessary for the officials to plead for the money that is rightly due them.

Thursday marked the fifth weekly geology trip made by the Senior class under the leadership of Dr. Fisher.
Blue Hill was the first point of interest and from there until Shikellamy Heights had been reached the field work was made interesting and instructive by Prof. Fisher's explanations of these formations of the Dovonian period and the agencies that have been working upon them for countless centuries past. Mount Shikellamy was ascended by way of an old Indian trail, which in places was steep and tortuous, but the effort was well rewarded by the excellent view obtained from the top of the heights.
Both the North and West branches of the Susquehanna river with miles of surrounding country were clearly discernible. Erosion by the river has been so active for so many years that now one side of the mountain is entirely worn down so that from the top of the cliff there is a sheer declivity of 550 feet to the Reading tracks below.

VERSATILE MUSICIAN'S ABLE CHURCH RECITAL

PROF. FILLION, OF CONSERVATORY FACULTY, ROUNDLY APPLAUDED IN SUNBURY

Susquehanna advanced one more step in the ladder of popular favor when Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, head of the Violin department of the Conservatory, also pianist and organist, rendered his recital in Zion Lutheran church, of Sunbury, on Friday evening. Prof. Fillion, who came to us at the beginning of this year was reputed to be a musician of exceptional ability; and while the student body realized from former performances that he possessed great musical talent, yet never before did he show himself to so great advantage and prove so unquestionably his ability as a master musician.

After repeated requests from Dr. Francis, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Prof. Fillion consented to give this musical recital. No admission was charged which proves that this talented man alone sought acquaintance with the music-loving people of this community in giving this performance. Although the weather may have kept some from attending yet the auditorium of the church was well filled, and besides the large representation from Sunbury and Selingsgrove there were many people from more distant points in Snyder and Northumberland counties.

While Prof. Fillion performed so creditably yet the honor does not belong to him alone. He was very ably assisted throughout the recital by Prof. G. A. Brower, dean of the Conservatory, who acted as accompanist, and Soloists Mrs. M. W. Trimble, Soprano, and Mr. Walter Evans, Tenor. Both of these singers are residents of Sunbury but their fame as soloists is not confined within that city's limits.

Prof. Fillion opened the program by a masterful rendition on the violin of Vieuxtemps' Concerto in D Minor. Following this Mr. Evans surprised even those who know him best by his wonderful singing of Gounod's Medley and Bohm's Still As The Night. Liszt's Rhapsodie, No. 12 as rendered on the piano by Prof. Fillion called forth hearty applause. This master of the evening then came back and held the entire audience spellbound while he played on his violin, Meditation from "Thais" by Massenet, Menuet G Minor by Beethoven, and Nocturne, Op. 9, No. 2, by Chopin-Sarasate. After a short intermission, during which a silver collection was received to help defray the expenses, Prof. Fillion again displayed his ability as a pianist by ably rendering Chopin's Waltz, C Sharp Minor; Faure's Impromptu, F Minor; and Chopin's Scherzo, B Flat Minor. Mrs. Trimble next sang in a beautiful voice Nymphs and Fawns by Bemberg. The audience showed its appreciation of this soloist's ability by requesting by lengthy applause her reappearance on the platform. An excellent rendition on the violin of Sarasate's Zigeunerweisen by Prof. Fillion concluded one of the most interesting art recitals which this community has heard for years.

Due credit must be given Prof. Brower for the masterful way in which he served as accompanist in every number. Certainly the institution can well feel proud of a Conservatory faculty that can display such ability in public performance.

Founders' Day exercises begin at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Being an Editorial of Gratitude
Among the festive occasions to which the student always looks forward with pleasure and happy anticipation is Thanksgiving Day. After months of weary study, during which there were many joys and many disappointments, the longing for home and friends begins to grip the student's heart and for him the day cannot come too soon.

It is the day on which the family gathers round the family altar and festive board to enjoy the blessings of God and give to Him due reverence and thanks. Each year it is filled with happy memories, and the young man or woman who has long been away from parental care hastens to rejoin those whom he loves.

A Thanksgiving Day was observed by the Israelites of old, and its annual observance has come down to us through the Pilgrim fathers. When we remember how that little band of home seekers, after a discouraging year on Massachusetts' rock-bound coast, gathered together on this day to express their thankfulness to God for his kindness toward them, does it not seem that we often appear ungrateful to our Heavenly Father, who has placed us in a land of plenty and surrounded us with kind friends and Christian influences?

This year the American people have much for which they should be thankful. While Europe is engaged in a death struggle and millions of her people are facing a cold winter of famine, the American people are enjoying the fruits of peace and security. The iron hand of greed and hatred and jealousy has cast almost half of the world into a war of destruction, permitting the splendid civilization of a thousand years of patient toil to be crushed beneath the tramp of martial hosts. It has therefore fallen to our lot to keep the beacon light of progress and civilization and peace burning brightly when all else is darkened by desolation and distress. As an enlightened nation we should be thankful that we are able to play such an important part in steadying and pacifying a world at war, and in aiding the helpless and bereaved peoples of Europe who must bear the burden of this monstrous conflict.

American people should be thankful for the splendid democratic government of which they are a part, for the sacrifices and hardships of their fathers who made a government possible, and for the wise and beneficent statesmen who have maintained this government. We are blessed with almost unlimited natural resources, the finest portion of the temperate zone, and a citizenship inclined toward the ways of fraternization and peace.

We boast of fertility of soil which is unsurpassed by any other nation of the world. A crop has just been harvested that will supply many who are now threatened with suffering and famine. Our hills are ribbed with the finest mineral deposits, and our streams and rivers can turn with tireless arms all the countless wheels of industry. The Panama Canal has just been opened, and this inter-oceanic channel will lessen by thousands of miles the caravan route of the seas, thus bringing five grand divisions into intimate touch with each other.

Surely, then, remembering the many perils through which we have been led until we have reached our present enviable position among the nations of the world, every citizen of this republic should look forward longingly for this approaching Thanksgiving Day when universal thanks may be given to God for His amazing goodness.

HIS 75-YARD RUN FOR TOUCHDOWN SPECTACULAR FEATURE OF SATURDAY'S DECISIVE VICTORY

Susquehanna closed its football season last Saturday by winning from the Carlisle Indian Reserves on Warner Field, 32-0. Wonderful enthusiasm was shown during the game, which helped the 'Varsity to work harder than in any other game this season. Everyone was determined to make this last contest a clean, sure victory, so that at no time was lack of pep or aggressiveness shown by the Orange and Maroon warriors.

Straight football was the order of the day from start to finish, the 'Varsity having the better of the argument throughout the entire fray. Susquehanna was credited with sixteen first downs against Carlisle's ten, although the visitors succeeded in completing one forward pass out of five trials while the home team failed in their three attempts.

Punting was directly responsible for one of Susquehanna's scores, and at several times during the contest the Redskins checked their own advance by dropping the ball. In the first quarter Middlesworth gathered up a fumble on the opponents' 20-yard line and ran for a touchdown.

Though the weather was cold Coach Kelchner's men appeared eager for the struggle and by their excellent offense broke through the Indians' line for long gains in the first quarter. After this period Coach Warner's Reserves grew stronger on the defense and with the exception of several long end runs little impression was made against the Redskins in the next two periods.

Carlisle won the toss and chose to defend the south goal thus having the wind in their favor. Captain Swoope opened the game by kicking off to Sumner. After the Indians lost the pigskin on downs Susquehanna began a series of advances which brought them within the shadow of their opponents' goal. Keller then made the first touchdown of the game by circling the left end. A penalty of 15 yards a little later threw the Carlisle men back in their own territory from which point Middlesworth was able to cross the goal line after picking up a fumble.

During the second period Swoope distinguished himself by making two 20-yard runs, and a short time after upon receiving a punt, by running seventy-five yards for a touchdown. He followed this score by kicking the goal. Nichols almost succeeded in equaling Red's feat in the second half when he skirted the opponents' end for a 50-yard gain. He was overtaken and thrown on the 2-yard line by a dusky tackler. From here Peters easily carried the ball over for the fourth touchdown of the game. Harmon made a splendid gain in the final period when called back from the line. He broke through the Indians' defense, and after shaking off several would-be blockers, was brought to the ground after having advanced the oval 35 yards.

Many second-string men were substituted by Coach Kelchner before the end of the game, and while they all performed well Bullock's deadly tackling was especially noteworthy. Any long advances by the Carlisle men were prevented by the excellent work of Middlesworth and Cassler at end, and by the defense work of Knittle at tackle who succeeded in breaking up many of the plays which came his way. For Carlisle Captain Crow and Sumner played a strong game.

CO-EDS IN OLD MAIDS' ROLE PLEASED AUDIENCE

STAGED Y. W. C. A. BENEFIT IN SEIBERT HALL THURSDAY BEFORE CAPACITY HOUSE

Susquehanna co-eds staged An Old Maids' Convention in Seibert Hall Thursday evening for the benefit of the college Y. W. C. A. Under the direction of Prof. Nathan N. Keener the whole affair was a theatrical and financial success. Cast included the following: Misses Catherine Weaver, Groninger, Shields McCormick, Ryerson, Webb, Harter, Moyer, Gertrude Weaver, Grossman, Alice Weaver, Wagner, Geise, Cassler, Kautz, M. Bauder, Witmer, Hughes, Neldig, and Mr. Kinports. Although every one played their roles well special mention must be made of the excellent solos of Misses Kautz and Hughes, the piano rendition by Miss Neldig, the organ number of Miss Bauder and the reading by Miss Witmer, the seven year old daughter of Judge Witmer, of Northumberland.

INTERESTING ENTERTAINMENT

Students of Susquehanna University and people of this community will be permitted to enjoy one of the most instructive and interesting entertainments of the season when the Galbraith Brothers, of Brookville appear in Seibert Hall on Friday evening, December 4th.

This entertainment will be given under the direction and in the interest of the college Y. M. C. A. While it promises to be a hearty, wholesome, snappy up-to-the-minute entertainment, bristling with fun and unusual features from start to finish, yet nothing will be included which is not clean, pure and elevating. The Galbraith Brothers do not come to us entirely unknown as there are a number of students from that section of the state who are intimately acquainted with these popular entertainers. Besides this their attraction is recognized to-day by those who are competent to judge as one of the foremost on the American platform, and possibly the greatest proof of their ability lies in the fact that for the past seven years they have been engaged continuously in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio returning to the same places time after time.

Among the various forms of entertainment which they will use in their appearance here will be, duets and solos, songs in action, character songs, musical readings, impersonations, mimicry, guitar duets and solos. Another item of interest is the fact that it is an entertainment given by two Christian men. If you wish to see something unique, something which will be both humorous and instructive, do not miss this attraction which is staged for Dec. 4th. Entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

TOWN SHOWS ITS LOYALTY

An excellent practice game was made possible last Thursday evening when the strong Selingsgrove team lined up against the 'Varsity. While Kelchner's men scored repeatedly, yet the town team put up a strong defense at times, and through Capt. Aikens' heady work were able several times to threaten the college team's goal.

—Considering the many handicaps under which she was working Susquehanna ended what can be called a successful football season on Saturday.

—Turkey recently entered the war on the side of Germany and Austria. It is generally believed that she will have lost both of her wings until Thanksgiving Day, while some even entertain the hope that she will be completely carved by that time.

WHY NOT HELP BELGIUM?

There is a movement on foot throughout the entire state and nation to aid the famine-stricken people of Belgium. It was a noble conception of the editors of the New York Herald to enlist the cooperation of all the newspapers possible in giving publicity and material help by sending food and clothing to the homeless of Belgium. His plan met with a hearty response and more than a hundred newspapers are aiding in this cause of mercy.

In every town and city of our state there are numerous relief stations where money and supplies are gathered, to be sent free of charge to Philadelphia, whence they are shipped to Belgium. In the town of Selingsrove an aggressive campaign is being waged in the interest of this charitable cause; and the people of this borough, eager to carry out the Christian principle of charity, are responding liberally.

Because of the varied activities of college life these great charitable movements are often forgotten or overlooked. Every student should feel that he has part in this great work of relief to the suffering. While it is true that many students have their own financial difficulties, it is equally true that during the academic year the average student spends quite a handsome sum of money for which he gets no lasting returns. In frequent trips to the restaurant, the ice cream parlor, or candy kitchen, money is spent which might be given to the cause of charity. It can easily be done and the gratitude will not be permanently felt.

Surrounded by all the comforts of life, with plenty of good wholesome food and warm cheerful rooms, he is not free from the cares of the world of suffering and distress. Belgium needs our help, and we can give it. The cause is worthy; surely the students will be moved.

Let us respond to this need, and show to the world that the student has the welfare of men at heart.

MARTIN LUTHER

Among the events that November brings to us that are of more than passing notice is the anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther. This man who is known to the world as the Founder of Protestant civilization and who is held in greater reverence by the Lutheran branch of the Protestant Church than any other man, was instrumental in changing the religion of many countries as well as the history of nations. He was born at Eisleben, Germany, Nov. 10, 1483, of humble parents. At the age of eight he entered the University of Erfurt; and when twenty-four was made professor of philosophy at Wittenberg. After a visit to Rome, in pursuance of a vow he had made, his ideas regarding the tenets and practices of the Roman Church underwent a gradual change. From this time on he began openly to declare his heterodox views upon scriptural theology. These views, embodied in his celebrated ninety-five theses, he nailed on the church door at Wittenberg, October 31st, 1517. This act brought him before the public and exposed him to bitter persecution. It was not his intention to start a new church but rather to purify the Church of Rome. Nevertheless, that seemingly insignificant act started a movement through all Europe that was destined to separate church and state. As a result of his life work we have the great Protestant Church of today.

CLIO

In our last account of Clio we have related the splendor and pleasurable-ness of her social activities, being at the same time hopeful of the progressive tendencies following such an occasion. Now we are called upon to speak for Clio her achievements. Beyond a doubt they have exceeded our expectations as two very creditable programs were rendered since our last issue.

The program November sixth was full of life and reflected the real literary tendency of Clio. Some who have just joined us appeared upon the rostrum for the first time and their performance was indeed creditable both to the society and to themselves. The debate showed exceptional preparation and was keenly discussed. Brown delivered a masterful oration in his usual forceful manner. In wit and humor, the meeting was well supplied by Miss Cressman's Herald. By producing a paper which called forth an almost continuous flood of laughter and applause, she had again demonstrated her ability as one of the best editors Clio has ever had. Eliminating this part of the program any society would lack the essential stimulus and incentive for the manifestation of more interest in literary work as a whole. A Herald filled with jokes and humorous editorials always meets with the hearty applause of all present and Miss Cressman deserves much credit for amply fulfilling her part of the program.

The meeting November thirteenth was well attended and the program rendered was of exceptional quality. The essay by Himes was a fine production and was well read which shows that a great amount of interest is manifested in this part of the program. Miss Webb, making her initial appearance upon Clio's rostrum, gave us several excellent readings reflecting much credit on herself as an entertainer. Clio can look forward with pleasure to her future appearances upon her rostrum. Perry, who also appeared for the first time, read a humorous selection in a very creditable manner. The debate, Resolved that a law be enacted requiring all labor disputes to be settled by arbitration, required much research work and was keenly contested. The debaters, Irwin and Furst for the affirmative, and Donaghy, who honored Clio by his first appearance upon the rostrum, and Watts substituted by Gross for the negative, manifested much interest and spirit in the question, the judges returning a verdict in favor of the affirmative. Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The World's week of prayer was observed by the Association November 8th to 14th. All the meetings were interesting and helpful and were well attended.

On Tuesday evening, November 10, Misses Hall and Rynearson led the meeting. Miss Mary Wagner gave us a very interesting talk on "The Eight Weeks' Club." She assisted with one in her home community during the summer and so spoke of her experience, thus making the subject much clearer to the girls.

Misses Tryman and Groninger led the meeting on November 17th. Mr. Ammon Smith, Sem., '17, gave a splendid talk on Missions.

The members of the Association desire to thank all students and friends for their patronage at the Old Maid's Convention on November 19th.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Y. M. C. A. meetings become more interesting each and every week. Dr. Francis, of Sunbury, addressed the meeting Tuesday evening of last week.

Dr. Francis has a way of getting the interest of his audience in the start and holding it right through the address. And when he once lets go, there is a lesson impressed upon every heart that can never be forgotten.

Several of our number shall assist in Thanksgiving services at various places during vacation, thus keeping that phase of our work prominent.

Our men are getting in line for active service in deputation team work during the winter months. Those of you who have not yet joined with us ought not to let any opportunity slip by. The call still comes—be a man with us—now!

GLEE CLUB TRY-OUT

Try-out for the college Glee Club was held under the direction of Prof. Fillion Saturday morning. Forty candidates were on hand to take the test for membership, the results of which will be announced later. Special interest is being manifested this year on account of the bright prospects for a trip to the Pacific coast through the courtesy of the Santa Fe Railroad.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Susquehanna will celebrate the annual observance of Founder's Day Tuesday, November 24th at 3 o'clock, when a sixty foot flag pole will be erected with fitting exercises on the south-east campus near Seibert Hall. Judge Hinkley, of Danville, is expected to be present to deliver his famous oration on "The Flag." Students are urged to be present at this dedication and friends and patrons of Susquehanna are cordially invited.

Business Manager Danowsky, of the 1915 Lantern handed in his accounts and they were audited last week. More money was expended on last year's annual than on any book heretofore, but in spite of this extra amount there still remains a snug sum in the treasury.

Picture of the 'Varsity football team was taken Wednesday by Ripple, of Sunbury.

On account of some trouble in the steam plant Thursday the supply of heat was closed down for twelve hours and as a result the buildings were in a somewhat frigid condition.

Upon entering his class room Monday morning Prof. Keener discovered that an owl had flown in during the night and was occupying the chair of Oratory. The God of Wisdom was captured and now occupies a private cell in the biological room.

Physical Director Grossman has painted the gymnasium floor and it is now in good condition for basketball and gym work.

Susquehanna will contribute her share toward the relief of the suffering Belgians. Officers were appointed to take charge of the matter and every student should consider it not only a duty but a privilege to aid in helping those who are now starving and being crushed beneath the heel of sovereign will in this great crimson flood.

Thanksgiving vacation will begin Wednesday noon and close Monday noon. No doubt the majority of the students will go to their homes, but those who remain will be served as well at the festive board on the 26th as they could be anywhere. Mr. Horton will have charge of the cuisine that day and his reputation in the past has been an enviable one along this line.

Saturday marked the close of Susquehanna's 1914 football season when the Carlisle Indian Reserves were met on Warner Field. In consideration of the fact that there was practically only green material with which to work, Coach Kelmner deserves great credit for the strong team he built up and for the perseverance which he manifested in their development and welfare during the entire season.

Rev. Stevens, of New York, representing the Presbyterian Life Insurance Company, was at college last week in the interests of his firm.

Orange and Maroon toques made their first appearance on the campus last week.

Cheer leader Keammerer has worked his squad of raw recruits down to such an extent that now the yell is strong and systematized.

Kauffman's Merited Advance Dick Kauffman, former coach at Susquehanna, and later first baseman for York Tri-State and Elmira baseball clubs, led the New York State League in batting according to the official averages which have just been announced by President Farrell.

Kauffman, who was purchased by the St. Louis Americans and finished the season in the major league organization, hit at a .329 clip in Farrell's league. He participated in twenty-three games and made 142 hits. He started his baseball career at Susquehanna and later was director of athletics at college. Kauffman, who is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Horton, is at present spending some time with relatives in Milton.

TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN EUROPE DURING WAR

REV. DR. HUDDLE LECTURED IN SEIBERT HALL ON MONDAY OF LAST WEEK

Rev. John T. Huddle, D. D., pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Washington, D. C., delivered his famous lecture entitled "Innocents Abroad in War Times," in Seibert Hall on Monday evening to a large and appreciative audience. Again and again he thrilled his listeners with vivid word pictures of the scenes which he witnessed in his recent trip to Europe. His description of the grain fields and rural scenes of France was wonderful, and his discourse on French patriotism deeply moved his entire audience.

Dr. Huddle, accompanied by his wife and a group of tourists, left Boston last June for a summer's tour through Europe. The trip was made by way of Boston, through the Strait of Gibraltar, eastward through the Mediterranean Sea to Algiers and then back to Italy, northward through Switzerland, over to Paris, and thence to England, making the return trip by way of Liverpool and New York City.

Dr. Huddle gave a graphic description of Swiss scenery, and the characteristics of the Swiss people. He was in France when war was declared by Germany, and rode from Switzerland to Paris in a long train of twenty-five coaches mostly filled with soldiers going to the front. It was his privilege to see the preparations for the war, the touching parting of mothers with husbands and sons, and the intense determination that animated the French people in the early part of this conflict. He saw thousands of men marching through the streets of Paris going to the front to defend their nation. During these events Paris had lost its gaiety and hilarity, everything being in deep gloom and seriousness. The people were determined to the man to defend their country from invasion, and were willing to make almost any sacrifice to safeguard French liberties.

This "innocent abroad" saw thousands of refugees entering Paris to get transportation out of France. He and his company were stranded there also, but through the kindness and patience of the American Ambassador at Paris he secured his identification passports which insured his safety during the remainder of his travels in France.

It was Dr. Huddle's privilege to pass through what is now the scene of the most terrible conflict in history. When he was in northern France, he saw the ripened grain waiting for the reapers who had already gone to the front. That same country with the finest wheat fields in the world is now the camping grounds of marauding hosts and everywhere reveals the awful effects of war.

Dr. Huddle made mention of the Strasbourg monument which was erected in Paris in commemoration of the capture of the city of Strasbourg by the Germans in 1871. It has been draped in black as a token of mourning for forty four years. While Dr. Huddle was in Paris the women and children of that city evidenced their enthusiasm by decorating this statue with flowers.

The high respect in which France holds this nation was beautifully exemplified when a group of French soldiers saluted the American flag waved by one of Dr. Huddle's com-

HOIST OLD GLORY ON S. U. FOUNDERS' DAY

DEDICATION OF SIXTY-FOOT FLAG POLE MARKED ANNIVERSARY LAST TUESDAY

Exercises commemorating the founding of this institution in 1858 by Benjamin Kurtz, D. D., were held in Seibert Hall on Tuesday afternoon, November 24th. Following the custom of former years the senior classes in the various departments of the University attended in a body. The dedication of the new flag pole, which has been placed on the terrace of the campus near the southeast corner of Seibert Hall, was the interesting feature of the exercises.

Dr. Aikens, President of the University, opened the program by reading from the Apocryphal Book of Ecclesiastes. This was followed by a well rendered selection by the Girls' Glee Club. A prayer composed by Dr. Benjamin Kurtz was then read by Dr. Aurand, of Selingrove. Following these opening exercises, Dr. Manhart, who had charge of the afternoon's program, gave an interesting address on the life of Benjamin Kurtz, the founder of Susquehanna University.

In view of the fact that Dr. David Bittle Floyd is the oldest member of the University faculty and the one man in that body who followed the Stars and Stripes in the conflict between the North and the South, he was selected to raise our national emblem on the flagpole for the first time. While Old Glory was being raised to the top of this sixty-foot staff the entire body of onlookers joined in singing the Star Spangled Banner. It is interesting to note that it is just one hundred years since this national hymn has been written. The students cheered lustily as they beheld the Stars and Stripes waving from this lofty height for the first time.

(Continued from preceding column) panions as they passed them in the street. France has erected a statue of Washington in Paris, and the veneration in which it is held by the French people is representative of the fraternal feeling that exists among the French people for this nation.

The lecturer gave a picturesque description of the rural scenes of England and explained many things concerning her national life. The intense feeling of patriotism which was witnessed among the French people was not so evident here, and many men in business took advantage of conditions brought on by the war by raising their prices. After visiting Westminster Abbey, Oxford and many other places of interest the party of tourists sailed from Liverpool August 22, landing in New York a week later.

This interesting speaker held the attention of the large audience for one hour and a half. Frequently he climaxed his descriptions of European life and conditions with beautiful eulogies of our own country, which were always greeted with loud applause.

Added interest was given to the lecture because the countries about which he spoke are still in the throes of a mighty conflict. The students of Susquehanna considered it a rare privilege to listen to such an able scholar, and look forward to another lecture from Dr. Huddle in the near future.

"These American mules!"

"What is it, captain?"

"When we wanted to retreat they wouldn't."

FOOTBALL SEASON

JAY KELCHNER

THE ABLE COACH OF SUSQUEHANNA ATHLETES, WHOSE ABILITY AND SQUARE-DEALINGS HAVE ENDEARED ALL S. U. TO HIM

Having virtually nothing but green material with which to work Coach Kelchner deserves great credit for the team which he produced this past season. His earnest efforts and untiring energy met with success for about the middle of the season found his squad playing like veterans, and in the Indian game the best form of the year was shown.

Kelchner possesses the rare ability to be on intimate terms with his men and yet hold the respect and obedience of every one of them. His vital interest in the players and the fact that he was continually introducing new moves aided materially in making the daily drills keen and snappy. By means of his "skill" practices Coach Kelchner has the power to get his men in the proper mental attitude before entering a game and as a result every game and practice showed that the players had the proper punch and it was not lack of pep in any case that caused defeat. Coach Kelchner has the hearty cooperation of both faculty and students, and he has thoroughly proven himself to be the right man in the right place.

When one remembers that of the six games played by Susquehanna this year the three away from home were with colleges which for years have had an enviable football reputation—colleges which this year have made a very creditable showing against first division college teams in this country, and when one remembers that in no one of these three games was the Orange and Maroon defeated by an overwhelming score but that her opponents were compelled to earn every point which they scored, surely with these facts in mind Susquehanna supporters can feel assured that in a few years this institution will have a team that will compete successfully with the best of them.

The following is an account of the scores of the six games played this year:

	S. U.	Op.
Muhlenberg	0	35
Dickinson Seminary	68	14
Lewistown All-Collegians	18	0
Bucknell	0	43
Albright	9	32
Indian Reserves	32	0
Total Scores	113	124

The above resume shows that Susquehanna was outscored by but eleven points, and only twice was her goal line crossed at home. While some of the strongest college elvens endeavor to complete a season without a score against them, yet many of the second class college teams consider their season very successful when their total scores amount to one hundred points. Certainly then Susquehanna should feel proud of a first-year team that has scored within eleven points as many as their opponents.

COMING! INTERESTING ENTERTAINMENT

In our issue last week mention was made of the coming of the Galbraith Brothers, of Brookville, next Friday evening, December 4th. The entertainment which they will give on that night promises to be interesting, instructive and full of humor. However, nothing that we may say can appear quite as forceful as a recommendation from their home community. The following is a clipping from the "Brookville Republican":

Men We Are Proud Of

Vincent and George Galbraith, known as Galbraith Brothers, Brookville's own boys, gave an entertainment in the Methodist church here last Thursday night to an audience of over 700 home folks.

When one-fourth of a town turns out to hear Vincent and George, it certainly speaks well for their ability and the esteem in which all here hold them. The Galbraith Brothers' entertainment has become an annual affair at home and each time the audience is larger than the previous year. The fun was loud and uproarious; one and all laughed, many untold tears came into their eyes. If these enterprising brothers continue to improve as much as they have recently done, we will soon have to hire the Fair grounds, for the largest building in town was taxed to capacity by the last performance.

THANKSGIVING DAY AMID COLLEGE CHEER

STAY-OVER FACULTY MEMBERS AND STUDENTS CELEBRATED "END OF A PERFECT DAY"

Following the custom of previous years, on Thanksgiving evening, a party was held in the parlor of Seibert Hall. All the students and members of the faculty remaining over the vacation were invited, and upwards of forty persons assembled for the occasion.

The parlor and adjoining studio were tastefully decorated in the college colors; festoons of crepe paper stretched from wall to wall. Amid the profusion of Orange and Maroon, were hung myriads of pennants and banners. The lights being softened and subdued, the open fire added to the home-like attractiveness of the room and enhanced the beauty of the decorations. Not least in picturesque appearance were the neatly constructed cozy-corners.

A short program, rendered by various members of the party, was enjoyed by all. Mr. Peters sang several well chosen selections. Miss Gertrude Weaver next very ably rendered two readings, both portraying the Thanksgiving season and spirit. Three selections on the violin, by Miss Irene Bauder, closed this part of the program.

Games were next in order, and, while the old stand-bys were not entirely passed by, several new games featured. These were led by Mrs. Haist, our chaperon, whose genial spirit and leadership did much toward making the evening a success. The tricks of "Black Magic" by Professor Faust and Brauer, held the company completely mystified—until their signals became entangled.

Although everyone had partaken heartily of the Thanksgiving Dinner, no one thought of refusing refreshments. Afterwards, while some were toasting marshmallows before the hearth, others were busy making fudge and other delicious tid-bits, and so passed the remainder of the evening.

Although not sharing the pleasure and fellowship of the home circle, we felt that our time here was not unpleasantly spent, and the Thanksgiving party went far toward cheering the lonely and drooping spirits.

BASKETBALL GAME

Susquehanna will witness its first basketball game of the season when the newly organized Freshman team meets the strong Selingrove High School Five on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Admission 10 cents.

CLEAN ATHLETICS

Every growing college must advertise. The best advertisement a school can get is when she sends good, clean, manly men into the world and its activities. Harvard was never more popular than when her alumnus, Theodore Roosevelt, was president of the United States. Yale pointed with pride to her Taft, and today Princeton rejoices over the achievements and popularity of her former president, Woodrow Wilson.

A college has various activities prominent among which are her athletics. If athletics is to be a college asset it must be clean and manly. Any victory is too costly if it is purchased by unfairness or dishonesty; no defeat is a disgrace if it has been fairly administered. Any college that is determined to win the contests regardless of her honor will soon be known as an institution whose standards of fairness and honor are very low and they will soon find difficulty in arranging a suitable schedule. Rivalry should never be destroyed because it furnishes the spirit of athletics, but it should never lack courtesy and justice. Play hard but play fair.

What is meant by clean athletics? Clean athletics means that every athlete is to be clean in his moral and physical life. It is not expected that he be a saint, but it is expected that he live a clean life, because his success demands it. Cigarettes should be absolutely abolished because they destroy the lungs. Liquor destroys the nerves and mental faculties and robs the body of its vitality. Immorality of all kinds should be strictly prohibited. Every contest requires a clear brain, a courageous will, and a vigorous body that can endure the draughts of strength that are demanded of it.

The "yellow streak" is often the result of a nervous weakness which is very frequently caused by low vices. To have clean athletics the men must be clean in every part of their lives.

Sometimes the question is asked, "What profit comes to the college from the enormous investment in athletic sports?" Its greatest asset to the college is the strong men it produces, strong in mind and body. The clean athlete is seldom a failure in life. His mind is keen and active and his body can easily withstand the great demands made upon it by our complex lives. Clean athletics produce in young men the desire to have strong bodies because success demands great physical vigor. In the eyes of the student body the athlete is usually an idol and he can shape many of their physical and moral ideals.

Clean athletics furnish recreation and sport. The college routine would be so monotonous without athletics that college life would be distasteful to the average student. But every year the student looks forward to the college games and he stands on the sidelines and forgets all his studies in rooting for the home team. The normal man must have exercise. It is the means by which he works off his surplus energy. If he does not do this in the sports he usually finds an outlet for it in vices, and that often means disease and death.

Clean athletics preach their sermons. They teach the athletes self control, moral purity, temperance, honesty and fairness. They demand the recognition of the rights of others and loyalty to the college. In after life the athlete always points with pride to his achievements on the diamond, field, track or basketball floor. There are incidents in the college game which are never forgotten by the student, and these memories awaken in him a deep seated love for his Alma Mater.

Clean athletics in a college sustain a healthy college spirit. College spirit is always most conspicuous during athletic contests. Students always refer to "Our team," and in behalf of "our team" most of the yells and songs are heartily given.

Clean athletics demand that the athletes of a team be honest and fair, courteous and temperate when away competing with other colleges. An educational institution is judged largely by the conduct of her athletes while visiting another college. The athlete therefore owes it to himself, his teammates, and his college to be manly at all times when away representing his fellow students.

It is a regrettable fact that accidents do happen during athletic games, but a good resulting from athletics always far outweighs the evil, and whatever be the evils resulting from over training and unfair contests, clean athletics will always result in much lasting good to a student body.

For years the athletics of Susquehanna have been exceptionally clean. The men are morally above the average college team, and though they sometimes meet defeat they have a record of being fair and honest even when victory fails to smile upon them.

—Fully two-thirds of the student body enjoyed at their homes the five-day vacation granted by the faculty.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

For various reasons the Y. M. C. A. meeting was held on Monday evening. Due to the lecture at eight o'clock the meeting was exceptionally short, however in the brief space of time allotted him, Dr. Fisher gave us some very practical lessons in his usual forceful manner.

In jotting down a few statements from Dr. Fisher's talk, we are by no means attempting to reproduce his address. His discourse was on "thankfulness" which he treated in various lights.

It is recorded that "it is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord" but this not only applies to certain days set apart for that special purpose but it applies to every day. Thanksgiving ought to mean thanksgiving.

Every man at Susquehanna should note this statement—"God is calling every man to come to our meetings. The one who enjoys himself here is getting the sweetest, most helpful and most lasting things in the college course. Are we showing our thankfulness to God by grasping the opportunity?"

On the spiritual side—we should be thankful for God's word and show it by using its teachings daily. And especially at this time of the year we should reconsecrate ourselves to God and be willing to look up to Him and say, "How great is the goodness of the Lord."

that in any game where a ball is used

In a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them do so.

ALUMNI NOTES

William Persing, Academy '14, at present a pharmacutical student at Medico-Chi, Philadelphia, spent Wednesday here with his sister, Catherine '18, and other friends.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Laity, of Huntingdon was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday, November 26th, when their daughter, Miss Sara Ruth Ewing and Russel S. Bell, of Mt. Union, a graduate of the commercial department of this institution, were joined in marriage.

At the November monthly meeting of the "Woman's League" of the Church of the Incarnation in Baltimore a special program was rendered by the women of the congregation. The program was in the nature of a "College Drill" and all Lutheran General Synod Colleges were represented by different groups of girls. President Aikens was asked to arrange Susquehanna's part of the program, which he seems to have done most successfully, judging from the letter received from the Chairman of the Program Committee, which was read in chapel a few days ago by Dr. Aikens. Four young ladies represented Susquehanna and read the historical sketch, waved the pennants, sang the songs, and gave the yells of this institution, all of which were provided by President Aikens. The letter which was written by Mrs. Bessie Irvin Strouse informs us that "Your College presentation was the most artistic and prettiest of them all." It is gratifying to the friends of this college to have Susquehanna thus placed upon the map of Baltimore.

THEOLOGICAL NOTES

Irwin '15, supplied the Oriole charge Sunday, Nov. 22.

Stahl '15, conducted the preaching services in the Turbotville Reformed charge Sunday, Nov. 22.

Dale '15, filled the pulpit of our church at New Berlin Sunday, Nov. 22.

Shippey '15, preached at Danville Sunday, Nov. 22.

Messrs. Sheaffer and Schreiner '16, and Peters '17, remained at the dormitory during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Kneisley '16, spent Thanksgiving with friends at Richfield, Pa.

PERSONAL SNAPSHOT

Wilson P. Ard, the Irvin S. Cobb of The Susquehanna staff, spent Thanksgiving vacation at his home in Lemont hunting, of course.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Houltz went to New York to bid bon voyage to their son and daughter-in-law upon departure for Cuba, where Mr. John Houltz is employed at his profession as a sugar chemist.

Mrs. Halston was visited during the Thanksgiving vacation by her friend, Miss Bertha Wintershead, of Rockaway, N. J.

President Aikens, assisted by Rev. Billheimer, of Gettysburg Seminary, installed Rev. Stauffer as pastor of the Middleburg Lutheran charge Sunday, Nov. 22nd.

Rev. Charles T. Leonard, the college pastor, has been assisting in a series of evangelistic meetings at Lewisburg. The deep, logical thoughts put in his usual straightforward, convincing manner has made Rev. Leonard one of the most virile speakers in this part of the State.

Much of the information contained in the Susquehanna will be meaningless to me, having reference to persons and events with whom I am not familiar. As a former student of Susquehanna University, I am sufficiently interested in the success of your project to send the enclosed check for one dollar. I wish you good success in your venture and hope that you may make it the best weekly college paper in the United States.

PHILO

The function of a College Literary Society is to supplement the work of the class-room. In the latter all the work is task-work, so many lines of Latin, so many lines of Greek, so many problems in mathematics to solve, so much German, of French, etc.; in the former, all the work is voluntarily assumed by the student: here the spirit can give vent to itself in its yearning to read, to speak, to learn.

In the Literary Society the student can practice the Art of debate. Too much can not be said on the importance of debating. Debating teaches the student to think quickly and independently, developing in him the power of giving instant expression to his thought. It confers upon all who participate in it a general sense of power. One forgets the fear and dread which he feels on his first appearance in public.

A debater learns to combat argument, to speak extemporaneously, and to respect the views of others. He learns to concentrate his thought upon the subject in question and to deal with it skillfully.

There is no other attainment that will be so valuable to the student in his after career as his Society training, especially his knowledge of debating. It fits him for practically every vocation; for the pulpit, for the bar, for a medical course, for salesmanship, and is of great importance and value to him in every-day life.

The College Literary Society has a great influence in the literary development of the college man. Literature is the Art of expressing life in words of Beauty and Truth. The Art of creating Literature is indeed not "Heaven sent;" it can only be acquired by good, hard, honest work.

The practice which a Literary Society offers in its compository work helps much in the development of the college man. It gives him a larger practical vocabulary; it helps him to acquire the clearness and force of expression necessary to satisfactorily classify thought.

The work of the Society properly conducted fills the student with a desire for good literature. How many young men and boys are led astray by reading cheap and worthless literature when their time might be occupied in doing the profitable and useful things of life. By his Society training the student is enabled to fling away light and trashy literature and use in its stead good sound reading matter.

Membership in a Literary Society teaches a man to take part in public gatherings. In the social life today he is frequently called upon to make an address or to do many other things which require a literary training. This training is best acquired through his Society work. It is often necessary for the college student to take charge of a public meeting. Where within the college walls can he obtain the training necessary to give clear and logical expression to his thought before an audience? The college graduate is looked upon as a leader in his community, and as such he ought to be able to comply with the demands made upon him.

Therefore to join a Literary Society is a duty which every college man owes to himself. To the student who enters upon the work with the proper spirit and energy will accrue undoubted advantages.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Dr. Floyd and Joseph A. Lumbard hoisted the flag to the top of the new pole at the Founders' Day exercises on Tuesday. It was a coincidence in the fact that just fifty-one years previous, after one of the bloodiest battles of the civil war, these same men assisted in raising Old Glory over Lookout Mountain.

Mrs. N. E. Hess and son, S. M. Hess visited President Aikens Monday of last week.

Coach Ketchner spent Thanksgiving Day in Allentown, where he witnessed the victory of his Alma Mater over Muhlenberg.

Prof. Keener was in Harrisburg with friends over Thanksgiving.

Ambitious students prematurely dedicated the flag pole Monday night by drawing to the top an effigy which consisted of the football dummy dressed in an unique costume. President Aikens' statement that the hanging form was an object lesson, forebodes no good in the future for unruly students.

Every student should be a member of the S. P. U. G. Make Christmas count by giving a present worth while, and nothing is more acceptable than a memento of college life. Ard and Klepper have the agency for a high class line of college novelties, including pennants, posters, felt and leather cushion tops, banners, etc.

Why has the heat not been turned on in the lower part of the gymnasium? This portion of the building should by all means be kept in a warm condition, as all the baths for the men are located there. Excuses have been made for the past year or more about faulty valves and weak connections but since no effort seems to have been made to remedy the trouble the students are about disgusted with the chronic frigid condition of this wash house.

ONLY ONE DEATH OUT OF TEN SO FAR THIS YEAR IN WELL- TRAINED TEAMS

The open game, which was supposed to do so much toward eliminating accidents in football, has not fulfilled its promises this season. Thus far there have been 10 deaths and 63 injuries, of more or less serious character.

It is significant that of the ten deaths four occurred in high school games, four in independent team contests, one in a college interclass match and one in a college practice. Only one of the players killed belonged to a carefully trained team. This shows that the danger in the college teams is far less than that in the inexperienced teams.

Of the multitude of college men who have played this fall, only two have been badly hurt. Atwood Violet, a scrub halfback at Yale, was seriously hurt in making a tackle recently. J. B. Coleman, fullback of the Central Kentucky eleven, was probably fatally injured in a game played against Vanderbilt University.

It appears that hard tackling in the open field has been largely responsible for the worst injuries. Formerly the greatest number of players were hurt in mass plays. Five of the deaths this season were caused by the hard falls after tackles in the open field. Three resulted from the piling up of the players in mass plays. One player died from a kick in the stomach, while another was fatally kicked in the temple. There is no doubt that within the last few years the elimination of the old style of tandem and other mass plays have kept the fatalities down. In the days when such plays were in vogue it was no uncommon thing for 40 players to be killed in a single season. In the last four years the total has not exceeded 14, and in 1912 only 10 deaths resulted.—Orange & Blue.

LYCEUM FESTIVAL WILL BEGIN HERE THURSDAY

SUSQUEHANNA STUDENTS CO-OPERATING FOR SUCCESS OF PRAISEWORTHY EVENT

Students of Susquehanna will have exceptional opportunity to learn more of and prepare better for work which will come to them after they go out to assume life's duties, when the Lyceum Festival comes to Selingrove Thursday of this week.

The festival is conducted by The Chautauqua Association of Swarthmore and promises to be entertaining as well as instructive. It consists of three days of entertainment, lectures, and concerts, beginning Thursday afternoon.

A guarantee of $275 has been given these educators. The guarantors are finding it a difficult proposition to realize this sum from the sale of tickets. Members of the faculty and friends of the institution compose this body of guarantors. In supporting this educational movement you are therefore not only receiving personal benefit but you are assisting those who have done so many things for us in the past.

However, there is but one way in which you can be of assistance to these guarantors, and that is by buying a season ticket. A ticket which will admit you to the six sessions can be procured from Dr. Aikens or Prof. Brungart for one dollar. If you go only to the three evening sessions it will be profitable to you financially to purchase a season ticket. These season tickets are transferable. You owe it to yourself as well as to this community, which has supported Susquehanna so creditably in the past, to attend this Lyceum Festival.

NEW A. A. BOARD

With the exit of the last year's Athletic Association Board, whose term of office just expired, the student body met on Thursday afternoon in chapel and elected new representatives for the ensuing year. Much credit should be given the members of the Board who have just retired for the very successful manner in which they conducted athletics during the past year. Football has been reinstated and the prospects for success in this sport in the future are unusually bright. A track team was organized last spring term, while the strong support given the basketball and baseball teams aided materially in the excellent showing made in these sports last year. It is the desire of the student body that athletics be supported on the high plane to which it has been raised.

At the recent Athletic Association meeting the following Board was elected for the coming year: Faculty representatives, Dr. Woodruff, Dr. Fisher, Prof. Sones; Alumni, Marion S. Schoch '06, Claude G. Aikens '11; Theological Department, Clyde Shaeffer; College Witmer '15, Keammerer '16, Klepper '17, Perry '18. It was also deemed advisable to make several alterations to the constitution because of new conditions which have arisen with various changes in athletic sports. An amendment committee consisting of Irvin, W. E. Brown and Grossman was appointed to investigate and revise the old constitution.

GALBRAITH BROTHERS PLEASED AUDIENCE IN INITIAL PROGRAM

Self-Made Entertainers Appeared at Their Best in Seibert Hall Friday

Hilarious laughter and deafening applause was the order of the evening when Galbraith Brothers, of Brookville, gave their entertainment in Seibert Hall on Friday. The student body together with the few townspeople who were in attendance enjoyed one of the most humorous entertainments given here in years. Every number of the program was followed by loud acclamation. Indeed, so enthusiastic was the audience in their appreciation that they gave the performers little time for rest, each production being followed by lengthy applause which was only silenced when one or both of these musicians and entertainers reappeared on the platform.

When one remembers that these two brothers are self-made entertainers, and that much of their best program material is the creation of their own brains, both musical and elocutionary, too much commendation cannot be given them for the successful program rendered on their first appearance at Susquehanna. The entertainment throughout was characteristic of the men themselves, being filled with the choicest variety of wholesome humor. Though the laughter lasted for two hours everyone present was loath to leave, and as a finale a rousing A-N-N-A was given by the student body to show their appreciation of the Galbraith Brothers' efforts.

Both men proved their ability as vocalists as well as performers on the guitar when they sang so beautifully "Whispering Hope" with guitar accompaniment as the initial number of the program. The audience received its first conception of their skill at varied entertainment when they together gave a burlesque of Sextette from Lucia. Hearty applause was answered by another song in action. This was followed by a humorous reading, "Dooly on the LaGrippe," by the younger brother. As a spicy encore he came back with "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death." A pleasing guitar duet was followed by a most

After a three weeks' delay due to postponements and the Thanksgiving recess, the society has again resumed its literary activities. It is a regrettable fact that so many exterior functions, which in a measure are unavoidable, are permitted to interfere with the regular meetings of the society. No organization can secure the best labor from its members when its established routine is interrupted. Surely the work done within the society halls cannot be considered as of minor importance. The training received there is just as applicable to the needs of the professional man or woman as the work accomplished within the classroom.

However, after the brief relapse in her activities, Clio has swung back into her stride with the same spirit of determination to produce the same results which have always characterized her efforts. The program rendered December third was especially noteworthy for its excellent numbers. The essay by Brown was concise and contained much valuable information. Hostetter who appeared for the first laughable reading of Paul Lawrence Dunbar's "At The Party." The reader showed his power of impersonation by rendering this poem in negro dialect. Again the reader was recalled and again he convulsed the audience with laughter. As a proof that they could interest their bearers in more ways than one they sang as a duet the patriotic song "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground." After long and vigorous applause they rendered an amusing characteristic duet, "Mother Grinding Coffee." In "Solomon Levi" the younger brother again displayed his talent at impersonation and the rendition of character songs. "Obadiah Perkins and His Slide Trumbone," an original reading, fairly took the house by storm. He was interrupted many times by uncontrollable laughter before he had concluded. In the next number he held the undivided attention of the audience as he very ably impersonated an aged gentleman in "A Letter From Bill." After the two men had sung that sweet old song, "Annie Laurie," the older brother displayed his proficiency as a guitarist when he played "Old Black Joe" with variations, and an Italian Melody. A humorous vocal duet, "Run, Brudder Rabbit, Run," elicited much applause. This was followed by a beautiful rendition of that old Scotch song, "I Love a Lassie," by the more youthful Galbraith. The program was concluded by a musical reading, "On the Rappahannock."

It is difficult to describe the intense interest which was shown throughout the entire performance as these master entertainers recited humorous readings, sang amusing songs in action, read patriotic productions, and played skillfully on their guitars. In mimicry and impersonation they are hard to excel. Susquehanna looks forward with anticipation when these brother entertainers can again appear on the local platform. Their entertaining ability together with their pleasing personalities insure them a hearty welcome any time they can find it possible to return to Susquehanna.

time in Clio's rostrum gave a very excellent Select Oration, while Miss Webb rendered two very humorous readings in her characteristic able manner. The debate, Resolved that the United States would be acting wisely in granting independence to the Philippines, was very timely and involved many intricate international problems. The affirmative was upheld by Shannon and Crossland while the negative was defended by Middlesworth and Klepper, substituted by Dolbeer. The way in which the question was treated demonstrated the fact that much preparation was necessary to ascertain the minute technicalities which have characterized the discussion. Two very acceptable piano duets were rendered by Keller and Dolbeer. The music numbers in Clio's programs are always well filled by the numerous artisans. The Original Oration was ably delivered by Harkins, while Miller gave us an optimistic prediction of the basket ball season as it now confronts Susquehanna. For the third time Miss Crossman has surpassed all expectations in the composition of interesting Heralds. Her un-

NICHOLS CHOSEN PILOT OF FOOT BALL TEAM

HEADY BACK-FIELD MAN UN-AMIOUSLY ELECTED FOR NEXT SEASON

E. W. NICHOLS

At a meeting of the 'Varsity football team on Wednesday, E. W. Nichols '16, of Williamsport, was elected unanimously as football captain for the 1915 season. Certainly the members of the squad made no mistake in selecting this mainstay as their leader for next year. "Nick" is really an all-around man on the gridiron but is most at home when playing on the end of the line. He played right end during the forepart of the season which is just past, but about the middle of the season he was drafted into service in the back-field when both halves were prevented from playing on account of injuries. Not in a single contest was his defensive work at end excelled by any opposing player in that position, while as a back-field man his grit and determination aided greatly in breaking up those plays that came through to the secondary defense.

With practically every player back next year Susquehanna can look forward to even greater success under the efficient leadership of this hard-working athlete.

lucque jokes and witticisms always evoke a flood of laughter and applause. At the same meeting new officers were elected to guide the helm of Clio for the next six months. The election resulted as follows: President, Shannon; Vice-President, Dolbeer; Secretary, Miss Reighard; Critics, Gross and Miss Geise; Editor, Middlesworth; Assistant Editor, Miss Walker; Factotum, Horton.

The work done by the retiring officers was indeed creditable and the members of Clio owe much to their leadership in their affairs. We are certain, however that the newly elected officers will perpetuate the principles fostered by loyal Clioers, some of whom have since left our halls, and enhanced by those who now surrender not the work of Clio but its able leadership.

QUINTET PREPARING FOR HARD SCHEDULE

BASKET BALL CANDIDATES ARE ENGAGED IN DAILY DRILLS UNDER COACH KELHOER

Susquehanna began basketball practice last week with many prospective players and almost all the members of last year's team back in good form and eager to make this season one of the best for the institution.

The excellent showing made by the team last year seems to inspire the candidates to hard work and the desire to make an even better record. Many of the players have spent the fall in football training thus giving them an advantage in the opening of the basketball season. After two weeks' rest Coach Kelchner has begun putting the men through hard practice in order that the candidates may be in good physical condition for the game with Harrisburg Professionals next Saturday evening.

Swoope, who successfully led the football team through its initial season, will add strength to this year's quintet. With Witmer, who played center on Susquehanna's 1913 team back, Swoope will be eligible to play either forward or guard. Middlesworth, who last year proved himself one of the most reliable foul shooters in intercollegiate circles, is showing up well at his old guard position. Shannon and Peters, members of last year's team, are both growing stronger in floor work, but Harkins, who was injured in football will be unable to join the team until next term.

New men who bid fair to land a birth on the 'Varsity team are: Lauver, Hostetter, Thomas, Cassler, Bullick, Perry and V. N. Miller. With prospects for a strong reserve team, the only other factor which is needed for a successful season is the constant support of the student body.

Ard '15, has proven his ability as manager by arranging the following high-class schedule:

- Dec. 12—Harrisburg Professionals, Harrisburg.
- Jan. 15—Albright College, Selingrove.

SUSQUEHANNA MUST ADVISE

While Susquehanna has advanced with rapid strides in prominence in the college world within the last few years, equaling many and even surpassing some contemporaneous institutions, yet it is a recognized fact that she has not always exercised her capabilities for material growth to the utmost. It is generally admitted that even in some parts of our own State this college is practically unknown. In order that an institution of any kind may prosper it must first attract the attention of the public.

Perhaps no single thing in the past has brought Susquehanna so much desirable publicity as the College Glee Clubs. In making their various tours over the state they have called to the attention of the people the aims and principles and advantages of the college they represent, so that this organization has been instrumental in creating a favorable impression for Susquehanna over a wide area. Other factors which have been of great assistance to Susquehanna as aids to material growth, are the successful athletic teams which she has sent out from year to year, and the many graduates who go out into the world each year, everyone glad to recommend the institution which has given them educational birth.

But these agencies are not sufficient. They should hold a secondary position in a well developed system of advertising. Susquehanna should have a number of able representatives, men of good business ability, traveling over the state continually soliciting students, collecting money, and advertising the college. However, such a system is ideal and requires much money in order that it may be properly carried out. As conditions now exist this institution must depend to a great extent on her Alumni acting as an advertising medium.

Susquehanna, therefore, appeals to you, Alumni, not to forget those who sacrificed for you, and gave themselves for your training and development. Assist us materially that we may carry out various contemplated projects, and do not forget to use your influence continually for your Alma Mater.

Those who are now students should also carry the interests of Susquehanna at heart, and speak a word in her behalf whenever the opportunity arises. Seek to influence prospective students in your home community to take their college course here. Tell them of the Institution's buildings and equipment, her faculty, successful athletics, and beautiful location. Ev-everyone can feel proud that he or she is part of an institution that has given to the state and nation many of her ablest statesmen, lawyers, ministers and teachers.

Susquehanna has emerged on a new era. A brighter day is dawning. Let us, therefore, do our part in making this institution the pride of the Lutheran Church and an ornament to the community and the State.

FOR THE BELGIAN KING

John Caine, the great English writer, is in charge of a book which is being prepared in England for the King of Belgium. This book is filled with expressions of sympathy for Belgium, and of admiration for the King's heroism.

Ellis Wheeler Wilcox has been asked, as American poetess, to write for this book which will bring cheer to the heart of the poor Belgian ruler. Upon being requested to contribute to this book of sympathy, she was asked, "why don't you write a poem about another great Belgian book—not the book that is to go to the Belgian King, but the book that is to go to the higher King, sitting up above, seeing all things, and having them written down by the strictly impartial Gabriel?"

Below are the two verses which this nation's genius and poetess wrote in answer to these requests. May the Belgian King enjoy his book. May the Heavenly King punish adequately those responsible for what He will read in His book.

A book has been made for the King;
A book of beauty and art;
To the good king's eyes
A smile shall rise
Hiding the ache in his heart—
Hiding the hurt and the grief
As he turns it, leaf by leaf.

A book has been made for the King;
A book of blood and of might;
To the Great King's eyes
A look shall rise
That will blast and wither and smite—
Yes, smite with a just God's rage,
As He turns it, page by page.

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting on Tuesday evening was addressed by Dr. Dimm. He spoke on a text taken from the writings of Solomon—Ecclesiastes 10, 11. "Estimate your personal value, but do not get big headed." We were shown the advantages of being educated in a small college; how we can build character by association, by looking for excellency in the Professors.

"Know your own dignity and worth on one side, and deeds on the other and compare them. How close to God do you live? Your thoughts may become prayers to Him. You know not how great you can become with His help."

A number of enthusiastic workers were to Middlecreek last Sunday evening. Others will go later, but still more should take advantage of these opportunities.

The regular monthly meeting of the cabinet was held on Thursday evening. The committees gave encouraging reports and the good work promises to go on with renewed vigor. Beginning with this week, the prayer meetings will be held as was the custom other years.

The speaker Tuesday evening will be Rev. Drummheller. We are glad to welcome him and are anticipating an excellent meeting.

FROM A FORMER EDITOR

You, together with your staff are deserving hearty commendation on the newsy and attractive paper you are publishing. The change from the old "cut and dried" form of the monthly publication to the present form is surely a welcome one and indicative of progress. You have my warm congratulations and best wishes for future success in your efforts.

Enclosed find $1.00 for my subscription for the present year.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

Here a number of students in the front row looked at each other significantly, and hoarsely whispered:

"He has been eating hash!"

Mrs. Rural—Well, paw, when Susan comes home from college she can give you a point or two about farming.

Prof.—(firmly)—Never.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. J. M. Uber '07 and '10, pastor of the Milroy charge is building a new church. The corner-stone for this structure was laid September 13th. It will have a main auditorium 45ft. by 50ft. and a room for men's bible class as well as one for the primary department. The building will seat about 450. The edifice will be constructed of concrete blocks, slate roof, steel ceiling, and art windows. When completed it will cost about $7000.

Rev. J. W. Dentler '11, was installed as pastor of the Darrtown, Ohio and Lyons Station, Indiana church on November 8th. Susquehanna wishes him much success.

Rev. H. R. Myers '09, Philadelphia, was one of the speakers at the Philadelphia Conference of East Pennsylvania Synod which convened at Bridge-town, N. J. His subject was, "Is Church Membership Necessary for Salvation?"

Rev. C. M. Nichols '01, pastor of the Lutheran church at Pottsville, has been sorely bereaved by the passing away of his mother at her home in Mechanicsburg. In the family there were three sons and a daughter given to the Lutheran ministry.

Rev. C. B. Harmon '97 and '00, of North Platte, Nebraska, recently completed the fifth year of this pastorate. During this time 139 adult members were received and total amount received was $13,211. He also publishes a parish paper named "The Lutheran" which contains numerous interesting facts.

George A. Reitz '10, a student of commercial chemistry at Medico-Chirurgical College, Philadelphia, visited friends in town and at the University.

Prof. S. Luther Reed, Ph. D. '08, has been elected to the chair of Psychology and Education in Gustavus Adolphus College.

Rev. Fred W. Barry '04 and '07, pastor of the Lutheran church at Cumberland, Md., visited at the home of his mother, who resides in Selinsgrove.

Rev. John E. Reish '11 and '14, was installed as pastor of the Loganton charge December 6th by Dr. Aikens and Dr. Spangier.

Dr. Warren Inkroter '09, of Philadelphia, was a visitor in town and at the University this week.

Rev. Thomas F. Dornblaser, D. D. '06, is the "youthful" and energetic pastor of Grace Church, Chicago. He is active in civic affairs besides caring for one of the largest Lutheran churches in the city. His article, "The Cure for Race Hatred," just published shows great ability as a writer.

Rev. J. E. Dietrich, D. D. '85, pastor of the Lutheran church at Duquesne, reports that the church is free of debt and is busy increasing its building funds so as to begin the erection of a new church early in the spring.

Rev. A. E. Cooper '00, pastor of the Lutheran church, Jersey Shore, was a visitor in Selinsgrove and at the University last week.

Rev. S. F. Greenhoe '78 and '81, pastor of the Lutheran church at Orrstown, made an automobile tour from that place to Beaver Springs, where he visited friends. While passing through Selinsgrove he stopped at the University for a few hours.

Rev. C. R. Botsford '98, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church at Berwick, has reduced the mortgaged indebtedness to less than seven hundred dollars. We are glad to note the marked improvement in the church and excellent work of pastor at Berwick.

Rev. Walter H. Traub '10 and '13, now pastor at State College, with the aid of his congregation gave a reception to the Lutheran students enrolled at State College. The students attended in large numbers and a very pleasant social evening was spent.

There are three hundred and eight Lutherans attending State College and arrangements have been made by which they may be excused from chapel to attend church.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Harvard's championship foot ball team was produced this fall at a cost of $25,000, according to the figures announced a few days ago. The largest item of expense was $7500, the salary of the head coach.

Columbia University may take up foot ball again next year.

According to the decision of the Student Senate of F. & M., base ball will be dispensed with for a year. The reason for discontinuing the game is that for some seasons past the teams have failed to draw crowds at the home games and a general lack of the necessary support which would warrant its continuance.

A branch of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania was recently established in Harrisburg, and it shows a steady and healthy growth. The number of students enrolled is nearly double the minimum fixed by the University to insure the location of a school in that city. It is believed that the incoming class will be larger than that of this season, and before very long the Harrisburg branch of the Wharton School will be a college in itself.

In order to arouse interest and to encourage more contributions to "The College Student," the monthly of Franklin & Marshall College, the Literary Societies have offered four prizes of five dollars each to the writer of "the best story, to the writer of the best historical essay, to the one who writes the best poem and the writer of the best scientific essay."

Charter Day was observed at Grove City College by a formal presentation of a dormitory to the college. It was the gift of the family of the late Joseph Newton Pew.

Basketball practice began Wednesday under the direction of Coach Kelchner and assistant coach Kauffman. About thirty candidates are working hard and competition is keen for places on the 'varsity line-up.

Coach Kelchner spent part of last week with friends in Philadelphia.

Leap year spirit was shown by the co-eds Wednesday when they invited a number of the fellows to accompany them to a stereopticon lecture on The Life of Christ held in the Methodist church of Selingsgrove.

Clean-up was the order for Clio Saturday morning. With nearly every member present the hall was given a thorough cleaning and now presents a much improved appearance.

"Chalk" Kauffman spent Wednesday at W. T. Horton's home on the campus.

E. K. Gaugler, of Harrisburg, photographer for the 1916 Lantern, delivered the finished pictures Friday. As a whole this work was satisfactory.

Miss Ruth Cassler, assistant to Registrar Horton, spent Sunday with Mary Steele at her home in Northumberland.

Under the direction of Grossman and Swoope '16, the girls have organized a basket ball team and are having regular practices in preparation for the coming season. Alvia Cressman was elected manager and Keathe Shields captain of the co-ed athletes.

Why not a flag every day? The new flag pole is seldom used and "Old Glory" should be floating every day. The residents of Sleepy Hollow agree to raise and lower it every morning and evening if the flag is furnished.

Susquehanna's laundry came very near going up in flames Saturday evening about half past seven. Registrar Horton noticed the smoke and flames and hurried to the scene just as the tongues of fire were licking around the large gasoline tank, and had it not been for his timely intervention and heroic work a terrible explosion would have occurred which would have completely wrecked the building and its contents.

Miss Matlo Carl, former voice teacher at Susquehanna, visited Misses McCormick and Rynearson Friday. Miss Carl is engaged in Concert work in Philadelphia at the present time and is meeting with much success.

"REBUILDING YOUR TOWN" WAS LEADING CHAUTAUQUA THEME

Students and Town's People Successfully Launched Up-Lift Movement

On Thursday afternoon the Lyceum Festival conducted by The Chautauqua Association, of Swarthmore began its three days' series of concerts and entertainments. From start to finish the Festival proved a grand success. Intense interest has been manifested by the people of this community and practically everyone feels that the town is the better for this educational visit. Students evidenced their interest by turning out in large numbers. Indeed, it was only after the college had been canvassed thoroughly that the deficit in the guarantee was made up.

Miss M. O. Hamilton, the superintendent of the movement, has shown her ability as an educational leader in her afternoon lectures on some of the greatest American poets. Musical entertainment interspersed the program throughout. On Thursday the Original Strollers Quartet furnished excellent entertainment, while in the evening Dr. A. E. Turner, ex-President of Hastings College, delivered an exceptionally striking and instructive lecture on "Rebuilding Your Town." The Female Trio, who entertained with music on Friday met with a warm reception. Yarrick, the magician, proved himself a master at his art when he held the undivided attention of the crowded house in the evening. Saturday brought the Italian Orchestra and at the evening session Ellsworth Plumstead, impersonator, proved himself one of the strongest entertainers in the entire course.

Students realized much benefit from this movement which was inaugurated and made possible by the big men of this community. Already arrangements are being made for a similar educational movement next year, and the student body wishes to assure their hearty co-operation.

While every number of the Lyceum Festival was helpful and entertaining, it must be admitted that Dr. Turner's lecture on Thursday evening was by far the most instructive. For at least an hour and a half he held the attention of his large audience and frequently was interrupted by lengthy applause.

Dr. Turner is a man of wide educational experience having been president of Hastings College, Nebraska, for a number of years. He resigned this position so that he might give his time to this broad educational movement. As a lecturer he is instructive and inspiring. He has a genial personality, an eloquent voice, and much experience.

In substance his lecture on "Rebuilding Your Town" was as follows: In rebuilding a town it is necessary that we be careful of the material used. First, we should be careful about the public health. Care should be taken that all foodstuffs undergo a thorough governmental inspection, and knowledge should be had of where foods are kept. Especially should we insist that grocery stores and meat shops be kept free from dust and flies as much as possible. Special attention also needs to be taken of our milk supply. In Baltimore there were recently 10,000 children diseased by impure milk, and to-day there are 1,000,000 such cases in the United States.

King among the spreaders of disease is the common little house fly. This pest is responsible to a great extent for the development of typhoid, which disease costs the American people every year over $74,000,000. The fly has a hairy foot, and these hairs are always full of disease germs. These germs are constantly being taken in to our systems with the food we eat, so that we are daily inviting disease to enter our bodies. Cleveland, one of the largest cities in this country, has almost completely exterminated the fly by removing all breeding places. Why could not a small town of a few thousand people clean up in the same way?

The mosquito is also responsible for the spread of disease. France failed in the digging of the Panama canal, not because of lack of energy or lack of funds but because of this insect that carried malaria fever germs. This country succeeded with the project after they had drained the swamps or covered stagnant pools with oil, thereby destroying the breeding places of this pest.

All filth should be removed from a town. Alleys should never be used as a dumping ground, but all refuse should either be burned or carried far from the town. Remove all dilapidated buildings and broken fences, get rid of dirty streets. Do not permit the part of your town lying along the railroad to become unclean for this is the public highway from which many people see your town.

Secondly,—A town should be careful of its moral life. Of most vital importance in the growth of the moral and religious life of a community is the church. Remove all churches from a town and you decrease the value of real estate 50 per cent. Churches should be centers of intellectual as well as of moral and religious life. They should be open at all times so that people might come in to commune and pray. They should be a part of the everyday life of a community and not be too conservative.

Saloons are, without a doubt, the greatest detriment to the development of the town. They consume the people's money, destroy their health and offer nothing in return. They are the centers of all disorder and strife, radiating bad influences everywhere. In dealing with this public menace we should take into consideration the old Roman motto: "Public safety is the only law." All blame should not be placed upon the proprietor of the saloon as it is our vote that puts the State seal upon his business and makes it lawful. Elect men to these legislative offices who oppose the granting of life to this foe of righteousness and the prosperity of your town will be increased.

Thirdly,—Another element to be considered in the up-building of the town is its public school system. There are three evils which threaten to break down our public schools, poor teachers, poor tools, and poor management. School teachers receive less remuneration for their work than any other profession in America. In the United States the average wages for the school teacher is $58 per month, while in Pennsylvania the average monthly wages for the school teacher amounts to but $48. Our boys are our greatest asset. Certainly no schools can be too good for them.

HARRISBURG SPEEDED BY SUSQUEHANNA FIVE

MARON AND ORANGE AHEAD AT END OF FIRST HALF; WINNING FOUL IN LAST 20 SECONDS

Susquehanna opened her basketball season on Saturday night by losing to the Harrisburg Collegians in a closely-contested, interesting game by a 23-24 score.

The Orange and Maroon showed superior team work in every phase of the game but their opponents succeeded in nosing out a victory by excellent foul shooting. A slippery floor and inability to locate the basket prevented either side from running up a large score.

Susquehanna had possession of the ball the greater part of the game and at time displayed exceptional ability at passing which the Harrisburg quintet seemed unable to stop, but when the attempt for basket was made the ball usually fell into hostile hands.

Captain Swoope and Martin each made several sensational shots from the middle of the floor. Middlesworth also showed excellent form for the beginning of the season and succeeded in caging three goals.

For Harrisburg Boyles and Dupes played the fastest game, the former practically winning the game by his superb foul shooting.

The Susques were accompanied by a live aggregation of rooters, whose cheers enlivened the occasion and added considerable vim and dash to the wearers of the Maroon and Orange.

The line-up:
Harrisburg Positions Susquehanna
Dupes forward (Swoope) Peters
Whelock forward Martin
Hollinger center (Witmer) Swoope
Boyles guard Shannon
Regan guard Middlesworth

Goals from field—Martin 3, Middlesworth 3, Swoope 2, Whelock 2, Boyles, Dupes, Hollinger. Foul goals—Middlesworth, 7 out of 15; Boyles, 16 out of 22. Referee—White.

Poor tools also hinder the public schools from accomplishing their full mission. Many school buildings are antiquated, have no auditorium for lectures or public assemblies, and have poor play grounds for the children.

Poor management is also a detriment to the work of the public school. School buildings are used but 39 per cent. of the time available. Parents should be invited frequently so that the school may become a social intellectual center.

Fourthly,—The merchant and customer should have mutual interests. The merchant should endeavor to satisfy the demands of the community. He should be courteous at all times, and give part of his time and money for municipal improvements. On the other hand the customer should buy at home when possible instead of patronizing mail-order houses, who contribute nothing to the up-building of a town. It is the business men of a town who help to pave its streets, make its parks, and support its churches. Whenever these men prosper the town itself becomes wealthier and better. There must be mutual cooperation among the people of a town if they would make their town better, more beautiful, and more inviting.

A town that fulfills these obligations will be an intellectual center, a contented and thriving little city.

ALUMNUS TELLS STORY OF HIS LABORS IN FOREIGN MISSION

Home From Liberia, Rev. J. D. Curran Recounts His Experiences

On Monday evening, December 7th, a number of the students attended the Missionary Meeting held in the Lecture Room of Trinity Lutheran Church. The speaker of the evening was Rev. J. D. Curran, of the Muhlenberg Mission at Liberia, Africa. Interest was added to the occasion by the fact that Rev. Curran is an alumnus of Susquehanna, having graduated from college with the class of '07, and from the Seminary three years later.

After a brief but spirited Devotional service, Rev. Leonard in introducing the speaker called attention to the honor and service of a life devoted to the cause of Missions in fulfilling the Great Teacher's command to "Go and teach all Nations." He also touched upon the needs and possibilities of the mission field at home and abroad.

In his address, Rev. Curran first gave a brief summary of the Missionary activities of the Lutheran Church, Liberia, the only African State in which is located a Lutheran Mission, was established by freed slaves from the United States and elsewhere, and these former slaves took with them to Liberia, the culture and enlightenment of civilization, so that the territory for about thirty miles from the coast is inhabited by civilized people.

The Muhlenberg Mission is located about thirty miles up the St. Paul river from the seaport town Monrovia. The mission is just on the line between civilization and heathen darkness, and consists of schools for both boys and girls. The school is conducted on much the same plan as the Orphan Homes in this country, the children being taken from the unfavorable environment of the "home"—seldom more than a mud hut of one room. The education is both religious and industrial, the Bible being used as a text-book and the discipline and responsibility are added by the industrial training.

The duties of the Missionary, however, are by no means confined by the limits of the Mission Station. Evangelizing tours are frequent and lengthy; on his last trip of this nature shortly before he received his furlough, Rev. Curran made a journey of over 500 miles with his party. He humorously referred to the hammock in which the ladies were carried as his African automobile. Evangelization of the territory was slow, due to the difficulties the Missionaries had in traveling from place to place, using the "monkey bridges" and fording streams, or walking through the tangled jungle or rocky passes.

Another difficulty in converting the natives is the lack of a common language, there being about ten tribes in the interior, all speaking a different tongue so that an interpreter is needed, and this is a very unsatisfactory way at best. Besides this, they have no words in their language to express our religious terms. The interpreters also frequently make mistakes in translating.

Rev. Curran next showed many curios from the Dark Continent and spoke at length of the life of the natives. They are very superstitious, and wear much jewelry, but more for the charm and spirit which it possesses than for an ornament. The jewelry is obtained from the tribe Medicine Man, who is the most powerful as well as the richest man in the tribe.

The natives have no written laws, but still their system of justice is established. The African has but little moral conviction, and the disgrace is not in doing wrong but in getting caught.

The weaving and dyeing of cloth by the natives is surprising, and they evince much talent in many ways. All that they need is the chance to make good.

Although slow, the work of the Mission is showing, and a change for the better in the community life is radiating from the Mission center. Many of the heathen practices are being lessened; polygamy is decreasing; the influence of the "medicine man" is waning; and the viewpoint of the people is being changed, for God is at work there.

The language of the natives is being studied, and already parts of the New Testament and the Psalms have been translated. Mr. Curran next sang a song in the language of the people. In presenting the "Call to Africa" he said there is great need for men and money, but especially men. Men and women are needed in great numbers there to carry on the work efficiently for the loving "Father of all Nations."

THREE WEEKS' SUSPENSION

During the Christmas vacation there will be no issue of The Susquehanna. The next regular addition will appear January 12th. The staff takes this opportunity to wish all the compliments of the season.

FROM THE MEDICAL WORLD

I inclose my check for one year's subscription to the "Susquehanna." As soon as it reaches my desk I read every line before I stop. I have a very busy day to-day—just returned from an operation to get "a bite," but found the copy of the "Susquehanna" on my table and had to read it before I could leave for my afternoon's calls.

Success to the little paper, long may it prosper.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED

Rev. M. M. Allbeck '94 and '97, reports the dedication of a new Lutheran church in his pastorate at Monongahela on Sunday, December 6th. "The Daily Republican" of that city says that it was the greatest day in the history of the local church when they dedicated the new auditorium and the newly arranged church edifice which now makes Grace Lutheran church one of the coziest, most comfortable and prettiest churches in the Monongahela valley.

The total cost of the whole church as it was dedicated is $17,200. Rev. C. P. Bastian, a Susquehanna graduate, gave an interesting address at the dedication services. Rev. Charles M. Teufel, of Pittsburgh, another of Susquehanna, addressed the young people on "The Luther League for the Kingdom of God" during the post-dedication services.

THE "MELTING POT" OF NATIONS

While half of the world is engaged in the scientific art of wholesale murder and destruction, and the civilization of a thousand years of patient toil is trampled beneath the feet of martialled hosts, Columbia is bowed in grief over this awful tragedy. She weeps because the nations of her own flesh and blood are engaged in drawn conflict; because thousands of the fathers and sons of her citizens have already laid down their lives on the altar of their country's freedom.

Representatives from every nation on the earth are found among the citizens of this country. The free air and many natural resources have drawn millions of people of every race and clime to its shores. Here the intelligent and thrifty German of the Rhine found a country that afforded him room for development and expansion. Light-hearted yeomen of the vine-clad hills of France were drawn here by dreams of wealth and contentment. The peasantry of England, crowded and handicapped by England's dense population, sought the spacious land of the Pilgrims. The Slav of Russia, driven by persecution and famine from his homeland, came here to secure political and religious freedom and to build a home for himself in the fertile valleys of the New World. Italy sent her children here by the thousands, and so has added materially to the building up of the great commonwealth which we call the United States. From Holland, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway, and many of the other smaller nations have come some of America's most frugal and industrious inhabitants. Thus we find represented in our country almost every nation of Europe as well as Asia and Africa. Yet the influence of a liberal government, just laws, public schools, and the Christian religion has transformed this human conglomeration into one homogeneous mass. They are now no longer Germans, French, English, or Russian, but American citizens fired with all the patriotic ardor and love for Old Glory that their brothers and cousins across the seas are manifesting for their country in this present crisis.

The United States was enriched by peoples of every nation. The German brought to this country character, patience, learning and skill; the Englishman, perseverance, love of freedom, and a fluent language; the Frenchman, versatility, art, sculpture, and the trades; the Scotch brought here a deep-seated religious instinct, and a love of discussion and argument; the Russian and the Italian brought the physical strength that has built many of our industries and performed much of our manual labor. Every nation has made some contribution that has added to the moral and material growth of this country.

Truly we are the "melting pot" of nations, because we have drawn our population from every race and nation and welded them into a distinct American citizenship. We have given the children of every nation a home, and offered to them love, liberty and justice. This spirit of fraternal interest which we have manifested so unselfishly to every nation now at war should aid us greatly in keeping aloof from this awful conflict.

May these happy relations between us continue to grow! May we demonstrate our love and affection for these unfortunate people of Europe by sending them material aid in this hour of need, by helping to bind up their wounds and bear their sorrows. Then when the conflict is over, when the warring nations have again arrived at normal conditions, may they realize that we do not desire their wealth or markets, that we seek not their lands or their destruction, but only ask for love and friendship. Then upon the ashes of this present carnage shall arise a new structure of peace and goodwill, and United States shall march triumphant at the head of an irresistible force which shall herald the death of militarism and usher in the dawn of universal peace.

PNEUMONIA

Little Talks on Health & Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health

This is the season when pneumonia becomes the chief ally of death and slaughters thousands. During the changeable weather when winter sets in and again in the spring, it's greatest toll is exacted.

Pneumonia is a germ disease, the minute organism which causes it is called by physicians the pneumococcus. It is to a certain extent contagious. However, these germs are sometimes found in the throats of perfectly healthy persons. When the bodily resistance of the individual becomes lowered through physical exhaustion and this is followed by exposure in poorly-ventilated rooms, of fumes, crowded street cars, local railroad trains or ill-ventilated theatres which are hot beds for the infection, pneumonia is apt to result.

Cold itself is not directly a factor. In the Arctic regions the germ does not exist in the pure frigid air. This points to one of the secrets for avoiding the disease; seek fresh air for pneumonia is found where it is forbidden. Work and sleep with the windows open.

Men have more of a tendency to the disease than women because of the additional exposure to impure air and hardships which they must endure. Alcoholism is a factor in many cases. The man who indulges in much alcohol is apt to reduce his power of resistance and thereby become susceptible.

Great fatigue should be avoided if possible for it is a predisposing factor in lessening the natural resistance to this and other disease. If you are exposed to rough weather and get wet and cold, take a rub down with a coarse towel and change to dry clothing. Above all avoid stuffy ill-ventilated places where crowds congregate. Many people consider it impossible to follow this advice at this season of the year when the holiday rush is on. Because it is or seems to be impossible for thousands of our workers to observe these precautions, the grim figures will head the mortality tables for December.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

Forty-nine new members were added. Three young peoples societies were organized, each rendering a most acceptable report. The attendance at prayer meeting has been more than doubled. The benevolence amounted to $1,060 while the expenditures of the church amounted to $449.8. Susquehanna wishes to congratulate the pastor on his splendid success and extend best wishes for another successful year.

Rev. M. Arthur Spotts, former pastor of St. Mark's church, Pittsburgh, has taken charge of his new work as pastor of St. Mark's church, Trenton, N. J. Dr. F. P. Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Y. M. C. A. still sways the ruling sceptre, as was proven Tuesday evening by having Rev. Drumheller with us. The talk was brief and to the point and not on account of mere form but on account of deep interest the attentive audience drank in the stimulating substance so eloquently and forcibly spoken from the theme "Sincerity in Relation to College Life."

Rev. Drumheller emphasized the fact that our body is the temple of our soul and since it is placed in our care we must see that nothing pollutes it that would make it a displeasing receptacle. Let us build up our bodies like men. And again—the outside world is going to ask: is he a good, clean, honest fellow, and above all, a good student? So let us build up our mental selves sincerely. Honesty in work cannot help but develop good moral traits. But religion is the deepest thing in life. You ask yourself—"What am I in the world?" Then test yourself. Face a doubt honestly and try to get at the truth. The future of the country and church depends upon college men. So build characters without flaws and when the sunlight of truth falls upon you, you will prove sincere.

Prayer meetings are being held each evening in the Y. M. C. A. room and will continue until the end of the term. These meetings will benefit you even though you are not preparing for deputation work. Take time to be holy and get nearer to the Master.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Frederick Walter Solbrig, known in the University of Pennsylvania Dental School as an operator and mechanic of exceptional skill, was killed at Rheims on October 1, while fighting in the German army. He was educated at Leipzig.

The management of the Warburg College, Clinton, Iowa, has at last disregarded precedent and instead of having chapel services conducted in the German has substituted the English three times a week. This change seems to be very agreeable to the student body and an entire substitution is wished for.

The members of the Senior class of Muhlenberg College have unanimously condemned the custom of carrying canes, a past prerogative accorded to Seniors. The custom was characterized as "undemocratic and effeminate." Gettysburg's Student Council enacted a decree establishing a day in each semester known as "Take It Back Day." The purpose, as the name indicates, is that all students who borrow articles from neighbors and who forget to return them shall do the same on that day. The first day this ruling took place was Saturday, December 12.

There seems to be a mutual lament about the halls of Bucknell. It is occasioned by the passing of her peerless backfield of her football team. With graduation this part of the machine passes into oblivion; only the memory of it remains. She is compelled to give up the veteran Topham, Gdanic and Kelsner, three stars, the backbone of the team.

Founders' Day will be observed at Ursinus February 11. In addition to the regular events, the excellent features of their Platform Meetings, previously held between semesters for the purpose of considering current topics in the world's affairs, will be annexed. Several prominent personages will speak.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Heavy snows and rains during the past week have remedied the extreme scarcity of water which has been menacing Pennsylvania for several months.

President Aikens announced last week that college would close for the Christmas vacation Friday, December 18th, in place of Wednesday, December 23rd, as catalogued.

Susquehanna's basket ball schedule as printed last week was erroneous in the fact that the Muhlenberg game at Allentown on February 20th, was omitted.

Alumni gymnasium has been without heat for several days past on account of the bursting of the supply pipe.

Dr. A. H. Spangler, of Yeagertown, spent Monday and Tuesday as the guest of President Aikens at his College avenue home.

Following were chosen as officers of the recently elected athletic board:—President, C. W. Shaeffer; Secretary, A. F. Klepfer; Treasurer, Prof. E. P. Somes.

Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, of the Conservatory of Music, was one of the soloists at the Elks' Memorial service in the Chestnut Street Opera House at Sunbury Sunday, December 6th.

Rev. J. D. Curran, of the African Mission fields, presented quite a number of very excellent curios to the college Museum last week. Among the collection are to be found, elephant tusks, native daggers and knives, monkey skins, shells, African Chiefs' dress and different varieties of venomous reptiles. Faculty and student body of Susquehanna thoroughly appreciate Rev. Curran's thoughtfulness and extend to him their hearty thanks for his interesting and educational contribution.

With the Chautauqua over and examinations at hand, next will be a call for all hands on deck to give a rousing reception to the Royal American Bird.

A. G. Whipple, representing The Hammond Typewriter Company, visited prospective customers at college last week.

Susquehanna had a taste of what might have been a costly conflagration last week when the laundry was endangered. The big, green fire plug presents a very nice appearance and gives one a feeling of help at hand, but is there sufficient hose around the premises to reach from this plug to any one of the buildings? This is a serious matter and should be looked after by the authorities at once. In case of fire, without a goodly length of hose, the plug would be virtually useless and not a single efficient means of fighting fire would be at hand.

MASTER LITERATURISTS ARE DISCUSSED IN CHAUTAUQUA

Miss Hamilton's Lectures on Burns, Lowell and Riley Appreciated

During the three days of the Lecture Lyceum course held in Selinsgrove, Miss Hamilton, the able director of this splendid Chautauqua company, gave three very inspiring and instructive lectures on "Burns, the People's Poet," "Lowell and the American Idea," and "Riley and the Middle West."

In her lecture on Robert Burns, Miss Hamilton endeavored to vindicate the Scottish bard from the harsh criticism of the modern literary world. She said that we should not judge Burns by twentieth century ideals because he belonged to the semi-barbarous and licentious age of the middle of the eighteenth century when social institutions, which today are universally condemned, were popular among all classes.

She also stated that this favorite among the Scots was not the heretic most people think him to have been, and proved her point by repeating the poet's prayer for forgiveness which is beautiful because of its sincerity and humble simplicity.

The lecturer gave an account of his youth and early hardships, of his love of nature exemplified by his poem "To a Little Field Mouse," and of his poetic insight into the Scottish home. She gave extracts from "The Cotter's Saturday Night" and "A Man's Man for all That" which were filled with touching pathos. Miss Hamilton referred to Burns as the people's poet, and one of the first apostles of democracy. Following this train of thought she also made incidental reference to the advance of democracy, the nineteenth century opening with two republics and closing with only two great monarchies, Turkey and Russia.

Lowell and the American Idea

"Lowell and the American Idea" was the subject of the second of Miss Hamilton's lectures on the American poets. She opened the lecture by pointing out two menaces to the American people, the one being mental dissipation caused by reading worthless novels, digesting everything found in newspapers, and forgetting the higher values of education, and the other menace being a nervous regard for the ills of the body which oftentimes results in the excessive use of patent medicines or harmful drugs.

During her visit to Lowell's old home at Elmwood, Mass., Miss Hamilton learned the true reason for the poet's great love for nature. Here she found his house surrounded by extensive lawns and numerous varieties of beautiful flowers and trees which apparently had made a profound impression on his poetic nature.

Lowell was one of the first statesmen of America to truly represent American democracy in England where he was sent as an ambassador from the United States.

Although Lowell might be styled a typical New Englander with his many English notions and conservative ideas yet in the main he did not follow their established customs. He did not believe in boasting of their Puritanic descent because he thought it would have a tendency to make them look to the past instead of to the future.

Miss Hamilton very effectively quoted from Lowell's poem beginning "New occasions teach new duties"

COLLEGE NOTES

Gortner '16, spent the week-end with his grandparents at Cowan.

Ard '15, visited friends at DuBois during the Christmas vacation.

D. J. Wetzel, a senior in Franklin and Marshall seminary at Lancaster, called on Gross '15, and other friends here on Thursday.

Miller '15, visited friends in Maryland before going to his home in Mercer county during vacation period.

Huntington '17, was unexpectedly called home at the close of last term when his brother Paul was fatally injured in a freight wreck on the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad. This younger brother was riding in the cab of a freight train by permission of one of the trainmen, when the train was run into by another freight in a rear-end collision. Susquehanna students take this opportunity to express their sympathy to their college-mate.

Himes '16, was entertained for a short time at Montgomery before going to his home at Brookville for the Christmas vacation.

Swoope '16, continued his basketball training during the vacation by playing several games with the All-Collegians of Altoona.

Harpster '15, succeeded in bagging some small game on several hunting expeditions while at home.

Brown '15, spent the forepart of his vacation period clerking in Marx Brothers' store in Sunbury.

Danowsky '15, visited friends at Hanover last week.

Grossman '16, Frey '15, Harman '16, and Swoope '16, remained at the college several days at the close of last term preparing the "Lantern" which will be published next spring.

Zimmerman entertained his brothers Norwood and Oscar, of Elizabethtown, on Saturday.

Members of the Lebanon Valley Glee Club, which sang at Sunbury on Friday evening, were seen on our campus on Saturday.

CONSERVATORY NOTES

Susquehanna is especially fortunate in having secured Miss Rebecca Davidson for a piano recital. The event should prove of interest to the entire student body, and of great educational value to the music students. According to some of her European press notices, her playing of Chopin is something to be remembered.

Prof. Brower has received a letter from Miss Davidson in which she says she is looking forward with much pleasure to her engagement at Susquehanna. The recital will be at 8:15, Thursday evening, January 21st. The program will be announced in detail later.

Miss McCool spent Saturday and Sunday with her friend Miss Beulah Rathon, of Middleburg.

(Continued from preceding column) and "What is so rare as a day in June." Extracts from "The Vision of Sir Launfal" were explained and in various ways the audience was given a clearer insight into the poetry of this great American bard. She stated that Lowell got much of his inspiration from the English poet Wordsworth and in conclusion showed that this master of poetry was a lover of peace and predicted that the dawn of universal peace was already at hand.

GET YOUR SEASON TICKET

Susquehanna will open the 1915 basketball season in Alumni gymnasium Friday evening January 15 when Albright will be met. Season tickets covering the six home games can be secured for $1.50 from Manager Ard. All holders of season tickets can have same checked off for the entire season by being present when the board opens at S. Wels and Sons store at 1 o'clock Wednesday, January 13. The seat which you reserve at this time can be held for the six games without the bother of rechecking each time.

Every student must present his or her Athletic Association ticket in order to gain free entrance to the games. Seats for the girls will be reserved for the entire season on Tuesday, January 12 at 1 o'clock in Seibert Hall. In order to have the place reserved each girl must show the A. A. ticket and this cannot be secured until after you have registered in the University office. Register at once so that the tickets can be filled out.

As was the custom last season the male students, regardless of class standing, will occupy the bleachers and in this way systematized cheering and yells can be produced. If you desire to gain free entrance to the game Friday night it is necessary that you register at the office at once, so that the tickets can be assigned. Those registering later than Thursday noon will not get their tickets in time for the first game and therefore will not be able to gain free admittance. It is not necessary for the fellows to have seats checked off as they may occupy any position on the bleachers.

RESERVES GO TO BERWICK

The game at Berwick on next Wednesday, with the strong High School team of that place, will be the opening of the basketball season for the Reserves.

Y. M. C. A.

With the beginning of a new year the spirit of progressivism has so penetrated and saturated the association that at a cabinet meeting last Thursday evening plans were completed for the fitting out of new rooms. In all probability this is the largest step ever taken by the Y. M. C. A. at Susquehanna.

The little room on third floor has already been vacated and "sod" broken for more suitable ones on first floor. The rooms when completed will give a homelike appearance and every man at S. U. will feel that they are for him.

The association has determined that this work shall be a success. It means hard work but "He who falls to plow by reason of storm shall wait at harvest time." So let us co-operate with each other in this wonderful undertaking and make the Y. M. C. A. a living organization at S. U.

PHILO

Not every man can become a leader of an army and command the obedience of a large number of men; not every man can amass wealth and thus command service; not every man can attain prominence and thus be honored by his fellow-men. These things are attained by but few; but today the greatness of our country depends not simply on the few but on the mass. He that can govern his own body with all its passions and lusts is then truly able to lead men; he that develops his intellect, so that he can see and understand God's workings and even his mysteries has acquired more than millions of money; and he that acquires the power to transmit to others his thoughts and plans has attained a prominence that shall only be measured by eternity. Christianity with its regenerating and preserving powers help man to accomplish the first of these; education is the means to attain the second; and the literary society is the place to acquire the power in the third.

After several weeks of inactivity, due to the vacation period, Philo has again thrown open her doors and resumed her accustomed work. Although we regret that all such periods of idleness detract from the interest that should be manifested in our literary work, still our meeting of last Friday evening showed that Philo had in no way suffered harm from the short period of rest.

The program in every respect was well prepared and equally well rendered. An essay "A Freshman's Life" by Miss Holsbue very ably portrayed the pleasures and trials of the Green Cap Knights. In a declamation "The King's Pardon" Miss Gertrude Weaver graphically told a story of thrilling times in the old Virginia Colony in 1677. Miss Kautz in a very pleasing manner rendered the "Kingdom of Love"—a vocal solo of the highest grade. In Current News Miss Reark gave an excellent summary of the world's events during the past week. This was followed by a select reading by Mr. Grove, his title being "Riches From Poverty." The debate "Resolved: That Pennsylvania is ready for Woman Suffrage" was timely and strongly contested. The Misses McCormick and Fetterolf carried the affirmative to victory while Messrs. Hinkelman and Teichert defended the negative. Miss Catherine Weaver and Mr. Frey, being called upon to speak extemporaneously, both entertained the society for a few minutes.

The several new members who appeared this time for the first on Philo's rostrum are to be especially commended upon the manner in which they took up their Literary work and rendered their respective parts. With such material to count on, the future for Philo is indeed bright in prospect; let us all strive to make it so in reality.

(Continued from preceding column) dputation team work during the "Xmas recess but owing to the fact that the towns to which they were to have gone cancelled at the last moment, no work was done. However, these men will be in readiness at any time to do week-end work, and it is the desire of the association that at least ten men go into the field over Easter vacation.

The Y. M. C. A. jumped up another notch in its struggle for a greater Susquehanna when it took the initiative step in helping to solve the problem which has long confronted our college life. For many years it has been acknowledged that Susquehanna lacked sufficient environment by which sociability and good fellowship could be nurtured among our student body. Any American youth with the required amount of good red blood in him must have a place to spend his restless moments. We are well equipped with that environment for developing the religious and educational side of our natures but that social side which is a part of every nature has been left to outside influences. As a consequence we will find that very often fellows desiring a bit of a good time will go to the public pool room, or perhaps be found indulging in a secret game of cards, behind barred doors and covered windows. Such influences as these are not the kind that stand for character and moral development.

The Y. M. C. A. has always been a potent factor in the life at Susquehanna, but long since the association has felt the need of offering some material inducement to new students, so after considerable thought the members at a business meeting resolved upon the following plan, which is being carried to a successful culmination.

The three rooms on the first floor, facing the campus and the chapel, are to be thrown into one. They will be fitted up into the form of a joint Y. M. C. A. and club room. There will be a reading table on which popular magazines will be found, cozy corners, easy chairs, a piano and everything to make it as homelike and comfortable as possible. Here will be a place where the fellows can congregate and talk over their joys and sorrows together. It is to be a place where good fellowship exists, and when entering it all jealousies and troubles are to be left on the outside. It will not be as elaborate as the Houston Club of the University of Pennsylvania but it will be a starter and marks the beginning of a new era in our student life. It will be open to all, for every one should be a member of the Y. M. C. A., we are going to have a real Y. M. C. A. and need the co-operation of every undergraduate, faculty member and alumnus of our institution.

This is by no means a little undertaking on the part of the Y. M. C. A. What it needs now is lots of boosting, no knocking and real cash. It will take some money to put this undertaking thru and will mean any amount of hard work to get it. If you are an alumnus and still have a kindly feeling in your heart for your Alma Mater and would like to see the fellows of today and tomorrow enjoy what you have missed, prove it, by mailing your check to the Y. M. C. A., and you will find some very appreciative receivers of your gift. If you are an undergraduate and do not belong to the Y. M. C. A., join it, be a good fellow and do what you can to make your own and the condition of others more agreeable. Susquehanna is in line for better things, so let every one join the movement to make our college days more pleasant, and the memory of them, when we have become members of the alumnus, more endearing.

EDITORIALS

—After a pleasant Christmas vacation the editorial staff return to their work glad to greet "The Susquehanna's" many readers at the beginning of this new year.

—"Harmony" is a subject that some classes might find profitable to have placed in their curriculum.

—In her first Intercollegiate basketball contest of the season next Friday evening, Susquehanna plays one of her hardest games, when they meet Captain Benfer and his four assistants on the home floor.

Y. M. C. A.

A new spirit is being manifested in the Y. M. C. A.,—a spirit which savors of activity and usefulness. For years the Association has served as a restraining influence in moral conditions around the institution. Many times young men have been prevented from following wayward paths, as they enter the new life which attendance at college brings to them, only by the power of this religious organization.

But now the association is attempting to do work of a different nature. They seek to accomplish something which will have a tinge of material benefit for every male student in the University. A new room is to be made for Y. M. C. A. work. This room is to occupy one quarter of the first floor of Selingsgrove Hall and is to be used as a reading room for the fellows. Such a room would supply a long-felt want and every possible encouragement should be given the Association in its endeavor.

Whether we be members of the Y. M. C. A. or not, let us remember that this is a work which will be beneficial to the institution as a whole. Everyone will be at liberty to use this room after its completion, so why should not everyone help in the work which is required in its preparation. You will be given an opportunity sooner or later to assist in the work in some way. Do not fail to do your share.

THE NEW YEAR

The New Year with its joys and its hopes is again upon us. We are reminded that the morning of another of life's days has dawned for us, and if we would make the most of this period of time we must "be up and doing," ready to take advantage of the opportunities which it may bring to us, as well as to be prepared to surmount all obstacles which this new year may disclose to us as we travel on our upward way.

Complacently we may look back over the past year feeling that we have done all that could be expected of us as students. We have made progress in our classroom work, we have assisted in various college activities, and we have attempted to further the interests of this institution in many ways, yet when we carefully reflect we cannot help but see many places where we have failed to do our best in last year's field of action.

In our classroom work we may have been satisfied with partial success, we may have sought a goal too easily attained. In every institution of learning two classes of students are to be found: those who are never satisfied with their own efforts, who believe they themselves can attain unto perfection because others have reached that standard, and those who are simply drifters. If you belong to the first class you are bound to succeed in life and this new year can have naught but good fortune in store for you. Perhaps you may realize your position as a drifter. You may have fully intended breaking away from your old ways at the beginning of this scholastic year. You may have resolved to abandon your aimless methods of work, but the return to old environment and old associates has brought with it a return to old habits so that as you near the middle of this scholastic year you may find yourself still drifting, having accomplished nothing that is really helpful to yourself or to those about you.

Then, too, have you always done your duty in performing the things which come to you from time to time as a member of various organizations about the college? Have you realized that in the performance of these duties you are working not only for the welfare of the institution of which you are a part, but you are likewise receiving training which will be of utmost benefit to you individually?

As we stand on the threshold of this new year let us be fair to ourselves and confess wherein we have failed in the past. Let us profit by these failures so that when we come to the end of this year, which has now just begun, we may look retrospectively with less of regret and more of pleasure than we have ever done in the past.

Remember that "each day, each hour and each moment is a jewel that we may set in our eternal crown." Let us therefore avoid idleness and selfishness in the future and endeavor to make 1915 a year of usefulness and service.

PROHIBITION LEAGUE MEETS

At the last meeting of the Prohibition League matters relative to the future work of the League and the studying of the lessons outlined in the Inter-Collegiate Statesman were taken up and discussed informally. Much enthusiasm was shown by the few present and the work bids fair to be a success the coming year.

It is a well known fact that at every turn we face the liquor problem and this initial battle must be won, for it is but a preliminary to battles that must be fought when it has been consigned to the scrap heap. This is a problem, the result of which will this year wreck our Nation or build up a higher civilization. The saloon must be thrown out; therefore the new watchword—"Above everything else we seek the common good."

Our own State, of which we are all so proud, is down on the list as one ruled by King Alcohol and still we are content to sit back and look idly upon the corruption and vice going on in our own back yards, caused by nothing else than a wine glass. Yes, even many who profess Christianity sign for liquor license and at the same time have their names on the church roll. One aim of the League at Susquehanna is to prepare men to meet such people and make clear to them that they cannot play a double game. And so, with the help of God old Pennsylvania will be made into a solid Keystone instead of a crumbling shell.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. O. E. Sunday '06 and '09, pastor of the Lutheran church at Espy, Pa., was the recipient of many Christmas gifts from the members of his congregation. The church at Espy presented him with a well filled purse, while the other churches expressed themselves with personal gifts, making the season most joyous for pastor and family.

Rev. W. R. Fitzgerald '11 and '14, was installed pastor of Grace church, Wilkes-Barre, last month by Rev. F. P. Manhart, D. D. The outlook for this important field is much improved and we are glad to note the good work done in the past few months.

Mr. F. J. Schoch, of Selinsgrove, Pa., died on Dec. 24, 1914. He was active in the founding of Missionary institute in 1858, and was for years a trustee and a liberal supporter of that institution. He was widely known as a business man and a prominent member of Trinity Lutheran church, Selinsgrove.

Rev. M. A. Spotts '08 and '11, was installed pastor of the St. Mark's church, Trenton, N. J. The charge to the pastor was delivered by Rev. C. R. Meyers, '09, of Philadelphia. He will begin his labors under happy conditions. The people with renewed energy have taken up the work of the church.

Frank S. Follmer '12, who is employed as chemist at Philadelphia, was called home on account of the death of his grandfather, F. J. Schoch.

Latimer S. Landis '11, who is at present pursuing a course of study at the Jefferson Medical College, spent his vacation with his parents in Selinsgrove.

Rev. W. A. H. Streamer Sem. '10, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church at Saxton, was given a reception by the members of his congregation on New Year. The people gave him a large donation which made the front room of his parsonage look like a company store on the evening before delivery day. A fitting climax were the good wishes extended for 1915.

Miss Marguerite D. Potter '10, teacher in the High School at Middletown, Pa., was a visitor in Selinsgrove at the home of her mother during the Christmas vacation.

Rev. John Reish '11 and '14, was installed last month as pastor of the Loganton charge, Dr. C. T. Aikens and Dr. A. C. Spangler, officiating. The pastorate seems to be in a prosperous condition, and Pastor Reish has won the hearts of all the people. The Susquehanna extends best wishes to the pastor and people.

Miss Catherine R. Schoch C. of M. '11, now pursuing a course of music at Peabody Institute, spent the Christmas holidays at the family home in Selinsgrove.

Miss Mary E. Burns '07, a student in the Woman's Medical College of Philadelphia, spent her vacation in Selinsgrove. Miss Burns is quite enthusiastic over her work in quest of an M. D. degree.

Rev. A. C. Curran '08 and '11, pastor of St. John's Mission, Glasport, Pa., on the evening of Dec. 15, dedicated a pipe organ, an altar and a lectern. Good reports come to us from this field. Counting all improvements made, the entire plant does not cost over six thousand dollars while it is worth twelve thousand dollars at any time. We congratulate pastor and people on their splendid success.

F. S. Wangenseller '03, who has built up an extensive law practice in Grove City, Pa., was called to Selinsgrove on account of the death of his grandfather F. J. Schoch. He also visited at the home of his parents and his numerous friends here.

D. E. Ditzler '14, instructor of mathematics in the Phoenixville High School, spent several days in Selinsgrove visiting friends.

Dr. T. C. Houtz '87 and wife have returned to Selinsgrove after a pleasant visit with their son-in-law, Rev. Charles Lambert '04, pastor of the Lutheran church at Bellewood, Pa. Miss Edith D. Potter '02, a member of the faculty of Columbia College, Florida, has returned to her work after spending her vacation with her mother in Selinsgrove.

An announcement has been received from San Jose, Cal., of the engagement of Miss Lillian Chestnut '13, formerly of Sunbury, to John Fleischer, of San Francisco.

Dr. J. I. Woodruff '88, attended the meeting of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association at Harrisburg.

Dr. T. B. Birch, of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, spent several days with friends last week. Dr. Birch is Professor of philosophy in Wittenberg College. He made many friends here while Professor of Latin in Susquehanna from 1902 to 1905.

Prof. Claude Mitchell '12, principal of the Defiance High School, spent several days last week in Middleburg.

Prof. E. M. Brungart '00, principal of the Academy, spent several days during the holidays with relatives in Ellysburg.

Miss Esther Phillips, C. of M. '13, a teacher of music in a college at Mt. Pleasant, N. C., spent her Christmas vacation in Selinsgrove. She is meeting with much success.

Rev. F. J. Matter '97, pastor of the Lutheran church at Evert, returned to Selinsgrove and renewed old acquaintances. He is accomplishing a good work in his ministerial field.

Rev. M. M. Albeck '94 and '97, held dedication services in the Grace church, Monongahela, Dec. 13th. Dr. Wolf and Dr. Hay were the orators of the day and preached to good audiences. Since the dedication of the new church the attendance shows a fine increase. The Sabbath School closed the best year in its history.

Rev. C. R. Botsford '98, pastor of the Holy Trinity church at Berwick, reports the pastor and people enjoying a delightful Christmas season. Special services were held throughout the day. The debt upon the church at present is $450 and with the help of God they hope to clear the debt on the 17th of January. Jan. 24th has been set aside as the day of jubilee.

Rev. Isaac Kreider '78, pastor of the Duncanville Lutheran church for 25 years, was presented with a purse of money in recognition of his faithful service.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

On Dec. 26 Grove City College was damaged to the extent of $2,000 by a blaze in the chemical laboratory. It was found necessary to suspend the chemistry course for the remainder of the term because of loss of apparatus.

On account of a considerable number of fires and inadequate and unorganized means for combating them the management of Penn State has purchased a chemical cart and is making an effort to organize a student fire department. This will eliminate much unnecessary confusion and disorder, for at the present time when a fire alarm is given all classes are dismissed and all students become fire fighters.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

President Aikens made a business trip to York Saturday.

Several new janitors have been employed to take charge of the heat plant and the various buildings during the winter season.

Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, with Prof. Grover Brower as accompanist, will give a recital at Middleburg Saturday evening, January 16th.

Basketball will open at Susquehanna Friday evening, January 15, when the Orange and Maroon will meet the Albright five. Board will open Wednesday at 1 o'clock at S. Weis & Sons store. Season tickets for the series of six games can be secured from Manager Ard for $1.50.

Prof. N. N. Keener, after spending a few days of the Christmas vacation at his home in Wilkesburg, filled engagements throughout southern Pennsylvania as a reader and entertainer. Friday, January 8 marked the one hundredth anniversary of the battle of New Orleans. In commemoration of the bloody conflict Old Glory occupied a prominent place in the chapel exercises and during the day floated proudly from the top of the newly erected 90-foot flag pole.

Coach Keltner was entertained at Allentown. Myerstown and Reading over the holidays. In the latter city he attended several Eastern league basketball games.

During the extreme cold weather in the latter part of December the water pipes in the laundry, Selbert Hall, and President Aikens' residence burst, and as a result much damage was caused to plaster and interior decorations.

Prof. Charles Michael Fry, who was the director of the Violin department of the Conservatory of Music last year and is now traveling as violinist with the Fry-Harris Concert Company under the direction of the Forrester Lyceum Bureau, of Elmira, N. Y., visited friends at college Thursday and Friday.

Dr. George E. Fisher, head of the Department of Natural Sciences, gave a talk on "Geology, a Factor in Determining the History of Pennsylvania," before the January meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the home of Mrs. H. Harvey Schoch Monday.

Prof. J. F. Faust, of the Academy, spent several days of the holiday recess with friends in Dubois.

With the influx of new students at the opening of the winter term, all the rooms have been taken in Selingsgrove Hall and the fourth floor is being fitted out for sleeping quarters.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year to all our friends is the wish of The Susquehanna. With the new year come various obligations for the business manager of this paper to meet. All those persons owing any money to The Susquehanna would greatly oblige the staff by forwarding same as soon as possible.

Since the winter term has opened the electric light bulbs have been mysteriously disappearing from the halls and different places around the buildings. When the small size bulbs were used numerous complaints were heard on account of there not being sufficient light. Now, when Registrar Horton has had larger bulbs put in use, some person or persons have been stealing them and as a result, about half the time, there is no illumination at all. It is to be hoped that the persons will cease their activities along this line and if necessary, follow their natural bent and ply their trade in some other place than the boys' dormitory.

NORTH AMERICAN'S SPORTING EDITOR TO LECTURE HERE

Sport's Science to be Theme of George M. Graham Following Lafayette Fray

Manager W. P. Ard has secured George M. Graham, Sporting Editor of The North American and President of the Tri-State Baseball League, to deliver his famous lecture on "Sports Science" in Seibert Hall immediately after the Lafayette basketball game Monday evening, January 25. There will be no admission charged for this lecture and the Faculty, student body, and townspeople are invited to attend.

Mr. Graham is one of the most widely known characters in the world of sports, and his newspaper articles are read and copied from coast to coast. As an authority on athletics, baseball especially, he is considered among the foremost, and his highly educational and entertaining lectures along these lines have made him famous. Susquehanna is extremely fortunate in having the opportunity to listen to one who is so well known as a friend of the colleges, and universally recognized as a master at analyzing the college athlete.

Various lectures along different lines have been delivered from time to time at Susquehanna, but the students have never been treated to anything like that which they may anticipate to be delivered by Mr. Graham.

His talk will deal with the demands made on athletes to emphasize the mental side as well as the physical in their work. He will tell a number of stories about foot ball, base ball and sporting celebrities in general, and the whole entertainment will be clean and suitable for the attendance of women as well as men. Mr. Graham, in his correspondence with manager Ard, has requested that this fact be particularly emphasized,—that his talk will be clean and wholesome and just as much designed for the attendance of women as for men.

By special arrangement this high class lecture will be absolutely free, the student body having paid the fee in advance, and so every person is urged to attend and give Mr. Graham a large and appreciative audience. To have a man like George M. Graham, who heads his department in a paper the size and high class of The North American, pay the University a visit is an honor of which Susquehanna can feel justly proud. Let every student and friend of the institution be present at this talk on Monday evening, January 25th, at 8.15 P. M. and give a rousing reception to Mr. Graham on his first visit to Susquehanna.

ARE YOU GOING WITH THE TEAM TO BUCKNELL WEDNESDAY?

"On to Bucknell" is the slogan of the entire student body and high hopes are being entertained for a victory over the Orange and Blue at Lewisburg Wednesday. Coach Kelnher has been using telling drills with the Susquehanna squad and a general shake-up in the team is expected. Not being satisfied with the showing made against Albright, Kelnher will no doubt rearrange his men so that a different combination will meet the Bucknellians Wednesday in what, undoubtedly, will be a closely contested game.

Special arrangements have been made with the Trolley company whereby a special car will wait for the arrival of the 12.48 train on the Reading. This plan will enable all persons who accompany the team to return to Selinsgrove the same night. In order that ample accommodations are provided for, it is requested that all those who intend going with the team to Lewisburg notify Manager Ard as soon as possible, so that if more than one car is needed the same can be chartered in time.

RESERVES LOSE FIRST GAME

Susquehanna's Reserve basketball team played their first game of the season on Wednesday evening when they lost to the strong Berwick High School team at Berwick, 23-13. Lauer did some excellent floor work for the reserves but through lack of offensiveness on the part of the rest of the team little scoring was done. Harmon and Nichols guarded well and prevented the High School boys from extensive scoring. Possinger, at forward, scored a majority of the points for Berwick.

The Sophomores and Tau Phi Sigma Fraternity of Sunbury played a game of basketball on Thursday evening which ended in a tie score, 28-28, after an extra five-minute period of play. The game was hotly contested from start to finish. Though outplaying their opponents in every department of the game, the '17 men were held to a tie score because of the many fouls called on them.

LAFAYETTE GAME EARLY

On account of the lecture of George M. Graham the basketball game with Lafayette will probably be called at 7 o'clock Monday, January 25 in place of 8. Watch the bills and further announcements for the correct time of both the game and the lecture.

CLIO

The cycle of a new year confronts us with renewed opportunities and possibilities, with queries into the conduct of the past and with determinations for greater achievements as the year speeds along. The advent also of a new scholastic term is no less auspicious and if we have been profited by former terms we can face our opportunities with a clearer vision and with greater assurance of success.

As a college community we are prone to ask what have been our opportunities, wherein our efforts have been successful, and wherein we have failed? At Susquehanna we are greatly favored in being able to attend an institution removed from the vicissitudes of larger colleges where the cord of penceful class and individual rivalry has developed into acrimonious jealousy. Here we are advantageous in having exclusive classroom instruction, in possessing unequalled opportunities for physical culture, and greatest of all the ability among our own student body to develop the indispensable.

ARTIST RECITAL SEASON TO OPEN AT SUSQUE THURSDAY

Miss Rebecca Davidson, Pianist, Will be Attraction in Seibert Hall

MISS REBECCA DAVIDSON

The piano recital by Miss Rebecca Davidson on Thursday night promises to be an event of unusual interest. It was not misplaced has been conclusively demonstrated by the successes that have attended her many concert appearances in Europe and the United States. Miss Davidson will present a very attractive program, including classical and modern works. Among the latter are some pieces by living composers of the French and Russian schools. She will also play Chopin's B flat minor Sonata, of which the slow movement is the famous Funeral March.

Four years ago the distinction fell to Miss Davidson, and that the honor was not misplaced has been conclusively demonstrated by the successes that have attended her many concert appearances in Europe and the United States.

Miss Davidson will present a very attractive program, including classical and modern works. Among the latter are some pieces by living composers of the French and Russian schools. She will also play Chopin's B flat minor Sonata, of which the slow movement is the famous Funeral March.

ALBRIGHT WINS FROM SUSQUE IN SEASON OPENING GAME

"Haps" Benfer Scored All But Eight of Visitor's Points, Score 43-21

Susquehanna's promising quintet tasted defeat Friday evening in their first intercollegiate basketball game of the season when Albright emerged victorious at the close of an interesting struggle by the score of 43-21. This was the first game played in the Central Pennsylvania Basketball League this season, and since Captain Benfer and his teammates were undisputed champions of the League last year, much interest was manifested. The bleachers were crowded with enthusiastic male students, who, under the leadership of Danowsky '15, Keammer '16 and Lutton '16, assisted the team as much as possible with cheers and songs. The gallery above was likewise taxed to its capacity, many of the spectators standing throughout the game, in order that they might see every play of the contesting teams.

"Haps" Benfer was the direct cause of Susquehanna's defeat. The tower of strength was responsible for enough points to have defeated the home team by a nice margin, while on the defensive he succeeded in preventing Susquehanna from extensive scoring.

Susquehanna's representatives started the game with determination, and for the first few minutes of play neither side gained any advantage, but the spectators' hopes that Benfer might be held in check were short-lived. Before the first ten minutes of play were ended Albright had secured a lead which the 'Varsity could not hope to overcome. The first half ended with Albright leading 24-7.

Despite this unfavorable outlook Susquehanna came back strong in the second half and, returning to their old style of play—the passing game,—succeeded in outplaying and outscoring their opponents in the early part of the second half. But this advantage was only for a short time. The Orange and Maroon men lacked the endurance to continue this rapid floor work throughout the contest, and were again compelled to play a defensive game.

Remembering that this was the 'Varsity's first contest, they performed some remarkable team-work. Captain Swoope played an aggressive game and won the laurels in shooting field goals. Middlesworth succeeded in scoring nine out of twenty fouls, while Benfer scored eleven points out of a possible twenty-five in this way.

The score:

Albright	position	Susque.
Brillhart	right forward	Shannon
Patschko	center	Witmer
Zinn	left guard	Middlesworth
Lutz	right guard	Swoope
(Walmer)

Field goals—Benfer, 12; Brillhart 3; Patschko, Swoope 5; Middlesworth. Goals from fouls—Benfer 11, Middlesworth 9. Referee—Taggart.

PROF. FILLION DELIGHTED AUDIENCE IN MIDDLEBURG

Violin Teacher Appeared Before Club in Countyseat Saturday Night

Prof. Ferdinand Fillion gave another of his artist recitals on Saturday evening, January 16th, at Middleburg. The one at Sunbury two months ago was so successful that some enterprising young ladies of Middleburg arranged for a similar one there, which was no less successful from an artistic point of view, than the first.

The concert opened with a wonderful rendition of Handel's E major Sonata. In this music of an age long since past there are qualities which will always endure it to performers and listeners alike. The quiet dignity of these old compositions, their freedom from the impassioned temper of more modern times, will appeal to everyone as long as sincerity in art is valued above mere technical display. Mr. Fillion showed unusual sympathy in his interpreting of this piece, playing it with a warmth which is too often lacking in compositions of this somewhat archaic style.

The next numbers were Chopin's C sharp minor Waltz and his B flat minor Scherzo. Mr. Fillion was handicapped by the fact that he had to play his piano numbers on an upright instrument, a grand being unavailable. This necessitated his choosing piano compositions of a comparatively light character. Both of the Chopin pieces were played with technical brilliancy and that indefinable element called "temperament" without which Chopin is nothing.

The well-known G minor violin concerto by Max Bruch followed. The fact that this composition is attempted by numberless students does not detract from its interest when rendered by a master of the instrument. It is a composition of the Modern Romantic school; one which is very popular with both amateurs and artists because of the grateful way in which it exploits every legitimate resource of the violin. Mr. Fillion had easy command over its difficulties, both technical and interpretative, and the enthusiasm which followed stamped it as one of the most satisfactory numbers of the evening.

Lack of space prevents us from mentioning in detail the other pieces, of which there were ten, eight for the violin and two for the piano. They were all shorter numbers, but exhibited the same versatility as that part of the program which we have mentioned, running from the Air on the G string by Bach to pieces by contemporary writers. Among them were two pieces by Edmund Severn, one of Mr. Fillion's former teachers. The program ended with a brilliant rendition of Hubay's Hejre Katl.

Prof. G. A. Brower furnished very able accompaniments in all the violin numbers.

THE STUDENT'S OPPORTUNITY

Civilization in its advancing course has experienced periods of restraint and direct opposition. Despite these many hindrances it has continued to progress steadily through the centuries of the recorded past, until today it stands as a symbol of national power and prosperity. To the elevating influence accruing from the high civilization which our own nation boasts, we can attribute the enviable position which the United States holds among the nations of the world.

But today this country of ours hesitates in taking a step, which for us would mean the ascent of one more rung in the ladder of civilization—that step is a declaration for nationwide prohibition.

Beyond a doubt, the century upon which we have just recently entered has in store for us more of revolution and change in almost every line of world activity than any equal period of the time through which the world has passed. This will especially be true in regard to the life of the saloon. The fight for its extermination is already on, and the solution to the problem lies entirely in the hands of the rising generation. Particularly does its solution rest with you who are now preparing yourselves intellectually to become leaders in the activities of the world.

Susquehanna now boasts a Prohibition League of more than sixty members. Once every month a meeting is held for the discussion of various phases of the liquor problem. In Prof. H. A. Allison, the League has procured the services of a leader who is conversant with this most important question in its every detail.

Yet, notwithstanding these many advantages, up to this time comparatively few have accepted this opportunity for preparing for the war which will be ours to fight in the next half-century. When you enter life's field of action you will be compelled to declare yourself concerning this great issue. Why not seek all the information possible when it is thus placed within your grasp?

Let us all give attention to this subject of nationwide prohibition, so that in later years we may appear in the front of the fray, not ignorant of our nation's needs, but ready to serve as a power for the extension of national progress.

—The work incident to the preparation of the new Y. M. C. A. rooms is progressing rapidly. Surely this association is on the job.

sable asset of public speaking. Now we shall speak of the latter only.

Beyond a doubt there are some among us who will disparage the value of a good literary training but to be sure there are some who have through negligence or fear failed to affiliate themselves with the work. When you enter life's work and beg your share of its benefits and successes, the world does not care to know how much money you spent in the course of your preparation but it demands proficiency. With the incentives of a new year and a new term as stimuli for greater plans and aims, take a moment to reflect and ascertain whether all your possible energies were directed into the proper channels for developing proficiency. Have you attended every session of the literary society that you possibly could? Have you performed in your best possible manner when asked to do so? And, when present, have you given the best possible attention to the program as rendered, not only as a courtesy to the speakers, but with a view of ascertaining wherein they excel and wherein they are deficient, hoping to profit thereby? In the halls of a literary society are developed those arts which are of the greatest value in whatever phase of life work you enter, and you cannot afford to spend four or more years in a college community without affiliating yourself with one or the other of these institutions of training.

Clio has fostered these ideals and extends them to you for the sake of your own welfare. Reflecting on the accomplishments of her labors of the past we find that her efforts were not extended in vain, but instead we find a steady progress of efficiency and peaceful association to which we can count the year just spent a fitting climax. Possibly greater interest was manifested in the work during the past year and especially during the past term than in any year previous. The attendance was excellent and the work upon the rostrum coupled with the efficient management by her officials has greatly raised the standard of Clio. However, no organization is so good but what it can still be improved and we find within Clio unlimited opportunities for development and expansion, and with this fact in mind let us all strive to further increase the usefulness of Clio so that when this year has been added to history we can say that 1915 has not found us wanting.

The first meeting of the year was held January eighth and it can be ascertained that the Christmas vacation has not caused a lull in Clio's work. The program was replete with good numbers and was enacted in a speedy manner thus adding zest and interest to the meeting. The essay by John Rine was well written and read in a clear and forceful manner. Miss Webb in her Select Oration ably depicted the horrors accruing from the use of intoxicating liquors. The select reading by Miss Grove, who appeared upon Clio's rostrum for the first time, was excellent. In debate Gross and Mohney supported the affirmative of the question "Resolved that the United States should increase the size of her army and navy," which was ably defended by Irwin and Dolbeer, the decision being given in favor of the affirmative. The music excellently rendered by Miss Groninger was highly appreciated. Bangson delivered his original oration concerning the efficacy of the Monroe Doctrine in a forcible manner, while Ard just as ably expressed the opportunities of Clio in the Extempore. Miss Walker appeared for the first time as Editor of the Herald gave us a highly appreciable paper.

Thus we have heralded Clio's 1915 opening and while we make no pretensions of prospects for the future yet we are optimistically hopeful that the welfare of Clio will be ever increasing.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. G. V. Stroup '72, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church at McAllisterville, Pa., has been sorely bereaved by the loss of his wife, who passed away December 12th in her fifty-ninth year.

Rev. H. F. Schrauder '03 and '06, pastor of the Newry charge at Newry, Pa., was given a surprise donation on December 31st by the members of his congregation. They came with many kind expressions of their best wishes for the new year. Besides the abundance of good things to eat, a comfortable and handsome rocker was presented to him.

Rev. H. M. Havice, pastor of the Lakeood mission in Cleveland, reports good work done. The mission is meeting with great success in all departments of the church work. During the year twenty-nine members have been added. The services are very well attended and at times over-crowded. He finds a joy and gladness in the work as the people are kind and good to him, working with him for the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

Dr. J. I. Woodruff '88, has filled the pulpit of the Williamstown Lutheran church the past two Sundays.

Claude G. Aikens '11, of Selingsgrove, made a business trip to Philadelphia last week.

Rev. William R. Rearick '94 and '97, pastor of the Lutheran church at Midlinburg, was given an increase in salary. The church is very prosperous.

Rev. W. H. Hilbish '92, was installed as pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at Sunbury on January 3rd by Rev. P. P. Manhart, D. D., president of Susquehanna Synod.

Rev. J. I. Stoncepher '93, pastor of the Lutheran church at Boalsburg, Pa., has made a number of improvements in his church. Among them is an electric lighting system which has been installed and was used on Christmas evening for the first time.

Rev. H. E. Harmon '01, pastor of Bethany church at New Castle, Pa., rejoices with his people in having reached one of the mountain top experiences in a mission's life when they celebrated the tenth anniversary of the organization of the congregation. At the same time they succeeded in making the last payment on their debt. During the three years of Rev. Harmon's pastorate there has been added to the membership of the church one hundred and ten persons, and two hundred have been added to the Sunday School. The church is realizing great activity and we wish the pastor and people God's blessing in their work.

Rev. H. C. Michael has experienced a very successful year in his pastorate at Northumberland. He reports an addition of one hundred and four members in his church. His salary has recently been increased two hundred dollars per year.

THEOLOG DEPARTMENT

Dr. J. I. Woodruff filled the pulpit of our charge at Williamstown, Sunday, Jan. 10. This charge was served until recently by Rev. Calvin Fassold.

Dr. David Bittle Floyd suffered a bad fall upon the ice last week, injuring his right arm so severely that he has not been able to use it since.

The "Lantern" picture of the department was taken last Wednesday afternoon by Times '16, of the college. Irvin '15, supplied the pulpit of the Liverpool charge Sunday, Jan. 10, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Romig.

Dale '15, occupied the pulpit of our church at Tyrone, Sunday, Jan. 10th. Stahl '15, is supplying the Beaver-town charge regularly.

Luboid '16, supplied for Rev. J. B. Gurney, of Mountoursville, at the St. James church in Muddy Creek charge Jan. 10th.

Shaeffer '16, during the vacation period relieved his father, Rev. J. W. Shaeffer, pastor of our church at Homer City, Pa.

Schreiner '16, has taken up work in the Commercial Department, in connection with his regular work in Theology.

COLLEGE NOTES

Rine '16, accompanied by Seller, of the Commercial Department, attended the Automobile Show in Philadelphia last week.

Rothfuss '18, entertained his two brothers, Paul and Reuben, over the week-end. The former was a student in the Academy last year.

Gross '15, again visited friends in York for several days.

Hilbish '17, was unfortunate enough to receive a broken nose in the Sophomore-Tau Phi Sigma game at Sunbury on Thursday evening.

Maroon and white pennants have just been received by the Freshmen, while the girls of that class have shown their spirit by purchasing caps in those colors.

Ard '15, was entertained on Sunday at the home of M. S. Schoch '06, of Selingsgrove.

Huntington '17, had the ligaments torn in his wrist while engaging in basketball practice on Wednesday evening.

Danowsky '15, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home at Mazeppa.

Catherine Weaver '15, again visited her parents at her home in Philadelphia.

McCormick '16, enjoyed a week-end visit at Beaverstown with her sister, Mrs. Max Kearns, and other friends.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Dean Shaler Matthews of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago will leave this month for Japan where he will give lectures to the Protestant churches of Japan under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, of which he is president. Recently he was given the degree of Doctor of Laws by Gettysburg College.

The School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania offers a special course for licensed veterinarians extending over one week beginning January 25. The course will consist of lectures.

Class banquets are becoming a thing of the past at Penn State. At one time these affairs were "hailed with delight," but of recent years there has been a growing tendency of indifference toward this function, and their discontinuance is soon to be expected.

Gettysburg College can boast of having two oldest alumni that are on college records. They are Rev. William Gearhart, of Martinsburg, W. Va. '97, and Rev. William F. Eyster, D. D., of Crete, Neb. '93. Eyster was graduated in 1839, a graduate of 75 years and Gearhart in 1841, a college man for 73 years.

Student government is being tested at Gettysburg. Whether it will survive or not is a question.

ACADEMY NOTES

Cassler, Dottiger, and Ricker showed their interest in the Reserve basketball team by accompanying them to Berwick on Wednesday evening where they were defeated by the High School.

We are very glad to welcome the Academy students of last term again, and kindly receive the new students who have just entered this department. The following new students are taking work in the Academy: James B. Lingle, of Centre Hall, who took work at Mercersburg Academy last term; Frank S. Troup, of Mt. Pleasant Mills, a former student here who was prevented from entering at the beginning of the academic year on account of sickness, and Rufus J. Himes, of

Y. M. C. A.

On account of the old room being abandoned and the new rooms not yet completed Y. M. C. A. meeting was held in the chapel on Tuesday evening. Mr. Barnes, Secretary of the R. Y. M. C. A., of Sunbury, talked on "The Seven Steps to the Christian Life." Every point was made clear and effective by numerous illustrations and stories. Perhaps never before have our fellows had the privilege of hearing such a talk as this one. The manner of doing personal work was presented to us in a new light and its effectiveness in the past was beautifully portrayed. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a wonderful work among the Railroad men, and under the leadership of just such men as Mr. Barnes it cannot help but do even greater work in the future.

"New Y. M. C. A. rooms," the slogan of the hour.

Money is already coming in for the new Y. M. C. A. rooms. Supreme effort is to be made within the next week for raising the required amount. The following contributions have already been received for which we are very grateful: Edgar R. Wingard, Prof. of Physical Education at the University of Maine, $5.00; Rev. Zimmerman and daughter Miss Ruth, of Milton, $1.50; Trinity Lutheran Sunday School of Sunbury, of which Rev. Hilbish is pastor, $6.02.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

President Aikens made a hurried trip to Baltimore Friday.

Prof. E. E. Sheldon, former director of Susquehanna Conservatory of Music and now occupying the same position at Lebanon Valley, greeted friends at college Saturday. Prof. Sheldon is meeting with much success and rightly deserves the same, as he is a first class musician and excellent instructor.

Rev. Charles Leonard, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, is entertaining L. Ray King, of Pittsburgh.

Prof. J. I. Woodruff addressed the Teachers' Institute at Blair Friday. Dr. Woodruff is much in demand as a lecturer and public speaker and the press reports following his different engagements prove that his productions are "solid stuff" and his capable efforts much appreciated.

Registrar Horton attended, as a delegate, the annual convention of the Anti-Saloon League held at Philadelphia last week. While in the city Mr. Horton was present at several of the "Billy" Sunday meetings and was much impressed with the methods of this forceful speaker.

Don't forget the lecture by George M. Graham, Sporting Editor of The North American, Monday immediately after the Lafayette game.

Dr. George E. Fisher addressed the Snyder County Sunday School Association in convention at Middleburg last week.

The Seniors had a class picture taken at the Ripple Studio in Sunbury on Monday.

Much credit must be given to Cheer Leaders Kammmerer and Danowky for the able manner in which they conducted the yells at the Albright game, and it is to be hoped that the students will again display the proper spirit and plenty of pep at the battle with Lafayette Monday night.

Excellent steam service has been given throughout the different buildings since the winter term opened, day and night firemen having been put on duty at the heating plant.

Chaperoned by Miss Brown, a mixed crowd enjoyed a hack ride to Middleburg Saturday evening at which place they attended the Recital given by Prof. Fillion, of the Conservatory of Music.

Susquehanna's Y. M. C. A. has been especially active during the past two weeks and the new loading rooms will soon be ready for occupancy. This is a marked forward step and deserves the support of every student.

"Sam" Johnson, of Bloomsburg, representing the Union Publishing House of Chicago, interviewed prospective student agents at college last week.

Susquehanna co-eds made a new step along the line of amusement Saturday night, when they enacted a mock wedding. Miss Hughes was the "groom," Miss Kautz the "bride," while Miss Groninger, in the role of parson, tied the knot.

SUSQUE'S SPEEDING QUINTET OUTDISTANCED LAFAYETTE

Kept Throughout Lead Obtained Early in Splendid Game. Score 25-16

In one of the fastest games ever witnessed in Alumni gymnasium Susquehanna emerged victorious Monday night in a basket ball fray with Lafayette college, score 25-16. On both sides the game was hotly contested, yet at no time throughout the forty minutes of play was there anything but fair, clean playing. The quintet from down East labored hard, and, but for the continued determination on the part of the Orange and Maroon men, would have had the larger end of the score when the final whistle blew.

This is the first athletic contest in which Susquehanna has met Lafayette for a number of years, so that there was naturally much concern on the part of the onlookers as to what would be the final outcome. Despite the knowledge that the wearers of the Maroon and White have made an excellent record this season the Varsity five entered the contest confident that they would not be defeated on their own floor.

Filled with this determination the home team was able to secure a slight margin early in the game and at no time during the contest were they overtaken by their opponents. Lading by the score of 11-8 at the end of the first half, Coach Kelchner's wards came back even stronger in the latter period, maintaining a fair advantage during the whole second half.

Though both teams passed well at times, yet the opposing guards were always quick to cover, thus preventing a large score on either side.

Susquehanna gives much credit of the winning to Captain Swoope, who played a remarkable game during both halves. On the offensive he was a tower of strength for the home team, capturing a number of two-pointers through steady work. Whitmer at center also executed some excellent work, while Middlesworth was at his very best in caging the ball from the foul line. The other members of the teams likewise deserve mention for assisting in the team-work which won for Susquehanna this hard fought game. Brenner played well for the vanquished, several times thrilling the spectators by making what seemed impossible field goals. The Lafayette quintet meets Bucknell this evening in Tustin Gymnasium.

The score:

PEPLESS TEAM LOST SECOND INTER-COLLEGIATE GAME

Bucknell Victorious Over Susquehanna at Lewisburg Last Wednesday

Susquehanna's quintet journeyed to Lewisburg on Wednesday evening only to lose the second game of the Intercollegiate League season of Eastern Pennsylvania to Bucknell, 39-28. Because the Orange and Blue managers failed to comply with the official ruling that a League arbiter should be provided for refereeing every game played between teams in this league, the game on Wednesday evening was played under protest.

Apparent lack of enthusiasm was very noticeable on the part of Susquehanna students before the game. This may be attributed to different causes, but, whatever the cause, it had the tendency to send the home team away in a discouraged condition. Naturally they did not play so well as if a large aggregation of rooters had accompanied them and cheered them on to greater efforts as the game progressed.

Inability to cage the ball sped defeat for the Varsity five. Time after time the home team had opportunities to increase their score; indeed, the ball was in play in Susquehanna territory a greater part of the time, but frequently after several vain efforts to make a field goal the ball would be lost to the opposing players and taken down the floor. In no sense of the word can victory be credited to the Lewisburg men because of superior team work, but rather should the defeat be scored against the Orange and Maroon on account of insufficient pep and aggressiveness.

At times Witmer, Swoope and Middlesworth showed flashes of their real ability, but with concerted action and first class shooting they might have doubled their side of the score. Shannon guarded well and broke up many plays for the opposing forwards. For Bucknell Brenner showed greatest ability, succeeding in scoring several long field goals from difficult angles. Middlesworth also appeared to be lost in foul shooting. This veteran guard who has always excelled in this department of the game scored but eight one-pointers out of twenty-three attempts. Garnor caged fifteen out of a possible twenty-three for Bucknell.

Much time has been given to practice in shooting during the last week so that with proper support high hopes of victory may be entertained in the next two games which will be played here on Monday and Thursday nights.

The score:

Bucknell	position	Susque
Murray	left forward	Whitmer
Garnor	right forward	Phillips
Brenner	center	Swoope
Morrette	left guard	Middlesworth
Bonham	right guard	Shannon

Substitutions: Peters for Phillips; Laufer for Peters, Harmon for Shannon. Field goals: Whitmer 2. Swoope

POINTS OUT NEED OF MEN TO BEAR GOSPEL MESSAGE

REV. J. F. SEIBERT, OF CHICAGO, ADDRESSED THEOLOGICAL MEN ON IMPORTANT CHURCH SUBJECT LAST WEDNESDAY

Rev. J. F. Seibert '87, of Chicago, Ill., who is superintendent of the Home Missions of the Synod of Northern Illinois, addressed the students of the Theological Seminary on Wednesday morning on the need of men for the Lutheran Missions of the Central West and great Northwest. For almost an hour and a half the speaker continued to show his deep interest in this important work of the church, and succeeded in impressing upon the students the great responsibility which the church has in supplying Lutheran ministers for the great Lutheran population of the Western States.

Mr. Seibert emphasized throughout his lecture that the need of the church today is not money, but men. If the men are found to take up the mission work of the church, the money will soon be forthcoming. At present the Lutheran church in the West is facing a great crisis. In the Illinois Synod alone there are nine vacancies this year and from the outlook now these will not be filled from our Seminaries.

Predominant among the religions of the Central West and Northwest is the Lutheran, and the sons of the Lutheran Swedes, Danes, Norwegians and Germans are demanding the religion of their fathers in the English language. The church is asking for young men to aid her in meeting this demand. Of the four hundred and seventy-five thousand Germans in the City of Chicago, sixty-five per cent. belong to Lutheran families but only one-half of this number are members of that church. Chicago has alone one hundred and seventy-five thousand Swedes, eighty thousand Norwegians, and thirty thousand Danes, whose parents and ancestors were nearly all Lutherans, yet less than one-half of these people are in Lutheran churches. Faithful to the church of their childhood these immigrants will make extraordinary efforts in order that they may reach a Lutheran pastor when seeking comfort, or in case of a marriage or a death. This great need of the Lutheran church must be supplied by the General Synod and General Council because their members are largely English speaking people.

After showing the extensive growth of our church in the large cities of this country, Rev. Seibert made a touching appeal for real, self-sacrificing, pious and deeply consecrated men to carry the gospel to the needy Lutherans of the great Western States.

—Red sort of "swoop-ed" over 'em.
—Jay must have given his chargers a liberal dash paprika, and the taste of victory was certainly sweet too.

—It was demonstrated Monday not only that Susquehanna athletes had a new kind of pep, but also that the evangelistic spirit had possessed the cheerers also.

—Why should there be a lack of reverence at chapel services at times? These morning exercises are held for your edification. Can you not spend a quarter of an hour in meditation as you prepare for the day's work instead of annoying your neighbor with talk and laughter?

4; Middlesworth 4; Murray 2; Garnor 3; Brenner 5; Morrette, Bonham. Foul goals: Middlesworth 7; Swoope; Garnor 15. Referee Jackson. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

GEO. M. GRAHAM CAPTIVATED SEIBERT HALL AUDIENCE

Sporting Editor of North American Told of the Science of Sports

Thrilled with the joy of victory Susquehanna students basted from the gymnasium where the Lafayette team had met defeat, and assembled in Seibert Hall to hear George M. Graham, Sporting Editor of the North American, deliver his lecture, "Sports Science."

Through the instrumentality of Manager Ard, Mr. Graham made that special trip to Susquehanna. Seldom in the past has Susquehanna been so honored as to be permitted to listen to a man of such editorial renown in the athletic world.

While the audience awaited the arrival of the speaker, the students gave vent to their hilarity by cheering and singing college songs. Upon the entrance of Mr. Graham a rousing A-N-N-A was given for him, and after a brief introduction by President Aikens, Mr. Graham immediately began his address.

The following is the substance of his lecture:

"There is an alliance between sport and science. Every one of the great American sports has had a crude beginning, and by the application of brains they have now attained a great scientific accuracy. Football has its origin in the fights between rival towns. It was first scientifically used at Rugby, England, where the first rules to regulate the game were formulated. The game has undergone a process of evolution ever since, until today it has reached its present, high, scientific plane. The defensive, offensive, fake plays forward pass, double pass, delayed pass, and onside kick were all evolved by thinking men in order to break up successful plays and strengthen the teams."

No man can be a successful football player who does not think, he emphasized. A game between Penn and Cornell was cited to illustrate the result of applied brains. Draper, of Penn, picked up a fumble in mid-field and dashed towards the Penn goal. Two Cornell men, who were faster than he, were between him and the goal. The Cornell men went for Draper expecting to meet him at a point. Draper perceived their tactics, dashed for the place where the Cornell men expected to meet him but suddenly halted within three feet of the expected meeting. The Cornell players were thrown off their balance and Draper by a long run to the side was enabled to make the touchdown that won the game.

"Baseball is a good example of science allied with sport, he continued. Science has made baseball the greatest of American sports. The hit and run play is one of the most used and least understood by the baseball fans. It often happens that the play fails and the runner is put out at second. When such a thing occurs the crowd frequently blames the runner, when the batter alone is at fault. On the hit and run game the runner gets the signal from the batter and starts immediately for second, trusting to the batter to do his part. The way to break up the hit and run game is for the catcher to give the signal for a wide waste ball and then try to get the runner starting for second. On a play like this either the second baseman or the shortstop may take the throw.

"Every successful pitcher studies his opposing batsmen. He soon finds their weakness and takes advantage of his discoveries. Frequently new men will bat up to the 400 mark for the first time in the major leagues, and then fall into a slump just because some shrewd catcher finds their weakness. Shang, of the Athletics, in the last World's series could not hit just because Manager Stallings, of the Boston Braves, knew he could not hit a slow ball. It is just an instance where intellect wins in baseball. Matthews and all the great slab artists are intellectual giants in this great American game.

"The great difference between the major leagues and the minor leagues lies in the fact that the players in the former have keener mental faculties. A typical illustration of the use of brains in the big league was when the Athletics played Chicago in Chicago three years ago. Connie Mack spied in deep center field, a large yellow sign, that reflected the sun's rays to all the batters that faced left handed pitchers. Chicago used White that day to baffle the Athletics but Connie Mack saw the scheme and to meet Chicago at their own game he used Plank, winning the game that decided the championship of the American league."

"After proving to his audience the close relationship existing between sports and science, Mr. Graham then turned his bearers attention into a lighter vein. For at least half an hour he entertained his auditors with amusing athletic stories. Time after time he was brought to a halt in his speech by the convulsive laughter on the part of his audience.

Mr. Graham showed his ability in the use of "sport" phraseology. This peculiar form of writing has won for the sporting editor many constant readers, and made his story telling most interesting. Susquehanna is aroused over the notable visit and looks forward in pleasant anticipation to the future time when this distinguished personage will revisit Susquehanna and again captivate a capacity audience. Seldom has the student body of Susquehanna been privileged to listen to such an interesting and elevating as well as humorous address.

GETTYSBURG HERE THURSDAY

Gettysburg College will meet the Orange and Maroon five in a league game in Alumni gymnasium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The battle-field collegians have been hitting a rapid pace since the season opened and are running strong in the chase for the league pennant.

Many of the costly defects shown in the Bucknell game have been corrected by Coach Kelchner and the Susquehanna squad are in good shape for Thursday's fray. This game is always one of unusual interest, as the two contestants are rival Lutheran institutions and the followers of each team are loyal in the support of their favorites.

Board for the reservation of seats for the game will open Tuesday at 1 o'clock at Weis's store.

—Little interest was manifested by the student body in the Bucknell game. Should the members of the team alone be held responsible for the defeat?

SUPPORTING THE TEAM

Time, in its ceaseless flow, has ushered in another season of basketball. Again we see the athlete each evening racing towards the cage in order that he may secure the practice necessary for the development of a first-class player. Basketball is a form of athletics which has been popular at Susquehanna for many years. Indeed, the advanced standing which we have acquired in this line of sports, is ample proof of the support which Susquehanna students have given it in the past.

But, as a body of undergraduates, have we always supported the team to the best of our ability. If we cannot help them by joining in daily practices, do we ever think that we might assist them with words of good cheer?

Remember the team that represents this institution is composed of five individuals—men constituted like unto yourself. Some of them may be playing for the exercise which is thus to be obtained, others for the personal enjoyment which they may derive from participating in the game; but as a rule, the members of a college athletic team sacrifice time and the opportunity for further intellectual development, in the hope that some honor or may accrue unto them through this work. Let us bear in mind the fact that for a number of years past Susquehanna has been represented in athletics only by true college teams. In no sense of the word are sports being commercialized at this institution. For what then is the college athlete expending his time and energy? For you alone, for the college to which you belong. Why not recompense him in the way he desires? Commend him when he plays well, overlook his mistakes, and, above all, do not criticize him for doing things about which you know nothing.

Every evening, those students who do not play should be in the gymnasium, ready to inspire the players to do their best with cheers and words of praise. Possibly this is the only way you can assist the team, but if you fail to help in this way you are not doing your duty. Show your loyalty by boosting the team and commending each individual member of the team when occasion permits.

—Unusual interest is being manifested by the girls in gym work this term. Several games of basketball have been arranged to be played on the home floor in the near future. —And now it's to be Oscar Ammerline Ard.

PHILO

With opportunity comes responsibility. Especially has this been true with the college graduate or student. The future welfare of the country depends largely upon the clear vision, moral courage, and self-reliance of the youth.

It is of this last factor that we wish to speak. In every community, be it around the fire in the little crossroads store, or in the civic councils of the great metropolis, the college-bred man always has a certain delicate and indefinable precedence in thought. Having had wider opportunities, greater responsibilities are his, and he must meet these responsibilities, or fail ingloriously. There can be no middle ground—the battle of life must end in success or failure, and the result of that struggle the college man or woman today is largely determining in his work in the literary society.

How many lives could you save, should you see a broken rail and yet be unable to warn the onrushing train? Or what benefit to society would be your insight and sense of impending danger if you are unable to stem the tide of humanity rushing on to its own destruction? Demosthenes, Cicero, Burke and Henry had swayed multitudes by their eloquence, but could you express your convictions in public, so as to make one person see and live in your point of view?

The art of Self-expression, so as to convince and move others to action, is the most potent factor to be reckoned with in public life. The development and practice of this art is the aim and purpose of the Literary Society and no student of Susquehanna can ever say he had no opportunity to cultivate his talent along this line. Rapid thinking and clear expression are the key-notes of Philo's standard, a standard she is striving to push ever higher and higher.

In the past great successes have been ours, but there is still unbounded opportunity, and the watchword of every true member of Philo should be "Progress."

At our last meeting on Friday evening, Jan. 22, a new coterie of officers were elected and installed. The incoming officials are: President, Miss Catherine Weaver; Vice-President, Mr. Catherine Weaver; Secretary, Mr. Harman; Grossman; Secretary, Mr. Harman; Critics, Mr. Faust and Miss Gertrude Weaver; Editor, Miss Roarick; Asst. Editor, Miss Holshue; Pianist, Miss Dorothy Allison; Acceptor, Mr. Hinkelman; Monitor, Mr. Dunmire.

After the election a pleasing and appreciated program was very well rendered. Miss Fisher opened the program by reading a well written essay on the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," and this was followed by a humorous declamation "An Overworked Elocutionist" by Mr. Sterling Decker. The piano duets by the Misses Allison were followed by a spicy and well selected paper on Current News by Mr. Woodruff. Messrs. Folmer and Shoaf on the affirmative side of the question "Resolved: That the United States should limit immigration to her shores," won the decision over the negative debaters Messrs. Grossman and Nicols. Mr. Spigelmyre closed the program by reading the "Philo" which was very humorous and adapted to those present.

We were glad to see the increased attendance but we feel that there are still others who should be in our Halls. Too frequently we make some petty excuse to our conscience for missing these chances for self-improvement and culture. Let us strive as true Philosophians, to have a still better attendance and a keener interest in our literary work.

—Due credit should be given Manager Ard for his successful effort in securing George Graham, Sporting Editor of the North American, to deliver his famous lecture to the students. Ard's slogan is: "Do not stop work when you have done the things you are compelled to do."

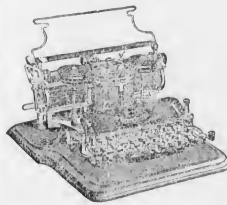

—Why not offer your services in preparing the new Y. M. C. A. rooms? You will then feel after their completion that they partly belong to you.

Rev. L. P. Young '01 and '04, has resigned the Elk Lick, Pa. pastorate to become Missionary superintendent of the Allegheny Synod. His resignation will take effect February 1st after a successful ministry of eight and one-half years as pastor of the Elk Lick charge.

Rev. F. J. Stabley '00, pastor of Messiah Lutheran church at Fishersville, Pa., reports a very good attendance in church and Sabbath school during the past few months, and also a number of members taken into the church.

Rev. M. L. Snyder '99, has taken charge of his work at North Liberty, Iowa. He preached his first sermon on Sunday evening, January 10th at the closing session of the "Community Institute" which was a Union church service. Rev. Charles M. Teufel '04 and '07, pastor of St. Stephen's church, Pittsburg, Pa., reports a very successful year. The mid-winter communion was especially interesting. A year ago under favorable circumstances one hundred and ninety-three persons communed while this year the number of communicants had increased to three hundred and seventeen, showing a great work done during the year.

Rev. Frederick Ellerman, Sem. '14, pastor of St. Paul's church at Syracuse, N. Y., has been doing excellent work during his short ministry there. Two hundred members have been added to the church, and a Brotherhood of seventy members has been organized. WIN INTERESTING GAME

In a game replete with exciting moments and peculiar plays the Susquehanna Reserves defeated the Tau Phi Sigma Fraternity basketball team on Saturday evening, 30-19. The game was much more closely contested than the score would indicate. During the first half of the game Susquehanna's second team maintained a safe lead but in the second period this lead was reduced to a few points and it was not until the last five minutes of play that the Orange and Maroon men decided the result. Lubold, at center, played a heady game for the Reserves. Nichols and Hostetter excelled in shooting, each having five field goals to his credit, while Fine and Meese did some excellent floor work. For the "frat" men Adams, at forward, did some stellar work.

A return game will be played in the near future with the same team at Sunbury.

—Gettysburg will be next, and perhaps old home work for Swoope.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

George E. Irvin, of Lewisburg, was a visitor with friends at college Monday.

Dr. F. P. Manhart attended the inauguration of Dr. Brumbaugh.

Undoubtedly there has been no better recital given at Susquehanna for several seasons past than the one which Miss Rebecca Davidson offered in Seibert Hall Thursday evening. Those who did not hear Miss Davidson missed an artist in the truest sense of the word.

Members of the basket ball squad are now on diet, the training table having been started Thursday.

Are you still taking the Susquehanna or have you subscribed for it?

Selection was made last week of the site for the $60,000 post office at State College. The location is opposite one of the valuable properties owned by President Aikens.

Rev. Leonard was greeted with a genuine surprise party at Trinity Lutheran parsonage Monday evening by members of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Prof. Brungart was the recipient of a well filled purse from his class in Trinity Lutheran Sunday School.

Dr. Gass, of Sunbury, will deliver an extremely interesting talk to the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening at 6:45. His remarks will deal with the physical side of a student's make-up, and the proper care of the same under various conditions. Dr. Gass is a man of wide experience and wonderful capabilities, and his reputation as a lecturer is widespread. For several years he was on the staff of Albright College as professor of physiology. Let every fellow turn out to hear this educational and entertaining address.

Another name has been added to the census report of "Studentville." Mr. and Mrs. William Watts announce the birth of a girl baby.

First floor has been the scene of unusual activity during the past week. Under the direction of Karl Irvin the wood work on the interior of the new Y. M. C. A. rooms is just about completed, and they are now ready for the painters and paper hangers.

MISS DAVIDSON'S RECITAL

Local music lovers were given a rare treat in the recital given by Miss Rebecca Davidson last Thursday evening in Seibert Hall. She played a most comprehensive and difficult program, which fact was rendered the more interesting since she is unmistakably young in years. Miss Davidson began with a masterful rendition of the Bach Toccata and Fugue in D minor. From the very beginning she impressed one with her forceful and masculine technique, playing both the Toccata and Fugue with the discrimination of the true artist. She followed this with a beautifully delicate and finished performance of the Pastorale Varise by Mozart and the Beethoven Ecossaises. A remarkable control of the difficult staccato was then exhibited in her playing of the Brahms Capriccio B minor. Then, in startling contrast came a Rhapsodie in C major by Ernest von Dohnanyi, with a style of great brilliance and bravura, a characteristic most prominent in Miss Davidson's art. Her understanding of Chopin's larger works, as exemplified by that master's Sonata Opus 35, stamped this young artist as being a virtuoso of the higher and better type. The remaining numbers on the program, including compositions by Rahnanninoff, Glinka, Debussy, and Liszt, were all played with the same artistic finish and mature sense of interpretation. Altogether, Miss Davidson gave us a concert such as has been seldom heard at Susquehanna, and which was well attended by the students.

THE SUSQUEHANNA

SELINSGROVE, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1915

NUMBER 14

SUSQUE NOSED OUT VICTORY OVER GETTYSBURG THURSDAY

Winning Goal Caged by Phillips in Last Minute of Play--32-31

Phillips's sensational field goal in the last second of play won for Susquehanna the second game of the week, and spelled defeat for the Gettysburg basketball team in one of the fastest and most hotly contested games ever witnessed on the local floor, by a 32-31 score. At no time did either side maintain a lead of more than four points, and not until the final whistle blew was the outcome of the game certain.

Never have Susquehanna followers witnessed such an exhibition of dash and endurance. Each team was determined that the other should secure no advantage. The keen rivalry which exists between the institutions held the interest of the spectators tense throughout.

Lafayette's defeat here during the early part of the week inspired the 'Varsity men as well as the student body with confidence. Everyone anticipated an interesting contest so that the initial take-up saw every individual in the crowded gallery alive with enthusiasm.

The Susquehanna five opened with a whirlwind start, and soon earned a three-point lead. But the Orange and Maroon's brothers in church work were alert and soon forged to the front. From that time until the end of the first half, which ended 16-14 in favor of the visitors, the score was a tie a great part of the time. No let-up was experienced on either side during the second period. It was practically a repetition of the first twenty minutes of play, with neither side leading by more than four points at any time.

With the score standing 30-30 and but three minutes remaining to play, the battlefield collegians called time out for a reorganization of their forces. These three minutes called forth from both teams their very best. Gettysburg scored first by throwing a foul, but the contest was not yet ended. By clever passing the 'Varsity brought the ball up to their own end of the floor, where Phillips made the sensational shot which won for Susquehanna this most thrilling contest of years.

Both representations gave remarkable exhibitions of team work. The Orange and Blue team found it extremely difficult to break up the offensive work of Susquehanna's fleet-footed captain, "Red" Swoope. Phillips, who substituted "Red" at forward in the second half, while the Orange and Maroon socked general took Witmer's place at centre, played well. Shannon won laurels for his defensive work, permitting Gettysburg's crack-shot, Mahaffie, to secure but two lucky field goals.

The line-up:

Gettysburg	positions	Susquehanna
McKee	forward	Middleworth
Mahaffie	forward	Swoope
Campbell	center	Witmer
Ikeler	guard	Harkins
Turnbull	guard	Shannon

Goals from field—Mahaffie 2; Campbell 3; McKee 2; Ikeler, Turnbull; Witmer 2; Swoope 2; Middleworth, Shannon, Harkins, Phillips. Offenses—Gettysburg 27; Susquehanna 21. Goals from fouls—Mahaffie 3; Middleworth 16. Referee—Bennett, of Altoona. Timer—Dr. Rohbach.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Oberlin College has recently been the recipient of a gift of $1,000,000 by the will of the late Chas. M. Hall, vice president of the Aluminum Company of America.

Through the loyalty and zeal of the students and alumni of Wellesley College, a magnificent $2,000,000 dormitory will take the place of the one that was destroyed by fire some time ago.

At last the student body of Capital University, of Columbus, Ohio, has sloughed off the sloth of antiquity and are awakening to the fact that the publication of a College Annual might be a good venture. A strenuous effort is being made to have the first volume published this year.

At no time in the history of Harvard has the importance of the Division of Education been so widely or so deeply appreciated as now. Three new professions are now included in the instruction given by Harvard. These three are business, at the new School of Business Administration, social service at the new School of Social Workers, and teaching at the Division of Education.

Dr. Benjamin Sharp, a zoologist of much distinction, and who for many years was corresponding secretary of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, died on Jan. 23, in Morehead, North Carolina. He was making a trip to Florida by way of the Dismal Swamp and the Sea Islands for Zoological investigation. Dr. Sharp was the zoologist of Commander Peary's first expedition to the Arctic regions in 1891.

The track authorities of the University of Pennsylvania have decided to enter every available man in the indoor games to be conducted by the intercollegiate A. A. A. at Madison Square Garden, March 6. The same decision has been announced from Cornell, and since the Ithicans and Quakers promise to be the principal rivals in the outdoor championships in May, the way they size up in the March games will be watched with much interest throughout the college world.

PREPARING TO FIGHT

THE SALOON

The loyal few who really make up the Prohibition League at Susquehanna met on Monday evening of last week to conduct matters of business and take up the study of the lesson as was outlined in the December number of the Intercollegiate Statesman. In comparison with the membership the attendance at the regular meetings is but one fourth what it should be. It seems that many do not realize that just as much as they put into such organizations so much will they get out of them. However, it is the fellow who sticks in his room that is the loser and the League never will do him any good as long as he does not try to get some good out of it.

The League boasts of some sixty members at present, and prospects are good for a still greater growth, and it is the purpose of this organization to train strong fighting forces from this number to battle against the saloon. The jolly brewer is laughing and pointing his finger but he was not down at him, and we are not trying to get the laugh back but rather pitying him and trying to put him on his feet by getting at the cause of his downfall. Sad, indeed, that we do not have Abolition Mounarchal power to crush the manufacture, sale and use of alcoholic beverages as do the people of Russia; but since we do not have such power the Prohibition Associations combined must fight forces through which we hope to gain the desired end.

GLEE CLUB OPENED CONCERT SEASON AT BEAVER SPRINGS

College Musicians Appeared Before Up-County Audience Saturday

People of Beaver Springs and surrounding community were given a rare treat last Friday evening when the University Glee Club composed of twenty musicians rendered one of their musical programs in the town auditorium to a very large and appreciative audience. The Club bears an excellent reputation for high class renditions and this standard was maintained throughout the evening. Each selection was met with thunderous applause from the crowded house, and the calls for encores were answered very heartily by the club with snappy selections.

Much appreciation has been expressed by the members of the club of the kind and hospitable treatment tendered them by the people of the town, and as a body are desirous that they may return at some future time.

As a result of careful and thorough training the young men sang the different numbers in a very pleasing manner. Especially in the rendition of their college song, "Susquehanna," did they display true loyalty to the University.

Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, a musician of exceptional ability, who is directing the club this year, deserves great commendation for the manner in which he drilled the singers for this program, and also for the ability which he displayed as he rendered various piano selections throughout the program.

Mr. Peters, tenor soloist, captivated the audience with his wonderful singing of "Thora" which brought forth hearty applause. The reader of the evening was Elwood Swoope, who held the attention of the audience so well with his interesting selections that it was possible for one to hear a nickel drop on a plush cushion.

These readings, which kept the audience in a convulsion of laughter, interspersed the program and aided much in making the evening's performance the great success that it was. Other short trips are being arranged for as a means of preparation for a more extended tour during the Easter vacation.

SUSQUE ALUMNUS ONE OF SIX IN AMERICA TO HOLD DEGREE

Dr. Samuel Z. Shope, of Harrisburg, Rewarded for his Years of Study

Dr. Samuel Z. Shope, of Harrisburg, Pa., a former graduate of Susquehanna University, had the degree of doctor of ophthalmology conferred on him last year. Dr. Shope is the sixth physician in the United States to attain the degree and the only one in Pennsylvania.

This degree is being urged by medical authorities in order to encourage young men to become real specialists in the line. It entails a regular medical course followed by a year's special post-graduate study with a degree which in time would come to express for its possessor the fact that he had made a careful and exhaustive study of the subject. The University of Colorado has provided a complete course and it is said by medical authorities that if such provision should become general among schools and colleges it would lead to a rapid advancement in the science and a great benefit to the people. The whole idea is to prevent ill-trained men from assuming the role of specialists and to give the really prepared physician a mark by which the public may know his attainments.

Dr. Shope is a Dauphin county boy and the grandson of Bishop Nathaniel Shope. At fourteen he had passed examinations for a teacher's provisional certificate with high marks. He then taught school for five years, studying at night. He went through the Cumberland Valley Normal School, studied at Eastern Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Until September, 1892, he was principal of the Lehighton, Pa., schools, continuing his studies in private educational institutions. He passed the required examinations for graduation from Susquehanna University in 1914, where he received his baccalaureate degree in arts.

He entered the University of Pennsylvania in 1892 for his medical course and was graduated in 1895, and has since entered upon the career of ear, eye and throat specialist, taking fourteen post-graduate courses in various colleges and universities. He has also done much original research work and has lectured extensively before colleges and medical clubs.

He is acknowledged one of the highest authorities on his specialties at present practicing in Harrisburg, and has a national reputation as a practitioner. Personally Dr. Shope is regarded as the highest type of professional citizen, and he numbers his friends in all walks of life.

Recognizing the attainments of this noted alumnus, Susquehanna University conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Science. Dr. Shope has been a very loyal and helpful friend of Susquehanna. He has endeared himself to the teachers and students of the University through his annual lectures on Scientific and other subjects. His coming is always looked forward to with much interest.

VETERANS TO PLAY SATURDAY

Much interest is being attached to the Alumni game which will be played Saturday, February 6th. Opposing the 'Varsity five will be the famous 1912 team, which will long be remembered for their wonderful floor work and notable victories. "Dick" Kaufman, who last year made a jump to the St. Louis Americans, will be in the line-up. Trego, of Tyrone, will play a guard position, with Alkens and Daggett at forwards, while "Chalk" Kaufman will carry the centre role, "Kid" Denfer, "Bill" Rinehart, Smith and several others will likely be in the alumni squad. The five which will represent the alumni will not enter the game unprepared nor in poor physical condition, but they have each been playing for sometime and as a result will be in the pink of condition.

FRESHMEN HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET IN MIFFLINBURG

Able Toasts and Plenty of Merriment Feature Their Excursion

On Friday, January 29th, the Freshmen chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Woodruff, journeyed to Mifflinburg, where, at the Buffalo Valley Inn, they held their class banquet.

Every year this is an important event at Susquehanna and this year it was very successfully planned and carried out.

They left in a body on the 12:30 trolley after having successfully evaded the watchful Sophomores, while rousing cheers in the dining hall sped the freshmen on their way.

The banquet was held at eight o'clock, and every one being in the best of spirits they all enjoyed the occasion to its fullest extent. Every part of the program was very well rendered and merriment and good cheer reigned throughout.

After the last course the class was called to order by the Toastmaster, Ralph W. Woodruff. They were entertained by some very fine toasts by members of the class, and were favored by an exceptionally fine speech by Dr. J. I. Woodruff.

The room was decorated with the class colors, Maroon and White, and with both 1913 and Susquehanna pennants, making a very attractive appearance and greatly arousing enthusiasm and promoting good will.

The Buffalo Valley Inn is considered one of the finest hotels in Central Pennsylvania. It being a temperance house it is especially well suited for affairs of this kind. The freshmen speak well of the treatment received while there and greatly enjoyed themselves on account of the hospitality shown them.

Toasts were given by the following members of the class:

Dear Old S. U., by Ralph E. Dougherty.

'13, by Ralph E. Thomas.

Glories of the Co-Ed, by 'Dot' Rearick.

Our Boys, by Helen C. Webb.

THE GREAT WAR

The great contention progressing in Europe at the present time is a mammoth struggle and a conflict of stupendous proportions. But it is by no means the last of the great wars of the earth—it is only the greatest and we hope the final one of its character. The great nations of Europe are today testing their relative strengths which have consumed years for the preparation, and are just beginning to estimate in cash, human lives and suffering and anguish the real cost of their equipments. Enormous debts are being accumulated which will require the resources of many generations to liquidate, and which will take centuries to obliterate the pains. The longer this demon continues to destroy and make desolate and lay waste vast fertile plains and cathedrals of incomparable magnificence, the brighter and more stable become the prospects for permanent peace. We, who are not entangled in this turmoil and are being brought to our senses when we observe the slaughter and the carnage, are realizing the unprofitableness of soldiery and warfare.

The scale of the existing conflict is almost incomprehensible and inconceivable, which, even if we could comprehend its magnitude, could not be expressed by us in words for our adjectives are too deficient.

And after all this wholesale slaughter; this shameful "contempt and disregard for the rights of Civilization" and of principles and rights of others, this ruthless vandalism and wholesale annihilation of the best life blood of seven nations is insignificant when "measured with the incessant onslaughts of silent and invisible foes," which yearly incalculably devour millions of the world's population and deplete it of its sturdiest humanity.

Siege guns, Drednoughts, shrapnel, and bullets are mild when their destructive capacities are compared with the disease producing power of minute poisonous microbes, the venomous jaws of bugs and beetles and the baneful sting of flies and bees. Man has invented many instruments that possess the greatest killing efficiency and that can slaughter men by the thousands, but the uncontrollable and invulnerable enemies of the race kill men by the millions.

The really Great War has not been fought—it lies straight in advance of us. We have not properly seen things and become cognizant to the great fact that the plague germ, the mosquito, the common house fly, the maggot and the scale are our common real enemies. As soon as this fact is thoroughly disseminated throughout the globe, and the millions that are given to armament and the useless paraphernalia of warfare be given to fight the common foe the laboratory and the microscope will become the arms of destruction instead of the sword.

—Another winter break-up—Gettysburg defeated.

—Candidates for the mound position next spring have had frequent workouts in the cage recently.

—Picket's charge in the great conflict of '63 had nothing on Captain Swoope's advance on the battlefield defenses on Thursday evening.

—Why not return those reference books, which lie on your desk covered with dust, to the library? Remember that others experience disappointment just as you do when the book they seek is not to be found.

READER!

To you, reader of The Susquehanna, there has been coming for some weeks back a weekly visitor. The Susquehanna, put up in what we consider real college style. It has contained the real spirit of all that has happened on the grid-iron; it has redelivered many messages from the rostrum, and has commemorated many successes of the Alumni. If there is anything overlooked in any of the issues we beg of you to notify us at once and we will be glad to make all necessary adjustments. The paper is made as near as we can to please the subscribers. And we are ready and willing to do anything that any of you might suggest that will make the paper more newsworthy and satisfactory to the majority.

These are some of the things we are willing to do. Now what are you willing to do towards making this new project a success? Do you realize that the publication of a weekly paper is quite a financial proposition, and that our bills can only be met through your co-operation with the business manager. So we ask you kindly to pay what you owe The Susquehanna as soon as possible in order that we might keep it on a sound financial basis.

Signed:

Business Manager.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Some fifty fellows gathered in the chapel Tuesday evening of last week to greet Dr. Gass as he came with his message on a "Cleaner Life". The many points, systematically arranged, were driven home to stay; his authority bore such weight and his forceful speaking such velocity. His heart is in his work and wonderful are the fruits of his labor, cleaned up thru instructions gleaned from his talks. Not only is he interesting himself with material man, but with social and spiritual as well.

Benjamin Apple, editor of The Sunbury Daily Item and former superintendent of the public schools of Northumberland county, will address the meeting tomorrow evening. It is for your benefit that he comes here; are you going to make it a point to reap that benefit? Certainly you are! Then come to the meeting. You know the time and place. Do not wait to be coaxed to do good for yourself, like children, but be what you pretend to be—Men. And you can not be a man without being a Christian. Neither can you be a Christian and be on the fence. These meetings are to help you to keep on the right side. Come, watch and pray with us.

A delegation will go to State College next Friday to attend the campaign meetings and to receive instructions on deputation team work. Immediately following the return, the "Ex up" campaign will be run, the new rooms will be dedicated and a series of special meetings will be held. Leaders have been secured from State College for these meetings and great things are being prophesied. Let this be the beginning of a "greater Y. M. C. A. at Susquehanna."

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—one no one can make them do as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

THE CHRISTIAN ALUMNUS

It has been said and the saying is truthful that "There is no influence so subtle in operation and measureless in result; no power so resistanceless as that of a human life wholly consecrated to God."

The combined beauties of all masterpieces of art are not half so beautiful as a Christ-formed man. A life devoting itself absolutely, unconditionally, unceasingly, to Jesus Christ as Lord and Master is the sublimest picture that human eyes can look upon, and such is the life of a true Christian. Whenever a heart is filled with the love that "so loved the world" there also will be a life strengthened until its mission of sacrifice and service for others be accomplished.

Christ did what he could for earth's lost when drops of crimson blood were torn from his unselfish and loving heart. It now lies with his followers to do what they can. And the responsibility upon the Christian in the light of this truth is something unpeakable; and upon whom is it greater than upon the Christian Alumnus?

Filled with learning of science and philosophy; cultured in the arts and literature; gifted with a clear and trained mind; able to bring every thought into captivity; lifted to a height to which the world's populace looks and seeks to learn; baptized with the Christ love and unselfish tenderness and humility, purity and devotion—O the possibilities of such a one for doing good in the world that needs the good, the true, the noble—are simply limitless.

And if the possibilities are such, the responsibilities must be in proportion. The Christian Alumnus is the leader in the world's interests politically, socially, religiously. In every sphere of life he carries the heaven of Christianity which is to lighten the whole. In him is light—light of the truth as it is in Jesus, and the light is the hope of nations. Worthy causes demand his assistance. Great wrongs plead his resistance, and the world demands the good in him from day to day.

But sometimes it is a thing to be feared lest the Christian Alumnus overlooks his responsibility in the matter of both promoting the spiritual and temporal interests of his Alma Mater. The evangelization of the world; the elevation of society; the creating of a new and righteous social order rests very largely in the hands of the Christian students of today. How vastly important it is that in every way the claims of Christ be presented to the college students and every effort put forth to lead them to Him "in whom dwell all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge."

We would elicit your interest in the promotion of devotional Bible study among college men. We ask you for your support of the Y. M. C. A. at Susquehanna, both spiritual and temporal.

Rev. S. N. Carpenter '98 and '00, reports much progress in the Trinity Lutheran church at Johnstown. During the year 157 members were taken into the church, making a total of 608 communicants. The pastor, with hearty recommendation of the council, was granted an increase of three hundred dollars per year in salary.

Rev. I. H. Wagner '98 and '01, head of the Trinity Lutheran church at Somerset, had in the past year one of the most successful seasons in his work, with many accessions to the membership, and an encouraging financial report.

Rev. J. W. Shannon '83 and '87, of Elysburg, was granted an increase in salary almost doubling the amount paid for his first year at this pastorate. He has been a successful pastor in this charge for a number of years.

Rev. H. D. Hoover '99 and '02, President of Carthage College, attended the meeting of the College Association at Chicago, Jan. 18th.

Rev. I. W. Bingham, pastor at Quincy, Ill., issued a very fitting and helpful letter to his members in behalf of the church work during the year.

Mrs. Richard L. Schroyer '88, chairman of the Snyder County Woman's Suffrage Association, has instituted a vigorous campaign in the county for the cause of woman's rights. She attended a meeting at Harrisburg Friday at which time she made a report of the progress in Snyder county.

ENJOY WINTER OUTINGS

Susquehanna's young gallants took advantage of the icy condition of the roads and arranged for several sledding parties on Saturday evening.

One party under the chaperonage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker wended their way down along the river to Port Trevorton, where a sumptuous chicken and waffle supper awaited them. Another being piloted by Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, sledded across country to Fremont where they were royally entertained at the hotel of that place.

Proprietor Kerstetter with his forty-seven varieties proved a strong rival of Heinz through his extensive preparation. Both parties report a most enjoyable time.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Several new girls have enrolled, as resident students, in the department of Music.

Since the heating plant has been overhauled the gymnasium can now be made comfortable.

Will the person who borrowed a 1915 Lanthorn from the fellow in room 20 kindly return the same at once?

Dr. Gass, of Sunbury, gave a very instructive talk to the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. He sounded a warning to college men as to the proper care of the body and the bodily functions.

Cheer leaders Danowsky and Keamer with Song leader Lutton have their charges working in fine shape, as was evidenced by the sharp, systematic yelling and singing at the last two games.

Interesting bulletins have been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company showing the means and measures employed by them to protect the health and life of every one of their patrons.

Under the direction of Prof. Ferdinand Fillion Susquehanna's Male Glee Club opened the 1915 season with a concert in Beaver Springs Friday night. Hearty appreciation greeted the Club's initial efforts.

Considerable excitement was caused by an alarm of fire being sounded Thursday afternoon. It proved to be a blaze in the smoke house belonging to Prof. Houtz, but hasty assistance overpowered the flames and very slight damage resulted.

Susquehanna co-eds will enter the basketball field Thursday night when their representative five will meet the Sunbury High School girls in a contest in Alumni gymnasium at 8 o'clock. The collegians have been practicing for some time and the game will no doubt be closely contested. Admission will be 15 cents.

An old-fashioned square dance was executed by the fellows on first floor Thursday night after the game. An orchestra composed of mouth organs, whistles, and combs with paper, furnished the music for the occasion. First prize for efficiency and grace was awarded to the participants from Centre county, while second prize went to Bottiger.

In celebration of the victory over Gettysburg Thursday night a monster bonfire was kindled on the athletic field. This outburst of college spirit was perfectly proper, but the fact is to be deplored that the mad rush of the occasion overcame the workers' good sense and as a result a number of the class room chairs were added to the collection and all that now remain are memories and ashes.

Prof. Nathan N. Keener was the principal entertainer at the annual banquet of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masons at Williamsport Wednesday evening. About three thousand guests were in attendance and Prof. Keener's readings were deeply appreciated, while encore after encore was elicited. This gathering of the elite was held in the Acacia Club and it was a mark of honor to Prof. Keener to have the privilege of entertaining such a distinguished assemblage.

Martin Luther's most benign smile rested upon the Susquehanna five Thursday night when the final whistle found the Orange and Maroon men with 32 points and the Orange and Blue with 31. The battlefield collegians came to Selingsgrove with a firm determination to win, and the game was a test of endurance and an exhibition of skill on both sides. Spectacular passing and clean shooting featured the work of both teams and at no time was either side in the lead by more than five points, but Phillips, the Susquehanna forward, capped the last goal and Gettysburg went down to defeat by the small margin of one point.

DR. AND MRS. CHARLES T. AIKENS

MRS. CARRIE E. SMITH AND PRESIDENT AIKENS MARRIED

Ceremony Performed in Hagerstown on Wednesday by Dr. S. W. Owens

Press notices of Thursday morning conveyed the first news that Mrs. Carrie E. Smith, of Beaver Springs, Pa., and Dr. Charles T. Aikens, president of Susquehanna University, were married Wednesday evening in Hagerstown, Md.

The ceremony, which was an unprecedented one, was performed by Rev. Dr. S. M. Owens, president of the board of directors of Susquehanna University.

Mrs. Aikens is one of the best known and most highly respected ladies in this section of the state, while President Aikens, in every particular, is held in lofty esteem by the scores of persons who are in his large retinue of friends.

During their stay in Hagerstown, Dr. and Mrs. Aikens were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Moller, after which they left for a tour of southern cities.

Faculty and students of Susquehanna and a host of other friends extend to President and Mrs. Aikens their heartiest congratulations and best wishes for everything that is good at all times.

RESERVES PLAY WELL

Susquehanna Reserves lost a well played game to Bucknell Academy at Lewisburg Friday evening, 24-13. But for the advantage gained by the Academy in the first few minutes play, Coach Kelchner's understudies doubtless would have played the Hill boys to a standstill. A very small crowd witnessed the game.

The lineup:

Academy	positions	Reserves
Paul	left forward	Hostetter
Gearhart	right forward	Meese
Dent	center	Lubold
Seeman	left guard	Rine
Estler	right guard	Hill

Field goals—Paul 4; Gearhart 4; Dent; Hostetter 2; Lubold 2; Hill 2. Goals from fouls—Gearhart 6; Lubold 3; Hostetter, Hill. Referee, Yohn, of Bucknell. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

BROWER-BROWNE

An interesting college romance, which had its origin at the beginning of this scholastic year, culminated on Monday when Miss Ethel Irene Browne and Prof. Grover A. Brower, both members of the Conservatory faculty, were united in marriage in Philadelphia.

The bride, during her seven years as teacher here, made for herself a wide circle of friends. Her ability as a soloist, together with her strong personality, have won for her the admiration of students as well as a host of townspeople. Prof. Brower, who resides in Newburg, N. Y., accepted the position as Dean of the Conservatory last fall. In the short time that he has headed this department he has given ample proof of his ability as a master in this art.

Rev. Charles L. Biggs, an Episcopal rector in Philadelphia, performed the marriage ceremony. After an enjoyable honeymoon of one week, the bride and groom returned to Susquehanna Friday night. News of their return was received on Friday afternoon, and the remainder of the day was spent in preparing for their reception. Cheer after cheer greeted them as they first made their appearance at the station. Escorted by students the newly wedded pair made their way to Seibert Hall, where they found the Professor's staff decorated in a very homelike manner.

Members of the faculty, students and friends take this opportunity to express their good wishes, and their desire that Mr. and Mrs. Brower may continue as members of the faculty for many years to come. At present they will go to housekeeping in Seibert Hall.

FIGHT BOOZE WITH BRAINS

Cooperating with Dr. J. R. Dimm, pastor of the Lutheran church at Shamokin Dam, and Mr. Ira Fies, Superintendent of the Sunday School, the first Prohibition Team of Susquehanna, consisting of Messrs. Miller '15, Danowsky '15, and Huntington '17, held a very successful meeting at the upriver town on Sunday evening. A large and appreciative audience was present and for an hour and a half listened very attentively to the argument of the Team against re-establishing a licensed saloon at that place. Much interest was manifested by the citizens and practically all expressed their determination to sign the remonstrance.

Mr. Danowsky was the first speaker and used as his subject, "The Progress of Prohibition." In his discussion he traced the great prohibition movements of history, showed the scientific ill effects of alcohol upon the system and painted a glowing picture of a saloonless nation.

Mr. Huntington followed with "Why is Liquor Doomed?" In this subject he especially emphasized the duty of every citizen to cause the down-fall of the liquor traffic, showed how it could be accomplished in Shamokin Dam, and urged every person to enlist in the great army fighting for Civic Righteousness.

Mr. Miller closed the meeting with a very convincing discussion on, "Is Prohibition Effective." In this arrangement of the liquor interests he showed the fallacy of the liquor men's plea, that prohibition is not effective. He also presented some very valuable statistics showing a splendid grasp of the subject and a wide range of research work.

In their reception to the members of the team the citizens of Shamokin Dam showed an interest and appreciation not often tendered to amateurs and the good wishes of the student body are extended to them for a successful fight against the saloon in the courts this week.

DAN CUPID BUSY ELSEWHERE

Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Reavick, of Williamsburg, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter Jodie, to Mr. William J. Brashamp. Miss Reavick is well known at Susquehanna, being a student here several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Brashamp are now at home at 914 Eighth street, Sioux City, Iowa.

Truly this is a history making age; at least you would think so, if you would have witnessed the miracle which has been performed in old Selingrove Hall. If George Washington were suddenly to come to life and see an automobile passing through his private drive-way, he would be no more surprised than would be a grace of '98, if he would happen to view the transfiguration of the new Y. M. C. A. rooms. It takes faith to perform miracles. The fellows around Susquehanna certainly had an abundance of faith that something was to happen by the way they crawled out of their cozy nests at early hours on Saturday mornings and donned their working clothes. Every fellow who displayed the least sign of ambition was given something to do. Carpenters, painters, plasterers, paper hangers, and floor sweepers were very much in evidence and the way each fellow plied his trade was a revelation to all onlookers. There was such an increase in appetite, that the head cook had to order an extra supply of meat and potatoes for Saturday dinner. If it were not for the lack of space we would give each fellow an individual writup with an insert of his picture. Each and every one who did anything toward helping the good cause along is deserving of highest commendation and Susquehanna extends to one and all of them a vote of thanks.

The designers for the new quarters have done remarkably well with their assignment. The partitions were carefully removed and an arch built between the two rooms. The long-used flooring was torn up and a substantial one of yellow pine was put in its place. The old walls were given a new coat of plaster and paper, having a green burlap wainscoting, brown paneled walls, and a light colored drop ceiling. Head painter Gross displayed his ability with the brushes and has given the old frames and doors a new lease on life with the aid of a fresh coat of paint while chief carpenter Irvin with his trusty aids accomplished much with their hatchets, saws and squares. New rugs and tapestry have been ordered. An excellent selection of Mission style furniture was obtained thru T. H. Speigelmire and a new upright "Weaver" piano of special design was purchased at a reasonable figure thru their agent, J. W. Runkle, of Middleburg.

When everything is finished and the rooms opened, Susquehanna will have something to which it can point with pride. A new pleasure is in store for the student body in added comfort and necessity to our college life. It is unquestionable that this new movement will greatly help to solve the problem of getting all the students in closer touch with this great international movement—the Y. M. C. A.

We have the rooms and the furnishings and the fellows to wear them out—but the very important question is evolved, where is the money coming from to pay for all these improvements? An answer has been prepared for this question and it is up to every undergraduate, alumnus, faculty member, friend and enemy of Susquehanna to help prove the answer. The improvements which have been made will cost about $500.00, an enormous amount in figures, but a small price to pay for the benefit which will come from it. We do not have many millions among our student body, in fact, if you look things over, the majority of us are just making ends meet, therefore it is only right that we look to outsiders for aid.

An organized movement has been set on foot, by which the Y. M. C. A. hopes to cancel its indebtedness.

The fuse will be lighted at 7 o'clock A. M. Thursday, Feb. 11, and when the smoke of the explosion clears away and the results are figured up at 7 o'clock P. M., we hope to have over the amount in securities tucked away in the safe.

Bonds will be issued, selling at one dollar ($1.00) par. Any person ranging in age from one day to a hundred years will be eligible to their purchase. Payment can be made on these bonds in full at date purchased or in three installments: Fifty per cent, of the amount subscribed will be due on or before March 22nd. The second payment of twenty-five per cent will be due on or before June 7th, and the remaining payment of twenty-five per cent, on or before Oct. 1st, 1915. The dividends paid will be a hundred per cent, in the good wishes and thanks of every Y. M. C. A. member and those whom the Y. M. C. A. hopes to reach thru this new activity. We assure you that if you drop in and see the needed comfort and pleasure, which you have helped to make possible, you will say that your bonds are not for sale and the dividends are the highest you have ever been paid on any investment.

Two teams of seven men each, have been selected to handle the selling of these bonds. The men represented will be Harkins, Brown and Shannon '15; Harman, Keller and Grossman '16; Mooney and Huntington '17; Rine and Dougherty '18; Kinsley, Sem, '16 and Peters Sem. '17; Hinkelman and Teichert, Academy '15. Here are a bunch of live wires, who will give this movement the best they have, to help make it a success. Don't be afraid to approach these men with questions or dollar bills. They will answer all your questions and give you proper credit for all the money you give them. Don't lock your door and pull down the curtains, when you

HELP WANTED

With the work of the new Y. M. C. A. rooms almost completed, Susquehanna is ready to realize another forward step in her history. For years this organization has felt that they were handicapped in their work on account of improper equipment. They realized that a room on third floor used but one or two hours each week, did not repay them for the cost of its maintenance. Therefore, having secured the consent of the faculty, they set to work to change their quarters. Not only did they seek new apartments, but they endeavored to increase their sphere of usefulness by securing larger rooms and furnishing them in a homelike manner.

These plans are now almost materialized. Much of the work has been done by the members of the Association themselves. Unfortunately much of the work has fallen upon upper classmen, while those undergraduates who will reap the greatest benefits from this undertaking have shirked responsibility.

But now the work has reached that stage when everyone can lend assistance. This week a campaign will be conducted when a supreme effort will be made to raise enough money for these improvements. Every student will be interviewed and urged to give some material assistance. Not only are students urged to help in this work, but every friend of the institution should feel it a privilege to assist this religious organization in such a forward movement.

Remember that the Y. M. C. A. is providing for the fulfillment of a long-felt need in preparing these rooms. They mean greater social as well as religious development at Susquehanna. Are you justified, therefore, in refusing to give your support to this cause? Contribute liberally and you will feel hereafter that you have proven your loyalty to your Alma Mater.

—Be ready for the campaign teams with the full contents of that old sock.

—Basketball enthusiasts were given a treat Thursday night. The girls are highly elated over their initial success.

—Sunday North Americans were at a premium this week. Cunningham's cartoons and Graham's athletic write-up on Susquehanna were most interesting.

—Dan Cupid's darts have been falling thick and fast during the past week. Even our most experienced warriors have succumbed from mortal wounds.

Y. M. C. A. MEN RETURNED FROM STATE

The meeting last week led by Miller '15, was a record breaker; a greater number being present than at any other meeting this year. "Nearer, My God, to Thee" rendered by the quartette won hearty applause and prepared the way for the sweeping message that followed.

Mr. Apple acquainted himself by paying tribute to the fellows, calling them a "clean looking bunch" which they thoroughly appreciated. Ezekiah, an Old Testament character, was set forth as one of the many ideal men of old. His life was pictured very vividly from the standpoint of the physical course he pursued, and the distinguished blessings he enjoyed. The topics developed and sifted resolve into these truths: that by keeping God's commandments and abiding by mother's prayers you cannot go wrong and that by walking with God, manifold blessings are enjoyed. Let the thot of Ezekiah's life give courage for a happier and more cheerful life.

Koller '16, Keammerer '16, and Mohny '17, delegates sent to State College to attend the greatest Y. M. C. A. campaign ever held at that place, have just returned deeply moved and inspired.

The Mott campaign was conducted systematically and with wonderful results, which will not only affect Penn State but practically all of the eastern colleges, the most of which were represented there. Dr. Mott in himself is an unemotional, straight-forward and effective speaker. He appeals to man's reason and does not, under a spell of excitement, try to win men to Christ. Of course, feelings of sorrow must sweep over the heart. Religion without feeling is religion without thinking, but to step into the light the will must join hands with the mind and heart.

Working in harmony with some one hundred and fifty speakers, Mr. Buchman caused a wave of religious sentiment, that engulfed every fraternity as well as dormitory man, to sweep over State. The personal interviews were considered the most important part of the campaign. The conferences held Friday and Saturday evenings were full of instruction, and much information sadly needed was gleaned from talks touching on every possible subject of interest to a college man.

The lecture by Dr. Mott Sunday afternoon on "The European War," brought home to us the horrors of the bloody scenes in the trenches, the tenderness of the red cross aid, the sadness of the heart-broken widows and orphans, the stoicism of the wounded soldiers, the firm belief of every nation in the ultimate success of their cause, our lack of interest in aiding the suffering, and finally the effect on the colleges and universities. The information comes direct as Dr. Mott just returned from the firing line a few weeks ago, and the picture comes fresh from his memory.

Sunday evening hundreds of men responded to the overwhelming appeal to "purpose, with the help of God, to pay what it costs to be a sincere follower of Jesus Christ."

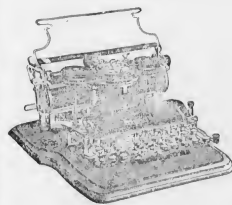

The spark has dropped among the Susquehanna men and it is being fanned into a flame. Three men from State have kindly consented to give us their services during the week-end, February 26-28. Cranston will give us a message from a Y. M. C. A. president's view point, McDowell from that of an athlete, and Welty will come in song. These men are among the best of State's Christian workers and will mingle with us in personal interviews, conferences and general meetings. Let every man at Susquehanna thru earnest prayer move God and himself to make these meetings a success and thru the love of Jesus Christ raise the standard of college life at old Susquehanna. Let the fraternal spirit reign supreme between you and your fellow men.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

BUY BONDS FOR Y. M. C. A. IS TO BE THURSDAY'S SLOGAN

(Said 1914 many persons) see any of these fellows coming to your room, they are a determined crowd and will sure have an interview with you sooner or later.

A large clock, 6 feet in diameter, will be placed on the South side of Selinsgrove Hall, facing Gustavus Hall. This clock contains a large dial on which will be registered the total amounts hourly subscribed. Two smaller dials will record the amounts received by each team. By this means the student body will know just what is going on and how much is being received at each hour during the day. It has taken no little work to make this registering clock, and only goes to show that the Y. M. C. A. means business.

This is an entire student movement and is worthy of everybody's help. The Y. M. C. A. has taken a heavy burden on its shoulders in order to make the student life of Susquehanna more agreeable and profitable.

"Are you going to let this burden rest on the Y. M. C. A. or are you going to prove your good will toward it and help remove the yoke by your generosity?"

Susquehanna needs a better Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. needs more fellows and better quarters. To make this condition possible we are counting on your support and loyalty. Let everyone get into the game and let the motto for next Thursday be: "BUY BONDS."

ALUMNI DEFEATED

Susquehanna veterans of the cage came back strong Saturday night and held the 'Varsity to a 35-21 score in the first Alumni basketball game ever played at this institution. The interest and curiosity manifested by the crowd bids fair to an annual contest of a similar character taking place in the future.

Remarkable endurance was displayed by the Alumni, while timely shooting and careful guarding on the part of the ancient players featured the entire contest. Treco, the husky guard of the '11 and '12 seasons, with the fleet-footed Denfer, who did much in placing Susquehanna in intercollegiate circles in this sport, proved a bulwark on defense for the Alumni. Although it has been several years since either of these men has donned a uniform, they executed some remarkable floor work for the old-timers.

"Mac" Daggett, a member of the '10 and '11 team, filled the position of center in fine style and kept the 'Varsity guessing by his continued aggressiveness. Aikens proved a worthy team mate of this former star. He was a member of the notable '10 and '11 teams and still retains his shooting ability, which was proven by the four difficult field goals he caged during his stay in the game. Schoch and Knaiseley alternated at forward and at times showed flashes of old time form. Sholly, after a lapse of twelve years in athletic activities, deserves great credit for his consistent guarding in the second period.

The line-up:

Alumni	Position	Susque.
Aikens	forward	Middlesworth
Schoch	forward	Lauver
Daggett	center	Witmer
Treco	guard	Shannon
Denfer	guard	Harkins

Substitutions—Sholly for Schoch, Knaiseley for Aikens; Harmon for Witmer, Hostetter for Middlesworth, Meese for Lauver, Hill for Shannon. Goals from field—Aikens 4; Daggett, Denfer; Middlesworth 6; Witmer 3; Shannon 2; Harkins 2; Lauver, Harmon. Goals from fouls—Aikens 4; Daggett 4; Treco, Middlesworth 5. Referee, Grossman. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

CO-EDS DEFEAT SUNBURY

Before one of the largest crowds that ever filled Alumni gymnasium, Susquehanna co-eds won an exceptionally interesting game of basketball from the Sunbury Y. W. C. A. basket ball team on the local floor Thursday night, 21-17. From start to finish the local decision was in doubt, the score being tied a great part of the first half. In the second half Susquehanna's representatives came back strong and soon attained a lead which the Sunbury girls were unable to overcome. Miss Bess Fetterolf, captain of the local five, displayed considerable ability as a forward, and it was her work in the main which brought victory to the college girls. For the Y. W. C. A. girls Miss Haven's foul shooting and Miss Jones' aggressive work were features.

The line-up:

Sunbury	positions	Susque.
Haven	forward	B. Fetterolf
Jones	forward	Groninger
Haines	center	Rearick
Stahl	guard	Hall
Collins	guard	M. Weaver

Substitutions—Lulu Fetterolf for Rearick; Webb for Lulu Fetterolf; Woodruff for Webb; Goodyear for Haines. Field goals—Haven 2; Jones 2; B. Fetterolf 7; Groninger 2. Goals from fouls—Haven 9; Fetterolf 3. Referee—Grossman. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Mr. and Mrs. "Dick" Kauffman left for a two week's visit with relatives in Millburg.

Postponement has been made of the Girls' Glee Club concert in Seibert Hall from Tuesday, February 9 to the 16th.

Dr. Frank P. Manhart was re-elected president of the Snyder County Historical Association at Middleburg Friday in their annual business meeting.

President Aikens announced that a Centre county presented the University with a gift of $1000, in the form of a United States Steel Company bond.

Susquehanna's Athletic Board held their monthly meeting Thursday evening, at which time the 1915 Baseball schedule was passed, subject to faculty approval.

Prof. Keener was one of a party from town who enjoyed a sledding party to Fremont Thursday night, at which place they were served with an excellent turkey dinner.

Rev. Charles Leonard delivered a forcible lecture against the liquor traffic, illustrated with striking pictures, in Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday evening.

Dr. J. I. Woodruff delivered a much appreciated lecture on "The Trend of Modern Philosophy" at the monthly meeting of the Sunbury Ministerial Association last week.

Senior class pins arrived last week and they are the neatest emblems that have been worn by any Susquehanna class for a number of years. The design is in the shape of an Old English S with the numerals 15 placed thereon.

Heavy rains have marked the weather conditions prevalent for the past few weeks. More rain fell, according to the state bureau, during the past three weeks than has been precipitated in the same length of time for fourteen years.

It is to be regretted that some person or persons still persist in stealing the electric light bulbs from different parts of the boys' dormitory. Registrar Horton has been continually placing large Tungsten bulbs in the halls, but they are as rapidly disappearing until now the small candle power lights are again in use.

BUCKNELL TO PLAY SATURDAY

Bucknell will be the opponents of the Orange and Maroon in Alumni gymnasium Saturday, February 13th. This will be one of the Central Pennsylvania league games, and much interest is being attached to the outcome. Coach Ketchner has his men on edge for the conflict and, since the Ducknell team has taken a decided brace, a little royal is anticipated. Board for the reservation of seats will open at Wells store Thursday, Feb. 11, at 1 o'clock P. M.

PROPER APPRECIATION

I find enclosed check for $3.50 for "The Susquehanna," $2.50 of which are in payment of arrears of my subscription. The weekly issue of "The Susquehanna" is another advance step. We are always glad to hear of the success of Susquehanna. The class of '29 and '30, of which I was a member, is scattered from Iowa, U. S., to Turkey in Europe, and I am sure everyone of us enjoy a reunion in spirit once a week as we read "The Susquehanna."

Rev. J. Ernest Zimmerman.

MRS. HORTON SURPRISED

When Mrs. William T. Horton returned from the co-ed basketball game Thursday evening she was greeted by twenty-five women, members of her Sunday School class, who came with laden baskets to tender their best wishes on her birthday anniversary. Tasty eats, good cheer, and hearty wishes featured the evening's surprise.

PASSING OF THE SUSQUES MARKED BUCKNELL'S DEMISE

Up-River Collegians Outclassed by Orange and Maroon Here Saturday Night. Score 47-31

Sweetest revenge was Susquehanna's when the defeat at Bucknell in the early part of the season, was atoned for by Susquehanna's winning from the Lewisburg men in Alumni gymnasium, on Saturday evening, 47-31. Though the game was rather slow throughout, yet at times wonderful exhibitions of passing by the Orange and Maroon men and the spectacular field goals caged by members of both teams, tended to keep the spectators in a state of excitement. This is the fourth game of the intercollegiate league schedule played by the home team, and places Susquehanna in the 500 class of ball tossers.

Bucknell's victory over the local men earlier in the season had a tendency to send them into the fray with a determination to defeat their old-time rivals. Following the first toss-up Kelchner's men started a series of spectacular passes which almost lost the up-river team. A field goal by Brenner from the middle of the floor, which closely followed a foul, gave Bucknell a 3-2 lead in the first two minutes of play. Never after this was the game in doubt as the 'Varsity by superior team work continually had their opponents on the jump.

The first half ended with Susquehanna leading 27-17. Her opponents outdid themselves as the second half opened by scoring four points before the home men had rightly begun work, but any fear which might have sprung into the hearts of Susquehanna supporters was only momentary as Kelchner's men soon started another whirlwind attack which could not be resisted.

Brenner and Garnor proved themselves the nucleus around which the Bucknell team is formed. Garnor especially featured on account of his remarkable foul shooting, caging seventeen out of twenty-four attempts. For Susquehanna, Witmer, who substituted Swoope at center in the second half while the Orange and Maroon captain replaced Phillips at forward, played well after the first few minutes of play. Shannon, who played his first game at forward, did some clever shooting. But in no sense of the word did any one man star. The entire team played as one united whole, each man doing his share of the work.

The line-up:

Bucknell	Position	Susque.
Murray	forward	Shannon
Garnor	forward	Phillips
Brenner	center	Swoope
Gdnac	guard	Middleworth
Bonhom	guard	Harkins
Substitutions—Swoope for Phillips, Witmer for Swoope, Musser for Murray. Goals from field—Garnor 4; Phillips 3; Murray, Shannon 4; Phillips 3; Swoope 3; Witmer 4; Middleworth 3; Harkins. Offenses—Susquehanna 24; Bucknell 19. Goals from fouls—Garnor 17; Middleworth 11; Referee—Taggart, of Harrisburg. Time of halves—20 minutes.

ST. VALENTINE'S SPIRIT

Unique in its every part, the Valentine Social held by the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations last evening proved to be an event of unusual enjoyment. Feeling that an evening of fun and frolic would but act as a tonic to both religious organizations the live wires of the two associations arranged this social for the evening of February 15th.

Monday afternoon was spent by the decoration committee in preparing Seibert Hall for the pleasurable event. Every corner of the room presented a dainty appearance, all decorations being of a character to remind one of the spirit of the occasion—St. Valentine's Day. After some time had been spent in informal sociability and common conversation, the entertainment committee took charge of affairs and for an hour or more games peculiarly suitable to an occurrence of this kind were indulged in. Even after the entertainers had fled before the refreshment committee the jovial throng were continually reminded of the day they celebrated as they were served with oddly-shaped delectables.

Everyone reported a royal good time and a desire that these organizations may strengthen their bond of good fellowship among the students by subsequent social events of this kind.

INDOOR BASE BALL POPULAR

Much interest is being manifested in the inter-class indoor Baseball League organized by the members of the Gym Class.

Two games have been played—the first between the Freshmen and Sub-Freshmen, resulting in a victory for the former, 14-6, and the second between the Sophomores and the Freshmen, going to the Sophomores, 4-3.

The next game will be played between the Sophomores and the third year Preps on the 17th, in which Goble, the famous 'Varsity Southpaw, who has consented to captain the Preps, expects to land a victory over the leaders.

Following is the standing of the clubs:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Sophomores	1	0	100
Freshmen	1	1	50
Sub-Freshmen	0	1	000
3rd Year Preps	0	0	000

—The 'Varsity will make supreme efforts to bring two victories with them when they return from battles with A.D.Bright and Muhlenberg this week.

—The success of the Y. M. C. A. campaign was due to the careful planning of the work followed by the careful working of the plans.

are constantly stumbling and fall over the smallest things that tempt men. It is more necessary to guard against the evil thoughts and desires that we may harbor in our minds than it is to be watching to combat some great evil. It is only as man gives himself up to the trivial temptations that he weakens himself to overcome the great sins of life. He drove these facts home to all in a very plain and forceful manner.

As this meeting has been so apparently successful and agreeable to the members of the team we trust that this will not be the last time this year that we may be with this people. The Y. M. C. A. wishes to thank the people and their local officers for the assistance they have rendered in making this meeting so successful. The Y. M. C. A. is always ready to lend assistance to any pastor or congregation in the extension of the Christian church.

$57.80 AN HOUR HIGH SPEED RECORD OF Y. M. C. A. FUND

Ten Hours' Effort Eclipsed Hopes of Movement's Most Sanguine Promoters Among Enthusiastic Student Body

Thursday, February 11, 1915, will be marked with red ink upon the calendar of Susquehanna University, as one of the most demonstrative events of student generosity in its history.

Last week's issue of the "Susquehanna" announced that a campaign would be held on above date, to raise five hundred dollars for the new Y. M. C. A. apartments. The amount called for was large and many were skeptical as to the outcome of the venture. In fact the majority of people thought that a few hundred dollars less than five would be the amount pledged.

The large registering clock was tightly wound on Wednesday night; and ready for business Thursday morning. By a decree of the faculty Thursday was declared as a holiday and the inconvenience of classes was thus eliminated. The bond salesmen were up in the morning with the birds and had over a hundred dollars subscribed before the student body was fairly awake. The big clock was the center of attraction as each new subscription sent the hands a little further on their journey, an enthusiastic crowd cheered them on. The appointed pledge-teams worked like bees, they were everywhere, pleading, arguing, and convincing every one that their duty lay in only one direction—the direction of the Y. M. C. A. funds. They made the clock move so fast, that time had to be called to administer a little oil to its bearings in order to prevent a hot box. By one o'clock over four hundred dollars had been subscribed and every one thought that the limit surely had been reached—but not so with the sellers of the bonds—they kept right on working and when the whistle blew to stop work for the day, the overtaxed hands of the clock were making another lap around the dial.

Five hundred and seventy-eight dollars and fifty cents was subscribed by the faculty, students and friends of Susquehanna; the large majority however came from the students.

Several years ago fifty dollars was subscribed in one day for the Y. M. C. A. and that was thought to be remarkable. But when over five hundred dollars was raised in one day, we must call it phenomenal—and think that the hearts of the givers were surely touched by a divine inspiration.

Dedicatory services will be held in the new rooms next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Aikens will deliver the address of dedication. On Monday evening immediately after the D. A. R. contest, which will be held in Seibert Hall, the rooms will be open to the public for general inspection. Every student, teacher, and friend of the institution is invited to attend these services as well as others which will be announced later.

The following is a summary of the pledges made:

Faculty	$ 8.00
Coads	36.50

Fifty-five $5 Contributions	275.00
Three $4 Contributions	12.00
Four $3 Contributions	12.00
Thirty-six $2 Contributions	72.00
Twenty-two $1 Contributions	22.00
Miscellaneous	47.00
Total	$578.50

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY'S MESSAGE STUDENTS' THEME

Dr. Dimm, Venerable Ex-President of Susquehanna, Assisted in Conduct of Special Worship

Sunday evening the first Y. M. C. A. deputation team of this term held services in the Lutheran church at Shamokin Dam. Thru the cooperation of the venerable Dr. Dimm and the local Sunday School Superintendent, Ira Fiss, the team met with extraordinary success. Even though the evening was somewhat disagreeable on account of the constant downpour of rain the church was almost entirely filled. The audience consisted of people of almost all ages, and at no time did those present seem to lose interest in the meeting and what was being said by the speakers. They aided all they possibly could in the singing. They, in fact, seemed to take the deepest interest in the meeting.

The program consisted of short talks by Messrs. V. N. Miller, Earle Mohney, and Luther Dolbeare and a solo by Elwood Swoope. Between talks appropriate hymns were sung which added much enthusiasm to the meeting. Mr. Miller in his talk, "Heroism and Loyalty," showed that heroism does not consist so much in doing great and valorous deeds as it does in conquering self and doing what you do out of love for your fellow men. Do the deed for the sake of the good you may accomplish and not for the praise you may receive. Mr. Dolbeare spoke upon "Practical Christianity," and in his talk showed what was most needed in the Christian churches of today. He pointed out that it was not money, more church buildings and more numbers that were needed so much as more devout, sincere Christians. He showed the need of practical, personal workers, in carrying out the teaching of Christ. He especially emphasized Christ's great command to go, and he made it very impressive that it did not only refer to the ministers of the Gospel or any select few but also that it was intended for all who confess Christ. Next Mr. Swoope rendered a Solo which was certainly appreciated by all. This solo was a very valuable addition to the program. It added much interest and spice to the meeting. Mr. Mohney spoke upon "A Rational Fight for Character," and in the few moments of time left him he showed that many people are today watching the great pitfalls in life but

PRESIDENT AND MRS. AIKENS WERE TENDERED RECEPTION

Faculty and Students Joined in Making Welcome the Return of Institution's Head and His Bride

An unusually interesting chain of festive events culminated Thursday evening in the Reception tendered Doctor and Mrs. Aikens by the Faculty and students of the University.

Upon receiving the press notices, and, incidentally, Dr. Manhart's admonition to "Go and do likewise," steps were immediately taken to receive the bridal couple with a hearty welcome. A committee of young men arranged for an old-time "bell-ringing," and the entire student body turned out with a motley collection of horns, bells, cans, and various other instruments of auditory torture, designed to render the calm and stilly night a thousand times more hideous than the fondest hopes of a juvenile fire-and-drum corps.

Shortly after the return of Dr. and Mrs. Aikens to their home on Tuesday evening, the merry band of serenaders surrounded the house, and after a hearty A-N-N-A for Dr. and Mrs. Aikens such a medley of noises arose as has seldom disturbed the drowsy calmness of a Selinsgrove night.

After enduring several minutes of this nerve-racking tumult, Dr. Aikens appeared and expressed his appreciation of the enthusiastic welcome. Mrs. Aikens then appeared and each of the serenaders was presented. After a few more remarks from Dr. Aikens, the entire party departed for the restaurant. While at the restaurant, the President of the Upper Classes declared a holiday for the following Thursday.

A feature of quite different nature was the reception on Thursday evening, from 8:00 to 10:00. The concert hall, under the efficient direction of Prof. Keener, was tastefully decorated with an abundance of spruce and laurel, with streamers of white radiating in all directions from the spot where the reception committee took their stand. STUDENT RESPONSE

Large colleges boast of their superior advantages; they continually emphasize the opportunities which they offer to the student; they even at times disparage the work done by the smaller institutions of learning; but, granting that there is a slight tinge of truth in these claims of superiority, beyond a doubt, the small college has many points of vantage which are not noticed by the average observer. Chief among these are love of Alma Mater, loyalty, and responsiveness of undergraduates in supporting various student movements.

Susquehanna is ranked among the smaller colleges. Those characteristics, which belong to the smaller college, have ever been in evidence at this institution. But the past week has witnessed the occurrence of unusual response on the part of the student body at Susquehanna to appeals for aid.

Never in her history have students and friends of the University responded so quickly and so well to a call for help as was given the Young Men's Christian Association when it conducted a campaign for $500 in one day last Thursday. Contributions were received from practically every male student of the University, while assistance was received from many other sources. But it is not the amount given but the spirit of the giver we would commend. Everybody contributed as though it were a privilege to give. With few exceptions every student, teacher, or friend, who was solicited, gave liberally.

Such a response betokens a healthy college spirit. To have every student so deeply interested in one common project is no ordinary feat. Not only are we satisfied that no large college can speak so proudly of a proportionate success but we firmly believe that few colleges of our own size can boast of loyal response such as Susquehanna students gave this religious organization when they sought aid.

Susquehanna can justly feel proud of this accomplishment, for as other institutions vainly strive to launch successfully some large endeavor they cannot help but recall the loyal support that the students of this institution have given to similar projects.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Princeton has replaced her professional coach for the freshman baseball team by securing the services of Prof. F. L. Hutton, of the university faculty, who will act as coach without remuneration. This most recent action of the board of athletic control places freshman baseball on the same basis as rowing, for Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, who has built up the sport for the Tigers, receives no salary. It also marks another advance toward President Hibben's idea of unpaid coaches, and means that the number of resident coaches will be increased, no less than seven coaches living in Princeton throughout the year.

President J. G. McMurry, of Drury College, Springfield, Mo., declares that if a man smokes he cannot be a professor on the faculty of that college no matter how well qualified he may be for the performance of his duties.

Hartwick Seminary, Hartwick, N. Y., seems to be in need of a new Girls' Dormitory. The Executive Committee of the Woman's League of the Lutheran Church is making plans for raising $10,000 for this most needed annex to the Seminary. On the evening of Jan. 2nd a "Hartwick Benefit Entertainment" was held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wartenburg, N. Y. The proceeds were given to the Dormitory Fund. Hartwick banners, songs and yells added to the interest of the occasion. The entertainment was given entirely by those who have been or are students of the Seminary.

Much progress has been made at the University of Cincinnati during the past decade. Their attendance has increased 200 per cent, their endowment 100 per cent, and they are graduating twice as many students as previously. 1338 acres of land have been added to the college campus, a contract has been let for the construction of a new chemical laboratory and plans are being formulated for several new Women's buildings.

CLIO

In giving a brief account of Clio we must abridge the most important facts while many of the minor details, all of which are great in themselves and which assist in making a greater Clio, must be omitted.

A new coterie of officers were elected at Clio's last meeting and are about to enter upon the arduous task of keeping Clio moving along the paths of progress. Too much praise cannot be given in behalf of the officers who are about to retire. They have preserved the honor and dignity of the society and firmly instilled the sense of order and duty into the members. To maintain such conditions, requires the skill of a leader who must contain the qualities of determination regardless of the animosity which may enter the minds of jealous rivals.

Beyond a doubt the last few weeks have seen an intense interest manifested in the work of the society, and if the succeeding officers can maintain the interest, Clio can feel justly proud of her literary distinctions.

CONCERT THIS EVENING

A very interesting entertainment will be given this evening when the Girls' Glee Club give their initial concert of the season in Seibert Hall. The girls have spent much time in preparation under the instruction of Mrs. Grover A. Brower, teacher in voice, so that a high class, interesting program may be expected. The entertainment begins at 8 o'clock.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

ALUMNI NOTES

Miss Kathryn Bruch, C. of M., '14, of Muncy, Pa., was a week-end visitor with friends at the university.

Rev. M. J. Ross '10 and '13, of Salem, Pa., resigned as pastor of the Lutheran church to take effect May 1st, 1915.

During the recent financial campaign of the Y. M. C. A. in which $578.50 was raised in one day for defraying the expenses in the provision of new rooms for Y. M. C. A. work at the university a member of the alumni contributed liberally. We hope that all the alumni may become more interested in the welfare of Susquehanna.

Misses Grace and Maria Geiselman, '09 and '13, are being entertained this week at the home of their uncle, Pres. Charles T. Aikens.

Rev. E. M. Gearhart '03 and '06, pastor of the Lutheran church at Montoursville, Pa., is reported to have his charge in a very flourishing condition. The active and energetic membership stands ready to cooperate with him in his work. The Sabbath School numbers about 500 and well organized. In the near future a series of evangelistic services are being arranged. We wish him success in all of his endeavors.

PRESIDENT ANN MRS. AIKENS WERE TENDERED RECEPTION

Mrs. Aikens was presented with a large bouquet, with an expression of the congratulations and well-wishes of the young men of the school. Receiving with Dr. and Mrs. Aikens, were Dr. and Mrs. Manhart, and Dr. and Mrs. Houtz.

The evening was spent in an informal manner, no fixed program being rendered. An orchestra, which was concealed behind the shrubbery upon the stage, furnished the music throughout the evening.

Toward the end of the evening Mr. Swoope was pressed into service, and for a quarter of an hour royally entertained his hearers with his humorous readings.

Refreshments of a suitable variety were served, and then the evening closed with the singing of a new school song, written by Grossman.

Much of the success of the evening is due to Mr. Horton, who is a past master in arranging for affairs of this kind, and whose ceaseless efforts are frequently directed to occasions of this sort.

In honor of Dr. and Mrs. Charles T. Aikens a reception was given Thursday evening in Seibert Hall by the officials of Susquehanna University. Mr. and Mrs. Horton were the powers behind the throne in arranging the fête and their ability as planners was thoroughly proven, while the enjoyment of the evening adds still more lustre to their enviable reputations as entertainers. The decorating was directed by Prof. Nathan N. Keener and the excellent results showed good taste and careful choice on the part of the person in charge.

"MOTT-ECHO" CAMPAIGN TO BE WAGED HERE FEB. 26-27-28

Friday Evening's Reception to Mark Beginning of Another Forward Movement by Christian Organizations

There is no doubt in the minds of the faculty and student body of Susquehanna that the financial campaign of the Y. M. C. A. was a supreme effort and a glorious success. Not only was there approximately Six Hundred Dollars subscribed to the fund, but the inspiration and enthusiasm gathered thru the work has continued and the proposed rooms are completed.

To let the good work rest here without any further effort would be to obliterate the success already achieved. There must be conservation and continuation. For this purpose another campaign, of a different character has been planned.

For the past few years, Deputation Work and Social Service has been one of the strong calls coming to our Association. We have a particularly advantageous field here, especially for Gospel Team work, and on a number of occasions teams have represented our institution very creditably. But we feel that a much larger field lies immediately before us and we intend to accept this challenge. In order to do this work and be of the greatest service, preparation is necessary.

Last year several fellows represented our Association in the Eddy Campaign, held at State College; this year we were again honored with an invitation to assist in that great work and three of our best men spent several days there in the Mott Campaign.

At that time arrangements were made to carry on a similar campaign at Susquehanna, we in turn to be assisted by several of State's strongmen.

Now as a fitting climax to Susquehanna's unprecedented student effort a three-day service campaign will be held, Feb. 26, 27, 28, during which time emphasis will be placed upon definite Christian service by the college student. In this movement the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. will join forces in order that the greatest efficiency may be secured and the most good result.

Although the campaign is to be a concentration of forces of both religious bodies of the institution, yet each organization will conduct its own services, during the allotted time.

Meetings, conferences and interviews will occupy the time from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon. Beginning Friday evening a reception will be held by each organization, in their respective meeting places, for the State workers, at which time arrangements may be made for personal interviews on Saturday.

Saturday morning and afternoon will be given over to conferences and interviews while a general meeting will be held in the evening.

The regular Sunday morning services will be observed in the college church, while on Sunday afternoon, as a culmination to the campaign, dedicatory exercises in the new Y. M. C. A. rooms will be held. Special musical numbers will feature all the meetings.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GAVE FINE PROGRAM

WELL DRILLED SINGERS WERE ENCHORED REPEATEDLY BY ENTHUSIASTIC AUDITORS

MRS. GROVER A. BROWER

After several months of training under the baton of Mrs. Grover A. Brower, the Susquehanna Girls' Glee Club made their first appearance Tuesday evening in Selbert Hall. Although the attendance was not very large the enthusiasm of the auditors made up for the lack of quantity, and as a result the performers were greeted with much applause, and encores were called for time after time. The numbers presented by the club showed careful selection, constant training, and good preparation. While every number on the program deserves to be heartily commended, yet only a few can be mentioned in detail. Miss Rayman in her several selections showed fine quality as well as a large range of voice. The duet "Parting" as rendered by Misses Kautz and Neidig proved very beautiful and worthy of merit, while the solos of the latter were much appreciated. In several Readings Miss McCormick captivated the audience by her delivery and her manifestation of that "at home" feeling on the stage. Loch Lomond, as given by the entire club, evoked the usual applause that this old Scotch favorite always brings forth.

Under the direction of Mrs. Grover A. Brower the following girls took part in the entertainment: Misses Mary Neidig, Emily Rayman, Ruth Groninger, Marie Herter, May Walker, Alice Weaver, Miriam Grossman, Anna Diveley, Anna Cole, Florence Kautz, Elizabeth Hall, Eva Grove, Helen Webb, Estelle McCormick and Rebecca Ryeharson.

NO HOT WATER

Hot water for bathing purposes has been a minus quantity in the gymnasium during the past few weeks. Before the change of management took place there generally was a sufficient supply of hot water for all purposes, and if the proper attention is given to the apparatus there is no reason why the same conditions should not exist at present.

WIT AND HUMOR IN PHILO'S MOCK TRIAL ON SATURDAY

Alumni Constitute Court and Prosecute Student Poultry Fancier Who Had Very Taking Ways

Philo broke away from her usual routine last Saturday evening and treated her members and friends to a feast of wit and humor by giving a mock trial. The plaintiff in the case was the state, represented by attorney Halston '15. The defendant was E. Ivan Frey '15, whose legal advisor was Nathaniel A. Danowsky '15. The Judge of the court was E. E. Pawling, Esq., of Selinsgrove, the Clerk of the court John A. S. Schoch '00, the Court Crier "Yarrick" Schoch '00, and the Sheriff Harold Folmer '15. The witnesses for the state were A. W. Smith '14, Ralph Woodruff '18, Paul Harmon '16, and Miss Bess Fetterolf '16, and those for the defense were E. W. Nichols '16, Vance Globe, Business '15, and Miss Gertrude Weaver '15. The jurors were Profs. Woodruff, Allison, Brungari, Folmer, Houtz, Fisher, Fillion, Brower and Smyser, Rev. Aurand, and Messrs. Horton and "Josiah Perkins". Prof. Woodruff was appointed foreman of the jury.

The charge preferred against the defendant, Mr. Frey, was chicken stealing from the farm of Mr. Thompson, on the night of Feb. 11, between the hours of 11 to 12.

The court opened promptly at eight o'clock, and after preliminary business took up the case of the state vs. E. Ivan Frey. Ammon Wellington Smith was the first witness called by the state, and testified that he saw Mr. Frey about 11:20 P. M. on the night of Feb. 11th leaving Selinsgrove Hall with a bag under his arm and going toward the Thompson farm. He also told of a conversation he had heard in the dining room on the morning of Feb. 12th between Nichols and Teishart, relative to Frey's running ability and the loss of a hat. Paul Harmon was next brought to the witness stand by the state. He verified Mr. Smith's statements regarding Frey and the conversation in the dining room, and said that he saw Frey running across the campus toward Selinsgrove Hall about 12 o'clock, breathless and hatless. Ralph Woodruff was then called as the third witness for the state and said that he saw Mr. Thompson following Mr. Frey from the chicken house, and also saw Frey fall and lose his hat which was picked up by Mr. Thompson and presented in court as evidence. Mr. Woodruff also related a conversation he had heard between Frey and Prof. Folmer on the morning of the 12th regarding Frey's ill health and his inability to attend class. Bess Fetterolf, representing Mrs. Thompson, was next called by the state and presented a handkerchief bearing Frey's initials which she found hanging on a splinter in the chicken house on the morning of the 12th. Prof. Faust represented Mr. Thompson, and when called to the witness stand identified Frey's hat which he had found in the pursuit from the chicken house.

The testimony for the state being closed, the witnesses for the defense were called. Alvin Teishart testified to the good character of the defendant Frey and refuted the statements of Smith and Harmon regarding his supposed conversation with Nichols on the morning of the 12th. Nichols verified Teishart's argument and stated that he was not at breakfast on Friday morning, Feb. 12th. Goble then gave his evidence which was of little value, either to the prosecution or the defense. Miss Gertrude Weaver, representing Mrs. Frey, testified that her husband was in his office in the "Jigger Shop" on the night of Feb. 11th at the time when the chickens were stolen, and caused a wave of laughter in the audience by telling the jury of their amiable family life and the affectionate regard that her husband always manifested for her. The defendant, Frey, took the witness chair in his own defense.

He produced evidence that he was writing out long standing bills to Mr. Harmon and other patrons of the "Jigger Shop" during the time in which the chickens disappeared. When the case was about at an end Mr. Nichols went upon the witness stand, declared that he had perjured himself, that he was guilty of the theft himself, and pleaded to the jury for the mercy that was due to a wayward boy. The evidence for and against the defendant being all in, lawyer Danowsky made his final plea to the jury, in which he presented all the defenses evidence and the fallacies of the prosecution. Attorney Halston, representing the state, then made his final plea to the jury in which he produced a handkerchief and a hat of Frey, recounted the evidences of the state's witnesses, and asked the jury for justice. The judge then gave the final words of instruction to the jury which immediately withdrew to Smith's room for its decision. While contemplating upon the evidence at hand one of the wise and shrewd professors discovered a feather similar to the feathers of the stolen chicken and immediately produced it for evidence in the court. The court accepted the newly found evidence, the jury withdrew for a reconsideration and in a few minutes returned to the court with a verdict. The verdict was the acquittal of Frey, the cost of the court proceedings charged to Smith, and the dismissal of the case.

The whole court proceedings were humorous, and the large audience which filled all the sitting and standing room of the hall, showed its appreciation by repeated rounds of applause and laughter. The antics of "Josiah Perkins," the ludicrous testimony of the witnesses and the heated rivalry of the lawyers drove off all monotony of the court session, while the oaths administered by the clerk of the court were extremely amusing.

Philo wishes to thank all her friends for their patience and interest which they manifested in this mock trial, and extend to them as well as to the members of our sister society, Clio, a hearty invitation to meet with us in the near future.

OUR GREAT QUINTET LACKED THEIR USUAL DASH PAPRIKA

But Even Then Albright and Muhlenberg Only Won by Close Scores on Their Own Floors

Albright Nosed Out Opener

Susquehanna dropped to third place in the Central Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League race when they lost a hard-fought basketball game to Albright at Myerstown Friday evening, 26-35. Entering the game chuck full of determination the "Varsity five" executed some remarkable team work during the early part of the contest. But their dash suffered a severe check from the many fouls which were called on them, so that by clever foul tossing the Albright men were able to secure a one-point lead until the end of the first half.

The second half was practically a repetition of the first, with Albright "coming in strong" during the last few minutes of play. "Haps" Benfer was rushed into the game for the last five minutes in order that victory might be assured to the Myerstown men.

Albright played consistently throughout the game. Brillhart proved his ability as a forward by securing five field goals. Susquehanna dropped off in aggressiveness as the game progressed.

Phillips played well at forward, securing several difficult baskets.

This game leaves each of the four teams in the Central League one game to play. The final standing of each team will be determined this week.

The line-up:

Albright	positions	Susquehanna
Brillhart	forward	Shannon
Zinn	forward	Phillips
Patschke	center	Swoope
Walmer	guard	Harkins
Lutz	guard	Middleworth

Substitutions—Walmer for Shannon; Lauver for Phillips; Benfer for Walmer. Field goals—Phillips 3; Swoope 3; Harkins, Walmer 2; Middleworth, Brillhart 5; Zinn 2; Benfer, Patschke 2; Lutz. Foul goals—Zinn 13 out of 23; Middleworth 6 out of 13. Referee, Morris. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Muhlenberg Led by Only 10

Another defeat was registered against the home team Saturday afternoon.

WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN

Two names stand out in bold relief from among the galaxy of America's great. Like two vast mountain peaks that just jut their majestic snow-crowned summits into the high heavens, far above the highest ranges in their system, these two characters stand alone, unapproachable, unsurpassed in the thought and love of the American people.

Ask the smallest school child who they are and he will tell you, "Washington and Lincoln."

America's two greatest men, the nation agrees; yet how oddly they contrast in so many respects. Washington, whose work, whose aims, yes, whose very life seems symbolic of the word 'patriotism,' was born in the richness and splendor of an ideal Virginia plantation home. His early manhood was spent in comfort and enjoyment. But later years brought care and responsibility. As leader of the American army and later as first president of the United States his life was filled with anxiety and concern. To him belongs the credit for the establishment of this great republic. Justly is he called the "Father of our Country."

Among America's splendid assemblage of great men but one stands out in sufficient prominence to be placed on an equality with this bravest of patriots, and that man is Abraham Lincoln. Born and reared in poverty, he managed through perseverance to secure a practical education. Hardships were his from very childhood, yet when duty called him to a position of leadership he found him prepared. As Washington's characteristics are summed up by the word 'patriotism,' so is Lincoln's life an explication of ideal character. Lincoln's work lay in the reconstruction of the nation which Washington had spent his life in founding.

May the laudation of these two heroes ever continue; may we cherish fond memories of them by annual commemoration of their natal days; may we always hold them as ideals of American manhood.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN

From the time that Benjamin Kurtz began his work as Dean of Missionary Institute down to the matriculation of the last green-capped Knight of the '18 class of Susquehanna University, this institution has held an enviable position among the colleges of the land as an institution of high moral and religious standards.

In no way has this desirable state of moral efficiency deteriorated in recent years. Indeed the consensus of opinion at present claims cleaner, purer conditions among dormitory students than have existed at any former time within the last decade. Yet those students who are in charge of the religious organizations of the University see the vital mistake of assuming a feeling of self-satisfaction. They believe that conditions can never be so good but that they may be improved.

Following out this principle arrangements have been made for holding evangelistic services during the latter part of this week. Both the young men and the young women are co-operating in this movement. Three men and two women, who assisted greatly in making the Mott campaign at State College the grand success that it was, will be here.

This movement should interest every student. Do not deceive yourself. It is being held for your benefit. If you would do your duty, help to make this campaign the beginning of a religious awakening which will not culminate until every Susquehanna man and woman shall have declared his allegiance to his Master.

FILLION IN NEW ENGLAND

On Monday evening, Feb. 15, a recital was given in Aldenville, Mass., by Ferdinand Fillion and Paul Dufault, the famous French Tenor, of New York. Although it was a rainy and stormy night a tremendous crowd attended, including most of the people of high social, business and political standing in the community. This was Mr. Fillion's first appearance for more than three years near the city where he studied, taught and concertized for many years until he left there to study in New York City. Mr. Dufault is well known there, having at one time also lived in that vicinity. This wonderful singer has appeared on the concert stage throughout the musical world, and is considered one of the finest tenors in this country. The joint appearance of two such well known artists created something of a sensation, and very unusual interest was manifested in the recital. The occasion gained such prominence that it was taken up by newspapers as far away as Montreal, one of the large papers of that place publishing a lengthy and complete story concerning the artists to appear.

Mr. Fillion's numbers on the program were the Bruch G minor Concerto, Nocturne, Opus 9, No. 2, by Chopin-Sarasate, and a Mazurka by Arnold Volpe. These brought forth storms of applause and Mr. Fillion was compelled to play many encores. An interesting feature of the program was when Mr. Fillion played Mr. Dufault's accompaniments on the piano, although there was almost no preparation. Mr. Fillion gave more than satisfaction to this most exacting singer, and he was much complimented on the perfect support he gave to Mr. Dufault's songs, most of which were of more than passing difficulty.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings Mr. Fillion appeared at private entertainments in New York City, where he was received in the same enthusiastic manner as on Monday night. It is expected that, later in the season, Mr. Fillion will appear in a joint recital in Holyoke, Mass., with Mr. Dufault and Mr. Amato, the famous baritone from the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. Fillion's appearance, both as a violinist and pianist, especially throughout the New England states is always certain to attract large and enthusiastic audiences.

REFUGEES FROM WAR ZONE

Mrs. H. H. Horton and Son Robert William, of Nakazora, Senora, Mexico, daughter-in-law and grand-son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Horton, arrived at the latter's home on the campus Wednesday, to spend the remainder of the winter. On account of the existing warfare in Mexico it was deemed unsafe for Mrs. Horton and son to remain, so the trip north was made.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. M. Rhodes, D. D. '62, recently celebrated the forty-third anniversary of his pastorate at St. Mark's Church, St. Louis, Mo., and his forty-third anniversary in the ministry.

Rev. J. A. M. Zeigler, D. D. '75, pastor at Belen, New Mexico, delivered a lecture on "Panama and the Canal," in St. Paul's church, Albuquerque, February 8th.

Rev. H. C. Michael '96 and '99, of Northumberland, the poet of Susquehanna Alumni, contributes a poem on "Had I a Million Dollars" to the attractiveness of his parish paper for January.

Dr. F. P. Manhart '75, of Selinsgrove, has been re-elected president of the Historical Association of Snyder County.

Rev. J. M. Reaick '85, pastor at Williamsport, Pa., reports the mid-winter communion service the largest in the history of the congregation. He received sixty-one members into the church, thirty-six of whom were heads of families.

Rev. C. P. McLaughlin '98 and '03, pastor of St. Janies' church at Concord, North Carolina, has prepared a program for the Lenten Season and asks his people to give careful consideration to the subject presented, keeping in view the right idea concerning the season of the church year. He has also arranged for a three hour Liturgical Service on Good Friday afternoon. Reports from this field are good and Susquehanna extends to pastor and people its best wishes.

Rev. H. W. Dale '86, '90, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is one of the strong men in the large, Missouri Synod. He has lately been appointed official visitor of the district. As this makes him virtually a "Bishop" and indicates his high standing, the "Susquehanna" extends to him its congratulations.

Mrs. R. L. Schroyer '86, chairman of the Woman's Suffrage Association of Snyder County, delivered an address before the Teachers' Convention at Port Trevorton last Saturday. She made an eloquent appeal to the teachers and voters in the cause of Woman's Rights.

Rev. Wm. A. H. Streamer, Sem. '12, of Saxton, Pa., sends material appreciation of the new "Susquehanna" and at the same time reports encouragingly concerning his work there. At the last communion service held at Marklesburg, February 14th, thirty-six new members were received into the church. Thirty new members were also recently received at the Saxton charge. During Rev. Streamer's pastorate there one hundred and ten members have been taken into the two congregations.

Dr. D. K. Bishop '94, druggist of Milroy, Pa., enjoyed a short visit with Dr. Woodruff and Lauver '15, and Brown '15, at Susquehanna. One of Dr. Bishop's fondest recollections in connection with his Alma Mater is the fact that he was a member of the football team at this institution. As a druggist he has long since proven his ability, and now holds a place of prominence among Milroy's business men.

S. E. Bateman, M. D., was called home to attend the funeral of his mother at this place. The "Susquehanna" desires to extend her sympathy to this faithful alumnus in his bereavement. Dr. Bateman is now practicing medicine in Philadelphia and has won for himself much success in his profession.

Rev. J. W. Shaeffer '89, pastor at Homer City, Pa., reports great interest in his congregation. After a series of meetings covering the month of January more than forty members have been added to the church. Of this number, twenty-four are heads of families. In addition to the above, a class will be confirmed at Easter, or soon after. The attendance at all services has been increased more than a hundred per cent. Rev. Shaeffer has served this congregation faithfully for nearly twenty-five years.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Geise, three miles north-east of Northumberland, on Thursday, February 18th, at noon, when their daughter, Miss Mary Irene, was married to Daniel Edwin Diehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Diehl, of Northumberland. About thirty-five guests witnessed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by a trio consisting of Mrs. Luther Geise and the bride's sisters, Misses Nora and Mildred Geise. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white crepe de chine and embroidered chiffon, and carried white roses. The contracting parties were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Susie Geise, and the bridegroom's brother, William Diehl.

Immediately after the ceremony an elegant turkey dinner was served, the newly wedded couple leaving on the evening train for a honeymoon in Ohio and Indiana. Rev. H. C. Michael, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Northumberland, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Diehl is well known to students at Susquehanna. She spent two years here, one in the commercial department from which she graduated in 1912, and the following year as stenographer in the registrar's office. Her many friends extend congratulations.

Y. W. C. A.

Quite a long time has elapsed since mention has been made in these columns of the Young Women's Christian Association. The body however has not been idle all this time, but the regular meetings have been held, all of them inspirational, instructive, and well attended.

During the term several members of the faculty have addressed the association, and in each case a message brimful of helpful suggestions and ideas was presented.

The week from the 21st to the 28th of February has been decided upon for special services, to be held every day. Several of the local clergy will deliver addresses during the beginning of the week, and several girls from the Penn State College Association will be here for the latter part of the week. They will tell of their social work, which is the most efficient of all the college associations. Every member of the association should feel it her duty to be present at every session of the week. Sincere congratulations are due the Y. M. C. A. for the success of their recent financial campaign, and the Y. W. C. A. wish them greatest success in all future work.

noon when Muhlenberg outplayed them in a slow, uneventful game at Allentown, the Eastern team finally winning 38-28.

Susquehanna lacked the usual dash and spirit which has been characteristic of her mode of attack this year, so that Muhlenberg had little difficulty in gaining a decided advantage at the start of the game. It was very evident that the 'Varsity was suffering from a momentary slump from the kind of ball they played during the entire first half. Muhlenberg won the first-period decision 16-6, yet they themselves did not perform real brilliantly.

The second half was hotly contested throughout, each side scoring the same number of points. The one bright feature in the otherwise uneventful game was the superb foul shooting by Middleworth.

In the first half he made Susquehanna's six points from nine attempts, and in the second half he succeeded in throwing eight out of nine chances.

PENN. STATE LEADERS CONDUCT RELIGIOUS REVIVALS

"Mott-Echo" Campaign Resulted in Three Busy Week-End Days at Susquehanna University

When word was received from Penn State that she was sending her best team to lead the "Mott-Echo" Campaign here last week, it was regarded as a good find on the part of the leaders of the Christian Associations. Little interest was manifest, however, in the preparations and things went on in a halfhearted way. Even the leaders of the religious organizations were skeptical about the results to be gained.

However, after the opening of the campaign on Friday evening, when a small audience was in attendance, a new spirit began to take a grip on the fellows and the outlook brightened. At that meeting everyone present volunteered to do his utmost to bring at least one other with him on Saturday, and the next meeting found them redeeming their pledges. The rooms were crowded. The spirit was intense, and the speakers filled with a new vim and "pep" which sent new life into everyone.

The other meetings of the campaign were crowded to the capacity of the room. Sunday afternoon the speakers were especially strong and gave us the best that was in them. Their talks were given in typical college style—inspirational but not emotional, setting forth the value of practical Christian service and living.

Coming direct from the great Mott Campaign of a few weeks ago each speaker brought messages full of life and enthusiasm. The impetus gained there was such that does not die in a short time for each leader seemed waiting anxiously for his opportunity to bring his burning message to our fellows.

The Sunday evening service was given over to a genuine "Forward Step" meeting. A large number of decisions were reached by the earnest and sincere men of the institution—those men who stand for the really big things in any school. We feel that these pledges are not momentary, for having been arrived at after long deliberation they are bound to stay.

Only those fellows who attended the meetings can appreciate the talent we were privileged to work with.

"VIG" CRANSTON, President of Penn State Y. M. C. A.; member of Phi Kappa Phi, the honorary Senior Society; Soccer Player; Student Volunteer; came as leader of the team and very acceptably did he fulfill his office, by his personality and ability in personal work.

"MAC" McDOWELL, star Varsity football man; active in Christian service; was the second man on the team; a deliberate, forceful speaker, who hammered home the truth.

"WOODY" WOOD, Penn State's 1915 football captain; devoted to Christian service, made impressions which will not be short-lived; by his "peppy" and straight-from-the-shoulder talks.

DEDICATORY SERVICES CROWN WHOLE COLLEGE'S MOVEMENT

Y. M. C. A. Rooms Officially Opened Sunday Afternoon, When President Aikens Delivered Address

Sunday afternoon at two o'clock the new Y. M. C. A. rooms were set aside for sacred and social purposes, by students, faculty and friends. At this meeting the rooms were filled to their utmost capacity. Our beloved President, Dr. Charles Aikens, officiated at these short, but very impressive services.

The meeting was opened with a sacred song, followed by prayer, by Prof. Polimer. Then Dr. Aikens made some introductory remarks leading up to the real dedicatory services; in these remarks he laid special emphasis upon the respect that should be had for these rooms, and the character of Social engagements that should be allowed in them.

After a few brief remarks he delivered the following Consecration Services, at the close of which each student and member of the faculty repeated in unison, Amen, three times.

And now, these rooms, having been properly arranged and beautified, by the consecrated and united efforts of the young men and friends of Susquehanna University, we the faculty and students do hereby dedicate them, by the word of God and prayer and declare them to be set aside and used for social and religious purposes, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., together with the piano and all the furniture and further proclaim that they shall hereafter be known as the Y. M. C. A. rooms of Susquehanna University.

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.

At the close of the Dedicatory Services, our college pastor offered a prayer beseeching God to guide the young men in their conduct and social engagements in these rooms. The meeting was closed with a hymn, the Lord's Prayer and the benediction by Dr. Floyd.

Y. M. C. A. TEAMS PREPARED FOR EASTER

DEPUTATION MEN READY FOR VACATION ENGAGEMENTS IN PARISHES OF WIDE-AWAKE MINISTERS

Weekly mention has been made in these columns for some time past relative to the Y. M. C. A., their campaigns, the various meetings, and the improvements that they were making in their quarters. But aside from these material constructions the fellows have been doing excellent work along social lines. Deputation teams, consisting of several speakers, an instrumentalist, and a soloist, have been visiting different towns, communities, and churches and have there engaged in uplifting work. At Anrungsburg a deputation team consisting of 6 men from Susquehanna were entertained for a week last Easter vacation, and the noble work which they did there will long be remembered by these townspeople. Kratzville, Middle Creek, and Shamokin Dam churches were visited, by the request of their pastors, at various times for one night services, and the fellows always found a hearty welcome and a cordial invitation to return, which they have been doing throughout the year.

Susquehanna has teams in shape for Easter vacation work and if any pastor desires to have these men come to his church for any length of time up to 10 days he can do so with no extra expenditure, except the actual expenses of the team. If any pastor would like to have one of these teams for social work among the young people of his pastorate it will be necessary for him to write immediately so that arrangements can be made. A clear explanation of the noble work done by these fellows cannot be made in this paper, and the true appreciation of their value is only realized after they have been at work for several days. The fellows will talk especially to the younger persons of the community interesting them in church work; giving talks to the boys; holding nightly meetings to which every person is invited; visiting the schools; associating with the boys and joining them in their games and sports, thereby gaining their respect and confidence; rendering special instrumental and vocal music; lifting the young people to higher standards of living and persuading them to a life of Christian service; winning souls to Christ; strengthening the church and Sunday School and thereby raising the plane of living and bettering the entire community.

All that is needed to secure a team for Easter work is write at once to the Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and make a reservation, and then to hear the actual expenses of the team. This work is being taken up by every college in the state, and the pastors are urged to give this method a trial, because it must be admitted that the young people of a community can be reached more quickly and more satisfactorily by college men of near their own age than they can by the pastors themselves. If you are interested, write to the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association for further information.

SUSQUES LEAVE WEDNESDAY

Coach Kelmner and his men have spent their spare time in preparing for the four game trip this week. The entire company is on edge and expect to make up for their poor showing on the last trip.

DANOWSKY'S ESSAY PRIZE-WINNER IN D. A. R. CONTEST

Fourteenth Annual Event Held by the Local Chapter in Seibert Hall on Evening of Washington's Birthday

In commemoration of the birth of the "Father of Our Country" the Conrad Weiser Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of Selingroves, held their fourteenth annual prize contest in Seibert Hall Monday evening, February 22d. In addition to the members of the chapter, who attended in a body, a fair-sized audience was present to appreciate the well prepared essays based and written upon some phase of the American Revolution. Three members of the senior class availed themselves of the opportunity to participate in this contest.

After the members of the chapter had entered Dr. D. B. Floyd opened the program for the evening with prayer. Following this and introductory to the real contest, the Girls' Glee Club gave several well rendered selections.

As first participant in the contest Nathaniel A. Danowsky read an essay on "John Paul Jones." In a very impressive manner the reader showed the patriotic zeal which this sea captain manifested in the colonies fight for independence. He clearly portrayed the life of Jones from his childhood until his death and gave a graphic description of the removal of his body to this country a few years ago.

Ira C. Gross followed with a masterful production on "Nathan Hale." In addition to his description of Hale's life as a martyr to the cause of liberty, he very eloquently pictured to the audience his various relations with fellow men in his home life.

Miss Susie L. Geise, who was third contestant, produced an extremely well prepared essay on "The Articles of Confederation." Miss Geise's treatise was confined entirely to historic facts. She showed the critical period through which our nation passed at the close of the war, and the wonderful influence which these articles exercised in formulating the thirteen colonies into one grand republic.

The judges, Dr. C. M. Auran, Dr. R. W. Johnston, and Rev. Leon S. Drummheller, found difficulty in reaching a decision as to who was winner in the contest, so near on a par were these three historic treatises. After careful consideration it was decided that the prize of $10 should go to N. A. Danowsky, author of the essay on "John Paul Jones."

Miss Mae Walker sang several very pretty selections at the close of the contest. The members of the chapter then took the pledge of allegiance to the flag before being dismissed to meet for a similar purpose next year.

Southern Trip of Maroon and Orange Quintet Resulted in Double Defeat on Opponents' Floors

Susquehanna's Southern basket ball trip Thursday and Friday was far from being successful as far as winning victories was concerned. Twice did the Orange and Maroon veterans fall sally forth in an attempt to secure another victory but each time were they repulsed. On Thursday evening Gettysburg, in true battlefield style, defeated the local forces by the decisive score, 49-26.

The early part of the game was very interesting. After fifteen minutes of play, Gettysburg discovered that they had gained no advantage. Time was called and a more successful mode of attack was planned. Before the whistle blew at the close of the first half, the battlefield collisions had scored ten more points making the half-time score 24-14.

Susquehanna failed to come back in the second half. The miniature size of the floor proved too great a handicap to the local players, so that at no time during the second period did the Varsity become dangerous.

Williams became very aggressive game at forward for the opposing team. Turnbull's constant fouling gave Middlesworth many opportunities for one-pointers. However, both Middlesworth and Mahaffie, two of the most consistent foul shooters in the country, were doing far from their best in converting penalties into scoring building material.

The line-up:

Gettysburg	positions	Susquehanna
Williams	forward	Swoope
Mahaffie	forward	Phillips
Campbell	center	Witmer
Iklar	guard	Shannon
Turnbull	guard	Middlesworth

Substitutions—Sheffner for Turnbull; Harkins for Shannon. Goals from field—Williams; Mahaffie 5; Campbell 2; Iklar 2; Turnbull 2; Swoope 2; Phillips, Witmer, Middlesworth. Goals from fouls—Mahaffie 11 out of 22; Middlesworth 16 out of 30. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee Taggart.

Mt. St. Mary's Game

Even more disconcerting was the reverse registered against the local quintet on Friday afternoon when Mt. St. Mary's college overwhelmingly defeated them 38-11. The Varsity crossed the border line expecting a rough game with the Maryland mountaineers, and in no way were they disappointed. Quite infrequent were the times when the average observer could immediately determine at what game the athletes were contesting. Twice were the Mt. St. Mary's men halted in their new mode of basket ball warfare by fouls being called on them, and each

A LECTURE COURSE

An education is not comprehended in the common college curriculum. Many other features in the student's life, outside of his class room work, are active in moulding him into a man of broad education and high culture.

Indeed these secondary forms of development are frequently underestimated in value. Too often the college man spends his entire time in acquiring book learning, utterly neglecting the other things which are found in the collegian's well-rounded schedule of work.

Work in literary and religious organizations, a certain amount of athletic activity, attendance at various social functions, all these things should demand of every student a certain amount of time.

At Susquehanna these various forms of development have always been given special attention. Not only has the University, as a whole, continually endeavored to give each student opportunity for extensive development, but different departments of the institution present many advantages to undergraduates in lines of work peculiar to their own course.

However, during recent years, the students in college have felt the need of a well organized lecture course to be obvious, and concur in the opinion that next year should bring to the institution this signal educational privilege. True, a few lecturers visit us every year, and are usually given a warm welcome by the students. They crave the opportunity to hear the great lecturers of the day. They feel that they are deserving of the very best. If properly supervised a lecture course, which would be entirely self-supporting, could be conducted at Susquehanna. The students are interested and it but remains for someone to volunteer as leader for the project.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS ELECTED

With the close of this term comes the expiration of the term of office of the present Y. M. C. A. cabinet. It was necessary, therefore, that a new coterie of officers be elected at the business meeting held last Tuesday evening. This was the first meeting held in the new rooms and a goodly number were in attendance. The members of the Association elected the following men to fill the various offices for the coming year: President, David S. Keammerer; Vice-President, Park Huntington; Secretary, John Rine; Treasurer, Paul Harmon; Facetotum, R. Teichart, Academy.

COLGATE ON SUSQUEHANNA'S SCHEDULE

MANAGER RINE'S COMPILATION
APPROVED BY BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF ATHLETIC ASSN.

Approval of the 1915 football schedule as arranged by Manager S. M. Rine '16, was given by the Athletic Board at their regular meeting last week. A number of strong teams have been taken on the schedule in place of smaller institutions which were played last year.

The schedule is as follows: September 25, Bucknell at Lewisburg; October 3, Colgate, at Hamilton, N. Y.; October 9, Muhlenberg, at Allentown; October 16, Mt. St. Mary's, at Emmitsburg, Md.; October 23, Dickinson Seminary, at Selingsgrove; October 30, Franklin and Marshall, at Lancaster; November 6, Carlisle Indian Reserves, at Selingsgrove, pending; November 13, Albright, at Myerstown; November 20, Dickinson, at Selingsgrove.

GIRLS PLAY BASKETBALL

What promises to be another interesting basketball game will be played next Thursday evening at eight o'clock when the Girls' basketball team of Sunbury High School play the Co-eds' team here. The Sunbury girls have won games from some of the strongest girls' teams in the central part of the state, and a hotly contested game may be expected. Admission 15 cents.

INDOOR BASE BALL

The fourth game on the schedule of the Interclass Indoor Baseball League, between the Freshmen and Third Year Preps, was played on Wednesday evening, and resulted in the former carrying off the laurels 7-4. Although Goble, who pitched for the Preps, completely outclassed Thomas, the opposing pitcher, the Freshmen, through several costly errors on the part of the Academy students, were able to acquire a lead in the early part of the game which the Preps were never able to overcome.

Standing of the teams:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Sophomores	1	0	100
Freshmen	2	1	.667
Sub-Freshmen	0	1	.000
3rd Year Preps	0	1	.000

VACATION WORK

The Review of Reviews Publication Co. offer scholarships to those students who are willing to do a little work during the vacation period. Over 1200 students have won scholarships worth from $100 to $1000 in the last six years under the direction of the Manager of this Scholarship Fund. Half of them were High School students.

The Review of Reviews is a famous magazine and has had a 200,000 circulation for years. Students find it a splendid seller at all times and make big money with it all over the country. Over 150 students won Scholarships the past year. Many of these Scholarships were worth $600 and $700 apiece. The average was about $400, a sum far in excess of what a student could earn by any other plan.

We give each student a thorough personal training. Ninety-two per cent of those who worked it last summer were successful. In towns of 20,000 or over, we award Scholarships on the following basis:

Subs.	Scholarship
100	$ 50.00
200	150.00
300	250.00
400	400.00

In towns of less than 20,000 we have special Scholarships worth $100, $200, $300 for 100, 200 or 300 subscriptions respectively. For fuller details, inquire of

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

PENN STATE LEADERS CONDUCT RELIGIOUS REVIVALS

active participation in Social Service at her own institution left friends and ideas with the girls which promise to bear fruit very shortly.

These strong men and women composed the teams of leaders, which by their untiring efforts, have made Susquehanna a better, cleaner place to live.

Steps have already been taken to conserve the results of the campaign. Bible study on a more energetic and systematic scale will be begun. Deputation work which had become a bit lax has again taken on a new meaning and men are in preparation for the Easter work in various communities. The "Morning Watch" an unknown factor in the religious life of Susquehanna has begun and a large number of men have signified their intention of following this particular line of individual worship.

time the crowd was very loud in showing their disapproval of the referee's action.

Susquehanna's inability to change from their custom of playing clean, straight basket ball to a game in which everything is fair, may be considered the real cause of the one-sided score. Susquehanna presented themselves as the Marylanders' fourteenth victims this year.

Donovan forward Shannon
Leary forward Phillips
Halligan center Swoope
Rodgers guard Martin
Lally guard Harkins

Substitutions—Crilly for Lally; Milhizer for Donovan; Crouch for Halligan; Middlesworth for Martin; Witmer for Harkins. Field goals—Donovan 3; Leary 6; Halligan, Rogers, Lally 5; Milhizer 2; Swoope 2; Phillips, Martin 1. Foul goals—Leary 2 out of four; Martin 2 out of 2; Middlesworth 1 out of 1. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Thompson, of Georgetown.

DANGERS OF SPRING

When nature arouses from her winter lethargy and the first faint promises of spring softens the wind, man in common with all animal life harkens to the foretokening.

The desire for change and relief from the winter routine is strong in us all and while this is the time when caution should be exercised our impulses seem to lead us to cast it aside. The high death rate from pneumonia and tuberculosis which is the inevitable accompaniment of the early spring months is an irrefutable evidence that this change from winter habits requires the exercise of caution to prevent evil results.

SUSQUE DEFEATED F. AND M. ON STRENUOUS TRIP OF FOUR GAMES

Fast Quintet Made Other Three Opponents Work Hard For Their Scant Margins of Victory

An eight point margin was the extent of Lehigh's advantage over the home five when the whistle blew at the close of the first contest of Susquehanna's four-game trip. 36-28 represents the scoring ability of these two teams as they contested for superiority in Taylor gymnasium on Wednesday night.

Playing on a large floor that is "out of bounds" on four sides appeared to handicap the Orange and Maroon men during the early part of the contest. After a few minutes of play Lehigh had attained quite a commanding lead, but Susquehanna became acclimated to the new conditions before the close of the first half and gradually increased their side of the score. The end of the first period showed Lehigh leading 24-11.

Throughout the entire second half Susquehanna played real basket ball and a number of times the spectators were on their feet fearing that the visitors might gain some advantage. Owing to the largeness of the floor, much passing was done by both teams. Susquehanna performed brilliantly in this department of the game, but showed their lack of experience when it came to passing the ball in from "out of bounds." To this handicap alone the loss of the game may be attributed.

Aggressiveness by Shannon and Middsworth in the second half in intercepting passes, helped Susquehanna to outscore the Brown and White five in the second period.

The line-up:
Susque positions Lehigh
Martin forward Brewster
Swoope forward Kirkpatrick
Witmer center Crichton
Middsworth guard Geyer
Shannon guard Green

Field goals—Kirkpatrick 5; Brewster 3; Crichton 3; Green 2; Geyer; Swoope 4; Martin 3; Witmer 3; Shannon. Foul goals—Brewster 7 out of 10; Dayman 1 out of 3; Martin 3 out of 8; Middsworth 3 out of 8. Referee—Tom Thrope, Columbia. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Too Much For Franklin and Marshall
After administering a verbal tonic to his team Coach Kelchner was able to send them against F. & M.'s strong quintet Thursday evening with sufficient animation to land a 36-31 victory from that aggregation of ball-tossers. The game was very rough from start to finish, and for this reason the 'Varsity was unable to do much scoring in the first half of the game. But after becoming acquainted with the new conditions they outplayed and outscored the Blue and White's representatives considerably.

Susquehanna's men could not find themselves during the opening of the contest and it was not until near the end of the first half that they did any scoring. Half-time found F. & M.'s team with a 17-5 advantage. But the 'Varsity came back in the second period with a continuation of the spurt which had characterized the latter part of the first half, so that before the middle of the final period they had overcome the advantage which the Lancaster team had gained during the early stages of the game. Captain Evans and his men worked strenuously for the remainder of the game to hold Susquehanna to an even score but the last few minutes found the Orange and Maroon team steadily gaining.

Throughout the entire game Witmer played well while Middsworth and Phillips won laurels in the second period. Captain Evans proved himself to be the strong man of the opponents.

The line-up:
F. & M. positions Susque
Evans forward Swoope
Brenner forward Phillips
Porterfield center Witmer
Lohach guard Harkins
Berger guard Middsworth
Goals from field—Swoope 2; Phillips 5; Witmer; Middsworth 4; Shannon; Evans 5; Brenner 4; Porterfield; Berger. Foul goals—Middsworth 10 out of 17; Evans 9 out of 20. Substitutions—Shannon for Harkins. Referee—Stein. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Peach State Lads Ahead
Friday's jinx seemed to be more than imaginary to the basketball team as they lost a very loosely played game to Delaware State College Friday evening, 27-24.

Susquehanna was compelled to play an up-hill game throughout the entire contest. The small number of field goals and the comparatively large number of fouls which were called is sufficient cause for the inference that the arbiter's style of refereeing played havoc with Orange and Maroon team work. At no time were the locals allowed to attain anything like a commanding lead; yet despite the frequent penalizing which they endured, they were able to keep within striking distance of victory until the very end of the game.

Wills' ability to score from the fifteen foot line was directly responsible for Delaware's victory.

The line-up:
Delaware positions Susque
Horsely forward Swoope
Witmer forward Phillips
Wills center Witmer
Cann guard Middsworth
Daherty guard Shannon
Substitutions—Harkins for Witmer; Field goals—Horsely 2; Witmer; Swoope, Witmer 2; Phillips 3. Goals from fouls—Wills 21 out of 30; Middsworth 12 out of 22. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Dr. Speer, U. of P.

Foot Sore and Weary in Fourth
Tired out by their three previous games Susquehanna's five fell far short of playing in their customary manner when they met the Washington quintet on Saturday evening and as a result suffered defeat at their hands, 21-27.

After the first half had ended with the Marylanders having a 13-4 advantage, Susquehanna collected all her remaining energies and succeeded in worsting the enemy in the final period. The locals excelled the visitors in team work but their long trip rendered them incapable of coping with the sturdy Southerners in individual playing.

The line-up:
Washington positions Susquehanna
Brown forward Swoope
Pearson forward Phillips

INTER-COLLEGIATE

Without having reasons for his action President J. T. Kingsbury, of the University of Utah, dismissed four professors, and replaced the professor at the head of the department of English by a man of inferior qualities. The students held a massmeeting and adopted resolutions disapproving the action and petitioning the regents to make public the reasons for that method of procedure. All five of the men are non-Mormons.

The Ten Eyck prize for speaking, one of the most highly valued at Yale University, was won last week by Chang-Hau Henry Wang, of Ningpo, China, a member of the class of 1916. The Ten Eyck prize is the income of a fund of $2000.

The Rev. Dr. Dunlap, president of Albright College, has recently been elevated to the position of presiding eldership in the central Pennsylvania conference of the United Evangelical church. Dr. C. A. Bowman, dean of the faculty, is a prospective candidate for the presidency.

Ten shares of Lancaster Trust Company stock, valued at about $700 a share, are bequeathed to Franklin and Marshall College in the will of William U. Hensel, former attorney general.

Today "Billy" Sunday will visit Princeton under the auspices of the Theological Seminary, and will speak in the First Presbyterian church. It is interesting to note that Pres. Hibben declined to give the use of a university building for the service, but the church in which the meetings will be held is surrounded on three sides by the University and is only fifty feet away from Alexander Hall, the college auditorium.

It has been rumored that the University of Pennsylvania has decided to send its 'Varsity rowing crew to the Pacific coast to compete in the Panama Exposition race.

Since Swarthmore defeated Albright the intercollegiate championship lies between Swarthmore and the University of Pittsburgh.

Recently the fence surrounding Lebanon Valley's athletic field was in part destroyed by fire, originated by sparks from Reading railroad locomotives. In his attempt to extinguish the fire a student damaged his clothes worth more than the damage done to the fence by the fire.

The Thos. W. Evans Museum and Dental Institute School of Dentistry, University of Pennsylvania, was dedicated with due ceremony February 22. The procession was the most impressive one that has ever appeared on the campus or in the large clinic room of the institute. Two thousand people witnessed the conferring of honorary degrees upon eminent surgeons and the presentation of the keys by the architect, Mr. Windrim, to ex-Mayor John Weaver, president of the institute.

'VARSITY'S FINAL GAME

Susquehanna's basket ball season closes Saturday evening of this week when the 'Varsity meets the husky aggregation from Muhlenberg College in Alumni gymnasium. The Susque's declare they will retrieve for their defeat early in the season at the hands of the General Councilors.

INDOOR BASEBALL

In an uninteresting game last Wednesday evening the Sophomores defeated the Sub-Freshmen by the score of 11 to 8. Both pitchers were hit hard, neither having any strike-outs to his credit, but the fielding of the teams was good.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT PLEASSED NORTHUMBERLAND AUDIENCE

College Musicians Appeared Monday of Last Week in Lutheran Church of Rev. H. C. Michaels' Pastorate

Another decided hit was made by Susquehanna's Glee Club as is shown by the following glowing account published in Northumberland's Public Press of Friday:

"Northumberland people will be glad to hear the boys from Susquehanna University any time they may come to Northumberland in the future, for they thoroughly pleased us when they appeared here on Monday evening under the auspices of the Friendship Class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School. The Glee Club, directed by Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, head of the Violin Department in the University Conservatory of Music, gave the entertainment in the Sunday School room of the church before an audience of about 200 people.

"The program was a delightful one from beginning to end. The Club singing was excellent. B. A. Peters is a fine tenor soloist and his selections were greatly enjoyed. Prof. Fillion, who has a wide reputation as a violinist, did not fail to please our people with his charming music.

"As a reader it would be hard to find one better than Elwood Swoope, who also holds up the reputation of Susquehanna in athletics. His first reading, "Gentlemen, the King," was given in fine dramatic style, and he was repeatedly encored, responding with lighter, humorous selections that showed just as much ability. The whole party of entertainers are a splendid advertisement for Susquehanna.

"The men of St. John's never do anything by halves, and Monday night's concert was no exception. The friendship Class, of which Rev. Michaels is the teacher, sat in a body. As the people entered the room each one was handed orange and maroon ribbons—the colors of Susquehanna—for button-circs. After the closing number by the Glee Club, the 'Varsity Song, the men of the Friendship Class responded with the college yell. A silver collection was taken and a nice sum was realized for the benefit of the church."

ANXIOUSLY AWAIT PUBLICATION OF SUMMER SCHOOL BULLETIN

Quarterly This Term Will be Most Pre-tentious of Its Kind Ever Issued by College Authorities

Susquehanna's summer bulletin, edited by Dr. George E. Fisher, head of the summer school department, is now in form and will soon be ready for distribution. This bulletin is the largest ever issued by the institution. Besides being profusely illustrated, its twelve page form contains elaborate description of various courses which will be open to summer students. Numerous lectures by many of the leading educational men of the central part of the State, will be given as part of the course. These include most of the County Superintendents of Central Pennsylvania, and for this reason will be especially helpful to prospective teachers. Under direction of Dr. Fisher the summer course is sure to be a success, and anyone desirous of advancing in the teachers' profession can find no better place to receive instruction during the summer months than at Susquehanna.

MANY INNOVATIONS TO BE FOUND IN LANTHORN FOR THIS YEAR

Canvass of Student Body Will be Made This Week For Orders For Book Every Student Will Prize Highly

Editor-in-chief Grossman and his aides have been working steadily the past few months and as a result of their efforts the annual "Lanthorn" is nearing completion. Many new features in the plan and arrangement of the book are promised and every sign seems to point to the production of the best "Lanthorn" ever published at Susquehanna.

The new arrangement of the parts and the introduction of much new material has necessitated a great amount of additional work. New cuts of all the buildings are being used, and no old pictures are being employed. While this greatly enhances the value of the book, it also increases the cost of publication.

Manager Lutton expects to have members of the class canvass the student body during the present week, and it is trusted that every person at Susquehanna will subscribe for at least one copy of "The Lanthorn." No student should be without a book to show to his friends during the summer vacation, to give them an idea of his Alma Mater, and thus advertise Old Susquehanna.

CONSERVING RESULTS

Editorial.

Energy can neither be created nor destroyed. The amount present in our universe is the same as it has been in all previous time. It may change its form, its quality, but its quantity is ever constant. The energy of a waterfall may be changed into that of a mill wheel or a dynamo, and the latter into electricity. Electricity may be converted into heat, light or motion.

Even though the quantity of energy remains the same at different times its utility may vary, for it may be in a form that is not, or cannot be utilized. Unharnessed energy is utterly useless, it is futile.

The great Niagara Falls advertised her vast potentialities for uncalculated ages. Ever since the first human being looked upon the spinning force that today lights up a billion lights and turns a million wheels there has lurked just as much potency in the water fall as in the year 1915. Not until man harnessed it and made it work for him, not until he recognized its power and utilized it, did it become of any economic service to humanity.

During the last week the students of Susquehanna received a great religious awakening. The "Mott-Echo" campaign brought to the student body much inspiration and renewed vigor in Christian Service. Many were the pledges signed and the good intentions expressed. Many of the student body cleaned house and resolved to slough off old habits and manifested their purpose "to pay what it costs to be a sincere follower of Jesus Christ."

But the awakened activities, the realized possibilities in Christian Service, represent only the scattered seeds. They must be nurtured and fostered, they must be rooted and grounded in the faith for if their depth of earth is insufficient they will wither and die; germination will never result.

The energy used in subduing this state of lethargy and directing our minds into proper channels of thought and action has only changed our kinetic energy into potential; the form has been changed, and unless its potentialities, like those of the Niagara, are utilized they will remain dormant and be useless; yielding no increase.

But if it is conserved and properly directed no estimate of the resulting good can possibly be made; it will bring forth much fruit and yield a bountiful harvest, and even permeate those who at the present time are strenuously resisting its influence.

Notwithstanding the fact that Susquehanna has always been able to boast that she has ever had under her tutelage a student body of excellent habits and tendencies, yet since the advent of this renewal of God's Spirit the atmosphere of our institution has assumed a new and more appropriate aspect.

Let the results be utilized and directed into larger fields of usefulness.

CLIO

Since our last report of Clio the work has been normal and with a few exceptions and omissions it has been up to the standard. The program for Feb. 28, was eliminated but this loss was accounted for by the program on Mar. 5, rendered chiefly by the ladies. Their efforts were graciously rewarded as shown by the rendition of their program which was highly appreciated by all. The debate, "Resolved, That the United States should possess a government-owned merchant marine," was especially interesting because of the ample preparation given it by the participants. The affirmative was upheld by Misses Rynerson and Cressman while the negative was sustained by Misses Geise and Wagner, the judges deciding in favor of the affirmative. The other numbers of the program were equally interesting but lack of space forbids their individual mention.

At this time a few words relative to the work of ladies of our literary society will be in order. We have always noticed the evident fact that our regular society work and programs if interspersed with a special number by ladies is sure to result in quickened interest and renewed enthusiasm. This is generally true and why is it?

We know that if mankind is to make progress along all lines, it must be done generically and not by individual persons or cliques of men. The principal of our education then is a broad one, and in achieving that purpose woman must play an important part.

Clio extends to her female constituency the same privileges and offers the same benefits as are accorded her male members. We earnestly believe that these equipments are as necessary to them in an educational pursuit or vocation as they are to man. And it is an appreciated fact well worth noting that the female members are as a rule more apt to avail themselves of the opportunities for development along these lines than are our male members. Hence the one great reason why their programs and work in general is always interesting and profitable—they realize their responsibility and put forth honest efforts to fulfill it.

There may be other motives why their work is characterized by determined effort which we do not know, but we do know that what is often insipid and unenthusiastic in the hands of our male members, becomes alive with interest and profit when given by the ladies.

May these remarks serve to help all on to greater things in our literary work. Clio needs both sexes to keep up her work; and all Clonians need here offered opportunities for advancement in the line for which she is ever ready and willing to lend a hand.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

ALUMNI NOTES

Prof. W. H. Weber '13, principal of Emporium High School, made the chief address at the Tenth Annual Reception of the Parent Teachers' Association held at Jersey Shore last week. The address was highly appreciated, eloquent in many respects and stirring in its character. In his kind, thoughtful manner, he paid highest tribute to womanhood, leaving an impression on his hearers that will not soon be forgotten.

Rev. H. C. Michaels '96 and '99, is holding services of an evangelistic nature with a large organized chorus on Sunday evenings in St. John's church at Northumberland. Last week he showed the Glee Club many courtesies when they rendered a concert in the church. Each member of his Bible class wore the Orange and Maroon ribbon attached to the Red and White button on the coat lapel.

Rev. M. Rodos, D. D. '62, pastor of St. Mark's church, St. Louis, Mo., is recovering from an accident to one of his eyes. We are also glad to hear that Mrs. Rodos is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia.

C. M. Nichols '01, pastor of the Lutheran church at Pottsville, Pa., assisted at the installation services at Minersville, Feb. 21st. He preached the charge to the pastor.

Miss Margaret Stroh '12, is at present engaged in Chautauqua work in Florida. After completing her work in that State she will return to fill the chair of English at Shippensburg Normal School, Shippensburg, Pa.

Rev. E. E. Dietterich '90, pastor of St. Luke's church of Bainbridge, Pa., just closed a successful series of evangelistic services which he conducted in his church, unassisted by any outside help. The services proved to be an uplift to the congregation and a number of members were added to the church.

Rev. J. Eugene Dietterich, D. D. '84, of Duquesne, Pa., through his efforts has been enabled to secure for his church a new location. They have bought lots in a very popular neighborhood, in close proximity to the new two hundred and fifty thousand dollar high school, the city public play ground and the beautiful Carnegie Library. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church have made possible a large pavement on the new property and the new edifice will be pushed to completion in the near future.

GIRLS WIN AND LOSE

In an interesting and well played game the Susquehanna Co-eds defeated the strong team of the Sunbury High School on Thursday evening. At the end of the first half the score stood 8 to 3 in favor of the home team, but in the second half the visitors exhibited some clever work and at the final whistle the score stood 16 to 10. The playing of Captain Fetterolf and Hall for the Co-eds and the foul shooting of Leiby for the visitors were the features.

The line-up:

First Defeat at Mt. Carmel

On Saturday the girls journeyed to Mt. Carmel where they met their first defeat of the season in an unusually rough game. The Susques were greatly handicapped without the services of Capt. Fetterolf, who was unable to go on account of illness while the small floor and the inefficiency of the referee also added to the defeat.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

After a strenuous game with Washington College, Chestertown, Md., the Varsity enjoyed a forty-mile auto trip to Elkton, Md. Manager Ard chaperoned the team.

Prof. Faust was visited over Sunday by his friends, Prof. Irvin Shortess, Principal of Berwick high school, who accompanied the basket ball team of that school on their trip to play the Scrubs in Alumni gymnasium.

Thursday night the students witnessed Selingsgrove's largest fire in several years when the Cigar store and pool room at the Pine street bridge was destroyed. The alarm sounded about 2 o'clock A. M., and within a few minutes a large delegation of students was on the scene eagerly fighting to overcome the flames.

Five of Susquehanna's comedians carried leading parts in the Minstrel show given by the Selingsgrove High School last Monday evening, under the direction of Prof. Nathan N. Keener. They were as follows: Swoope, Keammerr, Kinsport, Nichols and Keener. A large and appreciative audience witnessed the performance.

Sunday evening Rev. Leonard, of the college church, delivered an illustrated lecture on the Passion Play. Many beautiful slides depicting the various scenes of this drama as presented by the populace of the little town of Ober-Ammergau, Bavaria, were shown during the lecture. This play originated in a vow taken by the populace in 1634 to perform it every ten years in the event of their escaping from a loathsome plague which then prevailed. Ever since the vow has been faithfully kept, but it has only become of popular interest within the past few decades.

SCRUBS DEFEAT BERWICK HIGH

The second-string men made a creditable showing Saturday evening by defeating the best Berwick High School team, 31-16. Although handicapped by the absence of three of their best men, the reserves put up a strong fight throughout, entering into the game with such "pep" that at no time was Berwick in the lead, or in any way dangerous. The High School was literally swept off its feet by the energy with which the S. U. men, determined to retrieve their defeat earlier in the season, started the game. At the beginning of the second half they came back strong, but the reserves kept up their fast gain, and maintained a comfortable lead.

Bulick and Hostetter starred for Susquehanna, the former, besides two field goals, capturing eleven one-pointers, while the latter had five field goals. Spragle starred for Berwick, scoring fourteen of the sixteen points, shooting twelve out of nineteen chances from the foul line. Much of the credit of the game, however is due to Harman, whose close guarding allowed the fast Berwick men only two field goals.

The line-up:

Susque.	position	Berwick
Hostetter	forward	Fenstermacher
Dolbeer	forward	Possinger
Harman	center	Spragle
Bulick	guard	Kulp
Meesse	guard	Stevens

Goals from field—Hostetter 5; Meesse 2; Bulick 2; Harman 1; Spragle 1; Stout 1; Foul Goals—Bulick 11 out of 19; Spragle 12 out of 18.

FLAGS WILL GIVE WEATHER INFORMATION TO STUDENTS

Pluvius Has This Consolation Whether It's Cold or Whether It's Hot We'll Have to Weather it Whether or Not

It is no longer necessary for our students to uselessly incommode themselves by being encumbered with an umbrella, when desirous of making the visits and calls, which are so numerous in college life.

It is a universal fact, that one feels like kicking ones self, when exposed to the inclement weather without the protection of an umbrella, and that he experiences the same feeling when carrying the umbrella and finds no occasion to make use of it. But now, we can all guard against the weather since the modern, scientific method of weather prediction has been installed on the campus.

Through the strenuous efforts of the energetic occupants of "Yawning Chasm," better known as the "Sleepy Hol'ow" bunch, and Dr. Houtz; the authorities of the Philadelphia weather station were induced to supply the necessary weather flags and cards of information. The cards have been distributed among the students, who, when perceiving the signal flag or flags fluttering and yielding to the gentle breezes from the top of the recently installed flag-pole, can compare the signal with the card and thereby learn the nature of the predicted weather.

GOSPEL MESSAGE CARRIED TO SUNBURY BY STUDENT TEAM

Deputation Quintet Conducted Inspiring Services in Dr. Hartman's Church

Another good result of the Penn State campaign here was shown Sunday night when a Deputation Team of Susquehanna students conducted services in Rev. Hartman's church in Sunbury. Shannon, Swoope, Peters, Middlesworth and Nichols composed the quintet.

Talks were made by the first four of the above mentioned. Shannon spoke of the purpose of the work and of the religious spirit which seems to have gripped our student body.

Swoope told of the good influence which the awakening of the Y. M. C. A. has had upon the fellows around S. U. He emphasized the necessity of service to a Christian life and in a portance of Bible study.

Middlesworth gave a short talk on student work and sent the message home that a Christian must be a doer in acts and not alone a hearer of words.

Peters made the crowning address of the evening. He spoke of the joy which comes from serving our fellow-men and of the influence which a clean life has upon our brothers in the flesh. The greatest pleasure in life, said Mr. Peters, comes when we know that we have brought one soul nearer to the throne of God.

A quartet composed of Swoope, Middlesworth, Peters and Nichols, rendered two very appropriate selections. Peters charmed his audience with a solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." This selection was equaled by Mr. Swoope, who favored the assembled worshippers with the beautiful song "Come Unto Me"

The meeting was presided over by Rev. Hartman, who highly praised the work of the young men and expressed his and the wishes of the congregation that success might crown the efforts of the noble work which is being undertaken.

Teams will represent Susquehanna in this church on various evenings of this week and preparations are being made for a larger campaign of this character throughout the county.

DR. SAMUEL Z. SHOVE

Alumnus of Susquehanna who was recipient of rare degree last June on Alma Mater's regular lecture staff.

MUSICAL RECITAL

People of Selingrove and vicinity who were privileged to hear the musical recital given by George S. Moyer, of Freeburg, last year, will be glad to learn that he will make his second appearance before a local audience when he gives his pianoforte recital in Seibert Hall on Wednesday evening. Moyer's ability as a musician is generally recognized, and it is pleasing to note that since he has been under the tutelage of Prof. Fillion this year he has made remarkable progress. The program which will be rendered Wednesday will be even more difficult than his effort of last year, so that an evening of high class musical entertainment is promised to the crowd which will throng Seibert Hall that evening.

RESERVES WIN EASILY

In an interesting game on Tuesday evening the Orange and Maroon second-string men won the series with the Selingrove High School team by defeating them for the second time this season, score 50-32. The High School boys played well during the early part of the game. Not until the second period was well under way, were Coach Kelchner's wards able to secure a commanding lead. As soon as all doubt was eliminated as to the result of the score, Capt. Rine gave a number of substitutes a chance to perform under fire. Hostetter did most of the shooting for the Reserves, while Harmon excelled in defensive work.

The line-up:
Reserves positions S. H. S.
McFall (Bulick) forward Laudenslager
Hostetter (Dolbeer) forward Bolig
Harmon (Meese) center Wagenseller
Nichols guard Benner
(Dunmire) (Hower)
Rine (Miller) guard Rowe

Field goals—Laudenslager 2; Bolig 3; Wagenseller 5; Benner 2; Hower 2; McFall 4; Bulick Hostetter 8; Harmon 2; Nichols 4; Dunmire, Meese, Dolbeer. Foul goals—Hostetter, Nichols 4; Bolig 4. Referee—Shannon.

SUNBURY DEFEATS RESERVES

Tau Phi Sigma fraternity, of Sunbury won an interesting contest from Susquehanna reserves at Sunbury on Friday evening, score 28-32. The game was very rough and hotly contested throughout. Quite a number of students accompanied the team, but even their loyal support was not sufficient stimulus to drive the Scrubs to victory. Susquehanna's men led during the first period, but they were unable to maintain their advantage as the game advanced.

The line-up:
Reserves positions Tau Phi Sigma
Hostetter forward Adams
Meese forward Shubert
Harman center Evans
Nichols guard Stahl
Rine guard Goodyear

Substitutions—Bulick for Harman, Field goals—Hostetter 4; Nichols 3; Rine Bulick 2; Adams 9; Shubert, Stahl 2. Foul goals—Nichols, Bulick 2; Adams 2. Referee—Paul Hartman.

BAD HABITS

"No," exclaimed Richly, "our son will never amount to anything until he marries."

"Why," asks his wife anxiously. "He's got to get over the habit of hanging around the house."

HAVING SAW IT, WHAT ELSE COULD HE DO?

"The house only had two rooms and was old. He insisted he wanted to rent it. And so in the end he done."
—From Everybody's Magazine.

MUHLENBERG QUIT COLD IN TIE GAME AND FORFEITED VICTORY

Referee Awarded 23-23 Game to Susquehanna by 2-0, When Allentowners Refused to Play Extra Period

Susquehanna ended its basketball season this year in a peculiar manner on Saturday evening when Muhlenberg, failing to return to the floor to play an extra period necessitated by the score being a tie at the end of forty minutes play, forfeited the game to the home team, 2-0.

Uncertainty filled the crowd at the end of the time limit as it was discovered that Susquehanna's score read 23-23, while the score as kept by Muhlenberg's man was 23-22 in Muhlenberg's favor. After Referee Daggett had conferred with the two scorekeepers, he decided to call the score a tie, 23-23. The discrepancy in the score apparently lay in the fact that Muhlenberg's scorer had mistaken a foul thrown by Shannon to have been called invalid by the referee. But one foul, successfully thrown by Susquehanna, was cancelled by the referee's decision, while Muhlenberg's scorer understood two to have been rendered valueless in this way. Referee Daggett decided that a five minute period should be played to decide the winners, but upon Muhlenberg's failing to reappear on the floor the referee was compelled to forfeit the game to the 'varsity, 2-0. Susquehanna students and players regret that such a misunderstanding resulted.

From the beginning to the end the game was rough and closely contested. Affenbach scored first for the visitors with a field goal, but Susquehanna soon attained the lead and held a slight advantage for the remainder of the first period, which ended 10-12 in Susquehanna's favor. Muhlenberg came back strong in the second half. During these twenty minutes the team having the advantage in the contest changed five times.

Coach Kelchner's men performed rare feats in passing during the first half, but inability to locate the basket by both teams prevented a larger score. The locals were considerably crippled by the absence of Middlesworth who was unable to take part in the contest.

The line-up:
Susque positions Muhlenberg
Swoope forward Hubbard
Phillips forward Affenbach
Witmer center Ritter
Shannon guard Hayerling
Harkins guard Dittes

Goals from field—Swoope 3; Phillips 3; Witmer 2; Affenbach 3; Ritter 2; Hubbard. Goals from fouls—Shannon 7; Hubbard 11. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Daggett, of Bucknell.

CREDITABLE EXHIBITION BY GIRLS' GYMNASIUM CLASSES

Co-eds Executed Various and Difficult Drills in Alumni Gymnasium Thursday

Extremely successful was the general opinion pronounced by the large audience which witnessed the efforts of the Girls' Gym Class in their exhibition on Thursday evening. For almost two hours the girls held the close attention of the crowded gallery as they faultlessly executed various callisthenic exercises and difficult drills. The excellent manner in which each part of the exhibition was carried out reflects credit upon Physical Trainer Grossman, and shows with what care the participants were instructed in their semi-weekly classes. Beautiful drills and complicated marches occupied the first part of the entertainment. These various exercises were very ably led by Misses Dorothy Allison and Laura Schoch, while every other member of the class aided in bringing the performance to a successful termination by executing her part in a precise manner.

Enthusiasm ran high in the second period of the program when the two classes contested in various games.

Most interesting of these games were the 'wand race' and the 'human tunnel.' The first was won by the class by Miss Allison by a margin of ten seconds, while the class which was headed by Miss Schoch finished constructing the 'human tunnel' just a short time before the other contestants.

As concluding part of the exhibition two basketball teams, chosen from members of the gym class, engaged in a short contest for basketball supremacy among the girls. These teams, being designated by the colors which they wore, were known as the Blacks and the Reds. The Blacks won by the final score of 9 to 2. For the winners, Miss Persing, at forward, and Miss Hall, at guard, carried off the honors. The former secured three field goals and one foul during the contest.

Tuesday, March 23rd, an exhibition will be given by the Boys' Gym Class. This will be of an entirely different nature and promises to be very interesting.

Rev. I. S. Sassaman '09, pastor of the Lutheran church at Turtle Creek, Pa., with the assistance of Prof. I. Merrill Smith, C. of M. '09, as chorister, conducted a series of special services of three weeks' duration with surprising results. Two hundred came forward and acknowledged Jesus Christ as their personal Savior. He is also conducting a night school in the interests of foreigners, and now has an enrollment of thirty-eight. In connection with his church work, Rev. Sassaman is conducting shop meetings for men in the Westinghouse Airbrake and Electric shops every week. Certainly this Susquehanna man is doing good work.

Rev. J. A. Flicking '73, of Los Angeles, Cal., celebrated his golden wedding anniversary, March 15th. Susquehanna extends her congratulations.

Miss Myrtle Weber, C. of M. '13, of Emporium, Pa., is in charge of a large class of pupils at that place, all of whom are reported to be making commendable progress. A musical was given by Miss Weber's pupils at her home during the past week.

Rev. G. O. Ritter '94 and '99, who recently accepted a charge at Westernport, Md., was tendered a delightful reception by the members of his congregation.

Rev. C. M. Aurand '81, delivered an excellent sermon in the local Reformed church on Sunday evening, in the absence of Rev. Drumheller.

Miss Catherine E. Ehrhart '82, entertained the local Conrad Welsch Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at their March meeting, in her Pine street home last week.

Rev. J. E. Dietterich '92 and '85, pastor of First Lutheran church, Duquesne, Pa., has for some time felt the need of a new church building. Last week the title to a double lot was secured and a modern, up-to-date church and Sunday School building is being planned.

Rev. E. E. Dietterich '87 and '90, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Bainbridge, Pa., dedicated a fine new lecture on Feb. 28th. The lecture was a gift from the Sewing Circle of the church.

Rev. George Livingston '98 and '01, of Downingtown, Pa., has been called to the new Mt. Wolfe, Pa., charge, of York County Conference. He will assume charge after Easter.

Guy W. Rayman '13, who is at present serving as Assistant Employment Agent at Duquesne Steel Works, was married on the evening of March 12th, at Cumberland, Md., to Miss Marguerite Wickerham, of Homestead.

Miss Margaret Denner, C. of M. '13, of Selinsgrove, visited her aunt, Mrs. Albert, of Harrisburg, and her former music teacher, Mrs. Robert Stimpington, of Highspire, during the past week.

Prof. Charles A. Miller '11, has recently been re-elected principal of Rich Hill High School. During his two years' stay in that section he has been instrumental in refitting the entire laboratory and otherwise improving the property. He has also begun a summer normal which bids fair to become one of the best in that section of the state. Prof. Miller has lots of initiative and is undoubtedly one of the most successful of Susquehanna's younger pedagogues.

Floyd L. Arbogast, who went from Susquehanna Academy to Pierce's Business College to finish his course, has charge of the commercial department of Charlotte Hall Military Institute, Charlotte Hall, Md. Prof. Arbogast is among the first of the younger Susquehanna set to take up the profession of commercial teaching and is making good with a vengeance in the southern institution.

We do not share our earnings with others. We have no local agents employed to "discuss" the qualifications of our applicants.

School authorities employing teachers through this agency are not open to the suspicion that they are sharing in the earnings of the Agency.

Every year there is an increase in the number of applications for teachers coming direct from school authorities, and we are constantly enlarging our facilities.

These environments are appreciated by strong, self-reliant teachers.

Mention has been made in these columns several times in regard to the lack of sufficient fire protection around the various buildings, but so far no steps have been taken toward improvement. No more fitting or more useful memorial could be purchased by any class than several reels of good fire hose. But if some organization does not purchase same the college authorities should see that efficient means for fighting fire are placed in the different buildings.

GLEE CLUB'S SUCCESSFUL THREE-DAY TRIP IN MIFFLIN COUNTY

Alumni Assist in Entertaining Singers in Milroy, Reedsville and Yeagertown and Add Pleasure to Journey

A very successful tour was conducted by the University Glee Club last week-end. The trip included the towns of Milroy, Reedsville and Yeagertown. At each place the members of the club were kindly received and royally entertained during their short stay in the different homes. The first concert was given at Milroy under the auspices of the Lutheran church of which Rev. Jas. Uber is pastor. Prof. J. P. Boyer of the Milroy high school gave his assistance in making the concert a success. His help and the efforts of Rev. Uber were greatly appreciated by the club.

At Reedsville and Yeagertown the club received the same kind treatment as in the former place. At these places the concerts were conducted under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of the Lutheran church. According to the attendance they certainly must have worked hard to make them a success. At each place where a concert was given every seat was taken and many standing around the side of the hall.

The club sang very well and were repeatedly encored after rendering their regular numbers. The selections ranged from the classical to the extremely humorous, thus furnishing delight for the different tastes which go to make up an audience.

Mr. Peters was the first soloist on the program and his appearance was the signal for applause. "Pete" is well known in the baseball circles of this vicinity and everyone was anxious to hear his sing. Speaking from the appreciation which they manifested the fans were not disappointed. Mr. Peters certainly was at his best on this trip and won the admiration of all who heard him.

Prof. Fillion, the director and violin soloist of the club was the feature of the program. Accompanied by Prof. Brower, Prof. Fillion played pieces of a very difficult nature, but so perfectly did he interpret them that even the smallest child seemed charmed with the wonderful music of the master's violin and every person in the audience sat as in a trance until the sound of the last note had died away in the distance. Prof. Fillion was encored repeatedly and always responded willingly to the hearty applause of his audience.

That history repeats itself is no mean saying, for it proved itself in the case of Mr. Swoope. "Red" always has made a hit wherever he has performed, but the critics say that he set a new record for himself on this three-day trip. In all of his selections Mr. Swoope displayed wonderful ability in portraying the character of his readings. The people were so delighted with "The German Senator's Address," that "Red" was requested to repeat it before the high school students of Milroy.

At the last concert given at Yeagertown, Mr. George Witmer, of grand opera fame, sang two very difficult selections. Mr. Witmer has a beautiful bass voice and portrayed a quality and volume of tone that was highly appreciated.

Manager Middlesworth deserves credit for the success of this trip for it was through his efforts that the dates were able to be secured. Prof. Fillion received many compliments for the creditable way in which the club sang, portraying the careful drilling which they had received. On the whole the trip was a great success and using the phrase of a former student, of Reedsville, we can say that the "club made many new friends for Susquehanna."

CAMPAIGN RESULTS

Pertinent results have been forthcoming continually since the Mott-Echo Evangelistic Campaign held several weeks ago. Social service work and Gospel Team work have taken on new life and the students are entering heartily and sincerely into the work.

The first four days of last week services were held in Rev. Hartman's church in Sunbury, the results of last Sunday's meeting being reported in last week's Susquehanna. Three following nights were given over to other teams from the college and excellent meetings were conducted.

W. Brown, Harkins and Bangson composed the team which held the meeting on Monday night. Each fellow spoke on a subject which held the attention of their audiences undivided during their discourses. Tuesday evening the school was represented by Miller, Keammerer and Kinports, who followed up the previous meetings with inspirational talks. Kinports also treated the auditors to several beautiful vocal solos. Wednesday evening the Quartette again journeyed to Sunbury accompanied by Shannon, Keller and Frey. Swoope's solo, with violin obligato by Nichols was highly appreciated while the solo by Peters was rendered in his usual good style. Middlesworth again was the fourth member of the quartette. The speakers of the evening emphasized the need of re-consecration of the Christian church member and urged more work on their part for those remaining unsaved outside the church.

This series of meetings has put an enthusiasm into the workers and during the Spring term many services of a like nature will be held throughout the county at the call of various congregations.

BOYS' GYM EXHIBITION

Much interest is being manifested by the boys in the exhibition which they will give in Alumni Gymnasium on Tuesday evening. Many events of peculiar character will feature the evening's entertainment. Among other things which the participants have promised to execute are, drills, tumbling, forming of pyramids, wrestling, and indoor baseball. Physical Trainer Grossman has given much of his time of late to preparation for this event so that a rare treat is promised to those who are in attendance. Exhibition begins at 8 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

FIRST BASE BALL GAME

Last Saturday afternoon witnessed the first baseball game of the season on Warner field. Two teams captained by pitcher Goble and catcher Phillips respectively fought a closely contested game through several interesting innings resulting in an overthrow for the Gobleites. During the game practically every candidate for the 'Varsity appeared on the diamond and much good material is promised from the outlook.

Manager Harpster will take his team to State College on April 10th for opening game of the season, and consequently Coach Ketchner and Harkins, Captain, are working daily.

(Continued from Preceding Column) officers was held on Wednesday evening. The Association is certainly to be congratulated on such a strong set of officers, and we bespeak for the Association great progress during the coming year. The officers are as follows: President, Estelle McCormick; Vice-President, Alvin Cressman; Secretary, Dorothy Reark; Treasurer, Anna Dively.

COMMENDABLE BASKET BALL RECORD BY MANAGER ARD'S WARDS

Played Consistently Throughout Season and Defeats Suffered Were Only by Scant Margins For Victors

Though Susquehanna was not able to break even in the number of games lost and won in the basket ball season which has just closed, yet the student body, almost to a man, agree that we have experienced a very successful season. Six victories and ten defeats constitute the team's record. Many of these scores including both victories and defeats, were very close. In several games in which Susquehanna was outscored by any considerable margin, the one-sided score can be credited every time to the roughness of the playing or the unnatural conditions of the floor.

With four of last year's 'varsity squad lost through graduation or through sickness, prospects for the 1915 season were not so promising when Coach Ketchner issued his call for volunteers at the close of last term. But through strenuous efforts on his part and faithful work on the part of the players, a first-class team was rounded into shape. Though the record made this year is not quite so brilliant at first sight at that made by last year's team, yet it should be borne in mind that the schedule as arranged by Manager Ard this year was one of the hardest ever undertaken by a Susquehanna quintet. Another fact that is especially pleasing is the knowledge that almost all of our most difficult games were won; but one home game was lost,—the first contest with Albright.

Captain Swoope, who has served on the 'varsity for several seasons, showed improvement this year. His teammates displayed their confidence in his ability by re-electing him captain for the 1916 season. Middlesworth, for another season, proved himself one of the strong men of the team. His work at foot shooting was very creditable, tossing in 127 out of 207 attempts, from the fifteen foot line.

Shannon proved himself a fast man in the guard position as well as an excellent utility forward. Harkins, who was kept out of the game during the early part of the season on account of injuries received in football, played his usual steady game on the defense. Witmer, at center, and Phillips, at forward, were the two new men who won berths on the 'varsity. Both did much towards strengthening the team. Lauver served well in the role of utility man.

Next year will witness the exit of a number of reliable cage men, Middlesworth, Witmer, Shannon, Lauver, and Harkins, all graduating this year. However, the past season revealed considerable second string material which bids fair to develop into 'varsity caliber with another year's seasoning.

Swoope carried off the scoring honors, caging 46 field goals in the fourteen games in which he took part.

In the Central Section of the Inter-collegiate League, Susquehanna finished third, having repeated her record of last year, winning two and losing four.

SUSQUEHANNA GIRLS JOIN RANKS OF SOCIAL SERVICE WORKERS

Gospel Teaching and Needle Craft Go Hand-in-Hand in Up-Lift Work in Surrounding Rural Sections

The Young Women's Christian Association has long been aware that to be a really successful and helpful organization it is necessary to join the ranks of Social Service Workers. Since the campaign, when the State College girls were here, we as an organization have tried to work out a system of social service. As is usual, when any new measure is launched, we meet with some discouragements, but we also met with some success.

Thus far the work has been carried on in the rural districts, using the school houses as the place of meeting. Meetings are being held at two different places, one at Kantz, and the other at the Otts school house. The work at Kantz is being led by Misses Gertrude Weaver, Rebekah Rynearson and Alma Long. The leaders at the other school are Misses Mae Walker, Alice Weaver and Irene Bauder. The team on their last trip was reinforced by one of the girls, Miss Florence Kautz. At each school a goodly number of children report for learning and pleasure. Some of the time is spent in playing games and teaching the children useful things, as sewing, embroidery, etc. It is the intention of the leaders to teach the children lessons from the Bible, the Bible and its relation to nature, and practical application of Bible principles.

Another step in social work is to be inaugurated after the Easter vacation, namely, the organization of a Sunday School at Kantz.

GEORGE SAMUEL MOYER GAVE PIANO RECITAL WEDNESDAY

Freeburg Pupil of Prof. Fillion Did Credit to Himself and His Teacher by Creditable Performance

One of the finest student recitals ever given at Susquehanna University Conservatory of Music was heard last Wednesday evening when George Samuel Moyer, of Freeburg, made his second appearance before a local audience.

Last year he gave a recital, with the assistance of Mr. Theodore Lundquist, which made a deep impression in the minds of his hearers, but this time he essayed to give a complete program unassisted, with the result that he was not only successful but his work was truly remarkable in every respect. The numbers, involving a wide versatility of insight from the classical Bach to composers of the Modern School, called for a really masterful technic and afforded a fine opportunity to display a budding musicianship that was unmistakable.

Mr. Moyer started right in with the Prelude and Fugue by Bach giving the immediate impression that he was quite at home at the keyboard and master of the situation. The Chopin numbers were played with a nice consistency of interpretation, and they brought out to advantage Mr. Moyer's wonderful finger dexterity. The Weber Concert-Stuck, with Prof. Fillion playing the orchestra part on the second piano, took the audience by storm, for it was played with a fire and brilliance that made one forget for the moment that this was the recital of a (Continued on 2nd Page 2nd Column)

SUMMER SCHOOL BOOMING

Although the Summer School Bulletins have been sent out only a few days, Dr. Fisher, the director, is in receipt of many inquiries from prospective students, and many reservations for accommodations have been made at the office.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

As spring approaches the new football coaching staff of Penn State is daily giving candidates a working out. An effort is being made at the present time to have the men become acquainted with the new system of coaching which has been adopted with the election of new officials. It is stated that the outlook for an exceptionally strong team next year is very bright if the eligibles continue so.

One day last week ground was broken for a new fraternity house which is to be erected by the Phi Gamma Delta of Bucknell. "The new house will be a distinctively beautiful specimen of pure Colonial architecture," and will be the only one of its kind in the town of Lewisburg. The cost for the building will be approximately $15,000.

The annual tri-university league debate in which teams representing Columbia, Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania contested resulted in a triple tie. The question was, "Resolved, That in view of the present situation the United States should take immediate steps to materially increase its army and navy." In every instance the team defending the affirmative side of the question lost. It happened that last year's contest resulted in a tie.

Prof. Clarence E. McCloskey, Dean of Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, was recently called away. For thirteen years he was a teacher in the school, half of which he served as dean of the school.

Harvard's new library has sixty miles of book shelves. What a parade ground for a bookworm.

One of the latest editions to the museum of the University of Pennsylvania was a specimen of Chinese art, a valuable cloisonne vase of the sixteenth century. It is made of copper and is gilded inside, and is about two feet high and eighteen inches broad. Recently the University Museum sent an expedition to China to study Chinese art all over the Celestial Kingdom. It has been only of late years that the western world is getting acquainted with Chinese art.

GEORGE SAMUEL MOYER GAVE PIANO RECITAL WEDNESDAY

(Continued from 1st Page, pupil. The last three numbers on the program were all exceedingly difficult technically, but he played them with perfect sureness, and with an amount of expression and brilliance that was new to the many who know him. Mr. Moyer's most notable traits are a complete mastery of relaxation in playing and a most unusual gift of technique, which enables him to play the most difficult works, and to play with tremendous speed and brilliance. This, coupled with a deep sincerity and earnestness, shows promise of a very successful career for this young pianist.

This recital was a splendid reflection on the teaching of Prof. Fillion, who, coming here primarily as the head of the violin department, has also taken up the piano and organ work, and in a few months prepared this pupil for a program such as is rarely heard even in much larger schools. In both his teaching and his own concert playing Prof. Fillion quickly proved himself to be a thoroughly versed musician and an artist on each of his three instruments. He is very much appreciated by his many pupils at the Conservatory.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Miss Elmira Kline, of Cowan, visited friends at College Thursday.

Dr. Biddle, of Pittsburgh, paid Susquehanna a brief visit Wednesday.

President Aikens made a trip to Tyrone, Saxton, and Marklesburg, over the week-end.

Mrs. Thomas C. Houtz has been confined to the house with a slight illness for several days past.

The "Susquehanna" is making good with the news; are you making good with your subscription?

Mr. A. E. Hughes visited his daughter Mary, at the University Wednesday, the latter having again dislocated the bones in her left arm.

President and Mrs. Aikens and son Claude were entertained at dinner Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Seigfried at the latter's High street home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Krebs, of State College, former parishioners of Dr. Charles T. Aikens, stopped off with the latter between trains Monday evening.

Harpster, Kline, Gross and Witmer, of College, with William Kantner, of town, motored to Beavertown Tuesday evening where they were guests of Miss Esther Spaid at a St. Patrick's eve party.

George Brehm was taken to the Mary M. Packer Hospital, Sunbury, Tuesday, on account of a serious case of blood poison. His affliction was caused by a slight scratch on the leg and developed so rapidly that he was rushed to the hospital and an operation performed Tuesday evening, just in time to save his life. Although still in a precarious condition Brehm is getting along very nicely and slowly improving.

George S. Moyer, of Freeburg, gave one of the best piano recitals in Seibert Hall Wednesday evening that has been rendered at Susquehanna for years. Moyer is under the direction of Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, and while the former is undoubtedly a gifted pianist, yet the teacher deserves great praise for his painstaking and efficient tutelage. Prof. Fillion is making for himself an enviable record as an instructor and as a player he is an artist, and one of the best that has ever been on the Conservatory faculty.

It has been noticed for some time past at different public meetings the tendency on the part of some few students, co-eds included, to shuffle the feet, whisper aloud, and in other ways display a spirit of restlessness, when there was no occasion for such actions. This may seem a trivial matter, but it is extremely annoying and distracting the attention of others who really want to hear. If you think that you know more than the speaker and on account of your superior knowledge that his talk will bore you, then you had better stay away from the meeting altogether, and not come and annoy the talker as well as the listeners. At a musical recital the matter of whispering is more noticeable than at any other place, and it is a display of very poor form for any person to be continually talking in an undertone while the musician is playing. If you cannot respect the performer enough to give your attention then it would be best for all parties concerned for you to leave the room.

SEASONED STATE FOUND ABLE FOE IN CALLOW SUSQUEHANNAS

Maroon and Orange Nine in First Game Played Well Afield But Lack Aggressiveness at the Bat

In its initial game of the season the Susquehanna baseball nine lost to Penn State at State College on Saturday afternoon, 7 to 1. While the members of the team have been practicing faithfully for the past ten days this was the first opportunity they had to work together under fire, consequently a victory could scarcely be expected. Nevertheless the team performed splendidly and but for their weakness at the bat would have proved a dangerous foe to the State men who had the advantage of already winning five games this spring.

Manager Harpster arranged for the men to make the trip in automobiles so that they found it possible to make the trip in one day. Though the long ride was tiring the players reached their destination in plenty of time to prepare themselves for the contest.

The game opened very auspiciously for Susquehanna. After both sides had been retired in the first inning in one, two, three order, Swoope opened the second with a smoking single to center. Long cleverly sacrificed him to second, while Peters advanced him a base on an infield out. Harkins was then thrown out on a hard hit grounder to third. The Blue and White men also came back strong in this inning, but Goble proved himself equal to the emergency. With one down and the bases loaded, the next two men were retired on ground balls to the infield, Long cutting off a run by a perfect throw to the plate.

Susquehanna's hopes for victory were blasted in the third and fifth innings. Penn State gave the advantage in the third by receiving the better of two very close decisions on the first two men. This was followed by several opportune hits which gave them a three run lead. Again in the fifth they connected with several of Goble's slants after the bases were filled which netted them three more. Remembering that this was his first tryout this spring, this usually reliable southpaw pitched very creditably. Peters took up the mound work during the last three innings and held the State athletes to two bingles. One of these following a pass and stolen base allowed the Center County men to score their seventh and last run of the game. The Orange and Maroon's lone tally came in the seventh, when Swoope, who was hit by a pitched ball, was advanced to second on Peters' stinging single down the third base line, after Long had been retired. From this position Swoope scored when Bachman failed to handle Phillips' scorching grounder. Both sides were retired in order during the last two innings.

For Penn State Wardwell had the game in hand at all times allowing Kuchner's men but three hits. One of these was a hard hit liner to right center for two bases by Phillips, but the abriter called him out because he overstepped the first sack. With a little more training in the use of the stick, Susquehanna will become a dangerous opponent for the best of college teams.

RESERVE BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Warner Field has swarmed with candidates for positions on one of the teams during the past week. Assistant Manager Keller has arranged an excellent schedule which will give the scrub men an opportunity to prove their athletic ability.

The schedule:

April.
10 Sunbury H. S., at Sunbury.
17 Bucknell Acad., at Selingsgrove.
30 Bellefonte Acad., at Bellefonte.
May.
1 Williamsport H. S., Williamsport.
8 Sunbury H. S., at Selingsgrove.
22 Selingsgrove H. S., at Selingsgrove.
29 Bucknell Acad., at Lewisburg.

April 9th marked the fiftieth anniversary of General Robert E. Lee's surrender to General U. S. Grant.

RESERVE BASEBALL GAME

The reserve baseball squad met a German submarine on Saturday in the form of the Sunbury High School. The pitcher on the mound for Sunbury allowed the inexperienced batsmen of the scrubs but two lonely hits. Thomas, a freshman was hit hard by the scholastic Sunbury sluggers, and a total of ten runs was amassed by the end of the fifth inning, when the game was called on account of rain. The fielding of the reserves however was of excellent form and with an increase in the ability to wield the stick, it is possible that the remaining scrub games will show some different results.

Miss Catherine Focht, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Focht, of Plantsville, Conn., spent Easter with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Frank P. Manhart.

SUSQUEHANNA ALUMNUS GOES BACK TO MISSION FIELDS

REV. J. D. CURRAN AND MRS. CURRAN DEPART FOR MUHLENBERG MISSION IN LIBERIA

REV. J. D. CURRAN

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Curran sailed from New York for Muhlenberg Mission, Monrovia, Liberia, on March 13, after spending nine months in this country on furlough, visiting various Lutheran Churches and institutions.

Rev. and Mrs. Curran arrived last June, in time to spend the commencement season with us. This visit at that time was enjoyed by their many friends at Susquehanna. During their visit here last January most profitable and interesting service was held in the College Church at which time Rev. Curran gave an account of the African work—its importance, encouragements, difficulties and possibilities. His appeal to the church for a more liberal support and to the young men and women for a deeper devotion and consecration to the cause of missions was strong and forceful.

In a letter to Dr. Geo. E. Fisher under date of March 16th, he said "We are on the way to Africa via Porto Rico and Canary Islands. It is going to take about five weeks to make the trip. We expect to arrive at our mission about April 20th." His love for the work and desire to serve others is shown by this sentence; "I wish we could be on the Mission Field now to give an Easter Message to those who do not know of Easter nor Lord and Savior who died and rose again for them."

Both Rev. and Mrs. Curran have the true Missionary spirit and had no difficulty in arousing renewed interest in the cause of missions among the Lutheran churches of the homeland.

Rev. Curran is one of Susquehanna's honored alumni. He completed his college course in 1908 receiving the A. B. degree. Three years later he graduated from the Seminary, receiving the B. D. degree. During his college days he was a most thorough and faithful student. He was also an earnest supporter of the various college organizations and activities. He was interested in athletics, was manager of the Varsity Football team for the season of '05-'06, played right end for several seasons, was captain during '07. He was president of the Y. M. C. A. and one of its most active members during his college and Seminary days. He was a member of the Mission Band, Prohibition League, Musical Union and College Orchestra. Literary activities of college also attracted his attention, and he was an active member of Philo Literary Society and held the offices of Editor and Business Manager of "The Susquehanna." He served as historian of his class.

After graduation he became a life member of the Alumni Association. (Concluded 3rd Page 2nd Column)

PARK HUNTINGDON WON PRIZE IN PROHIBITION CONTEST

Will Represent Alma Mater in State Inter-Collegiate Event at Dickinson College Friday a Week

Inspired by the desire to represent this institution at the State Intercollegiate Prohibition Oratorical Contest, to be held this spring, the contestants aspiring to this honor acquitted themselves very creditably in the local contest held just before the Easter recess.

Wilson P. Ard, the first orator of the evening, spoke on the subject "On The Firing Line." In a very forcible manner he portrayed the horrible evils which have accompanied the entrance of King Alcohol into this country, and then the work which has been and is now being done to remove this monster from our land, and lately, the work which lies before every one of us if we desire the materialization of the anti-rum forces' slogan, "A saloonless nation in 1920."

As second speaker, Park W. Huntington, in "The Melting Pot of Nations," pictured in a very impressive manner the untold temptations which the newly arrived immigrant has to overcome when he first comes to our shores. Very eloquent was this young orator in showing his audience that if we longed for a minimization of crime we must remove this nation-wide temptation from our people.

After due consideration and careful deliberation the judges, Rev's. Hauser and Drummeller, of Selingsgrove, and Rev. Hilbish, of Sunbury, decided that the prize of ten dollars in gold should be awarded to Mr. Huntington. Mr. Huntington, as representative of the Prohibition League at Susquehanna University, will deliver this same oration on Friday evening, April 23rd, at the State Intercollegiate Prohibition Contest to be held at Dickinson College, Carlisle.

BOYS' GYM EXHIBITION

As a climax to the work which Physical Director Grossman has expended in drilling the boys of the college and academy, the exhibition given at the close of last term bespoke much labor and effort on the part of both teacher and pupils. Various forms of athletic feats composed the evening's entertainment. Every participant performed with agility and grace which could come only from frequent practice.

In addition to the callisthenic drills in which every member of the class took part, special work was done on the horses and parallel bars by a number of the more advanced in this line of athletic work. This class included Cassler, Thomas, Huntington, Hostetter, Woodruff and Shoaf. Increased interest was manifest in this part of the exhibition owing to the fact that three regulation letters for gym work were to be awarded to those members of the class who should perform with the greatest dexterity. Mr. Pond, Physical Director of Berwick Y. M. C. A., judged this part of the exhibition. Those who received the highest averages, and consequently the letters, were Shoaf, Cassler and Thomas; the averages coming in the order given, the highest first.

Mr. Pond interested the crowd with some clever work on both the parallel and high bars during the intermission between different numbers of the exhibition.

Tumbling, forming human pyramids, and various running contests constituted the latter part of the program. Some of these performances were executed with much adroitness and skill, while others elicited much laughter as the younger amateurs endeavored to follow their leaders in the performance of difficult feats.

A game of indoor baseball was played as a concluding feature. Thomas and Perry served as twirlers for the two teams. The game was very interesting ending 16-14 in favor of the latter's side.

Dr. Houtz is walking with the aid of a cane on account of an injured foot.

Prof. J. F. Faust, of the Academy, and Prof. N. N. Keener accompanied the base ball team on their trip to State College Saturday.

DECEASED

Rev. Ephraim Dutt

Rev. Ephraim Dutt '62, after more than a year of enforced retirement from the active ministry, quietly entered into the place prepared for him by his Master on March 3rd, 1915. During his ministry he built seven churches and remodeled three others. Preached 6714 sermons, made 1994 lectures and addresses, and traveled 146,075 miles in church work.

The comment of the "Altoona Tribune" may serve to sum up the high honor and regard for Rev. Dutt to which this sad yet triumphant occasion gave voice; "The deceased minister was a gentleman of the old school, kind, upright, sincere and earnest in all things at all times, his whole life being devoted to serving his Master well and faithfully. His sermons were always sound and convincing, based strictly on the teachings of the Bible, and delivered in a manner that showed the preacher sincere in all he said. No man could have performed his life's work better and the aged minister is at last called to his just reward, after laboring so long and faithfully in the vineyard of the Master."

Rev. Chas. M. Aurand

Rev. Dr. C. M. Aurand '81, of Selingsgrove, Pa., died unexpectedly on Mar. 26th at his home. He is survived by a widow and son, Rev. C. Aurand, of York, Pa., and a daughter Mrs. H. C. Michaels, of Northumberland, Pa.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Again we have returned to our beloved S. U. and are enjoying its many privileges. We are happy to see so many of the regular students back and glad to welcome so many of our friends, who are accustomed to utilize their time to the greatest advantage, by spending the Spring and Summer terms with us. We are always glad to get back to our studies and various college activities and will be glad to have our new friends and every student join in and help make our school a greater Susquehanna.

Our friends, upon their arrival here, will find that the Young Men's Christian Association has been progressing along with the other departments of the institution. They will find that (Concluded 2nd Page 2nd Column)

EDITORIALS

—Be careful that you do not grow weary and lag as you begin the home stretch of the year's work.

—Spring term students should interrogate the manager of The Susquehanna concerning special rates for the college year the remainder of the year.

—The Health League of Selingsrove Hall should not fail to remind the new students that it is the duty of every inmate to help keep the halls in a healthful condition.

—Now is the time to give the grass a chance. Do not persist in walking beside the walks where the grass is weak if you wish to improve the appearance of the campus.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Though man in his intense desire for knowledge is oftentimes easily deceived, and though superstition may make the most improbable things seem credible to him, yet it must be admitted that the interpreting of signs is an indubitable source of information to the human race.

Nature is even revealing the future to us through signs which we are able to understand only as science increases her field of vision. In like manner man's work and progress in the future may often be foretold by his successes and failures of the past.

Interpreting the signs of the times we can see advancement for Susquehanna in the near future. This spring is witnessing an influx of new students which very perceptibly increases the enrollment for the year. Dormitories are crowded; class rooms are filled; and it has been found necessary to secure rooms in the town for incoming students.

Surely these are signs which cannot be misinterpreted. Susquehanna is growing. She needs more room for expansion. The last few years have experienced a gradual increase in numbers. This growth will continue if the institution is able to provide for its new charges.

May these signs of progress ever be evident and may loyal men be raised up to help Susquehanna on its way to greater efficiency.

GLEE CLUB'S TRIP

The last concert of the winter term was given by the Glee Club at Ashland, Pa., Saturday, March 27. Speaking from the viewpoint of the audience the concert was a decided success, but from the financial viewpoint of the manager it was far from being a money maker. The audience was composed of the best people in Ashland and the efforts of the club were greatly appreciated. So great was the applause that the regular numbers and encores were sung before the delighted listeners were satisfied.

Director Fillion acting in the role of violin soloist was heartily applauded and repeatedly encored. He charmed the audience with his masterful technique and excellent interpretation. Peters, as tenor soloist, and Swoope, as reader, held the undivided attention of their listeners, and were recalled to the rostrum time after time.

Hospitality of the highest order was shown to the members of the club, and the men return feeling that many new friends have been won for Susquehanna.

'VARSITY BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Manager Harper's succeeded in arranging a very satisfactory schedule for this year's baseball nine. Dates have been arranged with colleges with which Susquehanna has not enjoyed athletic relationship for years. The game which was to have been played with Elmira of the New York State League last Thursday has been postponed until next week the request of that club.

The schedule:

the old Y. M. C. A. room which was on the 3rd floor of Selingsrove Hall, has been substituted by the renovated rooms of the 1st floor, of the same building. Here they will find, also, a very cheerful and inviting apartment, the reading room; it is here that the fellows congregate in their spare moments and participate in the playing of various games, reading, playing and singing; and here they hold their social chats. These privileges are extended to each and every student of Susquehanna.

The "Five Hundred Dollar in One Day" campaign, to which the fellows unanimously agreed to subscribe as much as they thought they were able to give made possible the construction and furnishing of the rooms. We would like to state, as a reminder to the subscribers, that the first and second payments of their subscription, which was to amount to one half of the entire amount subscribed, was due March 22nd. Many of the fellows have been prompt in their payments but there are still a number who have not as yet called to see the Treasurer, Harman, Sleepy Hollow. In order to reduce the amount of interest on the $250 note held against the association it would be well for all of us to attend to our obligations as promptly as possible.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

SUSQUEHANNA ALUMNUS GOES BACK TO MISSION FIELDS

He has always manifested a deep interest in the welfare of his Alma Mater. During his three years in the Foreign Field, amid the cares and strenuous duties of the Missionary life, he found time to make a very valuable collection of various curios to present to his beloved Alma Mater. This collection is not only interesting but of considerable educational value, and will prove a most valuable adjunct to Susquehanna's already large museum. Among these curios are found natural specimens as a monkey skin and skull of species shot by Rev. Curran; green snake found in tree top; porcupine quills; fresh water oyster shells found in St. Paul River and numerous shells of fresh water and marine specimens. The collection contains many articles made by the uncivilized natives, as finger rings, bracelets, bags and baskets made of grass, rattan and leather. Hats and native clothing, spinning wheel, wooden spoon and drinking cup, small knife, saber and case, a wooden harp and numerous other articles all of which enable the student to understand African life.

The Careful Housewife is ever on the lookout for the beautiful, as well as the durable. That's why we number among our best customers the careful housewives of Selinsgrove and vicinity.

They spend many a pleasant hour in our large cool store, selecting carpets, rugs, linoleums and curtains. The selections are the best; the prices moderate.

Prof. Nathan N. Keener is assisting in the coaching of a play to be staged by the members of the Reformed Sunday School.

The case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, enacted in true twentieth century style, was ended at Selinsgrove during the Easter vacation.

Dr. John I. Woodruff delivered the commencement address at the graduating exercises of the Beavertown high school Tuesday evening.

It may be "sweet to die for the Fatherland" but some of the Germans who are located in this country are not making very strenuous efforts to get passage across the waters to a position on the firing line with their countrymen.

Coach Keltner has been devoting double practice periods to the base ball squad for the past ten days, and the men are rounding into a fairly good working shape, and with a few more days of drill the team should be playing in mid-season form. The exact line-up for the "varsity" squad is not certain, as Keltner has been making some marked shake-ups during the past few days, and carefully observing the different combinations. Quite a number of new men are working hard for places on the first nine, and the competition is keen and the practices spirited.

For some time past sample copies of the Susquehanna have been sent to various persons for their approval or disapproval. You have been receiving these weekly budgets of news from your Alma Mater and undoubtedly have been thoroughly enjoying the same. This week the mailing list will be revised and all those who have not sent in their subscription of One Dollar will be discontinued after the issue of April 20. The expenses are heavy this term and the prompt remittance of your dollar would be heartily appreciated. If this is not received before April 20 your Susquehanna will be stopped.

NEW STUDENTS TENDERED RECEPTIONS BY ASSOCIATIONS

"Old" Men and Women Give Fetes For New-Comers in Rooms of Christian Organizations

New students at Susquehanna were the guests at a reception given by the Young Men's Christian Association in their newly furnished rooms in Selinsgrove Hall on Monday evening. Wishing to show their kindly feeling and hospitality towards those boys who have appeared at this college for the first time, this evening was set apart by the officers of the Y. M. C. A. as a time for good fellowship and social enjoyment.

Though the event was of an entirely informal nature an impromptu program was hurriedly arranged by Nichols '16, chairman of the Social Committee, which added greatly to the success of the evening. Prof. Brower responded very willingly to a call for a piano solo, and performed with his customary brilliance. A vocal duet by Peters and Dolbeer elicited more than ordinary applause but being wholly unprepared for the call they refused to appear for a second performance. Swoope, when called upon for a reading, responded with the students' favorite, "The Dutch Senator's Speech." As an encore he very ably gave another humorous and entertaining reading. The concluding feature of the program was several numbers rendered by the stringed-instrument quartet, which is composed of Nichols, Grossman, Gortner and Lutton.

As a fitting conclusion to the evening's entertainment tempting "eats" were served by the refreshment committee. Every fellow including both old and new students report a most enjoyable evening.

Not to be outdone by their associates in Christian Association work, the girls of Seibert Hall arranged for a similar reception for the new girls on Thursday evening. Practically every girl of the institution was present at this informal gathering. The parlors of Seibert Hall were very tastily decorated for the occasion. Games of various character were indulged in and every effort was made to create a homelike atmosphere for those not yet inured to the ways of college life. Miss Webb very pleasantly read several selections. Refreshing delicacies were served, bringing to a successful close a most pleasant and profitable evening to all those present.

Both associations are to be congratulated on the interest manifested in incoming students. They prove in this way that they are not Christian Associations in name only, and that they realize their work includes more than the conducting of weekly meetings.

SUSQUEHANNA'S REPRESENTATIVE IN PROHIBITION CONTEST

Although unsuccessful in obtaining any of the prizes awarded in the State Inter-collegiate Prohibition Contest held at Dickinson College last Saturday, Park W. Huntington, representing the Prohibition League of Susquehanna University was honored by having mention made of his subject and material by several of the main speakers during the convention.

Eight colleges were represented in the oratorical contest; University of Pittsburgh, Bucknell, Juniata, Lebanon Valley, Penn State, Dickinson, Gettysburg and Susquehanna. Twenty delegates were present from those various institutions and much interest was manifested in the work at hand. Action was taken commending Gov. Brumbaugh on his stand for Local Option and his fight against the saloon. Resolutions were drawn to be presented to the Governor expressing the sympathy and interest which the colleges of Pennsylvania have in the fight.

Rev. Williams, better known as the "Fighting Parson" of Chicago, was the principal speaker of the convention and aroused much enthusiasm in the work of the Prohibition League. The convention next year will be held at Gettysburg College.

Clarence Wagner, of University of Pittsburgh, won first prize of $40.00, his subject being "Delusions of Alcohol" while Homer Respass, of Dickinson College, with the subject of "The Call to Arms," was the recipient of the second prize of $10.00. Mr. Wagner is thus honored in representing the Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Prohibition League at Atlantic City in July in the contest for the National Prize offered by the National Prohibition League.

Susquehanna is proud of the showing Huntington made.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the college Y. M. C. A. Hall, Tuesday evening, April 13th. The meeting was attended by a goodly number of the older students and also a number of those who have just recently matriculated and we feel that the hour spent there was a very joyful as well as very profitable one to all. Rev. J. A. Hartman, of Sunbury, was the speaker for the evening. He portrayed to us the sunshine and satisfaction of success and also the intense remorse of failure, in his discourse on the subject of "Opportunity."

It is well known among the students that one of the desires of the association is to secure pictures for the purpose of ornamenting the walls. We are happy to say that a step has been taken along this line, not on the part of the Association, however, but by an outside friend, Mr. P. O. Spurdle, manager of the Philadelphia branch of the "Hammond Typewriter Company."

Mr. Spurdle was a guest at the University during the latter part of the Winter term and while attending the Y. M. C. A. meeting, became very much in sympathy with the boys in their efforts along the lines of Y. M. C. A. work, and proposed that he make the association a present of a picture. Of course the proposal was gladly accepted and as a result, a very beautiful 3½ by 2 portrait of that memorable edifice, the "Colosseum," the building in which so many Christians met death at the hands of the Romans, now hangs upon the wall.

—Susquehanna students learned of the return this week of Lea R. Lester, a former college athlete of the maroon and orange variety, to the home of his parents in Huntington, after 3½ years in the Philippine police.

BUCKNELL RESERVES TROUNCED BY 5-6

NINTH INNING SWATFAST AFTER AUMAN FILLED BASES TURNED VICTORY TO SUSQUEHANNA

In their first home game of the season the reserves, by consistent hitting and good fielding were able to defeat the strong Bucknell Academy nine 6 to 5. The pitching for both sides was excellent, Bachman for the scrubs retiring nine via the air route and allowing but six hits, while Auman for the Bucknellians fanned six and was touched up for five safeties.

The Academy boys started scoring in the very first frame when a base on balls, a three bagger by Worthington and singles by Dent and Seaman chased two runs across the rubber. There was no further scoring until the fourth when the second string men got busy and scored three runs. Hits by Bachman and Horton, a free-kick to Sprengle and ragged fielding by the visitors enabled Capt. Klepper's team to take the lead. However their lead was soon overcome for the Bucknell boys came back strong in their half of the fifth and tied the score while in the sixth they added two more to their total on a hit and two infield errors. This ended Bucknell's scoring but not for the scrubs, who after securing a run in their turn of the sixth, produced a ninth inning rally which enabled them to go to supper with the bacon. In this memorable ninth, and after most of the spectators, becoming weary of the three hours already spent on the splintery bleachers, had departed with hopeless thoughts of victory; Bachman received a pass, Klepper reached first on Swayza's error and Thomas got a line on Dent's low throw of his hard hit grounder. The bases were full, no one out and the mighty fat Dettelinger up to bat but the best he could do was to pole a vicious drive down the third base line pushing Bachman over with the tying run. Nichols the next man up pushed one to the same spot and Klepper dinkeyed the winning run across the pan and the game was over.

Too much scrubs as seen from the summary:

The base ball fans are earnestly watching the progress of "Dick" Kauffman, of the St. Louis team, who is doing excellent work with that aggregation. "Dick" is among the leaders of the squad in batting and his field work has been errorless so far.

BLIND MUSICIAN GAVE RECITAL IN SEIBERT HALL APR. TENTH

Miss Mabel Toole's Program a Triumph of Perseverance Over Misfortune of Her Early Life

A most interesting recital was heard Saturday evening, April 10th, in Seibert Hall. It was the occasion of the first appearance here of Miss Mabel Toole, a very talented soprano and pianist. Interest in her appearance was largely centered in the fact that she has the misfortune to be blind. This has not, however, prevented her from manifesting temperamental and technical facilities bespeaking a striking attitude and an innate love of art of music for itself.

Miss Toole rendered several piano selections of considerable difficulty, playing them with warmth and expression as well as with sureness of technique. About one half of her program was devoted to songs, when she exhibited a voice of beautiful calibre and tremendous volume. One, written by Miss Toole herself, was a fine example of spontaneous inspiration, being very melodious and well constructed. Mrs. Reiche, of Freeburg, played the accompaniments except for the encore numbers, when Miss Toole played, sang and whistled with unusual versatility and ready command.

The audience was composed almost entirely of townspeople, as not more than three or four students attended. This fact is very much to be regretted, for the students, especially those in the Conservatory, should avail themselves of all such opportunities of hearing good music. As a part of their development, which they seek in coming here, both musical and otherwise, every student ought to attend as many lectures and recitals as possible, and derive therefrom the benefit and inspiration essential in the lives of everyone.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

At the regular Spring meeting of the board of trustees of Princeton President Hibben announced that a chair was endowed by Mrs. William Church Osborn, of New York City, who has given $125,000 to establish the Dodge Professorship of Medieval History. Another new professorship, in economics, endowed with $100,000, was given, the donor of which remains anonymous. Other gifts for endowment and current expenses totaled $106,202.

Under the will of Miss Mary E. Garrett, who recently died, virtually all of her estate, estimated to be worth between $400,000 and $500,000, is left to her intimate friend, Miss Mary Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College. Miss Garrett and Miss Thomas were co-workers in the cause of education and larger opportunity for women.

Clara Louise Thompson, Ph. D., Professor of Latin at Lockport College, formerly American Fellow at the Classical School in Rome, has been elected to the advisory council of the Congressional Union for woman suffrage.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of Wilson College, Dr. Anna Jane McKee, Ph. D., tendered her resignation as president, to take effect August 1. Dr. McKee has accepted the presidency of Wellesley College, at Wellesley, Mass.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Under the direction of Prof. Fillion the Glee Club has prepared an entirely new program for rendition on Tuesday evening. The Club has been increased by the addition of a number of new members, and considering the faithful practices which they have gone through during the past term something of an exceptionally interesting and entertaining nature should be staged on Tuesday evening. In addition to the vocal music which the Club will render, Prof. Fillion will furnish instrumental music while the Club's reader, W. E. Swoope, will be on hand with several new catchy selections. Concert which will be held in Seibert Hall will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

SENIOR GIRLS TENDER RECEPTION TO CLASSMATES

Breaking former precedent and instituting a new custom in Senior social life at Susquehanna, the co-eds of the 1915 class proved their loyalty to the class and the appreciation which they hold for what the more husky members have already done for the class by entertaining the entire Senior group in the parlors of Seibert Hall on Wednesday evening. This pleasure was altogether unexpected by the male members of the class as in the past nothing quite so elaborate in the form of social entertainment had been attempted at this period of the school year. Anticipating something unique in the way of social enjoyment, the boys made acknowledgment of the kind thoughtfulness of the girls by presenting themselves at the Hall promptly at 8 o'clock. In the respect that every member of the class was present this event was truly a class affair.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing games and engaging in contests of an intellectual nature. Prizes for superior work were awarded by the girls, acting as judges, to Haision, Lauer, Witmer and Harpster. After considerable time had been spent in joviality the attention of all was called to things of a more convivial nature. Tempting delicacies which could be prepared only by those who know how, were brought in by the hostesses of the evening.

Appreciation of the highest nature was expressed by those who enjoyed the '15 girls' hospitality.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Y. W. C. A. has again taken up its work with renewed energy. The first meeting of the term was held last Tuesday evening with a very good attendance. It was the first meeting under the new administration and the interest shown speaks well of the cooperation of the new members with the new officers. It is earnestly hoped that every girl will take a deep interest in this important sphere of college activity.

The Glee Club has been working in the interest of the school throughout the year and well deserves your patronage at their annual Home Concert in Seibert Hall Tuesday evening.

EDITORIALS

Gettysburg here Thursday and Duncannon here Saturday is certainly a good bill for this week.

—If you can do no more, at least assist Manager Gortner in the care of the tennis courts by keeping off of them when they are wet.

—Final arrangements for the game with Catholic University on Friday could not be made so that the "Varsity" spent the entire week in preparing for the heavy work of this week.

ATHLETIC FIELD ENCLOSURE

It is a deplorable fact that Susquehanna has been so long without an adequate enclosure of her athletic field. Hundreds of dollars are lost to the Athletic Association every year because of the failure of many fans to pay their entrance fee. Many so-called "sports" refuse to buy tickets because it is possible to see the game free of charge; and the reason this is possible is because the field is open to view from all sides.

In order that athletics may continue its existence thousands of dollars are invested by the Athletic Association every year. But if the various departments of athletics are not self-supporting, how is the Association to solve this difficult problem. From what source is the money to be obtained? Yet how can any sport be self-supporting if it is not possible to secure an admission fee from foreign spectators?

Home games are frequently a failure from a monetary standpoint, not so much from lack of attendance as from the manager's inability to secure the price of admission from everyone who does attend.

This trouble could be eliminated if a fence were constructed about the field; or, if preferred, the enclosing of three sides would without doubt bring about the desired result. It would mean a decided increase in gate receipts and would eliminate much of the rowdiness that is at times prevalent. There is a certain class of fans that repeatedly refuse to buy admission tickets to games, yet are very willing to insult visiting players during the contest and thus bring reproach upon the college and the community. This unhappy condition can be remedied to a great extent by the enclosure of Warner field.

Would it not be possible for the wishes of faculty and students to be materialized in regard to this matter by the philanthropic move of some individual or by the co-operation of some Alma Mater-loving class?

CLIO

The opening of the final term of the present year in Clio was characterized by the same interest, which is always manifest in her programs. The literary lethargy, which is apt to result from vacations, is noticeably lacking and the work thus far can well be praised for its efficient preparation.

The attendance of the first meeting of the term was excellent, considering that many of the students had not returned from the Easter vacation. And well can Clio feel proud of the program for, instead of being slow or tiresome which might be expected owing to the short time allowed for preparation, it was replete with spirit and characterized by an intelligent and successful arrangement and rendition of the same. Though the debate was eliminated, the musical numbers substituted in its place were of such exceptional quality and of such inspirational value that it could not but help to create in all true Clio present, a renewed interest and arouse a desire to make Clio greater and better.

Incapable as many of us are to understand fully the technique of music, there are but few who cannot enjoy with thorough satisfaction both vocal and instrumental music, for there exists in every one a faculty of appreciation for the truly splendid things of which music is not the least splendid. Good music acts as a stimulus for better work and Clio can attribute much of her success to the excellent quality of music rendered upon her rostrum. It is indeed profitable both for the society as an organization and for its individual members to eliminate occasionally other portions of the program and insert musical numbers, for the interest created by so doing will easily counteract the literary work which may seem to be neglected.

The second meeting was equally as good as the first. Every number was most capably filled. The debate was especially interesting because of the relative importance and interest the question presents to every Susquehanna student. "Resolved that student government should be inaugurated at Susquehanna," was the question and after a thorough discussion the judges decided in favor of the negative.

Now let us for a moment consider for whose benefit Clio has been laboring and ascertain whether or not we as individuals have been exerting our abilities for the mutual benefit of our fellow members upon whom we are mutually dependent. The very term "society" signifies dependence, and unless we can leave some thought of value to others we are unworthy to be counted within the realm of that word. Then, too, there are some who think they fail to receive the full value in return for their expended energies and who desire public recognition for every thought or act which others perchance may deem worthy to use but fortunately there are but few who are victims of such egotism and conceit. Truly we should all be desirous of giving our greatest benefit and should silently feel proud of any thoughts which others may deem valuable.

Clio as a literary organization fosters the principles of mutual benefit and her members, with very few exceptions, are striving for a better Clio and more proficient men and women. As an evidence of this spirit in Clio we have a remarkable progress, for where those qualities do not persist, society has lost its meaning and diminished interest will result.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, IN-DOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. J. E. Dietterlich '85, pastor of the First Lutheran church, Duquesne, Pa., with the aid of his congregation, will build a $25,000 church. The plans call for a beautiful structure of stone, with the parsonage connected with the church at the rear. As a subdivision there is a large Sunday School room with a seating capacity of two hundred and twenty, while the main auditorium including chancel, study and choir loft will seat three hundred and fifty. The building will be a credit to the church and to the town.

The reception tendered by the members showed their appreciation of his work as a pastor. He received a number of valuable gifts as well as many hearty commendations for his sincere work while among them.

Rev. John C. Reish '11 and '14, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Loganston, Pa., motored to Selinsgrove, where he spent several days with former schoolmates during the latter part of the week.

ACADEMY NOTES

Prof. E. M. Drungart, principal of the Academy, moved from High st., to College ave., during the Easter vacation.

This department has taken on considerable life since the beginning of the Spring term, caused by the large influx of new students. All classes are crowded, and extra teaching facilities have been necessitated to accommodate the fifty or more new scholars.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Mr. and Mrs. John Schoch, of New Berlin, spent Saturday with President and Mrs. Aikens at their home on Walnut street.

Under the direction of Manager Gortner the tennis courts have taken on a decidedly improved appearance, and are now ready for the class and inter-collegiate tournaments.

Administrators of the C. M. Auran estate held a public sale of household goods and furnishings at the late residence of the deceased on Walnut street Saturday afternoon.

Through the efforts of K. E. Irvin and Ray Lubold the patrons of the college boarding house were treated to an excellent brew of sassafras tea Wednesday evening.

Dr. Aikens is having a concrete floor placed in his garage, and arrangements are being made for the accommodation of his new Cadillac, which is to arrive next week.

Continuing their progressive policy the 1915 girls tendered a reception to the male members of the class Wednesday evening in the parlors of Seibert Hall. Unique entertainment and tasty "cats" featured an evening pleasantly spent.

No use is being made of the Reflectoscope in the Charles Steele Science Hall. Why not an illustrated lecture occasionally by members of the faculty? Very instructive evenings were spent in this way last year, and the same use should be made of this high grade instrument at the present time.

Arrangements are being perfected by Manager Lauver for a Track meet to be held on Warner Field some time next month. Quite a number of candidates are practicing daily for the various events, and some records have been made in the shot put and pole vault which are exceptional, and which go to prove that there is some very good material among the student body for this spring sport.

Prof. Arthur J. Soule, former teacher in violin at Susquehanna, together with Mrs. Soule, former preceptress, send congratulations to "The Susquehanna" for the advanced step which it has taken this year. Prof. Soule is doing private tutoring at his home in Lestershire, N. Y. At present he has forty pupils and many applications to take more. They unite in sending kindest regards to their Susquehanna friends.

In repairing the tennis courts it was found necessary to use the fire hose as a means of conveying water to the work, and there were fifty feet of leaky hose actually discovered around the entire college community, not sufficient to reach from the fire plug to even the nearest building. It would not require a very large sum of money to purchase enough good hose to reach the farthest building and then in case of fire there would be some chance of fighting the blaze, but if conditions remain the way they are at present the authorities may some day, over the ashes of a destroyed building, bemoan the fact that they were "penny wise and dollar foolish."

GETTYSBURG WON AND BUCKNELL LOST TO SUSQUEHANNA

Battlefield Collegians Bat Their Way to Victory—Lybarger Aviated and Maroon and Orange Won

GETTYSBURG GAME

Thursday afternoon the students of Susquehanna witnessed an event which had been scheduled as a base ball game, but which at times was very hard to recognize as such. Gettysburg met the Orange and Maroon nine in their first game on Warner Field and walked away with an 18-4 victory. The score in itself tells an eloquent tale. The entire team was decidedly off color and before the game had progressed far realized themselves the victims of one of those jinxes that are ever about producing the weirdest in athletic contests. Peters, who has always proven himself a most reliable twirler, was unable to stop the Gettysburg batters' fusillade of hits. Goble, his successor, was also touched up for a number of safeties.

Motter, who began mound duty for the battlefield men, was also ineffective and was withdrawn after four runs had been scored. Howard, who took his place, was absolutely impregnable, the locals going hitless the remainder of the game.

ELMIRA GAME

With three games scheduled to be played within six days the Varsity began last week's work with characteristic vim. On Monday they met the strong Elmira team, champions of the New York State League last year, at Elmira, and while they did not conquer them, they showed this League team such a merry time that the New Yorkers rejoiced at the close of the game that they were able to hold their collegiate opponents to 1 run. The 3-1 score shows that our pitchers were not being solved very easily by the Elmira batsmen. Goble, who opened the game, pitched consistently; however one run was scored in each of the first, second and sixth innings through heavy base running and timely hitting on the part of the champions. Peters assumed mound duty in the seventh and during the remainder of the game the New York State men secured not even the semblance of a hit. Susquehanna's lone tally came in the final inning, though they became dangerous several times earlier in the contest. In the sixth (Concluded on 2nd Page 2nd Column)

BUCKNELL GAME

Thoroughly reformed and with their feet firmly fixed upon Mother Earth again, the Varsity came into their own on Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Bucknell baseball team here in 19 innings, 5-4. From start to finish the game was closely contested and up until the tenth inning when Leibensberger uncorked a wild pitch with the bases loaded the final result was in doubt.

For Susquehanna Goble pitched a remarkable game. A number of times he pitched himself out of difficulty when runners threatened to cross the rubber. In fact three of the Orange and Blue's four runs were made possible through errors on the part of his teammates. Leibensberger also pitched well keeping the hits well scattered except in the third inning when a triple by Long followed Smith's double and Phillips' single. However his own wildness during the latter stages of the game cost him the defeat. Phillips' catching was noteworthy. He easily cut off Topham, Bucknell's speed king, in an attempted steal of second when the veteran outfielder made a last supreme effort to win the fray in the beginning of the tenth. Smith's all-around work helped the locals to victory.

Victory was made possible for the home team when in the eighth inning with the bases filled Swoope and Harkins were hit by pitched balls, forcing in two runs. Neither side was able to dent the plate in the ninth and Susquehanna fans breathed easier when that they must either get the propitiation of this place and those who were at the time patronizing it or he would get them, they investigated the place and captured large numbers of gamblers and several hundred dollars. At another time he had the unpleasant experience of being thrown into a Police patrol wagon and hauled to the chief's office, but they took him no farther. After this little incident he made an appeal to the Mayor for something to give him protection, and was given a police badge which he now wears at all times.

It is needless to say there was great rejoicing in the college settlement.

"FIGHTING PARSON OF CHICAGO" TELLS STUDENTS OF FIGHT AGAINST CRIME IN CITIES

Rev. Williams came to Susquehanna under the auspices of the Prohibition League and delivered his lecture, "The Challenge of the City" in Seibert Hall on Monday evening in a most pleasing and forceful manner. This great lecturer of nation-wide reputation was beyond our reach until the finally agreed to come east to attend the State Prohibition Convention held at Carlisle, Pa. At Dickinson—his Alma Mater—Rev. Williams was the chief speaker of the convention and made a very lasting impression upon all the delegates who were present.

Rev. Williams has been for the past six years pastor of the Grace Methodist Church in Chicago, that great city of vice and crime. During those six years he has made himself known to all in his city as a fighter of not only the saloon but also of all its allied vices. He is a man who does not think it below the dignity of a minister of the Gospel to do some spy work. He is not afraid to dress in tramps clothes and visit the gambling dens and places of vice, and then bring offenders to justice; even though they may have the political machine back of them.

In his lecture he presented the great work that the city calls the college men to do. He pictured to the Christian college graduate the immensity of the field for service and then gave his plans and experiences as a suggestion of a mode of solution of these great problems. He revealed the whole secret of vice and crime and the reason why it can exist in our city and our nation.

One of the first experiences that he related was his spying out a gambling den in a place where the city policemen refused to go to arrest the men who conducted the unlawful retreat. They claimed that no such place existed. But when he warned them that they must either get the propitiation of this place and those who were at the time patronizing it or he would get them, they investigated the place and captured large numbers of gamblers and several hundred dollars. At another time he had the unpleasant experience of being thrown into a Police patrol wagon and hauled to the chief's office, but they took him no farther. After this little incident he made an appeal to the Mayor for something to give him protection, and was given a police badge which he now wears at all times.

He cited several instances when representatives of the liquor interests came to him attempting to bribe him to support their cause in an underhand way. They would make all kinds of promises as to what they would do toward removing the irreputable saloons if he would only help them to get a license for the one they wished to establish, but in this man they found one who knew nothing about compromise.

This is only a very brief account of the many excellent things Rev. Williams brought to us. He emphasized throughout his lecture that it requires men of brains, men of convictions and determination, men who do not seek the respect which the professions give, but men who will respect their profession by doing something to better conditions among their fellowmen, to accomplish this great task of bringing about better conditions for the "down and out" in the city. We may have to lay aside dignity and get down to the real work if we would succeed. To use Rev. Williams' terms "We must outgeneral

HOME CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Under Prof. Fillion's Direction Musicians and Reader Performed Ably in Seibert Hall Tuesday Evening

FERDINAND FILLION

The annual concert given by the University Glee Club on Tuesday evening in Seibert Hall was a great success. Critics who have heard the concerts in the past years declare the last one the best ever given.

The singing of the club itself was of remarkable quality, showing hard practice and thorough drilling under the able leadership of Prof. Fillion of the Conservatory. An entirely new program of regular numbers and encores was given. The solo "On the Road to Mandalay" by Coach Kelnner, with the glee club accompaniment was of special merit. Each number was artistically rendered and endorsed by the appreciative audience which filled the hall.

Prof. Fillion was at his best and showed himself to be a master of the violin. His faultless technique and pleasing tone completely captivated his audience which sat entranced during his rendition of "Concerto in A Minor," one of the most difficult compositions written for the violin. Prof. Fillion also played a selection on the piano in which he proved himself to be no less an interpreter of that music than he is on the violin.

Prof. Brower, head of the Conservatory,

(Continued from preceding column) them? They are skillful in their crookedness; they are organized—often the police and the men of crime and vice working together.

It is to be regretted that the entire student body could not be present since they have been so clamorous throughout the year for just such an event. In every respect Rev. Williams' effort was of highest order, and those who failed to attend missed a rare treat.

tory, played two very beautiful selections on the piano. His interpretation was demonstrative of great musical genius and left his hearers filled with a keen appreciation of his musical ability.

Mr. Peters delighted his audience with two selections "Am Mer" and "Calm as the Night." Caruso himself would not have been greater appreciated nor more heartily applauded than was the work of this peer of Susquehanna tenors.

The reading "King Robert of Sicily" given by Mr. Swoope, was one of the most pleasing features of the evening. His excellent style of delivery, his deep musical voice and pleasing personality all added to his wonderful rendition of Longfellow's beautiful poem, and held his audience spell-bound until the last word was uttered. Every one who heard it declared it to be the best which Mr. Swoope has ever given. He was repeatedly encored and willingly responded to the plaudits of his delighted audience.

The club is deserving of great merit for their faithful attendance at rehearsals and their appreciation of the work of Prof. Fillion whose untiring efforts have made the club a success.

TRACK WORK

This spring has witnessed increased interest in track work at Susquehanna. Not since the days of Garhart, Schoch and Latahaw have track prospects and possibilities been so enthusiastically discussed as they have been this year. Not only has track work become one of the main subjects of conversation for those who engage in the safe and sane side of athletics, rooting from the sidelines, but each day finds new candidates on Warner Field, everyone eager to display his ability in some phase of athletic sports. Out of this host of candidates a first class track team could be developed with proper and sufficient training.

ALUMNI NOTES

Kerstetter '13, principal of the Blain, Pa. High School, held graduation exercises during the latter part of last week when that school graduated its first class. Prof. Kerstetter was elected last summer as the first principal of this High School. He has had a very successful year winning the respect and confidence of all his patrons. He has been elected unanimously as principal for next year. Mrs. Kerstetter, School of Expression '13, has assisted the Professor with his elocutionary work during the past year.

Miss Sam C. Rine '14, of McKees Half Falls, who has been teaching near her home during the past winter, spent the week-end with Susquehanna friends.

Miss Margaret Stroh '12, has been elected as head of the Department of Elocution and Reading in Cumberland Valley State Normal School, Shippensburg, Pa. Miss Stroh, who was graduated from the Byron King School of Oratory after completing her work here, taught Latin and English for several years in the High School at Sunbury. During the past season she has been connected with Chautauqua work in the South and East, and has been remarkably successful as a platform entertainer and instructor. We are glad to announce her late advancement to the position of a permanent member of this Normal faculty.

Rev. Charles P. McLaughlin, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Concord, N. C., and Secretary of the Board of Education of the United Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the South, sends with his yearly remittance to the Susquehanna most encouraging words. He says in part: "Not only do I feel that you are doing a good work, but you have my sympathies—and are entitled to support from every alumnus. The weekly portrayal which you present of College life at Susquehanna indicates that Susquehanna is going forward." He also remarks that the Susquehanna company at Concord, consisting of Mrs. McLaughlin, her sister, Miss Esther Phillips, and himself rejoice together from time to time as they note what is happening at their Alma Mater.

Rev. I. W. Bingham '06 and '09, who recently left the Lutheran charge at Ashland, Pa., and who is now pastor of one of the leading Lutheran churches in Quincy, Ill., is rapidly being raised to a position of prominence in Christian service work in that part of the West. He already has become a state officer in Christian Endeavor work, a state and county officer in Sunday School work, and has spoken at many Chautauquas in the interests of Prohibition. It has been said that he speaks to more people than any other minister in Adams county, which is no light statement when we remember that Quincy alone has 40 churches and that Adams county is one of the largest of the state. Since last November he has spoken to one or more industrial shops each week at the noon hour. At some of these meetings he speaks to as many as 270 men. This gives you some slight idea what this loyal Susquehannian is doing for the cause of Christ. His work includes mammoth efforts in his own church as well. Last Easter 75 members were added to the church and a free will offering of $1105.00 was given. Surely this alumnus is doing a great work for the King.

COLLEGE NOTES

Halston '15, representative of the American Book Co., spent Saturday touring Adams county in the interests of that company.

Miss McCormick '16, visited her sister, Mrs. Kearns, of Beavertown, Saturday and Sunday.

Gloss '15, visited his home at Beavertown over the week-end.

Drown, who was compelled to leave college near the close of last term on account of a serious case of blood-poisoning, has again returned and is able to walk about the campus with the aid of a cane.

Himes '16, spent a short time between trains on business at Beavertown Saturday afternoon.

Drown '16, journeyed to Philadelphia on Friday where he attended a meeting of the Intercollegiate Basketball Association of Pennsylvania.

Miss Persing '18, enjoyed a visit with her parents at Allenwood Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Cressman '17, visited her parents at Lewistown over the week-end. Wilmer '15, who suffered serious injury from a falling limb of a tree during the Easter recess, is again able to resume his customary duties.

Walker '17, accompanied by his wife and son, was unexpectedly called to Penna. Furnace to attend the funeral of his brother's wife and child.

Horton '18, and Klepper '17, entertained their home minister, Rev. Dotteiger, of Belleville, on Friday.

Miss Grossman '18, was visited by Miss Wagner, from near Shamokin, who contemplates taking college work next year.

Harpster '15, and Gortner '15, accompanied Aikens '11, who motored to Lewisburg Friday, where they witnessed Bucknell's 5-3 defeat at the hands of Gettysburg.

The Susquehanna in its weekly form can only be supported and kept going financially through the co-operation of the subscribers with the Manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hess, accompanied by their son Samuel and wife, motored from their home at State College to Selinsgrove Saturday where they spent a short time with President and Mrs. Aikens.

Coach Kehlner's men came back to their stride Saturday and proved conclusively to the student body that the result of Thursday's game was merely the work of that old hard luck "jinx" which is bound to strike any baseball team sooner or later.

Announcement was made this week by Rev. Dr. J. R. Dimm, that he would retire August first as pastor of the Lutheran church at Shamokin Dam, which charge he has served for the past twenty-seven years.

Manager Lauver has been putting full time on the track and it now presents a very much improved appearance, and it is up to the fellows to turn out and get in shape for the coming meet with Dickinson college.

Do you turn out your light when you leave your room? Every student should be careful and mindful of this obligation. It is entirely unnecessary to have a light burning in your room when you are out, and the extra expense to the school of such carelessness is quite an item.

RAIN INTERFERED WITH SUS- QUES' SOUTHERN INVASION

Return to Keystone Loam Marked by Seventeen Hits But Failure to Win from Juniata College

Rain followed Susquehanna's baseball team on its trip to West Virginia so that neither of the games scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday were played. West Virginia University at Morgantown contended with the Orange and Maroon ball tossers for supremacy on Wednesday afternoon, but after three innings had been hurriedly reeled off to no effect, the rain storm which had been gathering was suddenly let loose, and further play was made impossible. Peters, who was on the mound for the locals, was at his best causing the opposing batsmen to offer the easiest kind of chances to Susquehanna infielders.

Continuing Southward the team encountered West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buckhannon on Thursday afternoon. Here again rain interfered at the end of the third inning before either side had scored. A passing cloud let down a veritable deluge for a few minutes, but after the rain had stopped Susquehanna appeared ready for action, thinking that within a short time the diamond would be ready for a continuance of the battle. However, the student umpire announced the game called on account of rain as soon as the shower had ended, and despite the protests of local manager, captain, and coach the Southern team refused to finish the contest. In the three innings played Susquehanna had men on third at the end of two innings, while first and second were occupied when the third out was made in the other inning. Goble allowed but one man to reach first in this time for the opposing team.

Friday was spent in the return to Pennsylvania soil and Saturday found Keelbner's men lined up against the strong Juniata nine of Huntington. All the pent-up energies which were to have been expended through the three games seemed to be let loose as the Susquehanna batsmen confronted the Juniata twirlers. Indeed, both the Huntington county and the Snyder county men were given an opportunity to fatten their batting averages in this game which Juniata won, 11-9, when Susquehanna was compelled to leave the field at the end of the seventh inning to catch a train.

Peters, Susquehanna's diminutive moundsman, had the Westerners completely at his mercy during the first five innings, while in that time the 'Varsity had succeeded in driving Lawson from the mound and scoring four runs, which looked like a mountain to the Blue and Gray boys with "Pete" going like a whirlwind. But in the sixth Juniata came back strong and succeeded in denting the plate five times. These runs were made possible by several costly errors at the opening of the inning followed by timely hitting by Omo and Voltz. However, the Orange and Maroon men had discovered their batting eye and they were unwilling to give up yet. In their next trip to the plate they drove over five more counters by savage swatting. The first of these was a home run drive by Martin, which with Voltz's hit of the same calibre, featured the game. Juniata brought the scoring to a close when they drove over six more runs in their half of the seventh. Susquehanna was then compelled to leave in order that they might catch the train.

Though Susquehanna lost the game in the final count it is clearly evident that they were too much for Juniata's boxmen. The 'Varsity lost through the opposing team's hitting at the critical time and not in any way on account of superior work by her twirlers. Juniata's pitching staff was tested to the utmost. Voltz, who boasts of having been an applicant for Connie Mack's squad this spring, and who after repeated requests from the student body, took up the burden of the mound position after the score had been tied in the early part of the seventh, looked just the same to the reformed local sluggers as his predecessors. Seven hits and four runs were registered against this would-be professional during the one and two-third innings which he labored.

The fielding of the 'Varsity up to this time has been of professional calibre, and with their batting ability raised to its present status prospects for an excellent showing during the remainder of the season are most encouraging.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. has earnestly been carrying on its work since last mention has been made of it in these columns. This association goes about its work in a quiet and unassuming manner but very good results are obtained. At a recent meeting Karl Irvin Sem. 15, gave the association a very interesting talk. These addresses by the different members of the faculty and Theological students are very inspiring and help to make the meetings more interesting.

For a time the social service work looked dull but with the renewed efforts of those in charge, it has taken

Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES

Those who were present at the weekly meeting of Tuesday will agree that there was delivered one of the finest addresses to which it has been the privilege of the student body of Susquehanna to listen. Rev. Leonard is a forceful speaker, and his eloquence and personal magnetism can not help but impress the minds and hearts of his hearers. His subject, "The Making of Our Ideals" should appeal to every one, who as students are but laying the foundation for future success or failure and building the character which will make or break their lives.

It is to be regretted that so many of the fellows are allowing their social and other duties to interfere with their attendance at Y. M. C. A. It is true that the beauties of the campus and the pleasantness of the twilight hour spent in delightful repose amid the fresh green of the trees and quietness of the hour, are a temptation to influence the heart of any one who is a lover of Nature. But we should not forget to return thanks to our Creator through whose goodness we are enjoying these blessings, nor begrudge him a single hour a week from amid our various duties. We have been having fine addresses the last few weeks which are worth, in our estimation, many times the value of the single hour which the Y. M. C. A. demands.

The Y. M. C. A. has been busy along other lines also. Lutton, who has charge of the Deputation Work, has various plans in view for work among the neighboring churches. One of those meetings was carried out with creditable success last Sunday evening. Under the leadership of Mr. Lutton himself, and the "pop" which Mr. Keller, as leader of the singing managed to instill into the hymns, the meeting was inspiring in every way. Grossman contributed two beautiful violin solos, which were much appreciated by the audience. Two addresses were made, Dolbeer speaking on "The Test of a Christian" and Mr. Hinkelman on "What God is Asking Us to Do." The whole theme of the talks was service, and a direct, simple appeal was made to all to find out what God wishes us to do and then do it with all our might and main, making our lives beautiful by devoting them to service to others. Give our lives into God's care, and let His Master Hand mold from the crude material of our humanity, a statue like unto His Divine Likeness.

Other meetings have been planned in the near future, and we make a direct appeal to those who are in any way interested in this work to respond freely to Mr. Lutton when he asks you to help in this most interesting and helpful work.

Mr. Keammerer, our president, made a trip to Pittsburgh on Friday of this week, to attend the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Presidents of the State. He reports a very inspiring convention, and we know he has come back to us full of renewed energy and love for the work.

You students who have been forgetting your pledges of last term, wake up, and come to Y. M. C. A. this week and through your own efforts make this the best meeting of the term.

(Continued From Preceding Column) on a brighter outlook. The girls report good attendance at both places on Saturday. The girls who are giving so much of their time to this work deserve only the greatest commendation for the manner in which they carry on the work and the success with which they are meeting.

THROUGH SWITZERLAND AND THE VALLEY OF THE RHINE

President Aikens Lectured Before the Student Body in the Charles Steele Sci- ence Hall Thursday

On Thursday evening of last week in the lecture room of the Charles Steele Science Hall Dr. Aikens delivered his lecture on, "A Trip Through Switzerland and the Valley of the Rhine." He had with him a store of excellent views of that country which were thrown on the screen by the new reflectoscope. The pictures brought to our view very vividly the contour and beauty of that famous country while to each view the speaker gave a graphic explanation of the historical events for which they were noted. President Aikens could give these descriptions first hand from his observations during his recent trip to Europe.

He thoroughly described the visit to the manufacturing city of Geneva thence taking his course along the large and beautiful Luzerne Lake he visited the place made famous in the tale of William Tell, the church where the reformer Zwingli preached, and many others of equal historical interest. Special emphasis was placed on the wonderful piece of sculpture presented in "The Lion of Luzerne" which was carved in the side of solid rock to commemorate forever the virtue and bravery of the Helvetian soldiers in their memorable struggle for freedom. He then spoke of the beauty and grandeur of the world-famous ice capped mountains of Switzerland. These mountains are visited annually by thousands of tourists.

In the description of the Rhine Valley he dwelt chiefly on the exquisite beauty of the adjacent country, and the historical data all of which was verified in the views. Especially interesting were the views of the vineyard and old castles, the speaker giving the chief incidents attending the building and occupancy of these famous old structures.

The lecture was thoroughly enjoyed and the house was filled to capacity. It is to be regretted that the students were not given the opportunity to derive the benefits of such lectures with the new reflectoscope earlier in the year but we have the promise of several lectures this term, the first one this Thursday evening given by the Historical Society of Snyder County.

PHILO

With the spring term well started, Philo is again back in her course, and pushing smoothly ahead. Her active work was not noticeably checked by the Easter vacation and with the return of some of the old members and the addition of several new ones to our number the progress of Philo this term promises to be above the standard.

The officers elected at the beginning of the term have entered heartily upon their duties, and every member placed upon the program seems determined to make this term the best in the history of Philo. Such has ever been our policy.

Our program on the evening of April 20 was a manifestation of this spirit. Every member on the rostrum performed creditably and with an enthusiasm seldom equaled. The debate was especially interesting in as much as the question was one of immediate pertinence to every student at Susquehanna. The following was the program as rendered: Essay, Woodruff; Declamation, Harold Fisher; Oratorical Declamation, Harold Fisher; Original Oration, Mary Weaver; Music, Misses Long; Current News, Kurtz; Select Reading, Schoch; Debate: Resolved: That Student Government should be adopted at Susquehanna. Affirmative Messrs. Grossman and Palmer, Negative Messrs. Faust and Hinkelman. Reading of the "Philo," Miss Dauber.

The program for next Friday evening has been turned over to the Prep Department and we may hope for some interesting work at that time inasmuch as the regular program will be carried out, and some numbers, which up to this time have been filled only by upperclassmen, will be filled by students from the Academy. A large attendance is urged at this meeting for faithful work is assured by these our younger members.

To learn current events read The Susquehanna.

This is the last issue that will include the sample copies.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY

When the scrub base ballers left on Friday for Bellefonte to play the strong Academy team, it was generally considered that they would be defeated by a most overwhelming score. The scrubs however held a different opinion of the matter and demonstrated their ability by holding the Centre county boys to an eight to seven score.

The scrubs started the battle by getting one run across the plate in the first inning. Bellefonte came back with the punch in their half of the round and landed a blow good for one run, which tied the score. The second inning was a sort of a walk right in and turn right around and walk right out again for both sides. In the third inning the scrubs pushed a couple of hard ones to the keeper of the right garden and slipped two more runs across the rubber. Pitcher Bachman then proceeded to show some big league stuff and backed by excellent fielding, he retired the hit men in one, two, three order. Susquehanna failed to score in the next heat, but the zero did not get lonesome in the score column, for the Academy gave it a partner in their turn at bat. In the first half of the seventh, the second string men found their stride again and scoured the plate with two runs. The last half of the seventh was a costly one for the scrubs, a couple of errors and one or two wild heaves put Bellefonte in the lead by one run. This lead was overcome in the eighth inning when the scrubs by clever stick work chased two more men around the circuit. Bellefonte tied the score in their next turn at bat and dug up another pitcher for the ninth inning who held the scrub batters hitless. Bachman pitched well in the last inning and had retired two of their batters to the bench, when a Bellefonter collided with the pill for a safe one and ended the game.

The scrubs are deserving of great praise for their showing in this game, especially when it is remembered that the last time the 'Varsity played

MOTHERS' DAY

The second Sunday in May of each year is designated by the President of the United States to be dedicated to the Honor and Love of Motherhood, and to give Happiness to "The Best Mother Who Ever Lived"—YOUR MOTHER.

As students we have early been taken from the tender care of our mothers and still fresh in our minds is that farewell and the promise then made for the faithful observance to our duties as sons and daughters. And, did you ever think that in your mother's heart is embedded an affection so strong that if success should crown your efforts she would exult with you, and though you were lurking near the door of death she would willingly sacrifice herself that you might live, though adversity come your way she would comfort you, and even though you would heedlessly descend to the lowest depths of despair she would be all the world to you. Can you, then, be oblivious to the duties you owe to the one whose sacrifices have made possible your fortunate circumstances, or, if she be not living, to her memory.

By no means is this day set apart that you may once each year be observant only to dismiss her from your care when the day is over. But rather as students let your communications be frequent and at this time especially let your greeting be warmer, sweeter—longer perhaps than has been your custom.

How can we better realize and how better renew the early influence of either a departed or living mother than by setting apart one day each year and observing it in loving remembrance of a mother whose life has been full of self-sacrifice and denial for us. No memorial day can be richer in personal experience than one in which we hear again a mother's voice that is stilled, and feel the touch of her vanished hand; or, if she be living, give her the day with your presence in loving reunion—one day for the many she gave you; or, send her a token of love, which though valueless, she will cherish for the thought.

Let the thoughts of our homes and the fulfillment of our duties to them be just a little more extensive this week so that the ninth of May will find us happy and cheerful because we have done a little something to make Mother's heart glad.

Help The Susquehanna advance with your criticism and your currency.

at Bellefonte they were defeated by a two to one score. Bachman's pitching and Middlesworth's catching were two features of the game, while Klepfer put up an excellent game at shortstop.

LOCK HAVEN GAME

The second game of the scrubs which was played at Lock Haven with the State Normal team was also lost in the ninth inning. Susquehanna drew first blood and tallied one run in the first time at bat. Bachman started the game on the mound for the scrubs and gave the Normalites one run in the first inning. The strenuous work of the Bellefonte game proved too much for the worthy left hander and by the middle of the second inning four runs were chalked up on the Normal side of the score board. Thomas went in to relieve Bachman and considering the fact that he had served no time in the box for several weeks, pitched an excellent game. The third inning was a shut out for both sides. In the fourth however the scrubs came across with some rough stick work and tied the score. Lock Haven made one run in the fifth and was leading by a scant margin, when the heavy scrub sluggers uncorked a few long drives and added two more runs to the list.

The sixth and seventh were uneventful but in the unlucky eighth Lock Haven tied the tally, Susquehanna failed to score in their half of the ninth but the future school teachers seemed provided with horse shoes and dribbled across the plate with the winning run, on a passed ball through catcher.

Middlesworth upheld his first record and caught an excellent game. Thomas pitched well and "Fat" Bodiger put up a good game at first. Every player showed fine form and revealed the fact that there is some latent baseball material at Susquehanna which will some day crop out into varsity material. Ned Keller made his debut as a manager and was given a rising vote of thanks for the whole hearted interest he shows toward his scrub bush leaguers.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, IN-DOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them do as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

Rev. W. E. Sunday '09 and '12, has closed his work at New Bethlehem, Pa., and has taken up his new work at Hooversville, Pa. During his three years service at this his first charge he did excellent work. The large number of members that attended the farewell reception given in his honor was proof that mutual cooperation existed between pastor and people.

COLLEGE NOTES

Frey '15, spent the week-end with his parents in York.

Bangson '15, journeyed to Brad-dock, Pa., on Friday, where he interviewed the High School authorities concerning a vacancy in the department of biology. He stopped over at Charleroi for a similar purpose and then spent Sunday with friends in Pittsburg.

ACADEMY NOTES

In the field of sports the Academy is well represented this term. On the diamond C. E. Bottiger is one of the leading batters, and fielders of the Reserves, while C. F. Bottiger, Meese and Ricker also assist that team in its efficient work. On the track Cassler, Shoat, Lingle, Mogul, Dummire and Ricker, all are doing faithful work. Cassler and Ricker accompanied the Messrs. Bottiger to their homes at Freemont where they had an enjoyable visit. While there they explored the Boyer's cave.

The Sub-Freshman class has raised its apportionment towards the publication of the Lanthorn.

Academy students will present a program in Philo literary society Friday night.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

At a recent meeting of the Muhlenberg College faculty it was decided to adopt simplified spelling for use in their official writings. Muhlenberg, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and University of Pittsburgh are the only colleges in Pennsylvania that have adopted this orthographical change.

Dedictory exercises, including a performance of "The Trojan Women," will be held for the new studium of the College of the City of New York May 29th.

Penn State's social center, the University Club, is completed and occupied. The exterior of the building is a replica of Monticello, Jefferson's Virginia home, and the interior is artfully finished in the best materials.

For the first time in the history of the Pennsylvania State College an alumnus will deliver the commencement oration June 9. H. Walton Mitchell, a lawyer of Pittsburgh, who was graduated with the class of 1890, has been selected.

TRACK WORK PROGRESSES

When track work was reinstated last spring many prophecies were made that Susquehanna could not support that department of athletics and that its future was doomed. Despite these unfavorable forebodings a successful beginning was made. A relay team was developed and a very satisfactory showing was made when they entered the Penn relay races held on Franklin field.

This spring finds the movement progressing and student enthusiasm rising higher. Manager Lauver has improved the track as well as secured equipment for various events, so that the work will not be restricted to running. Each afternoon shows an increased number of candidates,—many of them entirely inexperienced, 'tis true, yet brimful of latent possibilities and desirous of excelling his competitive collegemate.

Preparatory to the meet which has been arranged with Dickinson College to be held here May 29th, and inter-class meet is being discussed for the near future. Such an affair would give impetus to the work and assist greatly in revealing material which otherwise might remain undiscovered and undeveloped.

It is the duty of every student and friend of Susquehanna to do all that is within his power to assist the leaders of this project as they endeavor to resurrect this form of athletics.

SUSQUES WIN FROM MERCERSBURG AND LOSE TO ALBRIGHT

Maroon and Orange Team Showed Marked Improvement in Their Battles of Last Week—Play at Home Saturday

Susquehanna split even on their two game trip last week, losing to Albright Friday afternoon, 6-3, and winning from Mercersburg for the first time in a number of years, 7-4.

At Myerstown the 'Varsity lost through an unfortunate grouping of hits and errors. Goble pitched well throughout the contest but costly errors closely attended by several timely hits on the part of the Myerstown men proved his undoing, the Orange and Maroon batters being unable to contribute sufficient bingles to amass an excess of runs. Plitt, for the Red and White men, held the home team to five hits out of which they were able to squeeze three runs with the help of several errors by the Albright infield.

A wet, slow diamond prevented any work which might border on the sensational. Albright gained a slight advantage in the initial inning. Parker as lead-off man secured a two-base hit to center. After two men had been disposed of, Benfer came through with a timely single to the same field scoring the center fielder. Susquehanna tied the score in their half of the fourth. Smoyer beat out an infield hit to third. After Long had disturbed the atmosphere with three lusty strokes, Phillips worked the opposing moundsman for his second walk of the game. With Smoyer thus advanced to second he was easily able to score on Swoope's timely single to right.

Luck broke Albright's way in the fifth. Mingle walked and Plitt was given a life on an error. Parker's single crowded the bases. Harkins' throw to the plate on Beamy's grounder hit the runner permitting him to score. Goble forced Zinn to hit an easy grounder to the box thus enabling him to cut off the runner at the plate. With the infield playing in, Benfer hit a grounder past short which otherwise might have been fielded, driving two more runs across the plate.

Susquehanna made a last effort in the seventh when with one down Harkins singled against the right field fence. After Goble had fled to left, Harpster arose to the emergency with a stinging double to right on which Harkins sprinted home. On a poor return to third by the catcher in an endeavor to stop Harpster he also scored.

MERCERSBURG GAME

Defeated but not downhearted, Saturday morning found the Orange and Maroon warriors making their way down the Cumberland Valley toward Mercersburg. Though the 'Varsity men carried in their memory the knowledge of the fact that for the past few years we have lost to these Franklin County boys by a slight margin each year even when victory sometimes seemed within our grasp, they entered the game determined that custom should be broken and that victory should be theirs even though they contended on foreign ground.

Peters pitched airtight ball throughout the game. After he had held the Academy men hitless for five innings he relaxed a trifle and permitted the Blue and White representatives to bunch hits in the sixth and eighth innings and thus drive four runs across the rubber. In the sixth inning with two out, Rupp beat out an infield hit, Bennett followed with a solid rap to deep center which was good for three bases. The catcher was permitted to score a moment later when Bachrup secured a scratch single along the right field foul line. In the eighth the Mercersburg men scored two more when a base on balls and three hits were sandwiched between three flies to the outfield, each of the three caretakers of Susquehanna's out-garden contributing an out. Excepting these two innings the locals' opponents were never dangerous only three men left on bases. This fact alone speaks eloquently of the effectiveness of Peters' mound work.

Susquehanna started aggressive work right from the beginning. In the first inning after Harpster had fouled out to third, the next three batsmen singled. Martin scored when Long was safe on Huber's error. Phillips drove two more counters across with a vicious two-base drive to left center, while Long registered the fourth run of the inning when Huber threw wild on Shannon's grounder. Gibson then replaced Sidler on the mound and while he was hit frequently he kept the hits pretty well scattered for the remainder of the game. Peters' triple to deep center in the sixth was an unusually long drive, and the twister easily scored when Martin hit a Texas leaguer to left a little later. Mercersburg proved their gameness by putting up a hard up-hill fight throughout the entire game. But with superb pitching and clean fielding they were unable to make any headway against the 'Varsity so that a 7-4 defeat was the best verdict they could win.

HISTORIANS MEET

The second of a series of reflective lectures was delivered on Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Charles Steele Science Hall by Mr. William M. Schure under the auspices of the Snyder County Historical Society. The pictures and data given were all relative to the early history and growth of Selingsgrove and nearby towns. The speaker who is secretary of the society, has made a careful study of the early history of this county and especially of the section known as Selingsgrove and Penn township. He very vividly described the conditions when the Susquehanna river represented the inland boundary of the United States as well as the difficulties, such as primitive modes of communication and travel with neither markets nor trading places nearby, the heavy forests which hindered cultivation and the hostile attacks of Indians with which the early settlers had to contend. A blood-curdling account of the horrible Indian massacre, which took place on the north bank of Penn's creek near the present site of Selingsgrove was given.

Space will not permit us to relate all the items of interest which were cited but it is noteworthy to mention that Selingsgrove was but a small and unimportant village on the West bank of the beautiful Susquehanna prior to the building of the canal, the ruins of which can still be seen. Immediately Selingsgrove became a thriving village and developed into one of the leading commercial towns on the West bank of the river north of Harrisburg. He also dwelt upon the incidents relative to the building of the railroad and gave an excellent account of the great fire of 1874 which destroyed the entire business section of the town. A brief account of the development of the churches, the schools and the history of the town in general from its first settlement until the present time was given.

At the close of the lecture by Mr. Schure, a few slides pertaining to the founding of Missionary Institute were shown. The explanations were given by Dr. Manhart and included sketches of the buildings and of the lives of the men who were chiefly instrumental in founding the institution and in its development until it became Susquehanna University.

First senior recital of the season in the Conservatory of Music will take place Thursday night of this week in Seibert Hall, when Miss Anna Wetzel, pianist, will be the attraction, assisted by Miss Jess Pleasanton, reader.

STUDENTS GIVE TO REPAIR FUND OF COLLEGE CHURCH

Pastor and Congregation of Trinity Lutheran Express Their Gratitude for Recent Benevolences

By Rev. Chas. Leonard

The renovated and beautiful auditorium of Trinity Lutheran Church of Selingsgrove was re-dedicated last Sunday by special services appropriate to the happy occasion.

Extensive improvements have been made to the church as follows: Steel sides and ceiling were placed upon the old walls, and artistically decorated in soft and harmonious tints of ivory, oak and tan, producing a beautiful golden glow in the lighting effects of the auditorium.

An excellent quality of Axminster velvet brussels carpet was placed upon the floor, in harmony with the color scheme of the room. The pews, chancel furniture, and organ were completely renovated by upholstering and polishing, and a handsome velvet drapery was placed before the choir recess.

A semi-indirect lighting system was installed, with a central shower and brass-rimmed corner chandeliers, affording brilliant but soft illumination.

A substantial, concrete pavement was laid before the whole church front, adding materially to the convenience and appearance of the church edifice. The rooms occupied by the Elementary Grades were attractively papered and painted and put in excellent condition for the needs of this important department of the Sunday School.

The entire expense incurred by the renovation and improvements is $1500, of which amount $1300 was provided for by the day of re-dedication. The small deficit will be easily met within the next month, leaving the improved and well equipped church plant entirely free from any financial incumbrance.

We are glad for this opportunity to express, as pastor and people, our hearty appreciation of the financial assistance in our work of improvement given by the student body of S. U. The relations between the College Church and the University are most cordial and delightful and mutually profitable, and it is our earnest desire that this cooperation may continue to the ever-increasing good and blessing of both College and Church.

The large body of alumni of old Susquehanna who have worshipped with us in years gone by will rejoice in every forward step of dear, old church whose ministry has blessed their own lives immeasurably and whose interests have in turn been advanced by their faithful and efficient services.

SCRUB BASEBALL GAME

The scrub baseball team suffered a set-back in their battling averages and lost two games, one on Friday and again on Saturday. The first game was played with the representatives of the Lock Haven Normal School. Thomas started on the mound for the scrubs but was relieved by Bachman in the third inning. Some weak fielding and inability to connect with the Normalites pitchers round-house curves lost the game for the scrubs by a 10 to 4 score.

The second game played on Saturday afternoon with the strong Sunbury high school team was a severe blow to the scrubs, dignity. Pitcher Calhoun had fourteen strike-outs but the men backing him were not on the job and by hooting and wild heaving threw the game away to the tune of 7-3. By the popular vote of the scrubs "Fat" Bottiger was elected to captain the team through the remainder of the season.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB ENTERTAIN

Under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Grover A. Brower, the Girls' Glee Club of the University journeyed to Middle Creek where they took a leading part in the religious services held in the church at that place. Through the hospitality of the members of the church transportation to and from the place was provided for the entire club. Enjoyment of the evening was mutual; the entertainers spoke enthusiastically of the pleasure of the evening ride, while the entertained evinced their appreciation by the close attention given and the interest manifested in every number rendered. A crowded house welcomed the girls as they endeavored to assist in this evening service.

Recently the fact that the Massachusetts Institute of Technology gives away $25,000 annually in the form of scholarships was announced.

BROTHERHOOD AND SYNODICAL MEETINGS

Faculty and students will experience a busy week with the Federated Brotherhood of Susquehanna Synod and the Susquehanna Synod both holding their yearly meetings in Selingsgrove within the next five days. The University chapel has been selected as the place of meeting for the Brotherhood's first session which will be held on Tuesday evening. Dr. R. G. Bannen, of Williamsport, and Prof. Charles H. Albert, of Bloomsburg, will address the gathering of men. After the session a banquet will be held in Lewar's dining hall, for which covers will be laid for more than two hundred prominent Lutheran laymen. Meetings of the Brotherhood will also be held in Trinity Church Wednesday morning and afternoon.

Wednesday evening the Susquehanna Synod will hold its initial service in Trinity Lutheran Church when Dr. Frank P. Manhart, secretary of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in the United States, will deliver the sermon of the evening. Services will be held morning, afternoon and evening until Sunday evening when the meeting will be concluded with the Ordination Service. All these services are open to the public and many addresses especially interesting to students will be given.

After a four day's illness Doctor Joseph Johnson Hardy, Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy in Lafayette College and second oldest member of the faculty, died at his home Sunday morning, May 2nd, of heart trouble. Doctor Hardy was professor of Mathematics and Astronomy in Lafayette for the past twenty-eight years and was always a conscientious and thorough teacher, beloved and respected by all. His loss will be keenly felt.

COMPLIMENTS TO PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

The management of Susquehanna University is pleased to present prospective students with a copy of The Susquehanna, which is published weekly by the resident students.

We are glad to have you read the paper and if you are interested in a College Course please drop us a line and we will send you a catalog and other literature, which will give you full information concerning the courses and advantages offered at Susquehanna University, which is most beautifully located in one of the most delightful sections of Pennsylvania.

With warm greetings, in behalf of the College, I remain,
Very respectfully,
Chas. T. Aikens, President.

—The Varsity showed signs of coming into its own Saturday. Prior to this time some part of the machinery invariably broke down before a game was completed. Either the hitters failed to deliver with good fielding and twirling on their side, or the fielders or pitchers weakened when the team's bats were active. Prospects are bright for the future.

—Y. W. C. A. social service work continues. The Association is not loud in boasting its own achievements, but good steady work is being done by some of the members.

—Watch for promising track material when Susquehanna holds its introductory, practice track meet Friday.

AMERICAN CHARACTER

Great men, tried and true, are a nation's greatest asset and prized by it with the fullest assurance of faith. America's list of great men is a long one and difficult of enumeration. Yet it is an obvious fact that there is a vast difference in the degree of greatness ascribed by the American people to men who expended their energies for their nation's welfare.

Reflection reveals to us that the national character who has proven himself tender, sympathetic and humane, as well as powerful, is the one who receives the American people's greatest reverence and love. Completely carried away as we sometimes seem to be by the materialism and the tangible wealth and luxury of our times, yet the popular heart is not dead, and is not without its appreciation of the value of other possessions than those of stocks, bonds and estates.

Daniel Webster was, probably, our greatest statesman, a colossus of intellect and a very Demosthenes of oratory, yet not one in a thousand of us knows when he was born or when he died, and few of us have any definite idea of what he did. On the other hand Abraham Lincoln will always be remembered because he will be held not only in adoring but in loving remembrance. This man was able to win the hearts of the people, not so much by his great political prowess as by his loveliness, sympathy and tenderness of heart. That fact is a great tribute to American character.

We like statues, but they are constructed of cold marble, and therefore we find difficulty in trying to love them. People never make a pet of a fish, it is too chilly. A serpent has a brilliant eye but is clammy. People of a tender, sympathetic nature create a warm atmosphere about them, and it is, therefore, a growing atmosphere to those who breathe it. It is to be wished that we could have some kind of a university that would cultivate the affectionate side of people as successfully as our great institutions of learning cultivate the intellectual side. It is the Lincoln that are capable of the finest effects while they live and leave behind them the most delicate afterglow when they are gone. What type of American character are you helping to develop?

Clio

In our last account of Clio we felt elated with the vim which characterized the opening work of the Spring term and we must again reiterate with emphasis our comments of the high quality of the work which springs from Clio's rostrum. But with all this it is necessary for us to advance some adverse criticism. During the last few meetings the attendance of Clio was far from what we should like to boast. Can you give a satisfactory explanation for your absence? We know that it is impossible for all to attend all the time but we feel confident that all of us can attend most of the time if we have the proper desire to do so. Some may find it necessary to be absent from the college over the week-end but a great majority of the students can be found about the school on a Friday night and why not have a majority of the enrollment of the society within her halls? If the management of the society doesn't suit you come in any way, and try to make it better. If you are sincere you are sure to succeed. Or if you think you are above deriving any benefit from the work come in and help the rest. It will pay you. We know that these beautiful Spring evenings have a tendency to breed an indifferent spirit in us but if we don't have enough energy to overcome that, what are we going to do when we must earn our own spending money.

As I said before the programs are excellent but I can assure you they would be much better if the house were filled; for certainly a speaker can do better when he has a large and appreciative, and above all, an attractive audience. Those placed on the programs usually attend to do their parts or secure substitutes and it is significant that very few girls find it expedient to secure substitutes. The indifference both in attendance and performance lies entirely with the male members. These few imperfect sentences are not written with any malice but are given in the interest of your welfare and in a passing exhortation I would suggest that each Clio take advantage of all the privileges she offers, and even though the end of the term be not far distant, I will predict that you will some day be thankful for your having done so.

The new Science Hall of Juniata College is rapidly nearing completion. The ground for the building was broken Commencement Day of 1914 and at the present time nearly all of the work is done. It will not be open for class work till the beginning of the coming year.

Have You Ever Noticed

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Thursday Williams College paid tribute to its founder, Colonel Ephraim Williams, who was born two hundred years ago. Colonel Williams, an officer in the French and Indian wars, left his modest estate for the establishment of "an institution of learning in western Massachusetts. The fund made possible the opening of the college in 1870.

F. N. D. Buchman, secretary of the Pennsylvania State College Y. M. C. A., will spend the summer in Europe ministering to the spiritual needs of the troops in the trenches and the injured men in the hospitals. He will sail from New York City July 6th, and goes at the special request of John R. Mott.

President Aikens has completed all arrangements for the annual Commencement season, and is preparing for announcement the detailed program, which will be ready in a few days.

CONCERT AT SUNBURY

The Glee Club gave another concert last Thursday evening in Zion Lutheran Church, Sunbury, with the same success which has characterized their efforts throughout the season. Apropos the occasion the Sunbury Daily Item published the following "The 500 or more persons who were so fortunate as to attend the concert given by the Glee Club of Susquehanna University in Zion Lutheran assembly hall last night, came away with the impression that they heard one of the greatest artists who has ever appeared in Sunbury, in Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, head of the Violin Department in the Conservatory of Music, and leader of the Glee Club."

The club was in fine condition and sang with the same spirit and expression which so pleased the audience on the occasion of their concert here last week. Mr. Peters and Mr. Swoope were both at their best and were enthusiastically called upon for encores. Prof. Fillion was evidently remembered from the recital which he gave in the same auditorium last November for he was given a notable ovation, and the warmth of the applause which followed his numbers showed that the audience appreciated the mastery and finish of his performance.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

President and Mrs. Aikens, and son Claude, motored to State College Monday and returned Wednesday.

G. B. Keith, representing the Scribner Publishing Company interviewed students Wednesday and Thursday.

Susquehanna's Glee Club gave a very excellent concert in Zion Lutheran church at Sunbury Thursday evening.

Prof. N. N. Keener was the entertainer at the commencement exercises of the Christiana High School Friday evening.

Dr. Woodruff chaperoned a party of the college girls to the lecture by James Scarlet in Sunbury Tuesday evening.

Miss Beatrice Riden, of Reedsville, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Prof. and Mrs. H. N. Follmer on High street.

Superintendent Mauser, of Northumberland county, lectured to the Teachers' Review students on the subject of "School Management" Thursday morning.

Winter like weather has prevailed for the past week, but with Barnum and Bailey's circus tented in Sunbury Saturday and a band of fifty gypsies camped near Selingsgrove there can be no doubting the fact that spring is really here.

Dr. F. P. Manhart, secretary of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in the United States, and Dean of the Theological department of Susquehanna University, will deliver the opening sermon at the convening of the Susquehanna Synod in Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday evening.

Dr. F. P. Manhart, as president of the Snyder Historical Society, announced Thursday that upon their request the State Historical Commission has granted $250 for the erection of a suitable marker at the spot near Selingsgrove where occurred the horrible Indian massacre during the frontier days.

Susquehanna's Commencement this year is going to be a head-liner in every respect. Preparations are being made for excellent speakers and good entertainment, and the entire four days will be a continuous round of pleasing and beneficial activities. YDONTUKUMBAK? Make 'this Commencement a sort of Old Home Week and arrange to meet here your friends of former college days.

Some agitation was started among the authorities several weeks ago toward the matter of securing additional hose or other fire fighting apparatus for college use, but the movement seems to have died out. Should it be necessary to continually bring up the fact of our inadequate supply of dilapidated fire hose when a little time and small amount of money would secure first class protection for all the buildings on the campus?

It has been noticed that during the past few weeks four or more of the electric light shades have been removed from their places in the dining hall. These shades are not readily matched and the loss of any of them causes the room furnishings to present a patched up appearance. It would be well for the light fingered person or persons, who operated so successfully and adeptly, to again sneak back in the middle of the night and replace the stolen goods.

Under the direction of the Snyder County Historical Society, Wm. M. Schuure, secretary of that body, gave a very interesting and educational lecture on Selingsgrove of the Long Ago Thursday evening in Charles Steele Science Hall. Mr. Schuure has taken great interest in ascertaining the facts and traditions of Snyder county during the period when this section was considered the frontier of the United States, and as a result he presented many old and valuable pictures together with much important historical data.

DARING BASE RUNNING WON FOR SUSQUE FROM WESLEYAN

Goble Held Visitors to Two Hits and Had Better of Morrison in Pitchers' Battle Here Saturday

West Virginia Wesleyan College baseball team brought their six day tour of Eastern and Central Pennsylvania to an end when the 'Varsity defeated them in a close and hard-fought game on Warner field Saturday afternoon, 1-0. Though the close score and the dearth of hits on both sides indicate a pitcher's battle, yet in practically every department of the game Susquehanna showed a slight superiority.

However the outcome of the contest was in doubt until the very end but for the superb mound work of the reliable Orange and Maroon southpaw victory might have escaped the home team. Goble pitched a remarkable game throughout. But one clean hit was made off him in the nine innings of play, and but one man reached third base. This was made possible through errors on the part of his teammates. In the fourth inning Kellison hit a vicious line drive towards left field which Harkins was able to knock down but retrieved too late to retire the batsman. In an attempt to double on the next man both runners were given a life on an error. Goble then caused the next two batsmen to hoist short flies to right and center field. Miller hit a slow evasive grounder to short on which he was safe, thus filling the sacks. At this crucial moment Goble proved himself master of the situation by retiring Singleton, Wesleyan's star stickler, on strikes. With the exception of this inning, Goble was able to retire the side without apparent effort.

The lone run of the game was secured in the fifth. Middlesworth singled to center. Goble sacrificed and Middlesworth continued to third when Harpster grounded out, second to first. Swoope walked. In a vain attempt to catch "Red" stealing, Middlesworth scored the winning run. At several other times Susquehanna became dangerous, having the bases filled a number of times, but in each instance the required hit was not forthcoming.

Middlesworth, who did the receiving work for the locals, deserves much credit for the victory. In addition to scoring the only run of the game he knocked out a single and a double out of three trips to the plate, and worked behind the plate in excellent style, thus procuring for himself a permanent berth on the team.

Though the game was played in short time the small number of hits made the contest appear rather listless to the spectators. A few smart bits of fielding on the part of both teams together with Goble's masterful work were redeeming features.

Next week will be a busy one for the home team. Ursinus will be met on the local field Thursday afternoon, and the following day the team leaves on a trip to Gettysburg and Mt. St. Mary's Colleges.

SHOWS WANE OF KING ALCOHOL'S POWER

DR. BENNITTS PICTURES GREAT NATIONS, SCIENCE AND THE CHURCH ALLIED IN A WINNING BATTLE AGAINST COMMON FOE

So intensely interesting, so straightforward-the-shoulder, and so brimming with vital statistics was the lecture given by Dr. Bennitts, a noted Methodist minister, of Philadelphia, and President of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Science Hall to the student body, that it deserves special mention here.

While it is impossible to give a fair representation of Dr. Bennitts' convincing argument as he endeavored to prove to his listeners the evil effect of the liquor traffic, yet a short synopsis of the eloquent address will give you some idea of the special privilege which the students enjoyed on this occasion.

"We are living in the greatest age of the world's history. The nineteenth century made more progress than all the previous centuries since history began, and the twentieth century promises to be even greater than that which has just passed.

"The temperance movement has made wonderful forward strides during the last thirty years despite the intense opposition it has met from all quarters. It is a significant fact that we are approaching the era when prohibition will be a world-wide reality. Russia, France, England and Germany realize that their greatest enemy is not the hostile powers, but the internal curse of the liquor traffic. Lord Kitchener of England said, 'If England is to remain a great nation she must abolish the liquor traffic.'

"As we understand it now the present great temperance movement began after the Boer War. England faced a crisis. She could scarcely get men enough to fight in her army, and many of those who did recruit were physically disabled because of liquor drinking. A temperance crusade was begun and it was not long until half of her army was temperate.

"In 1913 a noted French statesman said, 'Patriotism demands the abolition of the drink curse.' The scientists of Germany soon after began the systematic study of alcohol and its effects upon the human body. They made the statement that one drink of beer a day reduces the efficiency of a laborer or mechanic seven per cent. The Kaiser in addressing his cadets just before the outbreak of the present great war said, 'Liquor is a greater enemy to Germany than Russia and France.'

"Not only are the great nations fighting this curse but the Church of Christ is hurling all its forces against the continuance of this nefarious traffic. In United States practically the whole Christian Church has come to the place where it says, 'Alcohol is antagonistic to the interests of Jesus Christ,' and many of these churches refuse membership to a drinking man or to one who sells liquor.

"Not only are the great nations and churches in battle array against this evil but modern science as well. Three of the greatest medical institutions of our land have recently made the statement that liquor is not essential as a medicine.

"Business is also arrayed against intemperance. Science says that no man

ALUMNI AND STUDENTS ACTIVE IN 48th SUSQUEHANNA SYNOD

Harry Shipe and Eugene Irvin Ordained by Dr. Manhart at Closing Session Sunday Night

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

A very fitting prelude to the convening of the Susquehanna Synod in our local church last week was the meeting of the Federated Brotherhoods of the Synod in the chapel on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The large Brotherhood from Zion Lutheran Church of Sunbury marched from the depot to the hall headed by the band of that town which augmented very nicely the musical part of the evening's program.

After having an inspirational song service conducted by Rev. H. C. Rose, of Lewisburg, and the address of welcome by our President, Dr. Aikens, several numbers were rendered by the University Glee Club in their usual pleasing manner.

The address by Dr. R. G. Bannan, of South Williamsport, on the subject, "The Man of God," was very timely and eloquently given. Dr. Bannan is a forceful speaker and his discourse led us all to think more seriously that we are under God's supervision and that we should be laboring in His fear.

The Synodical Quartette then sang "Crown Him" in a way which truly merited the hearty applause which was given them. Then followed the address by Prof. C. H. Albert, of Bloomsburg State Normal School on "God's Men at Work." His wit and humor, his clear-cut remarks and sound words of advice to all men to work in harmony with God's teachings, were indelibly stamped upon the minds and hearts of his hearers.

Following this literary food for thought came the banquet in Lewar's dining hall which was a source of pleasure both physically and socially to everyone present. Many new acquaintances were made and old ones renewed between both ministers and laymen. A number of speeches were made by the banqueters interspersed with music by the band.

The University appreciates the interest which the Brotherhood manifested in the institution by holding their Fourth Annual Convention in our hall. This interest we believe was largely superinduced by Mr. Benjamin Apple, of Sunbury, the worthy president of the organization. We are sincere in warmly welcoming this Federation to meet with us again in the future.

SESSIONS OF SYNOD

A mine of helpful experience was opened to Susquehanna Students when the forty-eighth convention of Susquehanna Synod met in the local church in Selingsgrove the latter part of the week. Faculty members as well as some students were actively engaged in many of the sessions.

At the close of the initial session Wednesday evening, at which Dr. F. P. Manhart, President of the Theological Seminary and President of the Synod which was in session, delivered the sermon, a reception was given to the ministers and delegates of the Synod. By way of entertainment the University Glee Club rendered a number of catchy selections. Prof. N. X. Keener, head of the Oratory department, was heartily applauded by the visiting clergymen after reading a number of selections from Riley. He responded with a humorous selection which put the crowded room in just the proper frame of mind to enjoy the refreshing delicacies which were served by the ladies of the church a few minutes later.

Meetings were held each morning, afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week and many of the students took advantage of the opportunity which these meetings afforded them. At the meeting held Friday morning Dr. Aikens presented the needs of the University in a well-prepared business-like speech.

On Sunday evening the Ordination service of the Synod was held, at which time two of the Seniors in Theology from this Synod were ordained into the gospel ministry. In most impressive services Harry Shipe, of Sunbury, and Eugene Irvin, of Bloomsburg, both of whom received their college and theological training at Susquehanna, were proclaimed as ministers of the gospel of Jesus Christ in the presence of the large audience which was in attendance.

Not only have the people of Selingsgrove been benefited by the short sojourn of these godly men in their midst but as a student body we have felt encouraged and inspired to continue our labors as we endeavor to fit ourselves for a sphere of usefulness even as these men have done with whom we have recently been privileged to associate.

STUDENTS' RECITAL BY MISSES WETZEL AND PLEASANTON

Both Musician and Reader Appeared at Their Best in Seibert Hall Thursday of Last Week

In the second student recital of the season Miss Anna Wetzel, pianist, assisted by Miss Jess Pleasanton, reader, very ably entertained the large and appreciative crowd of music and elocution lovers which thronged Seibert Hall Thursday evening. Both undergraduates appeared to be at their best in their own special line of entertainment. Miss Wetzel, who will be graduated by the Conservatory of Music in June, performed with a charm and adeptness which appeared to be peculiarly her own. With perfect ease and grace and with masterful interpretation she rendered difficult productions by Bach, Henselt, Chopin and other masters of music. Her beautiful rendition of Beethoven's Sonata in

A major, Op. 2, was especially pleasing to all lovers of the art. This accomplished Senior's splendid work is all the more striking when we remember that her entire program was played from memory.

As reader, Miss Pleasanton assisted very materially in contributing toward the success of the program. In her first appearance this Senior in elocution held the undivided attention of the audience as she so cleverly read "Just Being Glad" from Eleanor H. Porter's "Pollyanna." In this reading as well as in her second number, "Encouragement" by Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Miss Pleasanton displayed

BANQUET IN NATIONAL HOTEL

Under the direction of A. G. Whipple, district representative for the Hammond Typewriter Company, that Company gave a banquet at the National hotel in Selingsgrove last evening to all those students who now own a Hammond Typewriter. With this jovial gentleman acting a host a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. A veritable feast of the most tempting character met the expectant gaze of these businesslike students as they entered the banquet hall. Much appreciation has been expressed by those who were privileged to enjoy this Company's kindness.

—In the tryout for positions on the track team Friday afternoon a number of excellent records were made.

RECITAL THURSDAY EVENING

What promises to be an interesting and instructive program will be rendered Thursday evening when the students of the Conservatory of Music assisted by Misses Webb and Gertrude Weaver, School of Expression, will give a student recital in Seibert Hall. The music will include instrumental on piano and violin, and vocal. Students and townspeople are all urged to come. Recital begins at 8 o'clock.

St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., is next to the State University, the largest college in Minnesota. This year it has the largest graduating class in the state, the seniors number sixty-eight. It has 550 students enrolled this year. Its faculty number thirty-three, seven of whom are women.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE

A local lecturer in an address before the student body recently said, "We are responsible, not only for the things we know, but also for the things we might have known." In the hurry and flurry of college life we frequently permit opportunities for advancement in learning to pass us ungrasped, with little or no reasonable excuse. According to this educator's doctrine, for all these failures to benefit from our advantages we are held accountable.

An opportunity, which has been within the range of vision of Susquehanna students for many years but which has been neglected by them up to this time, is the developing of an intercollegiate debating team.

The School of Expression and the College of Liberal Arts working in conjunction with the literary societies yearly develop a wealth of material in this phase of educational work; and, beyond a doubt, Susquehanna could be creditably represented every year at the various intercollegiate debates held by the colleges of our state. Such representation would not only reflect honor and desired reputation upon the representatives, but increased power and prestige would evolve upon the institution as well.

In a recent intercollegiate debate in which six of the influential colleges of the state competed for first rank, Franklin and Marshall college was represented by a student who received his preparatory training in our midst. Every year Susquehanna product skilled in the art of public speaking are graduated; yet because no movement toward organizing a debating club has been made, these men are denied the advantages accompanying such work and the University likewise loses the assistance which they might render their institution.

Is it not high time that we should awaken to the advantages which would accrue from such a movement? We have everything that is necessary for the organization of a debating team; why should we not utilize this opportunity? Nothing of a definite character can be accomplished this year, but let everyone of us do all that is within his or her power to materialize these desires next year.

—With the Federated Brotherhoods of Susquehanna Synod meeting in University chapel Tuesday evening and the entire Synod in convention here the latter part of the week, Susquehanna campus frequently took on a Commencement week appearance.

TRACK MEET

Interest in track and field sports at Susquehanna received additional impetus Friday afternoon. For the first time in six years we have again a well organized and efficient track team working under the direction and training of Physical Director Grossman. The members of the team showed ability and careful coaching and we may expect them to be point winners for Susquehanna.

Promptly at 3 o'clock "Varick" Schoch, '00, fired the pistol for the start of the first event, the 100-yd dash. Throughout the entire meet spirit ran high and several of the events were extremely closely contested. Three of the former school records were broken, and enthusiasm increased accordingly.

The events in their order and the winners follow:

1. 100-yard dash—Swoope '16.
2. Discus throw—Middleworth '15.
3. 220-yard dash—Harman '16.
4. 880-yard—Keller '16.
5. Mile run—Lauver '15.
6. Pole vault—Long, Special.
7. 440 yard—Harman '16.
8. High hurdles—Swoope '16.
9. Hammer throw—Harman '16.
10. Two mile—Markley, Business.
11. High jump—Swoope '16.
12. Broad jump—Shannon '15.
13. Shot put—Harman '16.

Besides the winners, a number of other men are showing up well and with continued practice will undoubtedly be among the first to cross the tape in the next meet. Brown is expected to develop into a good man for the weight events, while Dubheer, Keammerer, Cassler and Hilbish show speed and form on the track. With the proper backing and encouragement of the student body there is no doubt but that Susquehanna will again resume the prominent place she held in this sport several years ago.

Y. M. C. A.

Regardless of the many sources of attraction and gravitating influences, the attendance at the Y. M. C. A. meeting of last Tuesday evening was very good and encouraging. In addition to the large number of students, there were a number of the visiting Synod Delegates present, and their attendance was very much appreciated.

The interest and attention of all was held by the speaker, Rev. Belter, of West Milton, who proclaimed very forcefully the duties of a Christian, by depicting the life of the Apostle Peter.

After the meeting the members of the Association proved themselves very useful in arranging for the accommodation of the Brotherhood of Susquehanna Synod, which met in the University chapel.

We anticipate having a very interesting meeting next Tuesday evening. Dr. Francis, of Sunbury, is the prospective speaker and a full attendance is desired. Fellows, try and make it a point to be there; the Association needs you as much as you in need of her uplifting influence.

COMPLIMENTS TO

PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

The management of Susquehanna University is pleased to present prospective students with a copy of The Susquehanna, which is published weekly by the resident students.

We are glad to have you read the paper and if you are interested in a College Course please drop us a line and we will send you a catalog and other literature, which will give you full information concerning the courses and advantages offered at Susquehanna University, which is most beautifully located in one of the most delightful sections of Pennsylvania.

With warm greetings, in behalf of the College, I remain,

Very respectfully,
Chas. T. Aikens, President.

—But for a fancy catch for the third out by Wesleyan's centerfielder in the fourth inning, Smith would doubtless have broken up the game with his hit to deep center when the bases were crowded.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Cornell University is offering to its undergraduates an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the lines of civic and social endeavor as they affect the average citizen. A course of non-resident lectures and class periods in charge of a member of the faculty is given under the name of "A Course in Citizenship." The purpose of the course is to put before the undergraduates the opportunities they will have to be of service as members of their home communities.

The graduates of Yale are deserting the professions of law, medicine and theology for those of manufacturing, finance and engineering.

Columbia University students have drafted and sent to Congress a protest against an increase of the army and the navy of the United States. At a large mass meeting addressed by President Nichols Murray Butler a resolution was adopted declaring that the United States is in danger of militarism through the influence of professional military men and others to whom militarism would mean great commercial profit.

At Cotner University, Neb., two hours' credit is given to the winner of the Prohibition Oratorical Contest. One hour's credit is allowed for all other contestants whose orations are approved by the English department.

can be at his best who uses liquor. Business seeks the man who is the most efficient in his position. The drinking man is therefore not considered as a desirable workman.

"If the church knew its power it could abolish the liquor traffic in this country within two years. A liquor journal recently said that the church was creating a lot of sentiment against their business but they were still able to secure many church members votes at the polls, and as long as they could do that their business was safe."

In conclusion Dr. Bonnits implored the students, the leaders of world events to-morrow, to line themselves up with the side of temperance and so hasten the day when we can boast of a saloonless nation.

Prof. Nathan N. Keener was the entertainer at a delightful social function held in honor of the visiting ministers and laymen by the Trinity Lutheran Church Wednesday evening after the opening session of Synod.

Susquehanna has been favored with many distinguished visitors during the past week, among whom may be mentioned Dr. Reimensnyder, of Milton, Dr. Weber, of York, Benjamin F. Apple, editor of the Sunbury Daily Item, and Dr. Spangler, of Yeakertown.

Dr. Adam N. Warner, formerly Registrar of Susquehanna University, and now located at St. Petersburg, Florida, stopped off at college for several days last week.

Announcement of Susquehanna's commencement week program will be made in a later issue. President Aikens and the faculty have engaged a number of first class speakers for the week and these treats in combination with the athletic events, class play, band concerts, and other features will make the 1915 commencement one of the best Susquehanna has ever had.

Susquehanna University acted as host to about three hundred members of the Brotherhood of the Susquehanna Synod Tuesday evening, when they held their meeting in the college chapel. Prominent business men from Sunbury, Berwick, Bloomsburg and surrounding cities attended the session, the former delegation being led by the Citizens Band. After the meeting a banquet, arranged and served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Horton, was served in Lewar's dining hall.

LECTURE RECITAL

Through the efforts of Dr. Fisher, the students and townspeople will be enabled to enjoy a lecture recital next Monday evening, May 24th, when Nelson A. Chestnut of the Combs Broad Street Conservatory of Music, Phila., will present a program in Seibert Hall.

Mr. Chestnut comes highly recommended as he is known very widely in the Musical world. His recital will be given free of charge and should be patronized by the entire student body to show its appreciation of such talent and to express its co-operation with those who are ever on the lookout for the highest interests of Susquehanna.

Muhlenberg is falling in line with many of the other colleges in deciding to inaugurate a summer school this summer.

URSINUS WINS AFTER ELEVEN INNINGS OF HARD PLAYING

Freeburg Lad Crossed Plate With Deciding Run--Peters Held Visitors to Six Hits

PETERS, THE VETERAN TWIRLER STILL THERE

In a game replete with smart fielding Susquehanna was compelled to content herself with the little end of a 3-2 score when she crossed bats with Ursinus College nine on Warner field Thursday afternoon. Eleven innings were required for the Collegeville men to obtain this one-run advantage which finally spell-d victory for them. The game was one of the most interesting and most cleanly played contests witnessed on the home grounds for a long time. Almost every inning recorded some sensational catch or stop by the team field, or an opportunity to score by the team at bat.

Luck, if there be such an element in baseball, was rather partial to the visitors. Peters outpitched the Ursinus moundman, but both Susquehanna errors came at the most inopportune times and made possible the Southern Pennsylvania men's three unearned runs. Throughout the entire game the Orange and Maroon twirler was pitching airtight ball and certainly deserved to win. Excepting the two errors of commission the locals gave an excellent exhibition of field work, so that with "Pete" pitching a game such as he did the Varsity's two runs would have meant victory in a majority of instances. Swoope and Long each made stellar catches in the outer garden.

However, Ursinus also played well. Though they secured but six hits off of the local twirler in the eleven innings, one of them made possible the first two runs of the visitors. Ziegler permitted nine hits to be made off his delivery, but he was exceptionally strong in pinches. In the field they cut down a number of hits which, if they had fallen safe, would doubtless have meant defeat for them.

Susquehanna began scoring right from the start. Harpster rapped out a solid line drive to center. Swoope deftly sacrificed. Smith flied out, but Smoyer came through with a smoking single down the third base line on which Harpster scored the initial run.

The Varsity continued their offensive work in the second, when with Long retired, Shannon hit to center for a safety. After making a clean steal of second he advanced to third on Harkins' infield out, and from that station scored on Peters' scorching grounder to left. In the seventh, eighth and ninth the locals were able to work men around to the third sack corner but the much needed hit was not forthcoming.

Ursinus tied the score in the fourth though neither run was earned. After Adams had been retired on strikes, Mitterling walked. On an attempted sacrifice by Johnson both men were safe on an infield error. A short pass ball allowed both runners to advance. Miller then flied to third for the second out, but Kerr came through with a sizzling grounder over the key-stone sack which admitted two count-ers. The visitors were never very dangerous after this successful effort until in the final inning. Mitterling opened with an easy fly to center field. Harpster had himself stationed for what would ordinarily have been an easy out, but just as the ball was ready to lodge in his glove he stepped over the ledge which borders the track and the ball fell allowing the runner to reach second. Johnson sacrificed him to third and then on a perfect squeeze play Mitterling crossed with the winning tally.

In the Varsity's half of the seventh they made a strong effort again to tie the score. After Middlesworth had whiffed, Long clouted the horsehide to deep center for three bases. In an endeavor to squeeze him home Shannon struck out. The catcher whipped the ball to third catching the runner off the bag for the last out.

The team will enjoy a short rest next week. The special attraction in sports will be the track meet between Dickinson College and the Varsity track team here on Saturday afternoon.

STUDENTS' RECITALS

Underclass students of the Conservatory of Music and of the School of Expression rendered a well-prepared program in Seibert Hall Thursday evening before an interested audience of student friends and townspeople. Variety in the form of entertainment added much to the attractiveness of the evening's exercises. Pupils of Professors Mr. Brower, Mrs. Brower, Fillion and Keener were among the entertainers of the evening, and each one reflected credit upon herself as well as upon her faithful instructor.

A number of the performers made their initial appearance as public entertainers at this recital so that their success was most gratifying to all those interested in them. Much talent, just now in the stage of development, in the various phases of musical and elocutionary work was revealed to the public.

Illustrative of the zealous work done by Professors Brower and Fillion in pianoforte instruction during the past year, was the pleasing manner in which their pupils in piano, Misses Rathfon, Cole, Cordilla Moyer, and McCool, performed their numbers. Miss Green, one of the Conservatory's youthful violinists, played Acolay's Concerto in A minor very creditably, while from Mrs. Brower's class of vocalists Misses Hall and Kautz gave evidence of careful training and unusual ability in the role of soloists.

As representatives from the School of Expression, Misses Gertrude Weaver and Webb reflected the wonderful powers of impersonation and expression which is found in such abundance in their teacher. These under studies of Prof. Keener lent much interest to the program with several humorous readings. Miss Weaver's reading of "Aunt Sarah on Bicycles" elicited much laughter while "What William Henry Did" as read by Miss Webb produced round after round of applause.

Remembering that many of these students are in the early stages of their training excellent things may be prophesied of them in the future and their success as debutantes should be a source of much pleasure to their friends.

The second of a series of underclass student recitals will be held in Seibert Hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Students from the Conservatory of Music and the School of Expression performed so creditably last week that the success of Thursday evening's recital seems almost assured. The performers will be classmates of those who appeared on the program last Thursday evening. The program includes renditions on the piano and violin, vocal solos and readings. An evening of profit and enjoyment is promised to all those who find it possible to be in attendance.

TO THE ALUMNI

The time of Commencement is rapidly drawing nigh, and we, as Alumni, ought to be thinking about our own work on that occasion. We have in years past at times performed our part in such a way as to bring credit to ourselves and honor to our Alma Mater; but more often, perhaps we have been remiss in our duties and several times our organization has been a signal failure in the execution of its purpose.

But we are turning our faces toward the future. There is every reason to expect a large attendance during the coming Commencement season. The speakers chosen to make addresses on the various occasions are unusually strong men, and the graduating class with the cooperation of the student body are making elaborate preparations. The citizens of the town too, are preparing to receive their guests as royally as possible.

Now in view of all the work being done on the part of the various organizations at the school it behooves us, as Alumni, to do our utmost to help along every good movement. We are in a position to be a great power in the upbuilding of our school which is near and dear to our hearts. Our encouragement is one of the strongest factors in promoting Susquehanna's interests.

Let us therefore if at all possible support our Alma Mater. 1. by being present at Commencement; 2. by attending our Annual Banquet and enjoying its good fellowship; 3. by encouraging our speakers by our presence in as large a body as possible; 4. by attending the business session of our Association and helping to legislate for its enlarged usefulness; 5. by throwing the aggregate weight of our influence into future work of the University we dearly love.

Loyal Alumni, a call to the front, for the bettering of Susquehanna and enlarging her influence in the world.

TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Susquehanna will be given a taste of former pleasures when Dickinson College contests with Orange and Maroon athletes in track work here Saturday afternoon. This is the first time within five years that Susquehanna has endeavored to enter a meet of this kind; and, though much of her material is inexperienced, considerable ability has been shown by her novices. Then, too, we have certain athletes who have had experience in such work and strong hopes are entertained that new records may be established for the institution.

Fourteen different events will constitute the meet. These events as well as the champion in each one appeared in the last issue of the "Susquehanna."

President and Mrs. Aikens motored to Millburg Wednesday evening.

Strawberries made their first appearance in the college dining hall Wednesday.

SWAT THAT FLY

Far more stealthily and furtively "than the softest-moccasined redskin" that ever sneaked along the banks of the "Old" Susquehanna in days that have gone, and endowed with a greater potentiality for havoc and destruction than any "howitzer" or submarine yet in action, the "deadliest of animals" has within the past few weeks been aroused from its winter stupor and has abandoned its hibernation to become engaged in the wholesale business of human slaughter.

Frequently, especially among children, its advent is greeted and is regarded as a token for the coming of summer. In former times the housefly was regarded as a splendid fellow to have about, not solely because he was useful for amusing the baby, but beneficial as a scavenger, for he was often seen feeding on many kinds of refuse about the house. He seemed also to be a cleanly, sanitary little fellow, for almost any time he could be seen brushing his head and his body with his legs and evidently having a good clean-up.

But fortunately, or otherwise, these halcyon days have gone and the common, innocent, friendly, little housefly is now an outcast, convicted of many crimes and accused of a long list of others.

Many who were formerly his friends are now sworn enemies. "Stop calling it the housefly," said a government entomological expert, "and call it the typhoid fly." In order to direct attention to the danger of allowing it to continue to breed unchecked.

The name "typhoid" is applied not because it is the sole transmitter of the typhoid germ, but because it is an important factor in distributing the disease, and is preeminently dangerous from every standpoint. Other names have been suggested, and might serve quite well since the object in changing the name is to find one that is more repellent and to remind us constantly of the fact that its habits are of the filthiest and most loathsome character and its presence is dangerous.

All of these changes have come about because science has turned the microscope of the housefly and men have studied its habits. It is known as a fact that as the fly is tickling the baby's nose it may be spreading thousands of germs which may cause some serious disease; it is known as a fact that as it tips from our cups with us, or bathes in our coffee or soup, or walks over our breakfast or frosted cake he is leaving behind him a trail of filth and bacteria.

Now as flies are abandoning their winter abodes they are rather sluggish and stupid in their movements. That swat-defying rapidity of locomotion has not yet been developed, and a few well directed strokes at this time will amount to much, for every female swatted before the end of this month means the elimination of possible millions of flies a few months later.

So swat that fly before he swats you!

—J. Fluvius scored quite a victory over Susquehanna athletics last week. The 'Varsity were unable to make their trip to Mt. St. Mary's and Gettysburg Colleges, the Reserves could not meet the Selinsgrove baseball team, and the tennis team, instead of playing Bucknell as scheduled, was idle.

—Upperclassmen would do well either to lift the Freshman rules or compel every first year man to abide by them.

—Why not fulfill your promise and pay the amount due on your subscription to the new Y. M. C. A. fund?

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The last two weeks have been very busy for the local Association. Plans have been brought to a head concerning the convention at Eagles Mere. Two delegates will represent the Association at this convention which will be held from June 25th to July 5th. Nine girls are going to organize "Eight-Weeks" Clubs during the summer. This is a new phase of work for the Association and deserves the encouragement of each member. The girls who have undertaken this work are well adapted to it and we are confident they will make a success of it.

A word must be said about our meetings of late; they have been spirited and full of enthusiasm. Topics of vital importance have been chosen and masterfully handled. It is evident that the leaders have put much time and thought on the topics.

The social side of life is also emphasized. One of the most enjoyable evenings we have had was spent at the "Mum" party held last Monday evening. At an early hour the girls gathered in the parlors ready to have a good time, which every one had. An unique feature of the event was the absence of the male sex. The means employed to get the girls to talk was the old fashioned Quaker Meeting. Miss Pleasanton in the role of the minister performed excellently. After all the girls had talked, the remainder of the evening was spent in playing games. At a seasonable hour refreshments of the choicest variety were served and all left feeling they had spent a very pleasant evening and with good wishes for the prosperity of the Y. W. C. A.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

In the presence of hundreds of distinguished educators, scientists and men of letters, Dr. Frank Johnson Goodnow, advisor to the Chinese government, was inaugurated president of Johns Hopkins University, Thursday, May 20th. The ceremony took place at Homewood, the new site of the university.

At the thirty-sixth commencement of the Carlisle Indian School, held last week, diplomas were given to twenty-nine students by General R. H. Pratt, former superintendent and founder of the school. Dr. P. H. Claxton, United States commissioner of Indian education, was the principal speaker. Cato Sells, United States commissioner of Indian affairs, and E. B. As an incentive to stimulate more activity in glue club work and as a token of services rendered, the management of the Lebanon Valley College Glue Club awards every man who has served three years as a member of the club a beautiful gold "L" shaped pin bearing the letters L. V. C. G. C.

The management of the University of Pennsylvania is considering the advisability of building a college for women which will be separated from the present university buildings, but the instruction will be under the direction of the same college professors. Provost Smith reports that the greatest troubles confronting the officers in charge are those relating to the co-eds, and that a separate college for them will relieve the difficulties.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Desirous of being of service to others and of securing experience for themselves a company of Susquehanna Y. M. C. A. men journeyed to Middle Creek Church Sunday evening where they occupied a chief place in conducting the services. Led by A. M. Lutton, chairman of the committee on Deputation work, this band of zealous young men which included Peters, Sem. '18, Grossman '16, Dolbeer '16, and Keammerer '16, endeavored to bring as impressive a message of light to their listeners as was in their power with God's help.

Lutton, who had the meeting in charge, made the first address. This introductory speech was followed by inspiring talks from Dolbeer and Keammerer. Peters assisted in increasing the interest in the meeting by rendering several appropriate solos. Grossman accompanied the tenor on his violin.

Many words of appreciation were given these Christian young men at the close of the services.

Next Sunday evening teams will be sent to the church at Hummel's Wharf and again to Middle Creek. Members of the Y. M. C. A. who are desirous of assisting in this form of work should report to Chairman Lutton.

The address given by Dr. Francis, of Sunbury, at the regular meeting last Tuesday evening was unusually inspiring in its nature. With men of his ability ready to assist us with words of helpfulness Susquehanna Y. M. C. A. cannot help but advance rapidly in her sphere of usefulness.

It is an item of considerable expense to the business manager of this publication to be compelled to send out statement after statement to delinquent subscribers. Promptness in paying your subscriptions would be very greatly appreciated by the management.

Much excitement was occasioned Friday afternoon when the large hot water tank on top of the college laundry broke its scaffolding and crashed to the ground. Fortunately no one was near when the accident happened or serious injuries undoubtedly would have resulted.

Prof. Ferdinand Pillion has been engaged to direct a large orchestra at Freeburg during the spring and summer terms. Prof. Pillion has had wide experience along this line and the organization of Freeburgers, who are noted musicians, should prove a success under his leadership.

Cold weather, interspersed with frequent showers, has been the week's program of climatic conditions. During the greater part of the time very little steam heat was supplied, with the result that rooms most distant from the source of supply were entirely too cold and not in fit condition for occupancy.

Smith, Sem. '16, entertained a number of friends who motored from Ashland to this place Sunday afternoon. Those who enjoyed his pilotage over the grounds were: Miss Bessie C. Shippe, of Sunbury; Misses Grace Fisher, Rose E. Straub, Mabel Shippe, and Messrs. Warren Fisher and Clarence Yeager, all of Fountain Springs, Pa.

Eighteen Susquehanna students who are users of the Hammond typewriter were guests of the state agent, Mr. A. G. Whipple, of Philadelphia, at a banquet given in the National Hotel, Selinsgrove, Monday evening. Mr. F. O. Spurdle, who has charge of the Philadelphia branch of this company, was the chief speaker of the evening.

Rev. Leonard, Dr. Houtz and Dr. Fisher, were elected by the Susquehanna synod to be the delegates from this section to the meeting of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in America at Akron, Ohio, this week. Dr. Frank P. Manhart, dean of the Susquehanna School of Theology, has been secretary of this noted body for a number of years, and has been chosen as the fourth delegate to the assembly.

Miss Marjorie Hummel, a graduate of the Susquehanna University School of Oratory and now being booked by a Lyceum company, entertained a number of the girls with her excellent readings and clever impersonations in Philo Hall Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Hummel was trained by Prof. Nathan N. Keener and like more of his understudies she has met with much success as a reader and is in much demand as an entertainer.

WILL DIRECT ATHLETICS FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE YEAR HERE

Jay Martin Kelchner Re-Elected by Board of Directors of Athletic Association
Monday Evening

RE-ELECTED ATHLETIC PILOT

At a special meeting of the Athletic Board Monday evening, J. Martin Kelchner was re-elected as head coach of athletics at Susquehanna. This action of the Board means a continued advance in athletic circles at the University. Since Coach Kelchner has consented to supervise the various major sports for the coming year a successful year can be prophesied.

During the two years that he has had charge of Susquehanna athletics they have made a very noticeable stride forward. Following his arrival here in 1913 football was reinstated after an absence of six years. Not only did football receive a new lease on life at the University through his coming, but because of his efficient directorship a team was produced from entirely inexperienced material which attracted the notice of veteran footballers. With the seasoned material which he has already developed to use as a foundation for next year's team, and the same hard-working coach to direct them, prospects for excellent gridiron results are very bright.

Kelchner has also shown his capabilities as coach in basketball and baseball. Both of these sports have received impetus directing them towards perfection since he was first elected as head coach.

Possessing so many of those characteristics which are a requisite of a real coach, his success at Susquehanna was assured from the first. His own ability as an athlete, his remarkable generalship on the field, his peculiar power to impart "pep" to his underlings, and his strong personality, all help to make him the successful coach he now is.

Susquehanna is glad to have this teacher of sports back with us for another year.

President Aikens attended to business matters in Altoona Friday and Saturday.

NEW STAFF CHOSEN

At the annual meeting of the Susquehanna Association held Friday morning in the chapel hall a set of officers for the Susquehanna Weekly for the coming year were elected. Practically every member of the Association was present and a very capable list of men were elected to the various positions.

LECTURE RECITAL

Desirous of increasing interest in the profession in which he is a master, as well as of instilling in those undergraduates who are about to leave our halls of instruction in music a desire for a broader education in this art, Prof. Nelson A. Chestnutt, head of the Voice Department of the Combs Broad Street Conservatory of Music, Philadelphia, gave a combined recital and lecture in Seibert Hall Monday evening before a small but appreciative audience.

Prof. Chestnutt proved himself a very able entertainer. Though his address was intended more directly for the musician who contemplates teaching as a profession yet with his unusual versatility he made the evening's entertainment interesting and instructive to all those present.

In the recital portion of his program, which constituted the introductory and concluding parts, Prof. Chestnutt gave evidence of much ability as a soloist as well as a thorough knowledge of musical technique and expression. His vocal selections were all very pleasing and the hearty applause which was given him at the close of each rendition was altogether merited. Especially effective was his singing of a number of sweet, well-known selections in the closing part of his program.

His address was short but very much to the point. He endeavored to show the numerous avenues to success which were open to the musician even though he be of but mediocre ability, and by comparing the musician's work with that of men and women in other vocations proved that it was decidedly remunerative. He said, "Too often we forget that there are positions for the musician between a member of Sousa's band and a collector of nickels in a German street band." His numerous statements evidenced the fact that the Americans are decidedly music-loving people, and that the amount of money expended yearly for the development of this art is far greater than is generally believed. United States alone spends ten times as much for music as the people of Germany, who have always been considered great lovers of music. Beyond a doubt, Prof. Chestnutt's lecture revealed to us possibilities in the realm of music which before were entirely unknown to us.

According to present plans Selinsgrove's second chautauque will be held November 25, 26 and 27.

THREE RECORDS BROKEN AND TWO ESTABLISHED IN MEET

Track Athletics Resumed After Eight Years--Dickinson Found Worthy Foes
in Susquehanna Men

When the Dickinson College track and field men journeyed here last Saturday they were the first team of such character to appear on Warner Field since 1907. They came here with the idea of administering a complete wallop to our inexperienced men and from all appearance did not intend to allow us more than a dozen points. However, the training and hard work of the men representing Susquehanna in the various events proved them worthy opponents of their hardened victors and gathered a total of 47 points against the Dickinsonians 77.

Warner Field records were smashed on all sides, three of which were made by Harman, Shannon and Long for Susquehanna.

The fast time of 10 seconds flat run by Warfield, of Dickinson, cut 25 seconds from the former record on this track while Smith, of Dickinson sliced 3 seconds from the former 120 high hurdles setting a new record of 17 seconds. Long, for Susquehanna added 4 inches to the pole vault record when he cleared the bar at 9 feet 8 inches and Shannon added another foot to the broad jump record at 20 feet 1 inch. When Palm, of Dickinson, heaved the hammer to a mark of 134 feet 4 inches he smashed the Warner Field record by 21 feet and Harman as second in this event added 4 feet to the former record.

Shannon and Harman were the main point gatherers for Susquehanna each totaling 11 tallies while Swoope was a close third with 9. Palm and Warfield starred for Dickinson and together secured 28 points for their team. Aside from the record breaking events the Mile and Two Mile work of Flood and the 10 foot pole vault of Dalton, of Dickinson, featured the meet.

A lack of track knowledge on the part of some starters and timers sacrificed several firsts which were within easy grasp of the Orange and Maroon runners. In the century and 200 yard runs the starter got his signals mixed and call "Go" at which time several of the runners started and at the crack of the pistol the remaining runners found themselves several feet behind the leaders. In the 440 Harman started with a good lead while Rine kept Welch worried in the background, but neither Susquehanna runner was able to keep up the pace begun and on the home stretch the Dickinson runner passed both men for a clean finish. Keller for Susquehanna, in the Half Mile put up a plucky race but was unable to overcome the lead of the fleet footed Saul and had to be contented with third position. Both hurdle races were exciting from start to finish, Swoope and Dolbeer running for the Drange and Maroon team in the 120 and 220 respectively, against Smith. Swoope gained 5 yards within the last 25 in the low hurdle race, on the Dickinson runner, and Dolbeer, after losing step early in his event, made a desperate spurt and crossed the finish less than a second behind his opponent.

Out of the six field events Susquehanna captured four firsts. Swoope in the high jump was an easy winner by two inches and Shannon's broad jump of 20 feet 1 inch outdistanced Warfield of Dickinson by over 2 feet. Middleworth's form in the shot put furnished some amusement for the spectators but nevertheless it added five good points. The discus throw was an event never witnessed upon the local field before and Harmon's heave of 97 feet elicited much applause from the small audience as did all other spectacular feats during the meet. Lauver, Witmer, Miller and Markley, also deserve much credit for their point getting ability for Susquehanna in their various entries.

The summary of the meet follows:
100 yards—Won by Warfield D. Shannon S. Swoope S.—Time 10 seconds.

440 yards—Won by Welch D. Harman S. Rines.—Time 55 4-5 seconds.

880 yards—Won by Saul D. Garner D. Keller S.—Time 2-17.

120 high hurdles—Won by Smith D. Swoope S.—Time 17 seconds.

220 yards—Won by Warfield D. Shannon S. Palm D.—Time 24 3-5 sec.

One Mile—Won by Flood D. Welch D. Lauver S.—Time 5-8.

220 Low Hurdles—Won by Smith D. Dolbeer S.—Time 21 seconds.

Two Mile—Won by Flood D. McCready D. Markley S.—Time 10-55.

High Jump—Won by Swoope S. Palm D. Warfield D.—Height 5 feet 2 inches.

Pole Vault—Won by Dalton D. Long S. Palm D.—Height 10 feet. College record broken by Long 9 feet 8 in.

PHILO NOTES

To all who were at the meeting Friday evening, May 28, came a rich treat. And we feel safe in saying not a better program has been rendered this year. It is to be regretted that some of the performers had to be absent, but they showed their devotion and loyalty to Philo by securing very able substitutes.

Miss Lula Fetterolf's essay on "America, the Mecca of the War Torn" was filled with much thought and created in us all a new knowledge of our responsibilities toward our neighbors. The musical numbers rendered by Miss Helen Fetterolf were much appreciated and showed much skill in the performer.

Miss Klase gave an oration which only filled us with admiration for its richness and beauty. And one of the best numbers of the evening was rendered by Miss Kautz when she sang "The Night Has A Thousand Eyes." Its sweetness and beauty captivated —The Sunday North American credited considerably in quoting Middleworth's ability to put the shot. He won first place with 38 feet, 11 inches, instead of 32 feet, 11 inches, as they had it.

EDITORIALS

—Enthusiasts in track work were happily surprised at the results of the meet with Dickinson Saturday. Four first places, three Susquehanna records broken, and two new ones set, is excellent work for one day on the track.

GOOD WISHES

"The Susquehanna" is nearing the close of the first year of its existence as a weekly publication. After much deliberation on the part of those in authority and numerous forebodings on the part of others, permission was secured last fall by the present officers to change the college publication from a monthly to a weekly.

Though the change has meant much additional work, yet the few comments which have reached us during the year have been favorable, so that we approach the end of our work feeling that the extra effort which the weekly has cost has been worth while.

Friday morning a new coterie of officers for the publication was elected by the Association for the coming year. The present officers have been sincere and earnest in their efforts to produce progress in Susquehanna journalism, and it is with a feeling of joy that we now find ourselves able to give the reins of government of this youthful publication into such competent hands.

For the next scholastic year we would wish upon the "newly elected" all the benefits which can accompany the fulfillment of the duties which devolve upon the holder of these offices, and trust that the troubles and anxieties which have assisted in making up our official experience may be entirely unknown to them.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day is designated as a legal holiday in all the States, except Idaho and Texas, for the purpose of commemorating the soldiers who fell in the Civil War, and decorating their graves with flags and flowers. May 30th is the day set apart by all the Northern and Western States for this kind remembrance of patriotic service, while in the Southern States a day which varies in the different sections is commemorated and known as Confederate Memorial Day. Governor Brumbaugh in a Memorial Day proclamation, has requested that, as a fitting tribute to the heroic dead, the people of this Commonwealth supplicate God to stay the terrible European tragedy now in progress, and that at all times, in our schools and churches, on platform and in press, our children should be taught the meaning of loyalty, the value of patriotism, the price of peace.

His proclamation also requests that on Sunday noon a period of five minutes, 12 noon, to 12:05, be observed by every citizen as a time when respectful tribute shall be paid to all heroic Pennsylvanians who so patriotically assisted in the defense of their country. During this 5 minute period bells shall be tolled, flags placed at half mast, and all citizens stand with heads uncovered and in solemn silence.

Y. M. C. A.

The good attendance and the spirit shown at the weekly meeting of the Association last Tuesday evening prove that the fellows of the school are appreciating the opportunity of hearing such speakers as have been addressing the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Michael, of Northumberland, an alumnus of S. U. and one who has been active in promoting the interests of his Alma Mater, fully justified his reputation for being a strong speaker, and in his address gave those present much food for thought and reflection along the line of the student's need of Faith in Christ and belief in His Word. Especially did he emphasize the value of such faith as a foundation of success in all vocations of life, and the importance of laying such a foundation during our years of college life. On the whole the meeting was one of the best of the term.

On Sunday evening, services were conducted at Hummel's Wharf by five of our willing band of workers. Short spicy talks were given by Lutton, Grossman, Krammerer, and Swoope added greatly to the interest of the meeting by rendering a solo in his usual pleasing manner. The steady increase in attendance and the interest shown by the people of the community are encouraging and speak well for the fellows who have been conducting these meetings. We hope that more of the fellows of our Y. M. C. A. will become active in this work, not for the sake of the Y. M. C. A., but for the good they may be able to bring to others, and for the training and experience it will be to themselves.

On June 1, Rev. Wagner, of Pottsgrove, and on June 8, Rev. Rose, of Lewisburg, will address the Association. You fellows, who are making such good use of the comfortable chairs of the Y. M. C. A. rooms and who pound the piano with such enthusiasm, show your appreciation for these social advantages by being present at these meetings. It will not in the least hurt your tough-skinned consciences to get a religious shower bath.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

S. Musser Rine, football manager for the coming year, has just issued his schedules for the 1915 season. Printed in Orange and Maroon colors they present a very catchy appearance, and Manager Rine is to be commended upon the neatness and promptness with which he has presented the schedule to the public, as well as upon the excellent list of contests which he has been able to secure for the Orange and Maroon gridiron men.

that in any game where a ball is used in a competitive way, that the official ball always bears this trade-mark, whether it be FOOT BALL, BASKET BALL, INDOOR BASE BALL, LACROSSE, BASE BALL or any other athletic game?

There must be a reason for this universal adoption by the leading organizations connected with sports, and there is a reason—no one can make them as good.

The same argument applies to all things athletic.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. E. A. Cooper '00, was elected assistant secretary of the General Synod at the meeting held at Akron, Ohio.

Dr. F. P. Manhart '74, was re-elected secretary of the General Synod. He was also chosen Vice-President of the Lutheran Laymen's Organization, which will hold a banquet in Zion Lutheran Church, Sunbury, June 25th.

Ralph W. Showers '98, at a recent anniversary service of Union Theological Seminary in New York, had the degree of Bachelor of Divinity conferred upon him. He received his M. A. from Columbia University in 1913.

Dr. J. I. Woodruff '88, of the Susquehanna University Faculty, was the principal speaker at the Commencement exercises of Harrison Valley High School, May 14th.

Rev. H. D. Hoover '02, President of Carthage College, Carthage, Ill., has been much in demand for commencement addresses in the vicinity of Carthage. Rev. Hoover will give the Commencement address to the class graduated from the College of Liberal Arts at this institution this year.

Rev. I. W. Blingaman, of Quincy, Ill., preached the baccalaureate sermon to the class graduated from Carthage, Ill., High School, May 2nd.

Frank S. Wagenknecht '03, attorney-at-law at Grove City, has met with marked success in his profession during the past few years. In the recent riot caused by striking of the moulders of the Bessemer Foundry, Mr. Wagenknecht served as counsel for the union men in the 26 cases of assault and battery charged against them. He is to be congratulated in having won every one of the 26 cases. There were eight other lawyers employed in the proceedings.

Rev. S. S. Barnes, '11 and '14, of Trindle Springs Church, Mechanicsburg, Pa., has completed his first year's work with much success. The year has been pronounced one of the most richly blessed in the history of the congregation.

Miss Esther Phillips '13, who has been teaching in the Concord Conservatory of Music, Concord, N. C., returned to her home in Selinsgrove to enjoy a short vacation.

Miss Marguerite D. Potter '10, who had charge of the Music and Art Departments in the City Schools of Middletown, Pa., has completed her year's work and returned to Selinsgrove to spend the vacation at her home.

Claude G. Atkins '11, occupied the chair of Mathematics at the University during the absence of Dr. Houtz, who was in attendance at the meeting of General Synod at Akron, Ohio.

Hafer '12, principal of the schools of Fleetwood, Pa., held his commencement exercises Thursday evening, May 27th. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity with interested and appreciative people, who pronounced this the most successful commencement ever held in the town. Dr. J. I. Woodruff, who addressed the class that was graduated, received many complimentary remarks from the best people of the town for his excellent address.

STUDENTS' RECITAL

An appreciative audience witnessed the second of the students' recitals held in Seibert Hall Thursday evening, and in every respect it reached the same degree of success which marked the first. Students from the Conservatory and the School of Expression were the performers of the evening, and each one proved his or her individual ability as musician or reader.

More than ordinary interest was aroused in the evening's entertainment on account of the violin duet played by Theodore Otto and Prof.

Fillion. This number was especially pleasing and each violinist showed remarkable skill and power of expression.

As the opening number of the evening's performance Mr. Guy Stettler, assisted by Prof. Brower, played a selection from Mozart as a piano solo, very creditably. Other students who have been under the tutelage of Prof. Brower and who reflected credit upon their teacher as well as upon themselves as pianists, were Miss Florence Kautz, who ably rendered Mozart's Sonata in B flat, and Miss Elizabeth Goheen, a debutante in Susquehanna music circles, who played a short but pretty selection from Beethoven.

Albert Deener, of Selinsgrove, one of Prof. Fillion's wards in violin instruction, performed splendidly in his rendition of Ortmann's Concerto in A minor. From the voice department,

Mrs. Irene Brower produced two well-coached representatives in the person of Misses Margaret Deener and May Walker. Both sang beautifully and gave evidence of inherent ability as well as of careful training. From the School of Expression, Misses Jess Pleasanton and Helen Webb came as heralds of the effective work that is being done in that department. Miss Pleasanton duplicated her successful efforts of several weeks ago when she read the pathetic story of "Rosa."

Miss Webb's selection, on the other hand, was of a mirth-producing character and elicited much applause from the responsive audience.

COLLEGE NOTES

Miss Geise '15, enjoyed a two days' visit at her home in Northumberland. Halston '15, spent Saturday in Adams county acting as representative of the American Book Co.

Art '15, motored to Lewisburg Thursday evening on a pleasure trip. Himes '16, visited friends in Montgomery over the week-end.

Gross '15, journeyed to New Bloomfield, Pa., Wednesday, in the interests of a teaching position.

Huntington '17, visited his parents at his home in West Milton Thursday. On Thursday evening he was entertained by friends at Lewisburg.

LOOSE FIELDING GAVE ALBRIGHT 6-2 VICTORY OVER SUSQUEHANNA

Peters Pitched Good Ball and Would Have Won Under Ordinary Circumstances--Chinese Game Friday

With a badly crippled team Susquehanna lost the second game of the season with Albright on Warner Field Friday afternoon, 6-2. Though three of her regular players were out of the game, the Orange and Maroon team put up a plucky fight throughout the entire nine innings, and but for a number of costly errors which appeared to come at the critical time so as to produce runs for the opposing team, would have held the older Kelchmerites to a closer score. The vacation which the team enjoyed on account of weather conditions during the past two weeks appeared to work havoc with their batting eye. In the infield a lack of confidence was also noticeable, every inmate of the inner garden being charged with one or more misplays. Indeed, the errors of omission were just as costly and almost as numerous as those of commission. A number of times base runners were given a life on errors of judgement on the part of Susquehanna basemen.

Peters, who did the twirling for the locals, was working under a handicap, the forefinger of his pitching hand having been badly bruised in practice the previous evening. Nevertheless Pete pitched consistently throughout the entire game, but two of their six runs being earned. Several times with third occupied he caused the batter to wiff for the third out, and only one Red and White man succeeded in securing free transportation to first during the game. Yost proved himself master of the situation throughout the entire nine innings but his labors were somewhat minimized in having a number of new batters to pitch to who were making their initial appearance in "Varsity uniforms. Though these men accomplished nothing sensational at the bat yet their work in the whole was commendable, and with a little seasoning will become worthy, reliable Orange and Maroon wearers.

After both sides had been retired in the first two innings without scoring, Albright broke into the run column in their half of the third. Mengle, the first man up, flied to short. Yost walked, and Zinn came through with a solid drive to right center which was good for two bases, Yost going to third. Deamsderfer followed with a single to the same territory on which both runners scored. Parker went out, short to first, and Deifer sent an easy fly to left again. In the fourth Albright secured another counter, when after Lutz had grounded to third, Smith hit to left for a safety. With two infield errors following the Red and White man was able to complete the circuit before three men had been retired.

Susquehanna lumped their two runs in the fourth inning when they made a desperate effort to tie the score. Indeed, in no other inning were the locals very dangerous. Swoope opened by grounding to short for an out. Peters stung a single to left, and Smith followed with a roaring double to deep center. Middlesworth grounded to short and was retired for the second out. Benfer fumbled Harkins' easy grounder giving him a life and allowing Peters to score from third. Phillips singled to short right scoring Smith and Putting Harkins on third. Nichols struck out.

Albright obtained two more unearned runs in the seventh. Mengle was safe on a wild throw by Klepper. In an effort to catch him going to second on the misplay Shannon heaved the ball into left field, permitting the runner to take third. After Yost and Zinn had been disposed of, Deamsderfer rapped a safety to center scoring Mengle. In an effort to catch Deamy napping, Peters threw wide to first allowing the Myerstown catcher to take third. When Smith failed to grab Parker's grounder, another run was registered at the plate. Benfer rolled to the pitcher for the final out of the inning.

The Myerstown men's sixth run was presented to them through several errors in the ninth. Though Susquehanna was considerably off color both in hitting and in fielding yet the majority of the team stuck gamely and fought until the very end.

The attraction for next week will be the Chinese team from the University of Hawaii, on Friday afternoon. A first class game can be expected.

The line-up.

CLOSING PROGRAM

Susquehanna University will enter upon another year's busy week of Commencement exercises when Superintendent T. A. Stetler, of Middleburg, will address the graduates from the Academy and the School of Business in Seibert Hall, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. On Sunday morning the Faculty and students will congregate on President Aikens' lawn and from thence march in body to Trinity Lutheran Church, where the Baccalaureate Sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. T. Huddle, D. D., a Susquehanna graduate, of Washington, D. C. Rev. J. C. Stoneypher, A. M., of Hughesville, Pa., will address the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations in the evening at 8 o'clock.

Monday morning at 10:30 the Junior Oratorical Contest will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church. At 2:30 in the afternoon Conservatory of Music will hold their exercises in Seibert Hall, while in the evening the Alumni Reception of the Clio and Philo Literary Societies will be held in Seibert Hall and in the Gymnasium.

Commencement of the School of Theology comes on Tuesday morning at 10:30, when Rev. W. E. Fischer, D. D., of Shamokin, Pa., will address those graduating from the Seminary. The Varsity and Alumni ball game Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, and on Tuesday evening the Sunbury City Band will give an Open Air Concert on the Upper Campus at 6 o'clock and at 9 o'clock the Senior Class Play will be given in the Opera House in Selingsgrove.

Wednesday morning College Commencement will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church at 10:00 o'clock, when Rev. H. D. Hoover, Ph. D., President of Carthage College, will give the Commencement address on the subject, "A Twice Born Nation." Alumni Dinner will be served in Lewar's Dining Hall at 12:30.

This is but an outline of the main events of the week. Many other things of importance will be carried on which cannot be mentioned here. Suffice it to say that every friend of Susquehanna is urged to be present at all the exercises. A full outline of the week's activities can be seen by referring to the issue of "The Susquehanna" for May 25.

LOSE TO NORTHUMBERLAND

Susquehanna's scrubs received a decided defeat on Saturday at the hands of Northumberland Silk Mill ball tossers. The game started off with a whirl in the first inning, the scrubs scoring three runs when Thomas cracked a single to left field, followed by another safe one to the right garden by Wellington. A hot liner over second by Nichols scored two runs, and the latter was brought in by a hit from Pos Bottiger's old Hickory.

Thomas held the silk worms to two runs in their half of the first, but he was hit on the arm by a pitched ball in the second inning which greatly interfered with his throwing. The upriver boys took advantage of this accident and piled their bats for six runs in the second inning.

In the fifth inning Shorty McNabb, a new find from Belleville, relieved Thomas on the pitching mound and held the accomplished sluggers to two lonely hits. Considering the loss of some of the regular scrubs, and the peculiarly shaped roof and ornamented here and there with ardent rooters who refused to move when a ball came their way--we must congratulate the scrubs on their game, even if the final score was 13-4.

MANY SUSQUEHANNA MEN ACTIVE IN GENERAL SYNOD

30 Alumni Cheer Dr. Manhart When Re-elected General Secretary of Synod of Lutheran Church of America

Susquehanna may feel proud of the large number of faithful sons from various parts of the United States who were delegates to the General Synod held recently at Akron, O. The retiring president, Rev. H. L. Yarger, D. D., was a former student of Susquehanna, Rev. F. P. Manhart, D. D., was re-elected Secretary without opposition, having served in this office for the past six years. Rev. A. E. Cooper, of Jersey Shore, Pa., was elected assistant Secretary.

On Monday evening, May 31, thirty of these Susquehanna men, including a few invited friends of our institution, held a banquet at the Ohio Cafeteria. At the close of the afternoon session these representative men met in front of the church, in which the sessions of the Synod were held and marched to the place of the banquet. After the repast, which was arranged to suit the individual fancy of each guest, Prof. T. C. Houtz, Sc. D., acted as toast-master and every one present was given an opportunity to enliven the occasion by relating some experiences that occurred during their college days or later in life. Many were the expressions of gratitude to and loyalty for their Alma Mater. The following men were present: Rev. David T. Koser, Arendsville, Pa.; Rev. H. L. Yarger, D. D., Atchinson, Kan.; Rev. A. M. Ziegler, D. D., Belen, New Mexico; Rev. Thomas C. Houtz, Sc. D., Selingsgrove, Pa.; Rev. L. F. Sigmund, D. D., Phila., Pa.; Rev. F. P. Manhart, D. D., Selingsgrove, Pa.

Pa.; Rev. I. P. Zimmerman, A. M., Milton, Pa.; Rev. S. J. Taylor, D. D., Juniata, Pa.; Rev. John F. Seibert, Chicago, Ill.; Rev. Sanford N. Carpenter, A. M., Johnstown, Pa.; Rev. W. E. Crouser, Oakland, Cal.; Rev. D. J. Snyder, Long Beach, Cal.; Rev. Oscar H. Gruver, Oakland, Cal.; Rev. H. D. Hoover, Ph. D., Carthage, Ill.; Rev. C. N. Drosius, Muhlenberg Mission, Liberia, Africa; Rev. Chas. M. Teufel, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Rev. J. O. Yoder, Akron, O.; Rev. A. E. Cooper, Jersey Shore, Pa.; Rev. W. Sheaffer, Homer City, Pa.; Rev. J. M. Ueber, Milroy, Pa.; Rev. Claude R. Allenbach, Clearfield, Pa.; Rev. B. F. Blener, West Milton, Pa. The following lay delegates were present: Mr. Alex Decker, Montgomery, Pa.; Mr. J. D. Shaffer, Jr., Lock Haven, Pa.; Mr. F. G. Schoch, Danville, Pa.; Mr. E. C. Morgans, Sunbury, Pa.; Prof. W. W. Speigelmeyer, A. M., Millinburg, Pa.; Mr. W. H. Garman, Jersey Shore, Pa.; Mr. Bruce H. Crouse, Akron, O.; Dr. Geo. E. Fisher, A. M., Ph. D., Selingsgrove, Pa. The following Susquehanna men were present at some of the sessions of the Synod but could not arrange to attend the banquet: Rev. M. Rhodes, D. D., St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. John E. Weidley, D. D., Washington, D. C.; Rev. Newton N. Rohrer, D. D., Oklahoma City, Okla.; Rev. Ralph Bergstresser, A. M., Altoona, Pa.; Rev. J. E. Zimmerman, A. M., Mansfield, O.; Rev. T. Bruce Birch, Ph. D., Springfield, O.; Rev. A. E. Renn, A. M., Indianapolis, Ind.

SENIOR RECITAL

Breaking away from former custom which provided that every student, who should be graduated from the Conservatory of Music, give an individual recital in the spring term of their senior year, the Conservatory Faculty settled on a plan whereby the seniors unite and each graduating student render but one or two numbers before the public. Though this reduces the number of recitals, it eliminates the extensive amount of work which always attends the preparation of an evening's program which must be given by one individual.

This spring the Conservatory Seniors decided to hold two public recitals, in which the seven members of the graduating class should make their final appearance as Seniors in the Conservatory of Music at Susquehanna, excepting those who shall assist with the Commencement exercises held on Monday afternoon of Commencement week by this department. The first of these recitals was given in Seibert Hall Thursday evening before a well-filled house. The audience was unusually attentive and responsive as these accomplished musicians made their farewell appearance. Members of the Conservatory Faculty felt very much gratified over this pronounced success of their proteges.

Miss Margaret Dreese, accompanied by her teacher, Prof. Brower, played a very pleasing selection from Schubert as an introductory number. In her second appearance of the evening Miss Dreese showed considerable skill as a pianist in her rendition of compositions by Chopin and Moszkowski, reflecting credit both upon herself and her teacher. As proof of Prof. Fillion's ability as piano instructor came the finished renditions by Misses Groninger and Moyer. Miss Groninger appeared as interpreter of Mozart and Chopin, and proved to her numerous friends her ability as a pianist.

Interpersing these classical instrumental selections and lending variety to the evening's entertainment, Miss Mary Neidig, of Sunbury, Miss. Brower's representative from the voice department, made two appearances. In the role of vocalist, and with her charming voice and clear intonation immediately won the admiration of all her hearers. Miss Neidig has developed remarkable charm as a sopranoist during her four years' course. In her first appearance she sang three selections in German which showed considerable work in preparation, while her second appearance was characterized by her usual clearness of expression.

As concluding number of the evening's recital, Miss Moyer played Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 2, No. 3, and Moszkowski's Gondoliera. Miss Moyer's performance was remarkable because of the technique and power of expression displayed, but special credit must be given her when we remember that both of these lengthy selections were played faultlessly from memory.

This evening the second Senior recital will be given by Misses Emma Smith, Irene and Mabel Bauder, the other members of the graduating class. Misses Smith and Mabel Bauder will appear as members of the department in piano work, and Miss Irene Bauder will perform several times as prospective graduate in violin.

SUCCESSFUL JUNIOR ORATORS

Six members of the Junior class were chosen Monday morning in the preliminary contest, as those to represent the class in the Junior oratorical contest to be held Monday of the week of Commencement. The judges were Revs. Drummheller and Kahler, of Selingsgrove, and those they chose are: Messrs McCormick and Wagner, and Messrs. Keller, Nichols, Dolbeer and Grossman.

out the Middle Atlantic States are planning to send representative men to the annual Student Conference to be held at Eaglesmere, Pa., June 15 to 21. The conference offers meetings for the study of social and religious problems, opportunities for association with men from other colleges, and facilities for almost any form of recreation amid beautiful surroundings and under healthful conditions.

Next week's issue will be the special commencement number.

—If you wish to win renown, volunteer your services as an interpreter of signals at the baseball game next Friday.

—Commencement begins next Saturday evening. All friends of Susquehanna are invited back to enjoy the week's exercises.

—The result of the game last Friday was not so much due to the good playing of the visitors as to the poor work of the locals.

Track work is an excellent thing but it was a great factor in helping the Orange and Maroon nine to fall into their slump last week.

—Bucknell and the Alumni must be met Monday and Tuesday of Commencement week. Are you going to assist the team with your support or will you register a lack-of-confidence-in-the-team vote for the remainder of the season.

UNAPPRECIATED SACRIFICE.

A mother's ability to sacrifice often appears unlimited. Though we, as students, are acquiring highly developed reasoning faculties, yet we often forget what our mothers have done and are still doing for us.

While we have been attending college, oftentimes wasting our opportunities and even spending money lavishly and thinking only of our own enjoyment, mothers have been staying at home, skinning and saving, sometimes even denying themselves a few of the necessities of life in order that we may continue our present selfish manner of living. Is it possible for American youth to become so thoughtless that the glare of their own selfish enjoyment blinds them to the sacrifices of their parents?

What are you going to do during your summer? Will you continue your life of pleasure, and when next year comes around allow your mother and father again to deny themselves all pleasure in order that you may have an abundance of spending money, or are you willing to do real work and help those who have been helping you for the past nine months? When extravagance tempts me I always think of those who furnish the money which we are so ready to spend.

SWIMMING

Swimming is an acquisition which every man should develop. Not only is the use of this art helpful in developing various muscles of the body, but in securing a well-rounded physique, but frequently a knowledge of self-propulsion in water is the means of saving life. How often do we hear of a victim being released from the death grasp of the waters by the efforts of some heroic swimmer. Is the acquisition of an art, so easily learned and yet so fraught with power to help humanity when in need, not worth while?

In many institutions of learning, especially in academic schools, a certain knowledge of swimming is required of every student physically able to swim before he will be graduated. Of course, those schools have all the facilities which are necessary, and with a swimming pool which is accessible at any time the average young man would consider learning to swim more of a pleasure than a required task.

While it may not be the best move to make swimming a requirement for graduation at Susquehanna—all students at a University could not be expected to learn—yet to have a swimming pool in our gymnasium, which we admit is already comparatively well-equipped, would provide an advantage to students which would be a life-long help to them.

Nor is our idea of a swimming pool at Susquehanna impracticable. The method of providing for the cost of such equipment would doubtless be the most difficult problem to solve. As for a place, we believe the apartment in the gymnasium, which has occasionally been used for indoor basketball practice, might be converted into a swimming pool to the interests of all students concerned.

When we remember the benefits which may be derived from a knowledge of the art of swimming, we realize that this subject is one which demands our careful consideration, and in no respect should the desires of the students be ignored.

VARSITY LETTERS AWARDED

Before the student body in the chapel hall Thursday morning the 'Varsity letters which have been won this year in the various sports were presented by Dr. J. L. Woodruff, one of the faculty representatives of the Athletic Board. W. N. Keller '16, chairman of the Letter Committee, read the list of those having won the 'Varsity letter after which Dr. Woodruff made the presentation speech.

Owing to the small number of college football games played last fall and the stringency of the rules which were in effect until just recently when the Athletic Association passed the amendments to the constitution in regard to winning an "S," only three letters were awarded in football. The winning track letters is also a new thing in Susquehanna athletics. According to the rules of track work, six track "S's" were won in the intercollegiate meet with Dickinson here this season. Another innovation in sports during the year was the granting of gym "S's" to the three members of the gym class who showed greatest proficiency in gymnasium work.

In addition to the 'Varsity letters which were awarded in the various sports, 15 small scrub "S's" were given to football men who were not eligible to receive a large "S," 11 in basketball and 10 in baseball to the reserve men.

The following men received 'Varsity letters: Football—Harman, Middleworth, Lutold, and Manager W. E. Brown; Basketball—Captain Swoope, Shannon, Winner, Middleworth, Phillips, Harkins, and Manager Ard; Baseball—Captain Harkins, Peters, Golde, Shannon, Smith, Long, Swoope, Phillips, Middleworth, and playing manager Harpster; Track—Shannon, Swoope, Harman, Middleworth, Long, and Manager Lauver; Gym—Shoaf, Casher, and Thomas.

On Thursday evening Miss Jess Beaumont will give a senior recital as a graduate from the School of Education. This promises to be especially interesting as Miss Beaumont has already acquired a local reputation. Recitals begin at 8 o'clock. Admission free.

CLIO

Clio will soon have added another year to her cherished history and in this brief account, which reluctantly in our last, we cannot relate all the joys and pleasures which we derived from her, the triumphs recorded and the defeats endured. Let it suffice to say that this year was one of which we can feel genuinely proud, both in the acquisition of members and in the character of work accomplished.

The programs of Clio this year were excellent. With few exceptions, all the numbers were filled, and we can boastfully add that they were capably filled. The preparation given to the numbers of the programs by the different participants reflects credit on the members of Clio. When Commencement brings an end to Clio's work, her members can look back with the consciousness of having accomplished well the duties given her as a heritage from former years. Throughout the entire year, Clio has been ably led and we must not forget to attribute much of the success to the officers who so capably filled the honors entrusted to them.

Intent upon upholding the splendid work of Clio's rostrum, the program committee inserted a special musical program. Every number of the program was very capably rendered and that it was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were present was evinced by the vigorous applause which followed the rendition of each number. Clio or any organization can well afford to dispense with some of the literary work in order to insert more music. Undoubtedly music appeals more to the average person than do the efforts put forth in debates, orations and the like. Thus, in order to keep alive the interest, something pleasing as well as helpful must be presented. One more program will end Clio's literary activities for the present year. This program will be given by the Seniors of the various departments. Many of these persons, and who have been faithful to Clio throughout their college course, will appear for their last time upon her rostrum. There is a deeper significance than the mere farewell appearance. It can be truly said that each one is sensible to the fact that he or she has been wonderfully benefited by the opportunities and influence of Clio. Reluctantly they leave her halls, but with the explicit confidence that her future will be along the path of true progress which she has always held.

Ever mindful of the social propensities, Clio would consider the year a failure unless some event would culminate the year's activities. The same spirit, determination and zeal which has always helped to make Clio's commencement reception a pronounced success, has manifested itself in the interest of the reception which will be held on Monday evening, June fourteenth. Clio extends to all Alumni, ex-Clios and friends a cordial invitation to be present. To those who have gone from our halls in former years, we would say that Clio still cherishes you for your membership and, greater still, for the success with which you are meeting. It is then your duty to cherish Clio for the help and benefit she has given you. Show your appreciation for her by being present next Monday evening, and help to make this reception better than any former one.

COMPLIMENTS TO

PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

The management of Susquehanna University is pleased to present prospective students with a copy of The Susquehanna, which is published weekly by the resident students. Fillion. This number was especially pleasing and each violinist showed remarkable skill and power of expression.

As the opening number of the evening's performance Mr. Guy Stetler, assisted by Prof. Brower, played a selection from Mozart as a piano solo, very creditably. Other students who have been under the tutelage of Prof. Brower and who reflected credit upon their teacher as well as upon themselves as pianists, were Miss Florence Kautz, who ably rendered Mozart's Sonata in B flat, and Miss Elizabeth Cohen, a debutante in Susquehanna music circles, who played a short but pretty beautifully located in one of the most delightful sections of Pennsylvania.

With warm greetings, in behalf of the College, I remain,

Chas. T. Aikens, President.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Susquehanna's patched up 'varsity was the victim of the hard luck "jinx" Friday afternoon when Albright administered a 6-2 defeat.

George B. Manhart '10, head of the Department of Philosophy at Baker University, Baldwin, Kan., has returned to spend the summer with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Manhart.

John J. Houtz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Houtz, returned home last week from Jovellanos, Cuba, where he was employed as a sugar chemist.

Registrar Horton is having his men put full time on the campus and surroundings in order to get them in first class shape for Commencement week.

Miss Catherine Schoch, C. of M. '10, has returned to her home on College avenue, after graduating from the Peabody Conservatory at Baltimore, Md.

Having finished their work last week the Senior class will make use of the remaining time before Commencement in preparing for the various graduation events.

Monday afternoon the Seniors enjoyed an outing when the entire class accompanied by a number of invited guests journeyed to Rolling Green Park where they spent the afternoon and evening. All returned much exhilarated from the day's pleasures.

Laying aside all class hatred the Sophomores joined with the Freshmen Thursday and went to Rolling Green Park where they had their annual picnic. The affair, which was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Walker, was thoroughly enjoyed despite the rainy weather.

Rev. Charles Leonard, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, has been afflicted with an attack of grip at the home of friends in Pittsburgh. Rev. Leonard was one of the delegates to the Synod at Akron, Ohio, but on account of his illness was able to attend but two days' sessions.

At a joint meeting of the boys' and girls' gymnasium classes it was decided to transfer the money on hand, which amounted to about $35, as a fund to be used in repairing the athletic field. This is an excellent move and the fund should be increased as much as possible and in a reasonable length of time the much needed fence could be placed around the grounds.

Students in the Conservatory of Music held their picnic at the Park Saturday. About twelve couples under the chaperonage of Prof. and Mrs. Brower enjoyed the day's outing. Mahanoy Mountain seemed to be the attraction for other students the same day and a mixed crowd of about twenty climbed to the top of this massive ridge, which was made famous by the Indians several centuries ago.

Have you decided to return to the old stamping grounds for the 1915 Commencement? Preparations are being made for an elaborate line-up of exercises, and prominent speakers have been engaged. Several class reunions are booked for the week and a general good time is assured for every person who will be present. The Senior class is the largest to be graduated by this institution since its incorporation as an University. Come and enjoy for a few days the hospitality for which old Susquehanna is famous.

Citizens of Selinsgrove held a public meeting in the council chamber Monday evening, at which time plans were discussed for the observance of the one hundred and sixtieth anniversary of the Penn's Creek Massacre. Through the efforts of Dr. Frank P. Manhart and William M. Schure, officers of the Snyder County Historical Society, the State Historical Commission has provided $250 for the erection of a suitable marker, and it is desired to have special dedicatory services the day this monument is to be unveiled.

RECEIVE DIPLOMAS TODAY AND FACE LIFE'S BATTLES

Alumni Banquet This Afternoon Concludes Fifty-Seventh Commencement of Beloved Alma Mater

Commencement week activities had an auspicious opening this year, when on Friday evening, June 11, Mr. Horton, Registrar, gave a reception to the student body in Seibert Hall. The evening entertainment was well arranged and after several hours of enjoyment the guests were tendered a luncheon by the host.

The graduation exercises of the Academy and Commercial departments was held Saturday evening at eight o'clock in Seibert Hall. A fair-sized audience greeted the graduating classes. Prof. T. A. Stedler, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Snyder County, addressed the meeting and his talk was highly appreciated by his auditors. The Girls' Glee Club of the school furnished several excellent musical selections to the program.

Sunday morning promptly at 10:30, the graduates and professors of the several departments of the University assembled on the lawn in front of the President's home. From this place the Academic procession wended its way to the college church where the gown wearers were forced to endure the effects of the intense heat. Rev. J. D. Huddle, D. D., of Washington, D. C., delivered the baccalaureate sermon. The theme of his discourse was "Seek ye first the Kingdom." The speaker presented the comparison and the contrast of Socrates and Christ in vivid illustrations of the lives of each, dealing first with their striking likenesses and then with their striking dissimilarities.

Owing to the inclement weather the "Annual Pilgrimage" to the grave of Dr. David A. Fay was not held although a goodly number of persons traveled to the cemetery to view the spot.

The Joint Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. services held in the college church Sunday evening was attended by a large audience. The religious organizations of the institution occupying the front pews of the church were addressed by Rev. J. I. Stonecypher, A. M., of Hughesville, Pa. The speaker reviewed the early days of these organizations at Susquehanna, recalling many of the instances of devotion and loyalty of the organizer. The reminiscences proved very interesting to the students who have been actively engaged in the work of the religious bodies during the past year.

The Junior Oratorical Contest was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the college church. Music was furnished by Campbell's orchestra of Sunbury. Mr. Luther Dolbeer lead the speakers of the morning with the subject "The Heritage of the Anglo Saxon." He was followed successively by W. Nedson Keller, with the subject "The Marks of a Man;" Earnest W. Nichols on "The Westward Trend of Civilization;" Mary Kathryn Wagner, "The Modern Spirit of Social Service;" Miss Estelle McCormick, Huhlersburg, Pa., "The True Crown of Labor;" and Luther D. Grossman, Lititz, Pa., on "The Gates of Empires."

The decision of the Judges of the contest will be announced in the Commencement exercises on Wednesday morning, when the prizes will also be awarded to the winners.

A large audience assembled in Seibert Hall to witness the graduation exercises of the Conservatory of Music and the Department of Oratory, on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The program consisted of one number rendered by each of the graduates of the two departments. Miss Margaret Dreese opened the program with a piano solo, accompanied by Prof. Brower on the second piano. Following this excellent effort came Miss Ruth Groninger's rendition of a selection from Chopin, which was illustrative of the pianist's ability. A very pleasing and unique number was the vocal solo by Miss Mary Neidig with organ and violin obligati played by Miss Mabel and Irene Bauder. The three musicians showed remarkable skill in their various lines. Miss Emma Moyer's interpretation of Moszkowski's Gondoliera, Op. 41 was very commendable. Lending variety to the program, next came Miss Jess Pleasanton's humorous reading of Paul Lawrence Dunbar's "Encouragement." Miss Pleasanton's work elicited much laughter from the crowded house. Miss Mable Bauder played as a piano solo Beethoven's Sonata in two movements. As a soloist Miss Bauder displayed an unusual amount of feeling and power of expression. Miss Emma Smith merited the hearty applause which followed her piano solo, a selection from Merkel. Miss Irene Bauder appeared as violin soloist. She deserves great credit for her work as her selection from Seitz was most difficult. As a fitting conclusion to an excellent musical program, George Moyer rendered Liszt's Concerto in four movements with orchestral accompaniment by Prof. Fillion. This young man again proved his musical ability to the public as his demonstration was unusually interesting. Considerable talent in musical lines was shown by all these graduates in their final effort.

Monday evening witnessed an occasion of a social nature. The two literary societies of the institution held separate receptions. Philo Society received in the Gymnasium. The large building was tastefully decorated and showed particular effort on the part of the decoration committee. Promptly at nine o'clock the entertainment which had been arranged for began. J. E. Faust represented the society in the opening address and warmly welcomed all Philo's back to Susquehanna. Among other numbers the program included readings by Misses Burns and Potter, solos by Mrs. Winkard, of Selingsrove, and Wendell Phillips, of Philadelphia. Prof. Fillion performed on the violin to the delight of all. After this enjoyable entertainment refreshments were brought forth by the refreshment committee. About two hundred people were served. Clonian Society held their reception in Seibert Hall. Much time was spent in preparing the Hall for the evening's entertainment. The pretty evergreen and flowers together with the numerous pennants placed about the room gave it an unusual attractive appearance. In way of entertainment a varied program was given. Miss Walker, of the Conservatory of Music, gave several vocal solos. Swoope, the Glee Club's leader, responded with several humorous selections which elicited hearty applause. A mixed quartet, composed of Misses Walker, Rynearson, and Messrs. Peters and Middleworth, were enthusiastically applauded after the two selections which they rendered. A number of Alumni, who belong to Cllo, responded when called upon for addresses. After the literary entertainment was over "tasty cats" were served to the large crowd present.

Tuesday morning Commencement of the Theological Seminary was held when four men were graduated. The program opened with an organ prelude followed by the invocation and a selection by the Male Quartette. Jacob E. Dale, of Harleton, Pa., spoke on the subject "John Huss, a Reformer before the Reformation." Karl E. Irvin, Bloomsburg, Pa., spoke on the subject of "Methods and Types of Evangelism." The subject of "Inspiration of the Scripture" was delivered by Harry R. Shippe, of Sunbury, while "The Church and Civic Righteousness" was the subject assigned to Paul H. Stahl. Miss Mae Walker, of the Conservatory of Music, then rendered a beautiful vocal selection. Rev. W. E. Fischer, D. D., of Shamokin, Pa., addressed the graduating class.

The band concert on West Campus was highly appreciated by a crowd numbering several hundred persons which gathered on the lawn before Seibert Hall. Immediately after the close of the concert the public meeting of the Alumni Association was held. This meeting was in charge of Pres. Shope who, after a few short remarks, opened the program, which consisted of the Alumni address by Rev. H. C. Erdman, of Burketsville, Md., and the Alumni Poem read by Rev. J. A. Richter, of Reading, Pa., and the singing of the old familiar Alma Mater and other college songs.

The Senior Play, "The Fortune Seeker," was presented in the town Opera House on Tuesday evening beginning at 9:00 o'clock. A large and enthusiastic crowd assembled for the performance and all enjoyed the amateur theatrical efforts. The entire play was well rendered. The characters were chosen for their ability to interpret their parts and all showed much interest and proficiency in their presentations. The comedy drama was laid in New York and in a small Pennsylvania town and was given in four acts as follows. Act I. Fred Kellogg's apartment in New York; Act II. Sam Graham's drug store in Plainville; Act III. Office, Graham & Company, Plainville, and Act IV. representing the grounds of the Graham Home also in Plainville. Prof. Nathan N. Keener, presented the character of Bob Douglas about whom the story hinged, while the other parts were carried as follows: Fred Kellogg, a friend of Bob Douglas, a New York Broker, Lester G. Shannon; Billie Bartlett, a Man of Leisure, John Bangson; Chas. Sperry, a Drug Drummer, Gay Lauer; Sam Graham, Druggist and Inventor, Wilson P. Ard; Mr. Lockwood, Walter Brown; Roland Barnett, Bank Clerk, Ira C. Gross; Tracy Tanner, Bodly in Love, Ralph Witmer; Pete Jones, Sheriff, with troubles all his own, E. Ivan Frey; Robins, a Butler, Wilber Benage; Betty, the Druggist's Daughter, Susie Geisre; Josie Lockwood, the Village Heiress, Gertrude Weaver; Angelina Tuthill, Josie's friend, Rebecca Rynearson.

The Commencement exercises of the College of Liberal Arts and the awarding of degrees and prizes will be held in the college church Wednesday morning. President H. D. Hoover, of Carthage College, Ill., will deliver the address to the graduates on the subject "A Twice Born Nation." John P. Harkins, Blaine, Pa., will deliver the

BUCKNELL ACCEPTS TAINTED VICTORY FROM BIASED UMP

Although Robbed at Every Turn Susquehanna Was Dangerous Foe For Up-River Collegians

Living up to their reputation for umpire graft, Bucknell was able to squeeze out a 6-5 victory from Susquehanna in the ninth inning at Lewisburg Monday afternoon. The game was characterized throughout by the poorest kind of officiating. That the arbiter's unfairness was not occasioned by ignorance seems evident when one recalls that his partial decisions for the Orange and Blue team always came when a score seemed to be within grasp of the Hill boys or when it would cut off a run for the Orange and Maroon aggregation.

Despite the close score the game was rather listless to the spectators on account of the continuous remonstrating on the part of the locals, which was occasioned by the umpire's incompetent work. Several of the home men were so disgusted with the arbiter's unfair work that they refused to finish the game and substitutions had to be made in the last few innings of play in order that the nine innings could be completed. Bucknell students and supporters tried to cover up the ignominy of the noticeable unfair decisions by jollying the visitors, but even they became disgusted and were quiet as the game neared completion and they realized that they were securing a tainted victory.

Susquehanna outplayed their opponents in every department, and with the umpire hanging out unpoisoned decisions, the game must certainly have gone against these athletes who are always so covetous of victory. Even in the morning paper's account, the report of the game was considerably changed in order that their victory would not seem unnatural. They swelled their number of hits from six to eleven, and reduced their number of errors from six to two. Peters' work was perceptibly superior to that of Leibensberger. Especially in the last few innings did the 'varsity hit the ball effectively so that even with the large number of partial decisions they were able to tie the score. Four of the Orange and Blue's first five runs were made possible by the assistance of the umpire. It is not the policy of the "Susquehanna" to cry out in this manner but it was so clearly evident that defeat belonged to those who were winners according to official ruling in this contest, that it cannot help but register a protest against unfair action such as the 'Varsity received, which can only have a tendency to destroy the true spirit of sportsmanship.

CHINESE GAME

Victory hovered over the camp of Susquehanna's base ball team on Friday for eight long innings. Suddenly there appeared in the clear June sky four Chinese air crafts in the form of four mighty swats for safe hits and six runs. This completely changed the tide of battle and when the smoke cleared away, the score board disclosed a 7 to 4 victory in favor of the orientals.

Gobel was on the mound for the collegians and set a pace which took the clueless Chinamen off their feet. Susquehanna's sluggers started right off to fatten their batting averages and sent two men across the plate in the first inning. It was an even break for the next two rounds but the agile Chinamen by clever base running dinged the rubber in the fourth.

Gobel pitched great ball for the next six innings, while the other eight men gave wonderful exhibition of fielding. In the sixth inning the Orange and Maroon increased their lead two more runs, which made it look like a certain victory. Just at this stage of the game the inevitable thing happened.

The Chinks seemed to find the secret to Gobel's curves and scattered the pill around the lot to the tune of four runs. Peters went in to relieve Gobel and stopped the swiftest but not before the visitors had slipped two more runs across the plate. Susquehanna filled the sacks in the ninth with two men down but the side was retired on an easy grounder to first base.

The features of the game were the two three baggers by Swoope and Harpster. Bull Shannon put up a plucky game at first after he had split a finger on his right hand and Macer delighted the spectators with a beautiful catch in the left garden.

Another Commencement season is almost over. Classes have been graduated from the various departments of the University. The individual members of these classes will soon go forth to perform their part in the world's work. What kind of influences will you exert in your new environment?

SENIOR RECITALS

Misses Emma Smith and Mabel and Irene Bauder gave the second Senior recital of the season Tuesday evening in Seibert Hall before an enthused audience. This recital included all those members of the graduating class of the Conservatory of Music who did not appear in the recital of the previous week.

Miss Emma Smith opened the evening's entertainment by playing Beethoven's Concerto, Op. 15, in one movement, accompanied on the second piano by her instructor, Prof. Brower. Miss Smith, in her second appearance of the evening, further proved her ability as a pianist by her able rendition of selections from Mozart and Merkel. Miss Mabel Bauder, one of Prof. Fillion's pupils in piano, also played two numbers on the program. Her first effort was an excellent interpretation of Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 14, No. 1 in three movements. In her second rendition, a beautiful selection from Mozart, she was accompanied by her teacher. Both numbers were heartily applauded and revealed much musical talent on the part of the performer. Miss Irene Bauder, who will be graduated from the Violin department this year, added much to the attractiveness of the program with several classic selections. Miss Bauder has developed considerable ability as a violinist during her four years' work here, so that her work in the future in this department of music bids fair to be very successful.

Thursday evening the second Senior Recital of the week was given when Miss Jess Pleasanton, who will be graduated from the school of Expression to-morrow, appeared in the role of chief entertainer in an interesting, well-read program. Miss Pleasanton showed considerable ability as a reader and impersonator, and the loud applause which followed her every effort was altogether merited. The crowded house was unusually attentive as Miss Pleasanton cleverly portrayed different characters, and in all of her eight readings, a number of which were lengthy, she was at all times mistress of the situation. Miss Pleasanton showed especial ability at impersonation of colored characters, so that the numbers, Harrison Robertson's "Kentucky Philosophy" and Paul Lawrence Dunbar's "Angelina Johnson" and "The Party," elicited unusual applause and held the undivided attention of the large audience.

Miss Pleasanton's program showed careful preparation and her masterful work reflects credit upon Prof. Keener as well as upon herself. She was very ably assisted in giving her program by Miss Emma Smith, senior in the Conservatory of Music. Miss Smith played two very pretty selections from Chopin and Wachs lent variety to the lengthy program.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Doctor Allan Roberts, for many years professor of History in Lafayette College and for the past six years Dean, has announced that he will not be a member of Lafayette's faculty longer than this year. He will be succeeded by Doctor Heckel, of Northwestern University. Professor Roberts has gained for himself the reputation of being one of the best teachers Lafayette has ever had in his ability to impart some of his great fund of knowledge to his students. He gained an enviable reputation not only as a teacher but also as an executive. During the period that Lafayette had no president the administration of affairs was in his charge, and for years he has had the internal workings of his institution at his fingers' ends. His loss will be severely felt for a while, at least until the new Dean has been broken into his position.

Mrs. Elsie Barron entertained Mr. and Mrs. Haiston, Miss Walker, N. A. Denowsky, and J. F. Faust, at dinner at the City Hotel, Sunbury, Saturday evening.

ALUMNI NOTES

The class of '14 was royally entertained Monday evening at a class supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, of Northumberland, whose daughter is a member of this class. The afternoon was spent in speaking of school days and the many interesting incidents that occurred during the four years of their college course, after which they were invited to the dining room where a sumptuous repast awaited them.

The annual meeting of Susquehanna Alumni Association met Tuesday morning in chapel. W. H. Traub was elected president pro tem. After prayer had been offered by Rev. Hilbish, important business was transacted in the college we represent. Dr. Shope '14, of Harrisburg, brought up some very important suggestions for the development of the Alumni Association and the uplift of Susquehanna in general.

As this is the last issue of The Susquehanna for this scholastic year we wish to thank the Alumni and friends who have contributed to this department, and bespeak your hearty support of next year's Editor. He will need the earnest cooperation of each individual to make this department a success.

COLLEGE NOTES

E. Ivan Frey '15, entertained his mother, Mrs. F. M. Frey, and friend, Miss F. M. Klinedinst, of York, during the early part of the week.

Miss Mary Wagner '16, was visited by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Wagner, and brother, John, of Pottsgrove, Sunday and Monday.

The Misses Weaver enjoyed a visit from their parents and brothers, of Philadelphia during Commencement week.

The Misses Bauder, C. of M. '15, received a few days' visit from their parents, of Lestershire, N. Y., the early part of the week.

Walker '17, was visited by his sister-in-law, Miss Helen Everts, of Pine Grove Mills, over the week-end.

Gross '15, was elected to the position of teacher of German and Mathematics in the Huntingdon High School last Friday.

Ard '15, enjoyed a visit from his uncle, J. J. Dreese, and cousins, Misses Helen and Miriam Dreese, of Lemont, during the Commencement week.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Young Men's Christian Association of Susquehanna can point with pride to the year just concluded as the most progressive year of a life that has been one of continual progress. Little need be said to those who have followed—with increasing interest, we hope—the accounts of the activities of the year—the spirited meetings, the surprising successful Building Fund Campaign, the procuring and furnishing of the new Y. M. C. A. rooms, the Student Campaign carried on by the energetic and wide-awake men from Penn State, and during the whole year, the services led and directed by the willing workers of the Association at various near-by places. Even now, although the school year is ended, Mr. Lutton, our energetic Deputation Chairman has prepared a team for a three day campaign at the close of this week at Milroy. On the whole, the Y. M. C. A. can feel confident that in point of equipment and the advantages which it offers to its members it is second to no similar association among our sister institutions.

But another year is rapidly approaching, to which we must turn our attention. A standard has been placed and it is "up to us" to see that this standard, though creditably high, is not such an ideal standard that it can not be reached or even exceeded during the ensuing year by such hard work and infatigable zeal on the part of its members as has resulted in such great progress during the year '14-'15. Much remains to be accomplished. Next fall many individuals, new to S. U., will be brought within the range of the influence of the Y. M. C. A. and we must bring them to feel that that influence is directed toward their own development in a most essential part of their education—the spiritual and moral side of their nature; their character. It is a fact, though it may be astounding to many of you, that even of the old students, but 40 to 50 per cent. are members of the Association. What a field for work! Even 85 per cent. is not too high a goal for our endeavor, and with such an end in view and with the loyal support of every Alumnus and undergraduate member we shall make next year a Banner Year for the Young Men's Christian Association of Susquehanna University.

—Vacation days are again with us. Will you make of them days of profit?

COMPLIMENTS TO

PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS

The management of Susquehanna University is pleased to present prospective students with a copy of The Susquehanna, which is published weekly by the resident students.

Fillion. This number was especially pleasing and each violinist showed remarkable skill and power of expression.

As the opening number of the evening's performance Mr. Guy Stetler, assisted by Prof. Brower, played a selection from Mozart as a piano solo, very creditably. Other students who have been under the tutelage of Prof. Brower and who reflected credit upon their teacher as well as upon themselves as pianists, were Miss Florence Kautz, who ably rendered Mozart's Sonata in B flat, and Miss Elizabeth Goheen, a debutante in Susquehanna music circles, who played a short but pretty beautifully located in one of the most delightful sections of Pennsylvania.

With warm greetings, in behalf of the College, I remain,

Chas. T. Aikens, President.

SOME COMMENTS AND PERTINENT QUERIES

Misses Grace and Maria Geiselman are guests at the home of their uncle, President Aikens.

Aaron C. Kepler, of Pine Grove Mills, visited Dr. Aikens and friends in college over the week-end.

Members of the 1915 class in the College department will hold their banquet Thursday evening at the Metropolitan Hotel, Harrisburg.

Fitting memorial exercises were held over the graves of Dr. and Mrs. David A. Day Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Brosius, a missionary in Liberia, Africa, spoke in tribute of these former workers in the foreign field.

Members of the Junior class had their annual outing Tuesday on Hoover's Island in the Susquehanna river. The trip to and from this noted summer resort was made on a motor flat boat and from all reports the affair was a decided success.

As a parting shot, let those in authority remember that efficient fire fighting apparatus is one of the college's most urgent needs. Not one of the buildings are sufficiently protected but the matter of buying new hose seems to be neglected.

Bond and Key Club held their farewell banquet at the National Hotel Friday night. Twenty-four covers were laid and every member was present. The affair, tastefully arranged, was thoroughly enjoyed and reflects credit upon the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Neiswender.

Dick Kauffman, a member of the St. Louis Americans and son-in-law of Registrar and Mrs. Wm. T. Horton, received the following commendation in The North American of Tuesday: "Dick Kauffman is a product of Susquehanna University. He also served a term as first baseman of the York Tri-State team. He played sterling ball in all departments yesterday."

After seven innings of first class baseball and with Susquehanna holding the big end of a 4-1 score against the Chinese University team the "Jinx" prevailed the camp and the Orientals hammered in 6 runs. Peters was then placed in the box and checked the onslaught of the enemy, but the locals were unable to squeeze in another tally.

Prof. Ferdinand Fillion, who has so successfully conducted the violin department of the Susquehanna Conservatory for the past year, has accepted, at a large increase in salary, the post as head of the violin department and instructor in piano at Whitman University, Walla Walla, Washington. He has also been engaged as organist in one of the large Catholic churches of that place.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

A fitting and auspicious climax to this year's work was reached Thursday evening when the Glee Club motored to Millinburg and rendered their last concert of the season. This proved to be a treat, not only for the audience, but the Club as well, for of all the concerts given throughout the year none seemed to be appreciated as did this one. The audience manifested their pleasure by repeatedly demanding encores, not only of the club, but of the soloists as well.

As Prof. Fillion will not be here to direct the club next year, the members wish to acknowledge a deep gratitude to him for his untiring efforts in making the club a success during his leadership, for he has very perceptibly raised the efficiency of the club, and we are assured that his absence from us will be keenly felt.

Following the concert a short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the next year: President, Burling A. Peters; Manager, J. Paul Harmon; Treasurer, Wilfred N. Keller; Secretary, Luther Dolbeer.
